BRING THE FAMILY! 'BLONDIE'S' BACK IN NEW FILM HOWLER

Happy Bumstead days are here again at the Capitol Theatre, for America's first family of film fun has returned in a brand new movie, Columbia's "Blondie Knows Best," which opened today to the usual accompaniment of assorted roars and chuckles. Yes, Penny Singleton is back as Blondie, Arthur Lake as Dagwood, Larry Simms as Alexander, Marjorie Kent as Cookie, and Daisy as good old Daisy, in the roles that have become a screen institution.

It doesn't take Dagwood very long to get embroiled in one of his typical escapades. He wrecks his neighbor's car and garage and finds himself with a judgment on his hands.

How the Bumsteads and Mr. Dithers survive this latest catastrophe makes for some of the funniest action ever brought to the screen. Adding much to the happy nonsense is Shemp Howard, as a myopic process server, who fits through the film in a never-ending search for the real Dagwood.

Will Occupy Strategic Military Position

MONTREAL, Sept. 4 - (CP) - Lt.-Col. A. T. Howell, who commanded the Newfoundland regiment for four years, said in an address today that Newfoundland will occupy a strategic military position in any future wars, serving as a main intercept base against air attacks on the North American continent.

Lt.-Col. Howell, speaking to the Montreal Lions Club, said also that "if Confederation ever includes Newfoundland, I hope that the Canadian Government, realizing the problems of the country, will endeavour to raise its standard of living and provide adequate social services."

He said few Canadians and fewer Americans know the real Newfoundland, a country of 400,000 square miles, outside a hazy knowledge of its geographic location and its cold, damp climate.

THE BAPTIST CHURCH - Morning Worship at 11 A.M. was conducted by the minister, the Rev. James D. Davidson B.A., B.D. with sermon "Beginning With the New Testament." Mr. Davidson's sermon traced the origins of the Baptist Church, its growth through the ages and its present standing with twelve million adherents in a very thoughtful and interesting address. The sermon was followed by the observation of the Communion of the Lord's Supper. The soloist at this service was Mr. Roy Smallman in a very impressive rendering of "Jesus Lover of My Soul." Evening Worship was conducted by the minister with sermon "Religion and Myself." The evening music included a duet by Misses Norma Daisiel and June MacPherson.

Stresses Essentials To Lasting Peace

No lasting peace can be achieved without a supranational authority, said Mr. Emeric Sala, Canadian business executive, and author of the recently published book: "This Earth One Country", at a public meeting under the auspices of the Bahai's of Charlottetown.

The failure of the League of Nations to establish world peace revealed that an international society composed of sovereign states cannot prosper. That part of each country's national sovereignty will have to be surrendered to a supranational authority, is according to Mr. Sala, a basic Bahai belief. We will have learned at the end of this war, he said, that nation-states and empires are not the last word in man's political evolution.

Over seventy years ago, Baha'ullah, the founder of the Bahai Faith, appealed to the rulers of the world to establish a World Court and an International Police Force. He said "Glory is not his who loves his country but his who loves mankind." His followers can be found today in more than eight hundred communities spread over seventy countries. They are conscious of the oneness of mankind and invite people of every race and creed, color and class, to work with them for the establishment of a peaceful and prosperous society maintained by a supranational government and supported by a common faith.

The most important thing to remember in seeking a solution to the world's present confusion, Mr. Sala said, is to consider that the world is one country and mankind its citizens. The world is today economically interdependent. No country could prosper or be at peace if the world around it is at war, or without work. We will not feel secure nor find useful work for all people after this war unless we are willing to subordinate the interests of our country to the interest of mankind.

The Bahai Faith, founded in Persia one hundred years ago, calls for a wider loyalty than patriotism.

WILLIAM W. MACNEILL
Many friends in P. E. will regret to hear of the death on August 17, 1947, of William Wallace MacNeill. Mr. MacNeill was born in Village Green, P. E. I., sixty-three years ago, and was the son of the late D. A. MacNeill and Rebecca Ballen. The following year he was placed in charge of a sales block covering a large territory. OUT OF SEASON
QUELPH, Ont. - (CP) - A couple of sleighs were involved in an accident here yesterday - during a mid-August rainstorm. A truck driven by George Horton rammed into the rear of James Pinkney's car during the storm. The truck skidded past a sign and struck a couple of sleighs parked in front of a blacksmith shop.

Anglican Canon Law

The following is from St. Peter's Cathedral Magazine:
The Archbishop's Commission on Canon Law has sent in its report. Very few members of the Church have any idea of the origin or the scope of ecclesiastical law. This Commission of learned and influential persons was appointed in 1939. It consisted of the Archbishop of York, a Bishop, many Deans, Canons and Professors of Theology, several Chancellors and an eminent lay canonist Mr. Justice Vaisey. Their conclusions disclose a profound knowledge of Church discipline, and suggest a series of Canons which pay due regard to the past and will cope with present problems, thus being likely to command acceptance by the whole body of the Church.

They show that it was not possible to separate the Post-Reformation Canons of 1803 - modified only in the nineteenth century - from earlier canons found in a summary of the decretals of Gratian A.D. 1140. These are themselves a summary of decisions dating from the fourth century. The Courts Christian, as they are called, differ from common law in that they did not generally act upon precedent, and so that present compilers of the new Canons do not formulate a rigid general code, as in the Roman Church, but deal with specific matters: the nature of the Church in its doctrine and government; the order of Divine Service; the ordination of ministers and ornaments of furniture and vestments of Churches, and the revision of ecclesiastical courts.

These ancient canons, where appropriate, have been skillfully interwoven with the new Code, including provisions not superseded by the Canons of 1803, resolutions of episcopal conferences, statute law and measures of the National Assembly of the Church.

Appeal to the lay Privy Council is to be abolished (it was never recognized by the Church anyway) and a Court of Appeal instituted, consisting of Churchmen, clerical and lay.

While the Church has the right to make rules for its governance and discipline, it has no authority to "alter the way of faith and the way of life and the Sacraments which our Lord has entrusted to its care."

RED CROSS SWIMMING CLASSES AT ST. PETER'S BAY
On Saturday evening, August 22nd Mr. Stanley McInnis of the National Film Board showed Swimming and Life Saving movies to an enthusiastic audience at St. Peter's Bay.

Mr. Alex H. MacLean, Red Cross Examiner, conducted swimming tests during the afternoon and the awards were presented by Mrs. Harry Cudmore during the evening. Mrs. Cudmore, before presenting the cards and buttons, outlined the principles underlying the Red Cross programme of Swimming and Water Safety. She strongly emphasized the vital importance of Water Safety knowledge and pointed out that only by the use of precaution and common sense can drowning accidents be prevented. In the audience were members of the Women's Institute and to them Mrs. Cudmore extended the sincere thanks of the Prince Edward Island Division, Canadian Red Cross Society for the effort involved in the erection of a bathing house at St. Peter's Bay. This building has been very useful in the Swimming Program. Mr. Chester Pratt was chairman of the meeting and in his closing remarks expressed the appreciation of the residents of St. Peter's for the beneficial Red Cross program.

The instruction this summer was carried out by Miss Kathleen Pratt and Miss Joan MacEwen. Both of these young ladies attended the Red Cross Instructors School held at the Leadership Training Camp at Holland Cove in June. The following candidates were successful in the tests:
Intermediate - Merlin Mahar, Junior - Catherine MacCallum, Bernadette Gillis, Carol MacKenzie, Charles Pratt, Harold MacLean.
