

Women's Changed Hygiene

New way discards like tissue

BY ELLEN J. BUCKLAND Registered Nurse

MILLIONS of women have changed from uncertain and hazardous hygiene ways to a new way called Kotex.

You dispose of Kotex as easily as a piece of tissue. No laundry, no disposal problem.

You wear lightest, finest gowns without fear. Five times as absorbent as ordinary cotton pads.

You obtain it at any store, without hesitancy, simply by saying Kotex. Many stores have it already wrapped for you to pick up, pay for, and take home without even asking.

Package of 12 costs only a few cents. 8 in 10 better class women now use this way. Be sure to get the genuine, for only Kotex itself is "like" Kotex.

No laundry—discard like tissue

TO RETIRE IN JOY, AWAKE TO GRIEF ACCLAIMED BOY MUSH-ER IS BEREAVED.

QUEBEC, March 2.—Young Pad-riac, boy member of the ancient capital who yesterday finished fourth in the eastern inter-national dog sled derby, plumed the depths of despair today. His mother, who had been ill in the hospital for some time, passed away today. It was thought of his mother that kept Nolan going against the greatest opposition the world has ever seen in the realm of dog racing.

Each day, after he had finished past the finish line and arranged for the care of his dogs he dashed to the hospital to tell her of his progress. He did not think he could win against St. Giddard, Seppia Dupuis and Chevrete, but his mother's confidence in his ability to finish among the leaders inspired him to return to the strenuous task.

Last night in the Chateau Frontenac, where the prizes were presented to the winners, he was hailed as the actual winner of the race. He is only 15. Later he took his prizes to show her. She had him good-night and sent him home in joy.

Today he returned in sorrow.

CHAPTER XXIV

Aftermath

Myra was in bed when Sally returned to their stateroom. The evening had been a total loss to her. She put down the book she had been reading to greet Sally, and a vague fear smote her as she saw the look of dreams in her little sister's eyes.

"Have a good time?" she asked carelessly. "Where were you?"

"Down on C deck near the bow of the boat."

Sally was being elaborately indifferent. Myra's appraising glance made her feel uncomfortable. And tonight she didn't want to think or remember anything but the moon and the sea—and Richard Alden.

She was putting the fragile black lace over her head when Myra spoke again, very evenly.

Sally was being elaborately indifferent

"You like Richard Alden, don't you?"

"Yes, very much."

"Well, he certainly likes you. He doesn't mind letting everybody know about it, either. He made it conspicuous enough not dancing with any one else. Every one noticed it."

Sally didn't answer. She was making a great fuss about getting ready for bed in an effort to seem nonchalant. But Myra, the relentless, pursued her.

"So, you were down on C deck I suppose you were alone?"

"Yes." Very softly Myra was rearing the bloom from the evening, and Sally didn't want that. She wanted to get into bed and that, and the day after that, and the day after that, until they reached Buenos Aires. But she mustn't think of that time. It was pushed a long way ahead of her.

through her mind. "He's just divorced his wife!" So he had been married. But what difference did it make? She was married. As this thought occurred to her, she pushed it resolutely away. She wasn't think about it. She didn't want to think about it.

Myra reached up to snap off her light. The small stateroom was in darkness. But Sally could not sleep.

The moonlight was flooding the portholes. Outside there was the sea.

He had said, "Good-night, little Sally," and his voice had been a little unsteady. Again she felt the touch of his lips on her fingers.

And tomorrow she would see him again, and the day after that, and the day after that, until they reached Buenos Aires. But she mustn't think of that time. It was pushed a long way ahead of her.

Sang National Anthem To Quiet Audience

(Canadian Press)
HAVANA, Cuba, March 2.—Reports from Santiago and Bayamo in the Southeastern section of Cuba, stated that a strong earthquake of short duration was felt in that region last night, but that little damage was caused. The quake at Santiago occurred in the midst of a performance at the local theatre and Esperanza Iris, Mexican actress, sang the National Anthem to quiet the audience while it was filing to the street.

Russian Cattle Killed By Cold

PETROVOSK, Daghestan, Russia, March 2.—Snowstorms and freezing weather of great severity lasting 42 days, have annihilated fifty percent of the cattle in this district, and those that escaped are said to be starving. The government fears that the entire sheep breeding industry will be destroyed.

Mr. and Mrs. Willard Sellar spent the week-end with friends in St. Eleanor's.

Miss Isabel MacLeod, U. C. C., spent the week-end with her parents. Mr. and Mrs. Rod MacLeod, Hartsville, Mrs. J. W. McKenzie, Charlottetown.

Messrs. Alfred Fyfe, Stanley Bridge, J. H. Simpson, Bay View Mills, Oliver LaPage, North Rustico, and Adam Brown, New Glasgow, were in Charlottetown the early part of the week, attending the Dairywomen's Association.

Miss Annie Andrews, Norboro, is visiting friends here for a few days.

Sincere sympathy goes out to Mr. and Mrs. George Sentner in the death of their four months old baby girl, which occurred on

"Do you know who Richard Alden is?" Myra's voice kept pursuing her. "He's one of the richest men in England. He can afford to do as he pleases. He's just taking a little trip to Buenos Aires to see about some interests he has there. What do you know about that?"

Sally didn't answer. As if it mattered! What did she care about his money? It didn't matter to her!

His face was dancing before her, that proud, insolent face with its spotted lines. Oh, he was wonderful—wonderful! What difference did it make whether he had money or not?

He had said, "Good-night, little Sally" when he left her, and once again he had lifted her hand to his lips. She had felt like a Princess.

"He's just divorced his wife!" Myra's voice, crisp and relentless, still pursued her.

And then Sally turned on Myra. She was white to the lips.

"Myra, please don't talk any more. I'm terribly tired, really." With a swift gesture she turned out the light over her head. The next moment she was lying straight and slim and motionless, just as if she were asleep.

Myra's words kept echoing

"GOD IS A SPIRIT"

Thursday

"God is Invisible"

SCRIPTURE: Read—Job 23: 1-12.

"No man hath seen God at any time" (Job 1:18). "Have faith in God" (Mk 11:22).

"Without faith it is impossible to be well-pleasing unto him; for he that cometh to God must believe that he is, and that he is a rewarder of them that seek after him" (Heb. 11:6).

See—Exodus 33:17-23; Acts 14: 17; Psalms 40:5.

MEDITATION: We are troubled because we never see, hear or touch God. But why should we see him? These senses are material, and God is spiritual. We do not see bodies. But we live in the faith of the reality of their minds, hearts and spirits. So also we act wisely when we live in the faith of the reality of our heavenly Friend, whom we see only in His works.

"Thou hast been seeking to see me by the light of the world; why didst thou not rather seek to see the world by my light?"

HYMN:
Immortal love, forever full,
Forever flowing free,
Forever shared, forever whole,
A never ebbing sea!

We may not climb the heavenly steps
To bring the Lord Christ down;
In vain we search the lowest depths
For him no depths can drown.

But warm, sweet, tender, even yet
A present help is he;
And faith has still its Olivet,
And love its Galilee.

—John G. Whittier, 1866.

PRAYER: Pray for—the grace of active faith; supply of daily needs; purity of the Church.

Collect—O Thou whose will to do fails not, we thank Thee for freedom, for the responsibility which makes failure possible but success glorious. We bless Thee that Thou hast trusted us. Such friendship is beyond price. Give us now the inner power of Him who triumphed over every obstacle, yea, even over agony, hatred, and death. We fear for our souls before the high trusts of heaven. We confess our sinfulness in pursuing little things. Correst us by the call of thy faithfulness. Give us increasing faith in the invisible, unflinching courage for the conflict with evil deliverance from the fear of death. Amen.

Monday morning, after only a few hours illness of Croup.

Stomach Trouble Gone, Bakes 40 Pies

"I was a nervous wreck with stomach trouble. Had dizzy spells and could scarcely walk. I began taking Adlerika, and now I run a restaurant and bake 40 pies a day. When my friends ask how I do it, I tell them about Adlerika."—Mrs. J. Amrol.

Adlerika differs from most medicines because it acts upon BOTH upper and lower bowel. It gives the system a REAL cleansing, and clears out old poisons which usually cause sour, gassy stomach, nervousness, sleeplessness, headache. Just ONE spoonful stops GAS, and relieves that full, bloated feeling so that you can eat better and sleep better. Even if bowels move daily, Adlerika brings out much additional poison which you never guessed was in your system and which may have long caused trouble. No matter what you have tried for stomach and bowels, Adlerika will surprise you. Hughes' Drug Co., Ltd., and other druggists.

(Canadian Press.)
RICHFORD, Vermont, March 2.—An entire professional hockey club—the Boston Tigers—was held here today when Customs Officers discovered 85 quarts of whiskey in a special car occupied by members of the team. Officials tonight were deliberating whether to arrest the athletes or to fine them and allow them to proceed. The Tigers were returning from Quebec City, where they engaged the local team in a scheduled fixture of the Canadian-American minor pro-league.
