Worth Its Price

"We have cheaper teas, ma'am, but I think you'll find 'KING COLE' is worth its price." So said a wise grocer recently to a questioning customer. He was there not merely to serve her, but to serve her well.

He might guess her purse with the cheaper article but her final judgment of his service would be on the quality of the tea supplied. He wanted a satisfied customer.

This was one of the many merchants using "KING COLE TEA" in their own homes, and so he could say with sincerity: "It is worth the price."

BURNING ACCIDENT—Mr. Irving Jay of Mount Stewart is at the P. E. I. Hospital undergoing treatment for painful burns incurred on his face and hands while kindling a fire with the aid of gasoline. Fortunately Mr. Jay's injuries are not very serious and his many friends look forward to his rapid recovery.

TRAGEDY NARROWLY AVERTED AT CRAPAUD—Two young lads aged 11 and 13 years were playing along the Crapaud river bank last Saturday at the rear of Mr. W. H. Inman's farm, when the younger boy found himself sinking in mud from which he could not extricate himself. The elder boy, realizing the seriousness of the situation, rushed for assistance and Mr. Inman quickly responded. By the time he reached the scene the boy had sunk to his waist in the quicksand. Mr. Inman, by using a plank, was able to get close enough to throw the boy a rope which he tied about his body and after much hard work on the part of Mr. Inman the boy was finally rescued from his perilous position. Much praise is due Mr. Inman, as not doubt, had the boy been left much longer he would have been completely submerged.

WANT MILITARY CAMPS—The following telegram speaks for itself:—Charlottetown, May 5th, Hon. E. M. MacDonald, Minister of Militia, Ottawa, Ont.—On no account allow the Militia Department to discontinue the annual militia camp drill this year. It has been held in our Province for years and it will be a retrograde movement to stop it. Our militiamen want all the practice they can get to keep up their interest in this most important work. The record of this Province in the war positively merits this consideration. Surely you will not countenance this backward step. Kindly reply.—J. A. Messervy.

A Household Medicine—They that are acquainted with the sterling properties of Dr. Thomas' Eucalyptic Oil in the treatment of many ailments would not be without it in the house. It is truly a household medicine and as it is effective in dealing with many ordinary complaints it is an inexpensive medicine. So keep it at hand as the all for it may come most unexpectedly.

IN MEMORIAM

MISS MARION McRAE
In the early afternoon of Saturday, April 27th, Miss Marion McRae, a very highly esteemed young lady of Wheatley River passed peacefully away at her early age of twenty-three years.

Over a year ago the deceased was taken ill with la grippe. From the effects of this she seemed never to have fully recovered. Her health since then was not as good as it formerly was but still up until some few weeks before the coming of the end she was able to move about the house and at times do more or less work.

It was not until a little over two months before her death that it was realized that there was any real cause for alarm.

When the seriousness of the condition of her health became known all that medical skill and kind ministrations could do was done but to no avail. For a while she apparently gained in strength but later she began to fail, and continued to do so until on the above mentioned date she died quietly.

The deceased was the only daughter—yes and the only child—of Mr. and Mrs. Angus McRae of Wheatley River. They are left now lonely and almost broken-hearted. Marion was the centre of all their hopes. For her they toiled and to secure for her life's best gifts was their highest ambition.

Miss McRae was a young lady of beautiful character and was a general favorite with all who had the pleasure of knowing her, and especially with the young people of her community. She was a loyal member of the Presbyterian church and was always ready to help in

Insidious Eye strain

We use this adjective advisedly. Sufferers from Eyestrain may have perfect vision and therefore do not suspect the presence of any eye defect. The motive power of the entire human organism is Nerve Energy. Normal eyes, it is computed utilize about 20% of this Nerve Energy, but when Eyestrain is present, a much larger proportion is required. Hence defective eyes, through their consumption of an excessive amount of Nerve Energy, may seriously affect the functioning of other organs of the body, and produce ill health.
