

NOW

is the time to REFURNISH

Because—

Under the new 'Reform' legislation—its eight-hour day, its restrictive labor regulations and its levy on industry for unemployment insurance—"Manufacturing Costs Will Increase."

To hold off and pay more is not prudent. It's wise to buy NOW at Present Rock-bottom Prices and on the convenient easy terms—No Interest.

IF Holman's are willing to wait for their money, why should you wait longer for the modern home comforts you need?

HOLMAN HOME PLAN ONE PRICE—THE CASH PRICE 10% NOW BALANCE IN 10 EQUAL MONTHLY PAYMENTS NOTHING ADDED—NO INTEREST

HOLMAN'S BOTH STORES SUMMERSIDE-CHARLOTTETOWN

Central Guardian

This column is reserved for news items of local interest but advertisements of a serious nature may be inserted at a cents a word strictly payable in advance.

CONFEDERATION LIFE INSURANCE L-6796-7-12-312L

DIPHTHERIA Immunizing Clinic Prince Street School Friday, March 22nd at 3 P. M. for children 6 months to 14 years. L-5621-3-21-11.

HARD COAL—For furnace or base burner sold in any quantity. A. Pickard & Co. Phone 240. L-3456-3-19-31

SPECIAL ON GUITARS, only $7.95 while they last, at Miller Bros. Ltd. L-5497-3-20-21

UNLOADING COAL — 4 cars screened coal, price $7.75, $8.75 and $9.00. All well screened. Sold in any quantity. A. Pickard & Co. Phone 240. L-3456-3-19-31

NEW STORY — The Guardian's new story "Breaster's Millions", by George Barr McCutcheon, will start in a few days. Watch out for the opening chapter.

SEE OUR SPECIAL TABLE of popular sheet music, 15c each or 2 for 25c. Miller Bros. Ltd. L-5497-3-20-21

UNITED CHURCH OF CANADA WINSLOW—Services on the above charge for Sunday, March 24, are as follows: Highfield 11 a. m. Princetown Road 3 p. m. South Winae 7 p. m. Rev. Thos. Palethorpe, Minister. L-5610-3-21-11.

ON RED CROSS WORK—Miss McLean, of P. E. I., Junior Red Cross Supervisor, visited the Middle Backville Junior Branch on Friday afternoon and gave an interesting talk on Junior Red Cross in the Assembly Hall of the Superior School. After the meeting Mrs. R. Grey Prescott entertained at her home for Miss McLean. At the tea hour, Mrs. George R. Campbell poured and the Misses Mary Ayer, Louise Morton, Ella Hayes and Gretchen Hansen served. Those present were Mrs. Lawson Smith, Mrs. O. E. Steeves, Mrs. G. R. Campbell, Mrs. C. Fred Ayer, Mrs. J. W. Black, Mrs. Albert Robinson, Mrs. Norbert Cormier, Miss Al. Smith, Miss Helen Smith, Miss Mable Read, Miss Louise Morton, Miss Flo Estabrooks, Miss Ella Hayes and Miss Gretchen Hansen.—Sackville Post.

AN INTERESTING VISITOR.—On the invitation of The Prince Edward Island Diocesan Board of the Woman's Auxiliary, Dr. Catharine Travis of Hampton, New Brunswick, is here to speak to them on her work in Honan, China. Dr. Travis has had an interesting and varied career. After being a gold medalist from McGill University she spent four years in Baltimore and graduated in medicine from Johns Hopkins University, for some years she was in New Britain, Conn., she joined on the outbreak of the Great War, a Red Cross Unit and went to Serbia. She was in Nis when the Germans, Austrians and Bulgarians took possession and was sent as a prisoner to Sofia. From there she was allowed to return home via Roumania, Russia and the Scandinavian Countries. A year after her return she was sent by the Woman's Auxiliary as their medical missionary to Honan, China, and was in charge of St. Paul's Hospital, Kweiwei, for some years. She is a niece of the late Major A. A. Bartlett and whilst in the City is the guest of her aunt, Mrs. Bartlett. Dr. Travis spoke at the annual meeting of the Woman's Gladstone lay in state in the Hall in 1898. Homage was accorded King Edward VII on his death in May 1910. The last time Westminster Hall was used was in 1930 when the bodies of those who perished in the disaster to the ship R101 were brought from France for burial in their own land.

To Prevent "FLU" Disinfect Your Nostrils

Dangerous germs which lodge in the breathing organs give you Gripe, Flu, or Bronchitis. You can destroy these germs if you cleanse your nose, mouth and throat with Catarrhose.

Protect yourself against "Flu" by using Catarrhose; it stops a cold in a few moments, cleans the nostrils, takes soreness out of the throat. For "Flu", Catarrh, Nose Colds, Irritable Throat, you will get prompt and effective action from Catarrhose. Carry the Inhaler in your purse or pocket, etc., use it frequently. Complete outfit $1.00. Smaller sizes 50c at all dealers.

Parisian Ladies Eagerly Look for Dresses Created by CLAUDETTE Now Offered in CHARLOTTETOWN

Exclusiveness at a reasonable price because of the Claudette policy of releasing patterns at different centers at the same time. Patterns received by the Montreal Establishment are made up and one dress of each model is rushed by express to us. Our stock is always fresh. No time is lost in seeing samples. We buy dresses that are making style history now in Paris and New York, and cannot be duplicated at any price.

R. P. SIMPSON QUEEN STREET

Missionary Lecture At Canoe Cove

Despite the unfavorable condition of the roads and the severe cold of Monday night, but accommodated with the beautifully brilliant moonlight, a goodly number gathered at the Kirk of Canoe Cove for Dr. Lowry's missionary lecture on the history of the visible church, with special reference to the person of the saints of God who figured in the conquests of the church in all ages in many lands. Taking for the basis of his address, the words of Hebrews XIII: "Ye also are compassed about with so great a cloud of witnesses." Dr. Lowry spoke at length of the institution of the visible church in Abraham's days, and of how the Elders ruled in the days of Moses, and all through the period of the patriarchs and prophets. The Psalmist had also said, "Praise him in the assembly of the elders." Speaking at length upon the formation of the early Christian church, "built upon the foundation of the apostles and prophets, Jesus Christ himself being the chief corner stone," the speaker showed that the primitive apostolic church followed the policy and order of the synagogue, the early disciples of our Lord being none the less Israelites because they were Christians. Referring at length to the progress of the Gospel in Palestine and throughout Europe, he spoke particularly of the men whom God raised to be the heralds of the truth as it is in Jesus, in the lands of our fathers, such as St. Patrick in Ireland, and St. Columba in Scotland. Patrick was the son of Calpornius, the Deacon and grandson of Potitus, the Presbyter, and his father was also a Deacon or magistrate under the Roman Government. When a youth, Patrick was carried as a slave in Ireland, and spent six years in captivity, where under serious religious reflections and impressions, he turned unto the Lord with his whole heart, and became prayerful. Cold mountains and the midnight air, witnessed the awful fervor of his prayers. Escaping from his captivity, and finding his way back home, he was led to enter upon the great of evan-gelling Ireland, and being in due course prepared for his life work, he set out, with some disciples and teachers, and was the means under God of bringing the land of Erin from pagan idolatry to the worship and work of Christ the Saviour. He died March 17, A.D. 492, and was laid to rest at a spot near to where he began his great life work. He was a disciple of Patrick, St. Columba, a native of County Donegal, Ireland, who evangelized the Highlands of Scotland, and planted the Christian faith in the land of our fathers. The speaker traced at length the period of the Culdees in Scotland and Ireland, and the work of the Waldenses in Italy, and of the planting of the standard of Zion on the shores of the New World, and closed with an earnest appeal for the extension of Christ's Kingdom at home and abroad. The meeting concluded with the singing of the Paraphrase, "O God of Bethel," and earnest prayer and the Benediction by the Minister.

Fateful Chamber To Hear Witness Of Loyal Hearts

(By Thomas T. Champion) (Canadian Press Staff Writer) LONDON, March 19 — Britain's loyalty to the King and Queen will be voiced in a mighty Gothic chamber whose beams have rung to accusations of treason as well as expressions of fealty. On May 9, third day in the principal week of the jubilee celebrations, their majesties will drive to Westminster Hall, where the King will receive loyal addresses from Lords and Commons. Now shadowed by the comparatively modern Houses of Parliament, the great hall is the surviving relic of the Palace of Westminster, built eight centuries ago by William Rufus, second of England's Norman kings. No building in England has witnessed scenes more memorable than this tremendous room, 240 feet long and 60 feet wide, where Richard II was deposed and the House of Lancaster came to the English throne. Ironically, it was during Richard's reign, 250 years after the Hall's erection, that its wonderful hammer-beam roof was added. Geoffrey Chaucer was clerk of works at the time.

Sir Thomas More, canonized by the Pope within the last few weeks, was tried here in 1535. Guy Fawkes the arch-conspirator of the Gunpowder Plot, was brought here also for trial in 1606. A brass plate in the stone-flagged floor shows the day where the Earl of Strafford, the ruthless minister of Charles I, first faced his accusers in 1641, and another plate marks the spot where, eight years later, his royal master stood for his own trial, and passed out to meet the headman's axe in neighboring Whitehall. When the Restoration came and Charles II was called back from his travels, the bodies of Cromwell, Bradshaw and Ireton were roughly disinterred, and their heads set up high among the gables of the great roof. In Westminster Hall, too, Warren Hastings was arraigned for his alleged misgovernment in India, a trial which extended over eight years and which resulted in his acquittal. In the old days, though, the hall was often a place of high revelry. At the Coronation banquets, held here up to within little more than a century ago, the gates were flung wide, the trumpets sounded, and the Royal Champion rode in, clad in armor cap-a-pie. hurling his mail gauntlet to the ground the Champion challenged to single combat any who disputed the rights of the Sovereign. Within the memory of people still living Westminster Hall used to be the chief place for the trial of civil cases. Three judges of the High Court sat in different parts of the Hall at the same time. Eventually courts were built to flank the side of the Hall, and these were used until the Royal Courts of Justice were built in the Strand in 1883. In quite recent years scenes of Imperial moment have been enacted beneath the great hammer-beam roof. At the time of King George's coronation the Lords and Commons gave a luncheon here to the visiting parliamentarians from all the Dominions, when Sir Mackenzie Bowell replied to the toast of Canada. The great Victorian statesman, was tried here in 1535. Guy Fawkes the arch-conspirator of the Gunpowder Plot, was brought here also for trial in 1606. A brass plate in the stone-flagged floor shows the day where the Earl of Strafford, the ruthless minister of Charles I, first faced his accusers in 1641, and another plate marks the spot where, eight years later, his royal master stood for his own trial, and passed out to meet the headman's axe in neighboring Whitehall. When the Restoration came and Charles II was called back from his travels, the bodies of Cromwell, Bradshaw and Ireton were roughly disinterred, and their heads set up high among the gables of the great roof. In Westminster Hall, too, Warren Hastings was arraigned for his alleged misgovernment in India, a trial which extended over eight years and which resulted in his acquittal. In the old days, though, the hall was often a place of high revelry. At the Coronation banquets, held here up to within little more than a century ago, the gates were flung wide, the trumpets sounded, and the Royal Champion rode in, clad in armor cap-a-pie. hurling his mail gauntlet to the ground the Champion challenged to single combat any who disputed the rights of the Sovereign. Within the memory of people still living Westminster Hall used to be the chief place for the trial of civil cases. Three judges of the High Court sat in different parts of the Hall at the same time. Eventually courts were built to flank the side of the Hall, and these were used until the Royal Courts of Justice were built in the Strand in 1883. In quite recent years scenes of Imperial moment have been enacted beneath the great hammer-beam roof. At the time of King George's coronation the Lords and Commons gave a luncheon here to the visiting parliamentarians from all the Dominions, when Sir Mackenzie Bowell replied to the toast of Canada. The great Victorian statesman,

BRINGING UP FATHER

Auxiliary yesterday afternoon at St. Peter's Cathedral Hall and gives an address on her work in Honan this evening in St. Paul's Parish Hall.

SUDDEN DEATH—A wide circle of friends in the city, as well as elsewhere throughout the Maritime Provinces were shocked to learn of the sudden death of Mr. Malcolm MacKenzie Ferguson, office manager of Swift Canadian Company, Limited, which occurred Monday at the family home, 117 Givan Drive, Moncton. Mr. Ferguson was a highly esteemed resident of the city and was highly thought of in business circles as well as socially. His death, which was quite unexpected, followed a brief illness of heart trouble. Surviving are his wife, formerly Miss Beulah Campbell, of Graham's Road P. E. I., and three children, a son Malcolm, and twins, Morven and Sheila. Several brothers and sisters survive in Winnipeg. Mr. Ferguson was a westerner and had lived practically all of his life in Winnipeg. He came to the Maritimes as office manager for the Swift Canadian Company about five years ago after being in the employ of the company for about eleven years. He quickly adapted himself to the conditions in the Maritimes and settled down to make a home here. He was a member of the Wesley Memorial Church and was a Mason in fraternal circles. Prior to coming to the Maritimes he was in active membership in the order in Winnipeg. A brother and sister are coming from Winnipeg and are expected to arrive here Thursday morning and the funeral will probably be held on Thursday afternoon. Moncton Times.

GOING TO NEW YORK—Rev. J. S. Bonnell will preach his farewell sermon at Westminster United Church in Winnipeg, May 26, says a Canadian Press despatch. He will leave immediately afterward for New York to assume the pastorate of Fifth Avenue Presbyterian Church. Dr. Bonnell's decision to accept the call to New York was announced at a meeting of the church board Sunday night. Dr. Bonnell, former minister of St. Andrew's Church, Saint John, is a native of Prince Edward Island, born in Charlottetown, and is the first Canadian to be called to the Fifth Avenue Presbyterian pulpit. A graduate of Dalhousie University, he broke his studies to serve overseas with the Canadian forces during the war. His first pastorate was at Cavendish, P. E. I. His first New York service will be June 2.

Mrs. William MacQuarrie, North Milton, and her two charming little daughters Beverly and Audrey have arrived home after spending the winter months the guests of Mrs. MacQuarrie's parents Mr. and Mrs. Henry Bernard, Hunter River.

SENTENCED TO JAIL—Clifford Ward of Prince Edward Island was sentenced to a twenty-day term in the County Jail yesterday morning by Magistrate MacKenzie. Ward has been "hiding the rods" between Halifax and Amherst all winter, and the police came to regard him as a nuisance.—Amherst News.

GOLD MEDALIST AT 90 LONDON—(C.P.)—Capt. Adrian Jones, 90 years of age, the oldest practising sculptor in the world, has been awarded the gold medal of the Royal Society of British Sculptors.

A HAPPY THOUGHT A proud father went to a branch of the Municipal Bank. Said he "I want to see you about opening an account for that new arrival at our house. How shall I distinguish it from me?"

Manager: Suppose we call it the fresh heir fund? Use Minard's for Cats and Soreas

1935 New Wallpapers. Now is the time to redecorate, using SUNWORTHY, the original and best light-resisting Wallpapers, in preference to all others. We are showing a larger assortment than ever of these popular papers for upstairs and downstairs rooms. It will be good news to learn that SUNWORTHY is now selling amongst our lowest priced goods. Prices are much lower this year. In the Rural Districts your nearest merchant will show you our Sample Book. CARTER & CO. Ltd. CHARLOTTETOWN

—BY GEORGE MCMANUS

No-glaze PAINTS-VARNISHES-ENAMELS LEAVE NO BRUSH MARKS