R. M. Wyman, Yarmouth, who is commercial traveller for Cross & Blackwell, has suffered quite a heavy loss in the form of a roll of bills containing one hundred and fifty dollars. Mr. Wyman, as the story goes, had placed this roll in the wash stand in the bath room at his hotel and proceeded to take a bath. He afterwards left the room, forgetting the money. After taking a walk, Mr. Wyman, returned to the hotel, and suddenly remembering his cash, went to the room in the hope of finding the roll. It had been removed by some parties who evidently had more use for it than the owner. Considerable enquiry failed to elicit any information as to the guilty party and Detective Bradley was called in on the case. Up to a late hour no developments were reported. A reward of twenty five dollars is offered for the recovery of the money.
