S'side C.W.L. Unit Meets

The November meeting of the Summerside sub-division of the C.W.L. was held in the K. of C. Home on Monday, November 4th. The president, Mrs. Callaghan, presided.

Princess Alice Captures Hearts Of Women

The social service convener reported supplying milk and clothing to needy children. The usual amount of socks, sweaters and hospital supplies for the month had been delivered to the Red Cross rooms. The convener for that work reported:
A letter was read from Mrs. Frank Murray, national representative of the W.L. British War Child Guests committee, asking for help and co-operation in finding suitable homes for these children.
Letters were also read from Mrs. Allen, diocesan convener for social services, and Miss McDonnell, convener of war service work, and from Mr. Cameron, president of the Tuberculosis League. Miss McDonnell asked that, in addition to the work the members have been doing, they would interest others in sending letters and magazines to the different Canadian centres and also to the overseas recreational centres for Canadian soldiers.
It was decided at this meeting to wear a health band as usual to help fight tuberculosis, and it was unanimously voted to do so.
It was decided at this meeting to renew the study club meetings, which had been discontinued during the summer months, and group leaders were appointed for this purpose.
It was also decided to place a wreath on the soldiers' monument as usual this year.

Under the commission's fiscal plan, the Dominion would assume the entire cost of relief for employable unemployed and take over all Provincial debt. This would be done on condition that the Provinces withdraw from the personal income tax corporation and inheritance tax fields and give up existing subsidies. National adjustment grants would be made to Provinces chronically unable to come to adequate standards of welfare and educational services.

Text Of Speech From Throne Read Yesterday

OTTAWA, Nov. 7.—(CP)—Text of the speech from the throne, read by the Governor-General at the opening of Parliament today, follows:
Honorable members of the Senate: Members of the House of Commons: Since last you met for deliberation all countries have come to a clearer conception of the magnitude of the present conflict and its menace to civilization.

Princess Alice Captures Hearts Of Women

BL. GLADYS ARNOLD Canadian Press Staff Writer
OTTAWA, Nov. 7.—(CP)—Princess Alice, by her dignity and grace, captured the hearts of women attending parliament's opening ceremonies in the Senate today. To them she gave a lesson in the perfection of court decorum.
In one gesture, the way in which she gave her hand into that of the Governor-General as they left the Senate Chamber, the princess symbolized the beauty of centuries of royal lineage which Canada's parliament shares.
Wearing a small-trained petunia velvet gown, cut on classic lines, with a matching jacket and shadow veil in lighter tone, Princess Alice dropped a flawless courtesy to the Governor-General as she took her place on the Princess Louise throne.
She wore King George V's family badge, the badge of the Victorian and Albert Order and the badge of the Royal Order of St. John of Jerusalem.
At her right, on the floor of the Senate, sat her lady-in-waiting, the Hon. Ariel Baird, wearing a simple, beige-colored frock with matching velvet-trimmed hat.
From the corners of the Governor-General's box two small children watched the ceremony with absorbed attention. They were small Ann Able Smith and her brother, Richard, the son of the late Princess Alice, both in Ottawa for the duration of the war.
Among those in the Governor-General's box were the Hon. Michael Charlton, C.S.R., of the Netherlands, and Lady Vivian, widow of Canada's Governor-General from 1921 to 1926.

S'side Trade Bd. Has Interesting Quarterly Meet

Several matters came up for discussion at the monthly meeting of the Summerside Board of Trade last night in the town hall. Mr. A.R. Brennan, president, occupied the chair.

Mr. Nelson MacLean formerly of Montague was welcomed to the board.

Reference was made to the telegram received by Mayor Campbell from Col. J. L. Ralston with the suggestion of the Board of Trade for a shorter road to the airport from the Muschoche Highway had the approval of departmental officials and would be acted upon. The Board of Trade and town officials had waited on Col. Ralston with regard to this and other matters on his recent visit to Summerside. It was originally intended to have the permanent road to the airport on the north side. This would be a much longer route and difficult to keep cleared in the winter. The difference in the two roads would be about 1-1/2 miles.

Another matter of considerable importance was the matter of entertainment for air force men and other military men. Mr. Brennan said in a very short time there would be 1500 air men here and their companies of the home guard and it was very important that proper recreation should be afforded them. He called on B. W. Robinson, M. L. A., to speak on the matter.

Mr. Robinson stated that the Board of Trade, town council and citizens generally should give the matter their very earnest consideration. The problem of providing buildings for the entertainment of the boys was usually placed in the hands of one of the welfare organizations but as a general rule the town provided a site. Mr. Robinson urged that every possible effort be given to the organization which will be appointed to take care of this in Summerside and to keep in touch with the situation.

A committee was formed to deal with the matter. Appointed on the committee were Messrs. B. W. Robinson, chairman, W. A. Currie, E. T. Holman, J. R. L. Mollison, E. MacKenzie of Toronto, will remain in Japan.

Mr. Baker supported Mr. MacFarlane and said that farmers should be forced to use the treatment, especially as it only costs four cents per cow. Mr. E. W. Robinson and Mr. H. T. Holman also supported Mr. MacFarlane and it was decided that the agricultural committee should draw up a resolution to present to the provincial government stating the facts.

A resolution by Mr. H. T. Holman, regarding auto traffic on the ferryway, was passed. It urged the decking over of the railway car tracks if it would be available. Reports from the utilities committees tourist and fox committees were received. Mr. J. J. Enman, as a member of the public committee, made a public question. That matter was discussed and it was decided to ask the publication to withdraw the erroneous information from the book, and bring it up to date.

When Prime Minister Churchill recast his cabinet a short time ago he promoted Lord Halifax to government leader in the Lords, a significant touch that escaped public notice at the time. Since then, political observers have come to the conclusion the promotion was the Prime Minister's reply to criticism of the Foreign Minister and an indication of his personal approval.

Criticism of Lord Halifax has been more implied than outspoken. In some minds the name still is associated with the Chamberlain policy of appeasement.

Rightly or wrongly, Lord Halifax was blamed in some quarters for the withdrawal from Dakar. Lord Halifax also was blamed for the decision to close the Burma road in an effort to bring Japan and China closer to a negotiated peace. It is true that the decision could not have been taken without the Foreign Secretary's consent but it was the Australian Government, not Lord Halifax, which insisted upon an attempt to placate Japan in the Far East.

Correspondence Between King, Hanson Tabled

OTTAWA, Nov. 7.—(CP)—Correspondence between Prime Minister Mackenzie King and Conservative House Leader, E. B. Hanson, on the re-assembling of parliament and the procedure to be followed was tabled in the House of Commons today by the Prime Minister.

On Sept. 25, Mr. Hanson wrote the Prime Minister asking what the plans were and saying he thought members would prefer to meet in January rather than meet in November, and have a long adjournment.

Replying to this letter on Sept. 30, Mr. King said the government had in mind proroguing parliament on Nov. 5, the date to which it stood adjourned. He said that the government had considered carrying on the new session until the approach of Christmas, but that it was not until January. He said the matter would be re-considered at a meeting of the cabinet.

On October 2, Mr. Hanson wrote that unless a decision has already been reached, may I make the following suggestion to you: That parliament meet as arranged on the 5th November and at that stage the government make the progress report which you indicate in your letter, and take up any other business which may require to be dealt with in connection with the war, further adjournment until a date in January or February, 1941, when prorogation could take place and a new session be begun immediately thereafter.

On Oct. 8, Mr. Hanson sent a telegram to the Prime Minister urging him to make a statement that on Nov. 5 the government would afford all parties every facility to debate public questions. That matter was discussed and it was decided to ask the publication to withdraw the erroneous information from the book, and bring it up to date.

It had been criticised by one of two newspapers and by M. J. Coldwell acting leader of the Co-operative Commonwealth Federation.

"Any other course which might have been proposed would, with equal certainty, have met with criticism from one quarter or another and almost certainly, in some cases, from the same quarters," Mr. King wrote.

Mr. King said that while events in Europe had not changed much, conditions in the Orient had become more critical and it might be that it would be advisable to have parliament assemble on that date and adjourn on Oct. 3, after the course proposed in formal proceedings on Nov. 5. It would be better to prorogue the session on that date and start the new session immediately thereafter, in the meantime, he thought, it best to adhere to the plan announced on Oct. 3, of assembling, proroguing, and starting the new session immediately and adjourning it.
