OTTAWA TAX RATE—The tax rate in Ottawa this year will be slightly higher than last. The rate will probably be $28.10 per thousand dollars assessment as compared with $27.50 in 1920, for public school purposes. The tax rate for general purposes will be decreased one-fifth of a mill, but increases in the public school, collegiate institute and library rates will cause the advance. The estimates were passed by the Board of Control.

THE WOMAN HE MARRIED

BY JANE PHELPS

NERVES IN THE ASCENDENT

Chapter 104

The look in Dick's eyes had sent me to my room for fear I would say or do something to show my pain at what they held. For love, adoration, had swept them before he had lowered his lids—and I had seen.

I clasped and unclaspeed nervous hands as I walked back and forth. Was there any use in trying to hold him or win back when he felt like that?

Then came the thought—they were alone. Was she in his arms? And I rushed downstairs like one demented. I was giving that other Other Woman"—how often I had heard the expression, never giving it a thought. But when that other woman threatened my own home how dangerous she was!

I didn't knock.

"What is it, Nan?" Dick asked swinging around on his swivel chair, while Juanita looked at me in amazement from the opposite side of the table where she sat, her chin in her clasped hands, her eyes brilliant under the orange scarf which she had not removed. "She knows it is becoming," I thought.

"Did you call?" I queried, embarrassed, ill at ease. I never before had failed to rap on the study door before entering.

"Why, no- Did you think you heard smeone?"

"Yes, but never mind!" and as precipitately as before, I again left them alone.

As I mounted the stairs I heard a soft, mocking laugh. Juanita knew why I had returned and was laughing at me.

I felt as if my anger were strangling me, and held my hand to my throat.

"I won't let her have him! I won't!" was all I could say as once more I closed the door of my room.

It seemed to me as I repeated this over and over that a thousand little devils all screamed at me:

"How are you going to help yourself?" and that another thousand yelled:

"She's got him now!"

That night I let Dick take Juanita home alone. I called "good night" as they left, and leaning over the banisters I asked in as suave a tone as I could command.

"You will excuse me if I don't come along, won't you? I am very tired.'

"Certainly, Nan. You'd better go right to bed. I shall be back shortly." Dick answered.

Did I imagine it, or was there a sort of relief in his tone as he replied. Juanita called in her gay, husky voice:

"Dick isn't arraid to come back alone, Nan! The hobgoblins won't get him."

"I'm not afraid of the hobgoblins," I caled back, and again her soft mocking laugh reached me.

It was over an hour before I heard Dick's step on the walk. When he came in I pretended to be asleep. He called me softly just once, and when I did not answer he shut himself in the study. It was hours later when he finally came upstairs.

Early the next morning I went into the study—it was before he had gotten down. What had he been doing all that time? No loose sheets, no notes, no disorder, everything just as it aways was left when he and Juanita had been working together—neat piles of manuscript waiting to be corrected.

Fortunately the postman brought me a letter from Junior. When Dick came down I was busily engaged in reading it.

"What does he say?" Dick asked man-like, preferring I should tell him what Junior had written rather han read it himself,

"He says he flunked in Algebra, and has got to give up his recreation hour until it is made up; that he shared his last box with many of the boys he had scarcely anything left for himself, and—oh, listen to this.

"Derrick says to tell you you cook better than his mother's chei dges, and that please to tell me not to cut him out of the next box. I threatened to give them all the go-by because they hogged most everything."

"Isn't that just like a boy?" I asked.

"You spoil that youngster," Dick smiled as he replied. Then, "what else has he got to say?" I resumed reading:

"Derrick hasn't stopped talking about Aunt Nita. He makes me tired. I told him so the other day and he got real huffy. Aunt Nita's all right, but I'm fed up on her."

I stopped and glanced at Dick. He had flushed redly as he often did when Juanita's name was mentioned. He said no more about Junior's letter, but asked if he might have breakfast at once so that he might get to work.

"My novel is almost ready for the publisher, if I succeed in finding one," he said in reply to a question of mine. "I shall send it away the last of the week.'

"Then Juanita can't claim his time," I whispered, once more forgetting that love always finds a way.

Man Gives Wife Glycerine Mixture

She had stomach trouble for years. After giving her simple buckthorn bark, glycerine etc., as mixed in Ad—ler—i—ka, her husband says: "My wife feels fine now and has gained weight. It is wonderful stomach medicine." Adler—i—ka acts on BOTH upper and lower bowel, removing foul matter which poisoned stomach and which you never thought was in your system. EXCELLENT for gas on the stomach of chronic constipation. Guards against appendicitis. The impurities it brings out will surprise you.

Was Worth Its Weight In Gold

TRAVEL WORLD OVER AND YOU COULDN'T FIND THE EQUAL OF TALAC, SAYS CONROD.

"If you travelled the world over I don't believe you could find a better medicine than Tanlac," was the emphatic statement made recently by Isaac Conrod, well known and prosperous farmer, living at Cherzetcooke, Halifax County, N. S.

"I was troubled so bad with indigestion for four years I couldn't eat a thing without suffering the worst kind of pains afterwards. I had a disagreeable feeling like a lump of lead in my stomach after meals and what I ate would sour and form gas that bloated up until I was in perfect misery. I lost all misery, desire for food and frequently had spells of nausea, when I could not retain what little—I did force myself to eat. Just as soon as I lay down at night I had a feeling like I was going to smother and could get but very little rest on account, and I always got up in the mornings feeling tired and worn out.

"So many people advised me to try Tanlac that I decided to do so and it proved just the right medicine for me. I can now eat a good hearty meal and never suffer a particle from indigestion. I sleep like a log all night, have lost that tired, worn out feeling and feel one hundred per cent better in every way. Tanlac has been worth its weight in gold to me and I simply can't praise it enough."

Hintsfor the Motorist

BY ALBERT L. CLOUGH

SHOWING THE COLD BATTERY CONSIDERATION

Lessen the Demands Upon it In All Possible Ways

DON'T ASK IT TO SPIN AN ENGINE with "salvy" lubricant on bearings and pistons. Get some oil that will stand cold without solidifying. Don't expect it to start an engine with only ice-cold air and the "smell" of gasoline in the cylinders, but provide some means of priming them with an excess of well sprayed ordinary gasoline or still better a higher grade, more volatile fuel. Do not compel it to keep the engine turning over for minutes at a time in the hope of an explosion. If firing does not commence in the first fifteen seconds, it probably never will until conditions are improved. Don't make it do a "butter working stunt," by turning the gears in the solidified lubricant in the transmission case, but keep the clutch held out, while the starter is at work. Don't confidently assume that there is a good spark occurring at the plugs, when conditions are so severe that the starter can barely turn the engine over, for the fact may be that the starter robs the ignition system of the required sparking current. Do not burn the large lamps, whole evenings at a time when the car is standing nor use spot-lights, electric carburetor heaters, hand warmers or other such devices more than absolutely necessary. Avoid the use of extra high powered lamp bulbs. Don't fail to cover the hood when the car is left standing. Don't expect the battery, unless it is well charged and in first-class condition to give good service in cold weather. A considerably deteriorated battery may "get by" in warm weather but will show its weakness under severe winter conditions.

Gorman Was Second In Points

LAKE PLACID, N. Y., Mar. 8—Charles Jewtraw, national amateur speed skating champion, was the winner of the greatest number of points in the international circuit skating events which closed here recently.

The three meets, comprising the circuit, were the Canadian, held at Montreal, the National, held at Saranac Lake, and the International, held at Lake Placid. The western skaters did not compete in the Canadian meet in which Jewtraw finished second to Russel Wheeler of Montreal, having a total of eighty points. At Saranac Lake Jewtraw carried off the national championship with a total of 120 oints. At the recent international meet his total for the three meets 270.

Ranking next in the total number of points is Charles I. Gorman of St John, N B, who has 200. He earned seventy in the Canadian meet, seventy in the National meet and sixty in the International. Joe Moore, of New York City, winner of the international title is third with a total of 150, capturing twenty in the Canadian meet, thirty in the National meet and 100 in the International.

Roy McWhirter of Chicago, who did not skate in the Canadian meet has a total of 150, having won ninety in the National meet and sixty in the International. Russell Wheeler of Montreal who won the Canadian championship with a total of ninety points, has a circuit total of 100, scoring nothing at Saranac Lake and adding but ten points at the International meet here.

Senators Won From Hamilton

OTTAWA, Mar. 8.—The rejuvenated Ottawa Senators, confident as a result of their win last Saturday over Canadiens in Montreal, indulged in a scoring bee at the expense of the Hamilton Tigers here tonight and with their old scoring machine —Nighbor, Deneuny and Darragh— again in top form, found little difficulty in defeating the visitors by a score of 12 to 5.

St. Patrick's Won Championship

TORONTO, Mar. 8.—St Patrick's won the championship of the second half of the National Hockey League here tonight by defeating Canadiens by a six to four score. Incidentally they earned the right to meet Ottawa in the play-off for he N H L honors, which carries with it the privilege of meeting the winners of the Pacific Coast League for the Stanley Cup, emblematic of the professional hockey championship of the world. The game was a fairly good one, although marred by frequent penalties for Canadians.

Scottish Curlers Likely To Come

TRURO, N S, Mar. 8.—Members of the Truro Curling Club tonight tendered a grand banquet to W H Semple, head of the Nova Scotia curling team, who returned from Scotland last week. The chief toast of the evening was "Our Guest". Mr Semple in responding spoke very interestingly of the trip to Scotland and emphasized the hospitality that was shown to the Canadian curlers in their visit to the old land. He referred also to the trip to the battlefields at the invitation of Lord Beaverbrook. The Scottish curlers, Mr Semple said, would probably visit Canada in two years.

Ross Sets New Canadian Record

Olympic Swimming Champion Swam 440 Yards in 5 Min. 3 4-5 Seconds

MONTREAL, Mar. 8.—Norman Ross, Olympic swimming champion in 1920, set a new Canadian record for indoors swimming for the 440 yards here tonight when he swam the distance in five minutes, 3 4-5 seconds against the former Canadian mark of five minutes, 25 2-5 seconds. It also establishes a new United States mark, the old time being five minutes, five seconds.

Ross swam also in a 100 yard race with George Hodgson, who won the Olympic championship in 1912. The result was a draw and the time, fifty-eight seconds.

Amherst Boy Off To Join Red Sox

AMHERST, N S, Mar. 8.—Hal Brownell has left for Hot Springs, Arkansas, where he will join the Boston Red Sox in their preliminary training for the opening of the baseball season. Brownell came to the Red Sox's attention through the sensational furteen last summer. A Boston fan was present at this great game and took a fancy to Brownell's work and negotiations from the Red Sox followed soon after. A large number of fans were at the station to say good-bye. At a banquet the previous evening at F F Cormier's Brownell was presented with a handsome travelling bag from the members of the two sporting clubs in town, accompanied by an address and speeches expressive of many good wishes for his future ball career.

Successful Islanders

(The Maple Leaf, Oakland, Cal.)

William T. Cosgrove, formerly of Wellington, P. E. Island, but now a citizen of the U. S. A., and a resident of Gardiner, Maine, has certainly made good since leaving his native land. He went to Gardiner in 1910 and entered the employ of one of the leading jewelers of that city as repair man. He remained with the firm for seven years, completing his trade as a jeweller. Three years ago he went into business for himself and made a success from the start. Today he owns a jewelry business which ranks with the best in the city. Early in 1919 Mr. Cosgrove was married to Miss Agnes Murray of Liverpool, England, and today his happy home is blessed with a charming little daughter, Kathleen.

Dr. George W. Alexander, another Wellingtonian, has also made his successful mark in this big country of opportunities. He is a graduate of the Prince of Wales College and St. Dunstan's University, Charlottetown, P. E. Island, and later of the Georgetown School of Medicine, Washington, D. C. Dr. Alexander began the practice of medicine in 1909 after serving one year in the Pittsburg Hospital. He located in Orono, Maine, and there remained for four years. Finding that town too small for advancement he moved to the city of Gardiner, where he has remained ever since. From the start success was his, and today he is among the leading surgeons of the city. He is on the surgical staff of the Gardiner General Hospital. For the past six years Dr. Alexander has held the office of Medical Examiner of Kennebec County, and City Physician for the last three years. Although a busy practitioner, he finds time for society work. He is an ardent Knight of Columbus and for the past two years filled with great success the important office of District Deputy. Dr. Alexander married an Island girl, Miss Catherine McNally of Egmont Bay, and from the happy union four lovely children make cheerful his beautiful new home on Dresden avenue.

Six-Day Race At Madison Square

NEW YORK, Mar. 8.—Two teams gained a lap tonight in the spring six day bike race at Madison Square Garden. They were the German pair, Walter Rutt and Willie Lorena, and the Swiss-Dutch team, Peter Van Kampen and Oscar Egg. The leaders had covered at ten o'clock the end of the twenty-second hour, 403 miles and four laps, with Lorenz setting the pace. The record for this hour is 93 miles and six laps, made by Lawrence and Magin in 1914.

The gain was made during an exciting 25 minute sprint, started by Van Kampen and Rutt. When it ended, it was found that seven teams were lapped and six teams had lost two laps. One lap in the rear were McNamara-Piani, Smith-Taylor, Brocco-Coburn, Miquel-Van Bever, De Graves-Rellens, Chapman-Lafrence and Aerts-Alcovine. Two laps back were Spencer-Thomas, Berthlet-Kaufmann, Grham-Byron, Parisot-Leonard, Reyl-Lemay and Depanni-Keenan.
