THE VALEDTORY By Miss I. Dixon Mathieson

Your Honor, Honorable Members of the Government, Your Worship, Members of the Faculty, Fellow Students, Ladies and Gentlemen.

The college year, which last September stretched so long before us, has slipped away, we hardly know how or where, and this morning we have gathered for the last time to bid farewell to College days.

Let us for a moment recall the important phases of the year we have just lived through.

In first and second years the enrollment was average, but the third year class was the largest in the history of the college. Two members of last year's staff, Mr. R. P. Smith and Mr. A. F. Hanauld, resigned after their valued services, and their places were taken by Mr. J. B. Brow and Mr. J. G. Gallant, both of whom worked with energy and will. All Mr. Gallant's friends join with the students in regret for his serious illness. During the session death has removed Dr. Alexander Anderson, for years principal of this institution, and later Chief Superintendent of Education for this Province. Students all over Canada, who studied under him have expressed great appreciation of his work as a teacher.

name of our present Governor will be perpetuated and honored when succeeding generations their names to the ever lengthening prize list.

A splendid comradeship and a sporting spirit of "give and take" have marked the social life of the College throughout the year, and have enriched the memories we shall carry with us through life. Various social gatherings given by different organizations proved a pleasant means by which students became better known one to another.

Our paper, the College Times, prospered greatly during the year, and has been a source, not only of pleasure, but of real educational value. As to our debating society, we feel that it has been quite as successful as in former years. The advantage of this training for public speaking is inestimable; the student who takes part in debate develops a certain responsibility which makes him a worthier member of this institution, and in later years a more valuable citizen of the world.

The athletic life of the College was varied and full of interest. Our foot ball team last fall was enthusiastic and keen, and although it did not always win, the boys were in earnest and anxious to play a good clean game. Hockey was played with the same energetic spirit, and the college's skate was enjoyed throughout the winter by the whole student body. In baseball too, both boys' and girls' teams played successfully.

After all the varied work and play comprised in this phrase "College life" we have reached Commencement; when we entered College, we looked forward to this day as the aim of all our desires, as the great day of our lives, but now it has come, our joy is mingled with a great sadness, for we realize we are severing ties which have become very dear to us.

To you, Our Principal, we say farewell. Many students have reached commencement under your guidance, and have carried away lasting memories of your helpful influence.

To you also, Members of the Faculty, we say farewell. We deeply appreciate the sympathy and interest evidenced by you in the many hundreds of horses are being prepared for the Old Home Week events. The arrival of warships with parades of sailors and ships' bands and the presence of the militia which will be in camp at the time, will all contribute to the attractiveness of the week. A great many of the fire departments are bringing bands with them and some of these include forty to fifty pieces, so that there will be plenty of music by firemen's, military, naval and local bands.

Old Home Week

Ben Williams Outdoor Shows will occupy the entire market square and will make the evenings lively. Aquatic sports, boat parades, and races will make the harbor a scene of activity. Special tennis and golf matches will be arranged, and athletic programs will probably be held by electric light. Dances and other entertainments will add to the social side of the week. The whole program has been arranged with the idea of catering to the sporting proclivities of every devotee of outdoor pastime.

The committee want the hearty co-operation of every merchant and citizen. They all can do good work by spending out programs which are obtainable at the Publicity Office to their friends. With the entire city of Charlottetown behind Old Home Week and the Firemen's Tournament, the result will be beyond the most sanguine expectations. The Housing Committee has been appointed and will shortly start making a survey and planning for the vast concourse expected in this connection, our citizens will do well to place every facility they can at the disposal of the committee.

If our visitors of 1925 are treated well we can expect a large proportion of them to visit us again.

ages of our college life. To you, Alma Mater, we say farewell; although our paths in life may lead us far apart, yet our memories of a common life within these walls will ever be the same.

When will the stream be awaery of flowing? When will my eye? When will the wind be awaery of blowing? Over the sky? When will the clouds be awaery of fleeting? When will the heart be awaery of beating? And nature die? Never, Oh never! nothing will die; The stream flows, The wind blows, The cloud fleets, The heart beats, Nothing will die.

The world was never made: It will change, but will not fade. So let the wind range; For even and morn Ever will be 'Thro' eternity. Nothing was born; Nothing will die; All things will change.

To the citizens of Charlottetown we say farewell. We shall not forget your kindness and hospitality extended to us during the years we have spent among you.

Fellow students, farewell, we leave in your hands the honor of the College, and know that the trust will be worthily fulfilled. With those who have not attained the goal they desired, we leave this parting word: "Do not think that your college year has been wasted, for, of what benefit the contacts and experiences of college have been to you, time alone can tell."

To you, fellow graduates, we say farewell. May Commencement be the beginning of a fuller life in which we may express the hopes and ideals that Alma Mater has taught us. Although the class must needs be broken, let our class spirit remain inviolate. Farewell!

Your Honor, Honorable Members of the Government, Your Worship, Ladies and Gentlemen, farewell.
