PIQUID.—The many friends of Mr. James Rodgers are pleased to hear of his improving from his recent illness. Mr. H. S. Francis Fortune Bridge, spent the week end in Piquid, the guest of Mr. Frederick Leard. Among the promising young farmers of Piquid who attended the Short Course at Mt. Stewart, were Messrs. Frederick Wallace Birt and Philip Mahar. They reported the lectures very instructive, especially on the care and management of cattle and sheep. Mrs. John Birt, Piquid, received word from her son, Lance Corp., Weiland Birt, 195th Battalion, that he is at present taking a course in the N. C. O's. training school in Hertford. His many friends wish him success. Mr. George Dockery, Cardigan, spent Sunday in Piquid visiting friends. Mr. Percy Birt of the S. S. Stanley, spent a few days with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jonathan Birt, Piquid, before leaving for Halifax.

FREE CROSS WORK.—The ladies of Rollo Bay East are still busy doing Red Cross work. On November 6th, 1916, 21 pairs of socks were shipped by them to the Island boys at the "Red Cross" in London. On February 1917, they also shipped the following 20 pairs of socks from Rollo Bay East: 5 pairs from Souris West sent by Miss Charlotte Murphy, 4 pairs socks and 1 pair mitts from Gowan Brae; also 2 pairs socks donated by Mrs. Wm. Howlett, Gowan Brae, 1 pair donated by Miss Agnes Mallard, Gowan Brae. The ladies of Rollo Bay East have taken an active part in Red Cross work since the war began and intend to continue its good work.

EASTERN PERSONALS

Messrs. Simon Murchison and Angus Matheson, of Glen William, spent the week-end at Cardigan, the guests of Mr. James Shaw. The many friends and acquaintances of Private William A. Alley, returned soldier, are rejoiced to have him in Cardigan this winter. He wounded hand is slowly improving.

How Pneumonia Starts And How Often Prevented

You catch a little cold today and by tomorrow it has reached the throat, next day the lungs are affected and you wish you had used "Catarrhozone" which kills colds in five minutes. In the first place catarrhozone soothes the irritated membrane of the throat, congests, then it cuts out the phlegm and destroys the germs. It enables the blood to retain a natural supply of oxygen, lung-fund, or vitality. In any cough, bronchitis or catarrh of the throat, catarrhozone is the best. Beware of dangerous substitutes offered under misleading names for genuine CATARRHOZONE which is sold everywhere, large size containing two months treatment costs $1.00.

IN MEMORIAM DANIEL LEONARD CONWAY.

There passed peacefully away at his home in Bonshaw after a short illness on Feb. 7th Daniel Leonard, son of Mr. and Mrs. Patrick Conway, at the early age of 16 years. Deceased will be greatly missed, by all who knew him, and especially in the home where he was a general favorite. He was a member of the family of farmers and mother, five brothers and two sisters. The funeral which took place Friday morning to Kelly's Cross cemetery was largely attended. Rev. Father Curran officiating at the church and grave. The pallbearers were P. Towle, T. Caragher, D. Bolger, L. Crosby, T. Bolger, and W. Towle. The Guardian joins with their many friends in extending deep sympathy.

MR. MURDOCK McLEOD

Mr. Murdock McLeod, Meadow Bank, died Sunday, January 28th. He came to this province quite a young man with his father, the late John McLeod, from Harris, Scotland, in 1840, with others of the family, of whom he is the last survivor. They settled on the farm at Meadow Bank, West River, where he lived for the past seventy-seven years. He was the oldest resident of the community, and had seen many changes take place in the course of his long life. He was one of the most successful farmers in the district, and noted for his hospitality. His house was open to friend, stranger or wayfarer. His funeral took place Tuesday, January 30th, to New Dominion cemetery, where his remains were laid to rest in the family plot. The pall bearers were H. McMillan, Theo. Stewart, Wm. Boyle, James Drake, D. McLean, and D. McDonald. In spite of the inclement weather there was a large attendance of neighbors and friends, to show their last tribute of respect to a good man. The services at the house and grave were conducted by his pastor, the Rev. Mr. McLeod.

"THE CHINESE RESTAURANT"

Nor are you led off because a nearby stairway beckons you to a Chinese restaurant up above. A golden dragon swings over the door. Its race has fallen since its fire-breathing grandeur guarded the fruits of the Hesperides. Are not "soys" and "chou meins" and other such treasures of the East laid out above? And yet the dragon dozes at its post like a sleepy dog. No flame leaps up its snout. The swish of its tail is still ad. It was at all, it's but in friend-ship or because a gust of wind has stirred it from its dreams.

ISLANDERS MEET IN LONDON RESTAURANT

Mrs. James H. Devereaux, of Kelly's Cross, has received the following letter from her son, Capt. Cecil J. Devereaux, 105th Battalion, D. Co., Willey Camp, Surrey, Eng., who has been in the Hospital at Bramshott, England, since Nov. 15th, suffering from a very serious case of pneumonia, which caused his relatives here the greatest anxiety.

My dear mother.—As tonight is Friday I thought I would drop you a few lines to let you know that I got your lovely can of plum loaf, and also that I am transferred from Bramshott Hospital to the Convalescent home. Your plum loaf was lovely and I'm very glad I received it. This is the first Christmas parcel I got from home. I expect some more pretty soon. Well, dear mother, I don't know how long I will be convalescent, not any longer than I can help. I don't like the place very well. Everything is strange and new to me, but of course I will soon make acquaintance, and then I guess things will be much better. It is not near so comfortable a place as Bramshott. Father McGillivray of P. E. I. is our priest here. I have not met him yet, as I am writing this letter on the day I arrived here.

There are five thousand convalescent soldiers at Epsom. Most of them are wounded and back from the front. Some of the poor fellows are cut up pretty badly. They are sending quite a lot of them back to Canada every week. I never heard or saw anything of Basil Gorman since he was wounded at the Carriagers near John Cove.

Father Plus was in to see me the day before I left Bramshott. He is going to forward my mail to where I am now. Well, mother, no more of those fellows have gone to France yet. The remainder of the battalion are still stationed at Willey, and I can't say when they are going to leave. Some of our boys are wounded already that went across in the first draft; some of them are in hospital. He was shot on Christmas morning at 3 o'clock; a bullet hit him on the side of the nose, just below the forehead. He is now in a London hospital. Well, I am feeling fine, and I hope this letter will find you the same. Love to all at home. Your loving son, CECIL.

Epsom Convalescent Camp, Jan. 16, 1917.

My dear mother.—Now that I have spent almost a week at the convalescent camp, I thought I would drop you a few lines to let you know that I'm feeling fine, and I'm beginning to like the place better. Today was the first day that the sun has been shining for nearly a week. The weather is very damp and foggy during January and February, and I tell you it is sure monotonous at times.

Well, mother, where I am now is quite handy the city of London. I visited there Saturday, Jan. 13th, and I can't in words describe to you what an immense place it is. I saw the King's Palace, the Tower of London, Westminster Abbey and one of the largest zoological gardens in the world. I only had a day there, so had no time to visit many of the other important places. Another fellow, and I were having our dinner in a restaurant, and just opposite to us was an elderly man of about fifty. Seeing that we were Canadians, he started up a conversation with us. He asked me when I told him P. E. I. he said, "I was born in P. E. I. and went to P. W. College." He asked me my name, and on being told he remembered that that was a college student at the same time, since Dr. Robertson, now principal of P. W. C. He gave me the heartiest shake I got since coming to England. It is thirty-five years ago since he left Charlottetown, and has lived in the city of London for over twenty years.

I can assure you, mother, that it made me feel at home to meet an old P. E. Islander in so far distant a country. His name is Montague Yates. He gave me his name and address, and told me that any time I should be in London or in any other place, I would give me a jolly time, and he was going to call on this old gentleman, for I think he was one of the finest persons I ever met. He was well read and could talk on any subject.

We have Mass here every Sunday at Epsom, and I serve it for Father McGillivray. He is a lovely man, and

Indigestion Resulted From an Inactive Liver

THE BOWELS BECAME CONSTIPATED AND THE WHOLE DIGESTIVE SYSTEM UPSET.

With many people constipation becomes a habit. And it is a dangerous habit which is certain sooner or later to cause serious disease. "Daily movement of the bowels" is the first and most important rule of health. When the liver becomes torpid the flow of bile into the intestines is stopped and the bowels become constipated. But you can readily overcome this condition by using Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills. There is no treatment obtainable which so promptly awakens the activity of the liver and bowels and thereby corrects derangements of the digestive system. Mrs. Herbert Doherty of Beaver Brook, Albert Co., N.B., writes: "I can truthfully say that Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills are a great medicine for constipation. I have suffered from constipation ever since I can remember, but got to using Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills and was so benefited that I began to study this malady. I found that the indigestion resulted from a bad case of inactive liver, and as soon as I got the liver working right I didn't have any stomach troubles or indigestion. I cannot praise this medicine too highly, and would advise anyone suffering from indigestion or constipation to use Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills. My husband also claims that these pills have done him more good than any medicine he ever used. You are at liberty to use this letter." Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills positively relieve and cure torpid liver, constipation, biliousness, indigestion, backache and kidney disease. Put it to the test. One pill a dose 25 cents a box, all dealers or Edmondson, Bates & Co., Ltd., Toronto.
