BLONDS MUST CHOOSE CLIMATE FOR HEALTH

SALEM, Ore., Feb. 11.—The Pacific Northwest is the only safe place for blonds in the United States, Dr. S. B. Laughlin, Professor of Economics and Sociology at Willamette University, declares. Lack of pigmentation to deflect the ultra violet rays of the sun places the blonds at a disadvantage in sunny lands, Dr. Laughlin said. "The heat drives many middle westerners of the blond type to Southern California for their health," he said. "There they feel fine for the first two or three years, artificially stimulated by the ultra violet rays of the sun. Then these same rays affecting them too strongly cause their downfall and we hear of complete breakdowns and suicides."

HUNTER RIVER DEFEATS WHEATLEY RIVER 3-0

In a fast game of hockey played in Hunter River rink Thursday night the Hunter River Royals defeated the Wheatley River Stars by the score of 3-0.

In the first period both teams started away fast, with the goalies making some nice saves but neither team were able to score.

In the second period MacMillan scored the only goal on a nice wing shot, period ending 1-0 in favor of Royals.

In the third period the Royals with the service of their regular centre player Wedlock who was absent owing to lateness of the train went on the offensive, and after a few minutes of play MacMillan scored again on a fast shot from the blue line, and about mid-period the Royals scored on a beautiful combination play by Wedlock, Boyle and MacMillan, the latter scoring from close in. ### VIABILITY OF WEED SEEDS

An experiment to test the viability of weed seeds has been reported by the Dominion Department of Agriculture. Seeds of many kinds of weeds were mixed with sand and placed in unopened pint bottles and buried twenty inches below the surface. The bottles were slanted with the mouth downward to prevent the accumulation of water in the bottles. The experiment has been carried on by the Michigan Agricultural College, and it has been found that after forty years buried in this way seeds of Black Medick, Peppergrass, Pigweed, Ragweed, Wild Primrose, Common Plantain, Purslane, and Curled Dock germinated vigorously. These remarkable results led the Dominion Agrostologist to ask the question "Who knows how long weed seeds will last?"
