

QUESTION OF "WAR" RAISED AT SYNOD

HALIFAX, Oct. 3.—"War"—the dread word which was blazoned throughout the world today as Italian planes bombed an Ethiopian town—appeared in more sombre form last night at St. David's Church.

It was just a one line item at the foot of a lengthy agenda under consideration by delegates attending the Maritime Synod of the Presbyterian Church.

Displaying considerable hesitation to introduce a resolution on the question or to take a definite stand, the delegates passed a motion of Rev. Verwolf of Pictou County, that the item be "struck out."

Shortly after this action was taken, Rev. R. Williamson, of Prince Edward Island, who had asked earlier: "The world is right now on the eve of a terrific outbreak and to whom does the world look to but the church?" arose from his seat and withdrew.

Verbal Skirmish
A verbal skirmish featured discussion of the item with Mr. Williamson strong for a definite statement of opinion and others equally strong for no such statement.

The Island delegate drew attention to the fact that "war" footed the list, and said he did not like such an important matter being placed in that position. "I was assured that the matter would come up earlier today," he said.

The Moderator announced that there had been pronounced protest from all at which Mr. Verwolf moved that it be struck off.

It was explained that the possibility of a resolution upon the subject had been brought to the attention of the business committee, which committee had permitted the item to be placed on the docket.

At this point the question was deferred, other business was dealt with, and then the subject "war" was reached again.

Mr. Verwolf again moved it be struck from the docket.

Mr. Williamson said the Synod should take a stand upon "what at present looks like a great international catastrophe."

The clerk—"But it's too late now, Moderator, the war is on."

The Moderator said: "We do it every Sunday."

"Someone remarked that the Moderator had already offered prayers upon the matter at the present session."

Mr. Williamson explained that he did not necessarily wish a resolution. He thought the delegates should get down on their knees and ask God's help in the crisis.

"When the vote was eventually taken and received with a chorus of "ayes" someone suggested the press be asked to withhold reference to the matter but Mr. Frank said: "I am not sitting in a chair—behind closed doors," and the suggestion was dropped. It was soon after this that Mr. Williamson left the meeting adjourned.

Fish Week For Canadians
The Minister of Fisheries makes the following comment on Canada's fish week:

"As one whose home is in a fishing country, Mr. Ernst said recently, "I am naturally a supporter of every sound step designed to further the progress of the fishing industry, but, in any case, the industry is of such great national importance that action to improve its position should command the sympathetic interest of all Canadians."

Bennett "Every Inch A Real Man" Says Opposition Press

wave of revived hope as came from the West in the wake of his splendid progress among a people who have known deep suffering but never despair.

As for Old Canada, if it should want to know what Mr. Bennett stands for, it need only read the speeches and the reckless remedies and the disruptive sentiments of the fewer parties which are seeking to capitalize the forgivable discontent of a people who have been under the harrow for six years in company with all mankind. What these Medicine Men offer is precisely what Mr. Bennett will resist. If we do not want to have "quack cures" choked down our throats, we ought to know by now what to do.

STRESSES VALUE

The Prime Minister had "taxed cosmetics 500 per cent because he didn't like pretty girls." Also he had been "willed a match factory and then he made the boxes smaller and raised the price."

Dr. Grant read into Mackenzie King's platform a pledge to eliminate all the level railway crossings in the province.

DR. MACDONALD

In his opening remarks Dr. MacDonald referred to his pleasant associations with Cardigan. Dr. Grant's address had been amusing, but inaccurate; he had tried to leave the impression that there was something wrong in Senator MacDonald's appointment; he had claimed that Dr. MacDonald had said Bennett had put a tax on sugar to prevent people from getting diabetes. These and other points in the Liberal candidate's address were analyzed and quickly disproven.

The need of changing the federal regulations to help needy returned soldiers who are at present not able to obtain pensions, was strongly emphasized.

Answering his opponent's contention that the Bennett government assumed office under "good times", Dr. MacDonald cited the serious unemployment conditions prevailing before the defeat of the Liberals. "They are endeavoring to draw a red herring across the trail by concentrating on R. B. Bennett," he added.

"I say it is provincial that we had in the head of affairs in Canada during the past five years," (Applause).

This led the speaker into reviewing, briefly but convincingly, the history of the Empire trade agreements and the outstanding part played by the Canadian Prime Minister in their negotiation. But for the tariff policies of the Bennett Government, Canadian producers would have been smothered by the cheap products of other countries. Trade figures were cited in proof of this statement.

Not Funny Stories

"These are some of the things you must think of at election time—not about funny stories, that have wisened on them, such as we have heard to-day," (Applause).

Dr. MacDonald commended the Reconstruction candidate as being a clean-living and sincere young man. He was in fact an idealist. "And if Mr. Stevens is what Dr. Grant says is true, he is more honored in his follower than the follower is honored in his leader," (Applause).

He also made it clear that there was absolutely nothing in the Liberal charge that the Conservative and Reconstruction candidates were in collusion.

Referring again to trade matters, Dr. MacDonald cited the high prices of pork, eggs and other farm produce, due to the sheltered market obtained by the Bennett Government in the Old Country.

Mr. Bennett had ridiculed the Reconstruction candidate for promising to "nominate to blast Canada's way into world markets. This, however, was precisely what he did, said Dr. MacDonald. "It was, of course in a metaphorical sense; but it was true just the same. He didn't take dynamite, but he took his own dynamic energy and applied it to the task of opening markets which had been closed to us under the Liberal rule."

A strong point was made by the speaker in denouncing Mr. Mackenzie King for catering to the Communist vote by promising to repeal Sec. 98 of the Criminal Code.

"BLANK CHEQUE" LEA

Loud applause greeted his statement that the tide of Conservative confidence was running strongly and that in this Province the Lea Government had given a glaring undemocratic example of Liberal dictatorship. "And if there is one misstatement in the Speech from the Throne, allege that no provision had been made for repairing the Provincial Building, and constructing the new Rocky Point ferry."

He alleged that Premier Bennett had broken many of his election pledges.

The meeting closed with the National Anthem.

Reconstructionists Address Audiences At Webster's Corner and Pownal.

The meeting called by the Stevens Reconstruction party candidates at Webster's Corner last night was well attended. The two candidates Messrs. Bernard Hughes and Earl Ings addressed the meeting and were supported by Wellington Dixon and R. E. Connolly. The chairman was Mr. Borden Fraser.

The meeting at Pownal was also addressed by the candidates and by Messrs. Harry Richardson, R. E. Connolly and Wellington Dixon.

HUGHES AND INGS SPEAK AT TWO MEETINGS

Reconstructionists Address Audiences At Webster's Corner and Pownal.

The meeting called by the Stevens Reconstruction party candidates at Webster's Corner last night was well attended. The two candidates Messrs. Bernard Hughes and Earl Ings addressed the meeting and were supported by Wellington Dixon and R. E. Connolly. The chairman was Mr. Borden Fraser.

The meeting at Pownal was also addressed by the candidates and by Messrs. Harry Richardson, R. E. Connolly and Wellington Dixon.

The following is a short summary of the address at the Webster's Corner meeting.

Mr. Ings
The meeting called by the Stevens Reconstruction party candidates at Webster's Corner last night was well attended. The two candidates Messrs. Bernard Hughes and Earl Ings addressed the meeting and were supported by Wellington Dixon and R. E. Connolly. The chairman was Mr. Borden Fraser.

Mr. Earl Ings, one of the Reconstruction candidates was the first speaker. The old parties are on the old battle grounds on which they usually fight elections; the Reconstruction party stands for a new program aimed at aiding the producer and consumer. Mr. Stevens refused to have been elected by a vote that means to balance all budgets in Canada, he claimed.

The old parties are again fighting the election with the same old political football, high tariffs and free trade, the speaker went on to say. The Stevens party proposes to use either one of the other, where suitable and see to it that the producer and the consumer get a living wage.

Where at present Canada imports 51 million dollars worth of coal a year Stevens proposes to use Maritime coal. That will greatly increase the market for Prince Edward Island in the Sydney, Redmor Hall last night. The party was under the auspices of the Tennis Club. The grand prize was won by M. J. Murphy.

LEAVES FOR SHERBROOKE, P.Q.—Rev. Mr. and Mrs. Allister Murray, Caledonia, leave this morning for Sherbrooke, Que., where they will reside in future. Mr. Murray has been minister of Caledonia Presbyterian Church for the past five-and-a-half years, and has been thirty-and-a-half years in the ministry, during which he has held charges in Saskatchewan, Nova Scotia, (2), Quebec and this Province. Mr. Murray has the almost unique experience of having been offered a call for a second time to four of his charges; and at Caledonia extreme regret was experienced at the severance of the tie.

PERSONALS
Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Beer returned last evening from Boston.

Pete Kelly, St. Louis Eagles hockey star, who has been holidaying in the province left yesterday morning for Halifax. Numerous friends in this province wish him a successful season in the big time hockey.

Mr. King, the Prime Minister said, "All things to all men." New policies to fit every new occasion. At first free trade, the uninterrupted market, unrestricted prices, protection; then dumping duties, preservation of industries, an endorsement of the minimum price, adherence to the whole reform program of the Conservative party. All these he claims affection for.

"What next, Mr. King? Why does he not stand on the bridge of Liberalism and go down with his ship, so that his friends might mourn him and his enemies honor him? But what can you expect from a leader who goes giddily round and round the circle, embracing protectionism, flirting with minimum prices, making overtures to the monetary radicals?"

"And now Mr. King says he will make a trade treaty with the United States. After nine years in office, when trading was relatively easy, when he did nothing, he now comes forward and offers to make a treaty with the United States. Is it the last desperate throw of a desperate politician."

Eden And Laval Confer On League Procedure

(C. P. Cable Via Reuters) (By Guardian's Special Wire) PARIS, Oct. 3.—Anthony Eden, British Minister for League of Nations Affairs, and Premier Laval conferred for 90 minutes tonight in Laval's room at the Quai D'Orsay. They met to discuss the next decisive step in League procedure against an aggressor when the League has decided beyond peradventure who is the aggressor in the conflict between Italy and Ethiopia.

There is reason to suppose Eden was able to give clear indications of Britain's attitude in view of the latest moves on the Ethiopian frontiers. Also, informed quarters said, it was safe to assume both London and Paris were prepared for the hostilities before they were actually signalled and that, on the basis of the information of their technical services, Eden and Laval were able to make the most complete study of future procedure.

The reported invasion of north-east Ethiopia by Italian troops gave an impressive significance to the talk. At its conclusion, Laval read the following communique: "Mr. Eden and I discussed the agenda for Saturday's League Council meeting. We passed in review various kinds of procedure that might be followed. We are continuing our collaboration at Geneva."

Officially nothing further than that was disclosed. Inquiries brought the reply: "We are watching and waiting."

Too Late To Clasp
WANTED — MAN TO WORK ON farm. P. J. MacLean, 111-11-17

BERKELEY, Calif., Oct. 3.—Outstanding his older rival, youthful Robert Riggs of Los Angeles defeated Wilmer Hines of Columbia, N.C., 7-5, 1-6, 6-2, in a quarter-final match today in the Pacific Coast tennis tournament.

Freda James, English Wightman Cup player, and Carolyn Babcock of Los Angeles, of the American Wightman forces, won their quarter-finals matches in the singles division. Miss James took the match of Frances Uphred of Oakland, 6-2, 20-8 while Miss Babcock won from Nancy Lyle, team match of Miss James, 6-3, 6-1.

Late War Bulletins

BOMBAY, India, Oct. 3.—(C. P. Havas)—Reports received here today said orders had been issued in London for British troops in India to hold themselves in readiness for a transfer to East Africa if developments warranted.

(The reports were neither confirmed nor denied in London). Several army units were ordered to stand by for the first call, it was said. Vacation leaves were cancelled and 800 officers were ordered to return to active duty.

ROME, Oct. 4.—(Friday)—(A.P.)—The Fascist newspaper Il Messaggero announced early today that Italian troops reached Daratola, 20 kilometres beyond the Eritrean frontier and only 20 kilometres from Adruwa in operations yesterday.

LONDON, Oct. 3.—(A.P.)—A Reuters dispatch from Addis Ababa reported tonight that Italian Consul Franca at Adruwa before leaving burned the Consulate and that Ethiopians believed Italy may accuse them of the fire as an excuse for an invasion.

ADDIS ABABA, Oct. 3.—(C. P. Havas)—Emperor Haile Selassie told a Reuters correspondent here tonight that Great Britain should immediately lift the embargo on arms shipments to Ethiopia in view of the Italian invasion of his kingdom.

"We want to express to the British people," the Emperor told the correspondent, "our most sincere thanks for the efforts made by their statesmen on behalf of peace."

"Ethiopia will never forget the nobleness Great Britain has shown in its attitude toward us."

HAMILTON, Bermuda, Oct. 3.—(C.P.)—Eight hundred men and 25 officers of the first battalion of the Manchester Regiment, comprised of units from the Islands of Jamaica and Bermuda, embarked from Hamilton today for Africa.

The detachments were under command of Colonel B. G. Atkins. The troopship Dorsetshire, bearing the soldiers, will call at Southampton to land 100 wives and children of the soldiers, before their departure for Suez.

ASMARA, Eritrea, Oct. 4.—(Friday)—(A.P.)—Unofficial reports from the front line Italian forces early today indicated large detachments of Eritrean cavalry had moved forward in the so-called neutral 30-kilometre strip which Ethiopia avowedly left open during the period of attempted conciliation.

The cavalry was said to have been followed closely by infantry, flanked by tanks and light artillery.

PARIS, Oct. 3.—(C. P. Havas)—Rome has informed the French and British governments that Italy will accept economic and financial sanctions without protest, confirming the intimation given by Premier Mussolini in his address yesterday, it was learned on good authority here tonight.

This was on condition, however, that sanctions were applied by the countries concerned as individuals and were not subject to international supervision, it was said.

COURT HEARS ARGUMENT—Argument was heard in the Supreme Court yesterday before Chief Justice Mathieson and Justices Saunders and Arsenault in the case of the Provincial Sanatorium vs. Creelman MacArthur. It was an application for permission to appeal to the Supreme Court of Canada. The court adjourned until October 15th. H. F. McPhee appeared for the Sanatorium and Hon. Thane Campbell and David L. Mathieson for Senator MacArthur.

talk about these things. We have given you greater purchasing power through reconstruction of our credit structure. We have given you better access to the markets of Central Canada in ways too well known to require enumeration at this time. But we have never told you, and I will never tell you, that this is the end of your difficulties."

Foreign markets were the great need, Mr. Bennett said, but he would not enlarge at this time upon the benefits secured under the Ottawa trade agreements and by use of the Natural Products Marketing Act. "When I look back upon the good old comparatively free trade days I marvel that our old opponents were successful in doing so very little for you. I really marvel at Liberalism, whose traditions are so fine and inspiring, and whose present is so empty and hopeless."

Mr. King, the Prime Minister said, "All things to all men." New policies to fit every new occasion. At first free trade, the uninterrupted market, unrestricted prices, protection; then dumping duties, preservation of industries, an endorsement of the minimum price, adherence to the whole reform program of the Conservative party. Eden And Laval Confer On League Procedure

(C. P. GREAT BRITAIN REBUILDING DEFENCES

Chamberlain Tells Conservative Party Security Depends On Might.

(A. P. by Guardian's Special Wire) BOURNEMOUTH, England, Oct. 3.—Britain is rearming already, Neville Chamberlain, Chancellor of the Exchequer, declared here today before the Conservative Party's convention.

He called for unanimous support of the resolution on increasing Britain's defences, presented by Sir Edward Grigg and Winston Churchill. The resolution was adopted unanimously.

"As the other countries are not in agreement on disarming," Mr. Chamberlain said, "we must fill the gaps in our defence services to protect our security and enable us to meet our obligations."

"We do not support the League of Nations because it is the League of Nations. We support it because we expect it to prevent war by collective action. If it cannot do that, we should give up hope and withdraw, but first we should be thoroughly sure that it cannot fulfill our hopes."

Lord Lloyd, Lord Salisbury and the Duchess of Atholl all spoke on behalf of the resolution.

The resolution enumerated a series of suggestions for the improvement of Britain's defensive system.

It declared that the industrial system should be expanded to provide for war needs, that Britain should have at least parity in aerial armament with any nation near enough to attack her, and that the fleet should be reconstructed.

Conservatives also demanded that British subjects agree unreservedly to financial sacrifice demanded by the Government for the carrying out of this program.

Observers agreed that the party, despite expressed faith in collective security and the League of Nations, was convinced that in the last resort the security of Great Britain depends upon her own might.

Recalling the traditional military policy of the Conservatives, the resolution said:

"This great duty once again falls upon us. The great dictatorships threaten our liberty."

The very obligations of the League of Nations covenant oblige Great Britain to be strong, the resolution said, because "if we are not strong, there is no more hope for Geneva."

Cheers greeted an appeal for the issuance of a defence loan to pay for the rebuilding of the fleet.

Referring sarcastically to a Labour Party leader, Mr. Churchill provoked laughter by saying that "Sir Stafford Cripps is ready to fight."

"Mr. Lloyd George" he continued, "let himself get involved in war with the whole world. We Tories appear to be the only sincere pacifist in the whole country."

"The Socialist policy summarizes itself thus: 'Disarm and look for a quarrel.'"

Britain To Back League To Utmost

(A. P. By Guardian's Special Wire) LONDON, Oct. 3.—Authoritative quarters said tonight the government is supporting the League of Nations to the utmost for quick action to restrain Italy in its African venture.

Anthony Eden, Minister for League affairs, left for Paris en route to Geneva carrying the instructions of the Cabinet to do the utmost possible under the League Covenant in pursuit of peace at all costs.

Most of the exact moment word came that Ethiopia had ordered mobilization and that Italians had bombed Adruwa from the air.

The Italian advances were officially confirmed here and at Geneva and elsewhere by Italian diplomats, who said the moves were necessitated "in the interest of self-defence."

The Italian embassy issued a statement saying "Premier Mussolini and the government have given express instructions to our forces that on no account must civilian centres of population be bombed."

An Italian spokesman said such action would violate Italian honor.

Extra police were posted today at the Italian embassy.

Records Broken At St. Dunstan's Field Day

Three records were broken at St. Dunstan's Field Day, Tues., Oct. 1, Willard O'Brien and William H. Herts won the Senior and Junior All-round respectively.

Despite the heavy rain and other discouraging circumstances the Track Master, Harold Hennessey, had the track in surprisingly good condition. Competition was keen in all events and the day proved a complete success from every point of view.

James L. (Fiddler) MacDonald swung his mighty arm to set a new mark of 328 ft. in the baseball throw, bettering the old record, set in 1925 by 16 ft. In the running broad jump he leaped to a new mark of 20 ft. 7 1-2 inches, breaking the previous record by 12 in. Regis Arsenault broke the record in the Hop-Step-and-Jump with a distance of 39 ft. 1 in., bettering the former: jump by 1 ft. 2 in.
