INVESTIGATING PENITENTIARIES

(Special to The Guardian.) OTTAWA, May 27.—The minister of justice stated this afternoon in the House that it was his purpose to have an investigation at the earliest opportunity into the conditions of Kingston Penitentiary.

The matter was brought to a head by a speech made by Dr. Edwards (Protonac) who dwelt upon the ineffectiveness and the absurdity of certain rules in force in the Penitentiary. He gave one instance which astonished the House. He told of a guard who was on night duty and compelled to wind so many clocks at a certain time as a proof that he had been watchful in this duty.

Hon. Charles Doherty in reply said there was room for vast improvement in the treatment of the prisoners in all the penitentiaries. He said that he had in mind something for the general improvement of the system for some time.

AGAINST FREE TARIFF

WASHINGTON, May 26.—President Wilson stirred congressional circles today with an emphatic statement denouncing the "industrious" and "insidious" lobby in Washington attempting to create public sentiment against certain features of the Underwood tariff bill. This was accepted at the capitol as referring to the unusual efforts being made against free raw wool and free sugar.

TO LOCATE SCHOOLS OF MACKEREL

BOSTON, Mass., May 26.—In an attempt to reduce the high cost of living Mayor Fitzgerald has a plan to ask all coastal wise steamers and United States naval vessels to report by wireless as soon as a school of mackerel is sighted. He thinks the system should be adopted not only in New England waters, but along the Atlantic coast.

On Saturday last about twenty thousand pounds had been netted and shipped—a record not approached in the last decade, and June still remains to work in. A grand total of thirty thousand pounds is looked for before the nets are taken in. The bulk of the fish is shipped to Montreal and Boston, which are clamoring here the shippers are getting thirty cents a pound. There has been no break in the run since the season opened. THE SENATE KILLS THE NAVAL BILL

(Special to The Guardian.) OTTAWA, May 27.—The Liberal majority in the senate, doing the work of Sir Wilfrid Laurier and the Opposition in the House of Commons will kill the naval bill.

The expected action was taken by Sir George Ross, Liberal leader in the Senate, this afternoon, following a Liberal caucus held in the morning. Sir Cecil Spring-Rice, the visiting British Ambassador of the United States was there and saw it done. If the Liberal majority sticks together as it undoubtedly will, there is no hope for the bill and there is no immediate and effective aid to the naval forces of the empire, so far as the Liberals are concerned.

Mr. Ross moved an amendment "That this House is not justified in giving its assent to this bill until it is substituted by the judgment of the court." This is the substance of the amendment moved by Senator Lougheed when the Laurier Naval Service Bill was before the Senate in 1910. It was of course rejected at that time by the Liberal majority which now applies it to defeat the dreadnought gift.

Mr. Ross, in moving the amendment said that if such an amendment had been proposed in connection with the Laurier Naval Service Bill, it would have been moved to a measure "Which has not got a constitutional principle in it."

The expectation that the former premier and leader of the Liberal party in Ontario would come forward as an executor of the naval bill drew a large crowd to the Senate. The House watched the proceedings and the galleries were full of people. Sir Wilfrid Laurier, to make sure that nothing went wrong with his plans went personally to the Senate and was among the most interested spectators. Several of the Liberal ex-ministers who have been fighting

A SAD TRAGEDY AT LAKEVILLE

Lakeville, a country section some twelve miles east of Souris, was the scene of one of the most lamentable tragedies on Monday night. Mr. Gallian J. McInnis, a respectable farmer aged 65 years is dead and his cousin, Mr. James A. McInnis, is charged with his death.

The story, in brief, as told by the family of the deceased and elicited at the inquest held last night is as follows: Somewhere about 10 o'clock James A. McInnis accompanied by William McDonald of Georgetown drove to the home of the deceased, James, a son of the deceased, went to help them put their horse away. While McDonald and James were unharnessing the horse, James A. McInnis went into the house. There were in the house, at the time, the deceased who had retired, his wife and daughter Cassie. James A. without a word to the women, walked into the bedroom occupied by the deceased, pulled him out of bed, beat him and then lifted him back into bed again. He pulled him out on the floor a second time and again put him back in bed where he held him by the throat until life was extinct. He threatened the women also, ordering them out of the house. The whole affair was over before McDonald and James came into the house.

When apprised of what had happened they went into the bedroom where they found the elder man lying dead on the bed. They then called James A. McDonald and James A. after getting their horse harnessed drove to the latter's home. As soon as the agitated family could do so the affair was reported to Stipendiary McQuaid of Souris who immediately issued a warrant for the arrest of the accused. The warrant was placed in the hands of officer Hughes and the accused was placed under arrest about three o'clock yesterday afternoon.

The deceased leaves a wife, one daughter, Miss Cassie, and three sons James who was at home at the time of the tragedy, Peter and Joseph, who were at the shore fishing. The accused is a man of middle age and taught school for some years. He had been for some years book-keeper for Mr. Thomas Kiekham, Souris. He has a wife but no children. He had been in Souris all day till about 7.30 in the evening when he left for home. Needless to say the sad affair has cast a gloom over the whole community.

Corner Dr. McLean of Souris, drove to the scene of the tragedy yesterday afternoon accompanied by Dr. McDonald of Souris. Dr. McMillan of Charlottetown was sent for to conduct an autopsy and left for Souris yesterday afternoon, driving to Lakeville. The inquest was held last night and was not concluded when the telephone office was closed.
