In happier days for both Finland and Poland, Juho Kurikkala of Finland won the 18-kilometre langlauf in the world ski championships at Zakopane in Poland one year ago today. Kurikkala's time was 65 1-2 minutes. Christel Cranz of Germany won the women's slalom event in 2.36 3-10, and also won the combined event.

ROYALS EDGE OUT BORDEN NATIONALS 5-4

Score Three Goals In Final Period Of Fast, Bristling Ruggedly-fought Encounter

Shooting three goals in a torrid third period attack that overcame their opponent's lead Junior Royals last night edged out the fast-skating Borden Nationals 5-4 in as bristling a game as has been seen at the Forum this winter, a match in which Referee Roy Prowse meted out 15 penalties, 9 of them going to the winners as the two teams fighting tooth and nail all the way "laid it on" at every opportunity.

But it was a mighty close shave that last year's Maritime Junior Champs had against the rugged, fast-skating Nationals from Borden who last night saw their season's unbroken string of victories snapped but only after they had made the smart junior squad call on all their offensive weapons to hairline the decision.

Shooting two goals less than three minutes after the start of the game Nationals after seeing Royals tie it up in the first minute and 22 seconds of the middle canto regained their lead before the period had ended and only bowed finally as the four and five man attacks of the juniors bore fruit in the last session, George McLeod shooting the deciding tally on a pass from rugged George McDonald with only two minutes and one second of playing time left.

Borden in defeat lived up to the high reputation they had entered the game with. A fast powerful pack of skaters the Nationals matched stride for stride and bump for bump with their opponents all through the piece to throw the mightiest scare into the ranks of the Royals that they have received this season. Royals didn't look nor act like the team that whipped Moncton last week. Passing and shooting was away below form due largely to the close-checking of their opponents and although they did finally win with their third period offensive it was only after Nationals had outplayed them for the first two sessions of the game. In that period the winners had a big edge and were only kept from shooting a score of goals by the sensational goaltending of Lord in the Borden net as the slim janitor allowed but three shots to trickle into his cage out of the hail of rubber that was thrown at him during the final twenty minutes.

Young Earl Boates between the pipes for the Royals also had to be mighty good as Borden broke away several times to go right in on top of him but the rangy netminder outguessed them, and that after he had gamely returned after receiving a badly cut mouth early in the period when hit by a flying puck as Borden players milled around his cage.

The game was little more than 30 seconds old when Jay was chased for charging and by the time he had served his sentence Borden had jumped into the driver's seat with a brace of goals. Taylor took Oscar Campbell's pass for the first one 49 seconds after the start caging a 15-foot drive and as Jay jumped onto the ice. W. Muttart, rangy defenceman bored his way through centre to Boates citadel to chalk up the second National's counter. Muttart was chased a minute later for tripping but Royals thrown off their stride couldn't capitalize on the break although they did manage to hem Borden inside their own zone. Nationals had a wide edge in the play throughout the remainder of the session as Boates was tested frequently from close range by the dynamite line of Campbell, Howatt and Taylor with Royals paying far too much attention to bodying, drawing three additional trips to the cooler.

Royals struck early in the second canto to tie the game up in one minute and 22 seconds; Blacquiere racing down left wing rounded the Nationals' cage and his short passout was deflected into the cage from the stick of Jimmy Roach in exactly 17 seconds. A minute and five seconds later Deighen scored the equalizer, as he was on the scoring end of a three man attack by J. Roach and McLeod. Borden again took the upper hand as Royals persisted in drawing penalties and their hard-working efforts finally drew results as they took the lead for the second time in the game Campbell denting the twines on a pass from Howatt at 12:33 of the period. Lord made two remarkable saves from Pud Roach and Blacquiere to keep his team's lead intact with the Nationals making the score read 4-3 in the last minute and 55 seconds of play as with a Royal player again cooling his heels in the box Howatt took Lee Taylor's pass to again beat Boates.

Fans who expected a big offensive from the Royals for the third period were not disappointed as the Juniors from the opening whistle sent waves of five and four men attacks into enemy territory. 36 seconds after the start Deighan ran the count to 4-3 from five feet out when he backhanded the disc home as Jim Roach and McLeod drew assists on the play. Raging right back Royals were within inches again only to have the Nationals race back to test Boates. The Royals goalie was knocked out as a flying puck inflicted a nasty cut inside his mouth but the goalie drew a big hand as he bamely returned to his post after repairs. Lord was beginning to show his real worth at this stage as he outguessed Blanchard and McDonald in succession. The furious attack bogged down somewhat as Taylor, Whitlock and Love went to the penalty bench but Royals resumed it in all its intensity as the teams came back to full strength. At 11:24 Blanchard of the Royals kid line whipped home the equalizer and Royals were only kept from going ahead at this stage by three miraculous saves by Lord as he robbed Jim Roach twice and Deighan on another occasion right in front of his citadel. Boates took his turn in starring as Howatt broke away to go right in on top of hime and he duplicated his act as Campbell raced in seconds later. Time was fast ticking away with the score still deadlocked when McDonald plowed his way up the left boards. He raced over the Borden blueline and fed a pass to McLeod standing outside the crease, the latter shovelnig the rubber in for the winning tally of the encounter. Neither team had a clear-cut scoring chance during the remaining time of the game.

Lineups:

Royals: Goal, Boates; defence, Jay, McDonald; forwards, McLeod, Deighan, J. Roach, P. Roach, Blacquiere, Whitlock, Richard, Blanchard.

Nationals: Goal, Lord; defence, W. Muttart, Love; forwards, Campbell, Howatt, Taylor, H. Muttart, Oatway, Currie.

Referee: Roy Prowse.

Miners In And Victorias Out Of C. B. League

SYDNEY, N. S., Feb. 13—(CP)—Glace Bay Miners were definitely "in" and North Sydney Victorias out of the Cape Breton Hockey League playdown picture tonight after the mining town team defeated Sydney's league-leading Millionaires 2-1 to clinch the coveted second position.

The victory gave Glace Bay a five-point advantage over the Northsiders, a lead which cannot be overcome by remaining games on the schedule. It was the visitors final appearance in regular league play here this season.

Tonight's game lacked much of the hard-checking, fast-going pace which has featured other contests between the two teams during the season and penalties were few and far between.

Schmidt One Reason For Bruins Lead

MONTREAL, Feb. 12—(CP)—Milt Schmidt is one reason why the Boston Bruins are the highest scoring team in the National Hockey League. The "Kitchener Kid" has averaged better than a point a game and the official statistics issued tonight credit him with 39 points—17 goals and 22 assists.

In second place, four points behind the Boston forward, is Bryan Hextall of the New York Rangers. Hextall's 35 points are made up of 20 goals—he was the first sniper to reach that figure this season—and 15 acsists. Neil Colvile of Rangers moved into third place ahead of Gordie Drillon of the Toronto Maple Leafs, who is tied with Woody Dumart of Boston and Phil Watson of the Rangers. Colville has 31 points and the others 29. Watson jumped into the charmed circle from ninth place in last week's standing.

The Rangers, at the top of the league, appear to be grabbing for everything. Two members of the team, Art Coulter and Dutch Hiller, are leading the penalty parade, Coulter with 62 minutes and Hiller with 56.

Trophy Won By Grahams Road Monarchs

The MacKenzie-Wigmore trophy, which was donated by Messrs. Walter MacKenzie and Thomas Wigmore, and first played for in 1933-34, has finally settled permanently in Grahams Road, the Monarchs having captured it for the third successive year.

The final success came when the Monarchs defeated the Dairy Kings in the most sensational game of the series in Stanley rink, February 8. This was the fourth game in the best three of five for the cup, and Graham's Road had won two of the three games played previously.

The Stanley team opened fast and Gallant beat the Monarch goalie for the opening score. A few minutes later Elmer MacLeod evened the score on a pass from George Wigmore. The tie didn't last long for Gallant, who played his best game of the season, got his second counter. This was followed by another Stanley goal from Louis Reid, which he repeated just before the bell, to make the standing 4-1.

Monarchs staged an amazing comeback in the second session. George Wigmore, playing defence, and making an occasional dangerous rush as usual, made the first goal of the period. Then Elric Campbell drove in two—the first from Wigmore—to even the score for the second time at 4-all.

Not long after the beginning of the third period, "Gus" Gallant got his third goal of the game to put the Dairy Kings one up; but the Monarchs were able to even it up when MacLeod realized on a pass from E. Campbell, from a faceoff on the Stanley goal line.

After seven minutes play in the overtime period, George Wigmore drilled a long shot from centre ice to beat Vernon MacLean in the Stanley net for the winning goal. For the remaining three minutes the Dairy Kings did their best to tie it up, but MacKay in the net, was unbeatable; and the final score read Graham's Road Monarchs 6; Stanley Bridge Dairy Kings 5.

The game was fast throughout and several penalties were served by each team. Fred Paynter, the flashy Monarch left-winger, received a cut on the eye from a skate, when he and Gordon MacKay collided in the third period. However he was back on the ice before the end of the game.

The Stanley team for the past few games has missed its two fast skating juniors, Quinn and Reid, Jr., while the Graham's Road team for the final game missed Crozier and George Whitehead.

The refereeing was well done by Wilmer MacKay and Arthur Walsh.

Following are the lineups:—

Monarchs	Dairy Kings
Goal
Oscar MacKay	Vernon MacLean
John Currie	Elmore MacKay
Defence
Oliver Bernard	Gordon Fyfe
George Wigmore	Urban Walsh
Forwards
Roland Crozier	Justine Reid
Elmer MacLeod	Louis Reid
Ian Campbell	Austin Graham
Elric Campbell	Louis Quinn
George Whitehead	James Barlow
Marshall Whitehead	S. Ferguson
Fred Paynter	"Gus" Gallant
	Oliver Cole
	Gordon MacKay

Sacrifice Fly Rule Is Altered

(By Gayle Talbot)
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

BELLEAIR, Fla., Feb. 13—(AP)—Before adjourning its conference here today with Commissioner Kenesaw M. Landis, the baseball rules committee knocked the sacrifice fly out of the book.

Hereafter when a batter comes up in the clutch and poles out a long fly to score a teammate from third he will be charged merely with a time at bat. As a result the averages of some of the distance sluggers like Joe Dimaggio might suffer by upward of 10 percentage points.

Back in the old days, and even into the late 1920's, a batter was credited with a sacrifice if he advanced a runner from any base. To some stars, such as Rogers Hornsby, this was sometimes good for upward of 30 percentage points in the course of a season.

Then the rule was altered to take in only runners scoring. And then for several years the sacrifice fly was dropped entirely. It was brought back only last season. The rule makers decided today it should be buried for good.

Royals Play At Kensington Tonight

Royals face their second stiff test in as many nights tonight at Kensington when they travel to the western Island centre for a game against a picked Intermediate team from the North Shore League. This league had been productive of some fine hockey ever since the season's opening and Royals will have to be right at the peak of their game if they are to be returned the winners.

S.P.C.A. Skate At The Forum

The S.P.C.A. are staging a big skate at the Forum tonight and with a fine program lined up it is expected that one of the largest crowds of the season will be on hand to help out the society in a monetary way. Smooth, fast ice is assured in addition to good skating music.

The second match in the Provincial Snooker tournament was played last night when F. Ramsay won from E. McInnis two games to one. Tonight F. Acorn meets E. Stanley.

Bruins Stage Scoring Bee To Swamp Red Wings By 10-3 Score

BOSTON, Feb. 13—(CP)—Staging the greatest scoring bee of the season, Boston Bruins defeated Detroit Red Wings 10-3 in a free-swinging game here tonight to move into a first place tie with New York Rangers in the National Hockey League standings.

The slim crowd of 9,524 received many extra thrills, for three fist fights broke out while Milt Schmidt, the league's high scorer looked on enviously from the Boston bench as his mates piled up a total of 25 points. Schmidt was out of the exciting action because of an injured groin.

Referee Mickey Ion imposed 16 penalties, including five majors.

Despite the score, the game was far from one-sided. Every Bruin except Mel (Sudden Death) Hill collected a point and Herb Cain topped the list with two goals and two assists Roy Conacher collected two tallies and an assist and Bobby Bauer also made three points, including a goal.

The other Boston scorers were Des Smith, Bill Cowley, Eddie Wiseman, Woody Dumart and Flash Hollett.

Johnny Grosso opened the Detroit scoring in the first period and Connie Brown and Ebbie Goodfellow also drove pucks through goalie Frankie Brimsek in the second frame. Goodfellow's counter was made on a penalty shot and he beat the Boston goalie with a high drive to the right corner.

Goodfellow started the fisticuffing by threatening his former teammate, Cooney Weiland, now the Bruins' coach, when he was penalized for highsticking early in the game. As he started for Weiland, Art Ross, Jr., burly son of the Bruins' manager, who was seated two rows behind the prison section, intervened and swapped punches with the husky defenceman.

Cowley suffered the first major for cutting Jimmy Orlando's forehead with a high stick and five-minute sentences were imposed on Hill, Orlando, Grosso and Des Smith for participating in the other two bouts. Grosso also drew a $25 fine for jumping off the Detroit bench when Godofellow and young Ross came to grips.
