BESSBOROUGH SHIELD COMPETITION

Charlottetown Guiders are urged to get their materials for sewing, etc., for the Competition from Mrs C. Gavin Duffy, Brighton Avenue, at once. The Competition ends about the end of March so it does not leave very much time for the necessary articles to be made.

GUIDERS' CLUB SUPPER

The January meeting of the Guiders' Club will be held at the home of Miss Martha Poole, Grafton Street, next Tuesday evening, January 12th. All Guiders and Brownie Guiders are asked to notify Rosalie Kiggins, 'phone 1812, at once as to whether or not they will be present at this supper meeting.

In Memoriam

MRS. P. H. CROCKETT

The many friends throughout Prince Edward Island will be saddened to hear of the death of Mrs. P. W. Crockett of New York, on November 21, 1942.

Mrs. Crockett, nee Annie Clark, youngest daughter of the late George and Jane Clark, was born at Montrose, P. E. I. in 1864, lived the greater part of her life there. After the death of her husband in 1923, she moved to the United States where she has since resided.

She was a woman who was highly respected by all who had the pleasure of knowing her; a devoted wife and mother, and a person very active in all things pertaining to the best welfare of her community and church.

The remains were taken from Danville, Virginia the home of her youngest daughter, Anne who accompanied them to New York where a private service was held for the members of the family, and from there accompanied by her daughter, Olive and son, William to Alberton, P. E. I. to the home of her daughter, Mrs. Heber H. Hardy.

The funeral service which was held on November 26th in Alberton United Church was conducted by Rev. S. Davies, with internment at the United Church cemetery. The pall bearers were Arthur Clark, Fred Clark, Herbert Clark, George Marchbank, John O. Gordon and Howard Dunbar.

She leaves to mourn eight daughters and five sons: Nellie of Los Angeles, Cal.; Myrtle of Shamrock, Sask.; Florence of Alberton, P.E.I.; Olive of Long Island, N. Y.; Jean of Spencer, Mass.; Carrie of Brooklyn, N. Y.; Hazel of New Jersey; Anne of Danville, Va.; George of Worcester, Mass.; Ernest and Lloyd of Conn.; Harvey of New Jersey and William of Urbridge, Mass. Also left to mourn are two sisters and one brother, Mrs. Thos. Traverse of West Hanover, Mass.; Mrs. Chas. Pridham of Montrose, P. E. I. and Mr. P B. Clark of Summerside, P. E. I.

MR. ALBERT JAMES CUDMORE

The shadow of gloom was cast over Winslow North and vicinity on November 28, when it became known that Mr. Albert James Cudmore had passed away at the age of 76. He was born at Winslow and always lived there, a faithful farmer, kind and loving husband and father. Although failing in health for the last few years, his condition was not thought serious until the last few hours previous to his death. He leaves to mourn a sorrowing widow, four sons and four daughters. The sons are: Milford, O. B. B. Wilbern, Winslow, Sheldon, Medford, Mass. U. S. A., Howard, Brackley Point. The daughters are: Mrs. Harold Prowse, Winslow, Mrs. John Ford, Winslow, Mrs. George Newman, Union Road and Winnie at home. The funeral was held from his late home on Tuesday .it was largely attended. The service was conducted by Rev. T. Constable. Following were the pall bearers. Messrs George Newman, Harold Prowse, John Ford, John Carter and Leonard Cudmore. The funeral was under the direction of Mr. J. Andrews. The burial was at Winslow North Cemetery.

Girl On His Hands

By JOSEPH CHADWICK

"She's in love with him?"

"Rather!"

John lit a cigarette and smoked in silence. So Virginia Dane was in love with Monteros, despite her uncle's opinion to the contrary. Bert Mason should know. He had made a play for the girl and been brushed aside by the Argentinean. If she was really in love, she was going to be difficult. John felt licked. He didn't know how to tackle this job. . . .

He turned suddenly to Mason. "Just how well do you know Monteros?"

"Too well!"

"Do you know anything definite against him? Anything shady?"

"No." Mason's eyes flickered. "But maybe I can find out something you can use against him. That's what you want, isn't it?"

John met the other's eyes and nodded. He felt like a conspirator. But he was filled with a sudden determination. He meant to take Stephen Mitchell's advice and become tough.

Itching, Burning, Stinging Eczema or Salt Rheum

Eczema, or salt rheum as it is commonly called, is one of the most painful of all skin troubles.

The intense burning, itching and smarting, especially at night, or when the affected part is exposed to heat, or the hands placed in hot water are most unbearable, and relief is gladly welcomed.

The relief offered by Burdock Blood Bitters is based on the knowledge that such ailments as eczema, and other skin troubles, are caused by an impure blood condition.

Bring about inner cleanliness by using B. B. B. to help cleanse the blood of its impurities.

Stud Poker Not A Game of Skill Rules London Court

London, January 4-(CP)- This will shock poker players the world over, but a London court has ruled poker a game of chance, not skill.

King Henry VIII undoubtedly had many pressing problems other than poker on his mind when he signed a statute making it illegal to gamble on games which were not based strictly on skill, but his signature on that act cost two Londoners, Charles Thompson and Freda Poellakov, the equivalent of $450 each for operating a draw poker game.

Phoebe Harrison was fined the equivalent of $45 for "assisting" a practice unknown in Canadian poker circles unless it means that she was card shuffler or dealer.

King Henry's law provided that gambling on games "of mere skill," is legal. Mr. Justice Eustace Fulton, chairman of the London sessions, ruled that poker was not mere skill after the prosecution argued successfully that the phrase meant "of nothing but skill." Even the most astute Canadian stud artist will have difficulty following that one.

The most unusual part of this trial was the appearance for the defence of Maurice Ellinger, former English bridge champion, and Hubert Phillips, twice captain of the English contract bridge team, who testified that poker requires more skill than bridge.

One witness, who must be exceedingly unpopular among his poker-playing friends, said he had played in 500 poker games in one year without losing money.

The prosecution described the game in this whimsical fashion: "Each player, who received five cards, first placed stakes in the pool. After seeing their cards they could, by increasing the stakes, change one or all of their cards for others from the pack. The aim was to obtain certain winning combinations. When each had completed his hand he supported it by increasing his bet and by bluffing others into throwing in their hand and so losing their stakes.

It doesn't sound scientific, put that way, particularly the simplicity with which everyone supposedly folded for the bluffer.

The defence lawyer did not argue that poker is entirely a game of skill but that skill predominates. He called it "the game above all others in which skill predominates." But the court was adamant, not even allowing the question to go to the jury, so indignant poker players have only one ray of hope:

The case may be appealed.

Right in der fuehrer's face we'll say that this is probably the ugliest mugg we've ever set eyes on. Hitler's hair and mustache, Hirohito's eyes and gold braid, and Mussolini's famous chin make this gruesome composite that should inspire every soldier to fight harder, every civilian to buy more war bonds in 1943.
