REV. DR. GENGE DELIVERS BEAUTIFUL AND TOUCHING ADDRESS—SERVICE AND SERMON BROADCAST.

In the Central Christian Church yesterday evening Rev. Morgan E. Genge, D. D. preached his farewell sermon to a very large and sympathetic congregation. A special musical programme was rendered under the direction of Professor Herbert A. Tanton, and included the anthem "Still, Still with Thee" (Blaines), Solo—"O Love that will not let me go"—(Lorenz)—Miss Jessie Andrew and violin solo—"God be With You When We Meet Again"—Mr. Harry Porter.

Retiring Pastor of Central Christian Church Delivers Beautiful and Touching Address—Service and Sermon Broadcast.

Getting into his subject Dr. Genge said the danger signals are met with in the years and the great dangers are met with in a man's life when he changes. Today the signals at the Cross Roads are in connection with Church Life, for the Church is at the Cross Roads. The signals are:

Materialism. We live in a materialistic age and the most beautiful sentiments in life are being sacrificed to Materialism. It is true that the "Almighty Dollar" has become the "Mighty God" of our day. We are living in a materialistic age as far as the adult life is concerned but the danger signals tell us of danger to the religious life.

Pleasure. We live also in an age of pleasure when nothing means much to the young life except as it is a means of enjoyment. The things which give character are lost sight of.

Self-indulgence. Another of the danger signals is self-indulgence. This is also an age of selfishness. We have lost all feelings of fellowship for one another and the personal touch of friendship, real friendship, is a thing of the past. There are no Damons today who wait for Pythias. There are no Pythias today whose honour bids return.

Transgression of the Lord's Day. This is an age of transgression of the Lord's Day. It is true that we have a Lord's Day Observance Law yet it seems that in this age, in which we live, all laws have ceased to be respected. The Law of the Lord's Day is no law of man to be callously broken. It is a law of God—"Remember the Sabbath Day and keep it Holy." In the mad rush of today for pleasure and the intoxication of speed the basis of the soul is disturbed and the character of religion flouted.

Where there are danger signals along Life's highway there are also safety signals. The Arm of Omnipotence still points to Truth. The finger of God still shows the right way and if we follow these safety signals we shall come into closer relationship with God. Following the signal of Power brings us into close fellowship with God. Fellowship with God which brings us in touch with the Divine and the Divine in man is awakened by that fellowship. Another safety signal is Love. Just as Power is the fellowship with God so Love is the fellowship with Jesus. Jesus is the child of Love and "God so loved the World that he gave His Son" so that not only is the child of Love but he is also the Gift of Love to mankind and if we have the Love of God we shall have fellowship with Jesus.

LAST WEEK'S SEA DISASTER

Norwegian Crew Rescued by Stanley--Another Steamer Goes Ashore--No Lives Lost.

(Canadian Press)
HALIFAX, N. S., May 3.—With the rescue yesterday morning by the Government steamer Stanley of the crew of the Norwegian steamer Moldegaard, which plied up Friday morning on Shatin Island, nine miles off Chubeco Head, it was thought in marine circles that the toll of life taken by the series of North Atlantic disasters caused by the dense fog that shrouded the coast of Nova Scotia for the three days would remain at five, representing the loss of life in the sinking of the Nova Scotia schooner Cape D'or, which was rammed and sank Thursday afternoon by coal carrying steamer Clackamac. The Clackamac bound from New York to Halifax with coal was on the last lap of the voyage, when it crashed into the Cape D'or at 4:20 Thursday afternoon. The schooner, salt laden from Turks Island, had been holed by the Clackamac.

Captain Wilkie was accompanied on the voyage by his wife and had a crew of seven. The schooner sank three minutes after the impact. Captain Wilkie and four of the crew were drowned, that of Mrs. Wilkie being the only body recovered. The Moldegaard disaster was the next reported and throughout Friday efforts were being made to discover the Norwegian steamer, which was bound from Alexandria to an American port, and her captain was so off course when she struck that the wrong position was given and would be rescuers were at a loss until this morning when the Government steamer Stanley found the stricken vessel on Shatin Island and made the rescue of her crew. The ship was believed to be lost, but three men remained aboard. Hopes were entertained that her cargo would be salvaged.

While the Moldegaard was being sought on the shores near Halifax harbor, the molasses carrying steamer Azov from Cuba for Montreal wrecked itself on the rocks of the Cape Breton coast near Arichat. All the crew was taken off, but it was feared the steamer would be a total loss. Today the fog was almost as thick as ever with a heavy rain fall.

"Clackamac" Arrested.

HALIFAX, May 3.—The coal carrying wooden steamer Clackamac was arrested yesterday and $30,000 damages claimed by the owners of the three masted schooner Cape D'or which was rammed by it.

His finger points shall guide you home
His spirit safely lead you.
I do not say "Good-bye" tonight.
And often I shall miss you.
Your presence in my daily Prayers
Shall frame the words "God-Speed to you."

Dr. Genge came to Charlottetown four years ago to supply the Pulpit of the Central Christian Church. He accepted a call to fill the pastorate and by dint of strenuous work he has built an addition to the Church so that today it is one of the finest in the City. A new pipe organ has been installed to take the place of the reed organ which was there first. When he came there was no choir, today there is a splendid one with Processional and Recessional Services. Dr. Genge, in parting, does so impressed of the work of his congregation but he is unable to continue here. He has had many calls to different cities but he is not taking any at present but is going into Evangelical work with his headquarters at Charlottetown. The Doctor is possessed of excellent delivery and his sermons are powerful and inspiring so that he will undoubtedly meet with success. It is possible that he will begin his work at Bridgeburg, Ontario. The Doctor is filled with regret at leaving Charlottetown the more particularly so as his beloved wife is sleeping the Last Sleep in a Cotemary here. Leaving Dr. Genge takes the best wishes of all citizens for his future welfare and happiness. The service and sermon at the Church last evening were broadcast.

THREE S'SIDE MEN HAVE NARROW ESCAPE FROM DEATH

Automobile Struck By Freight Train Saturday Morning And Dragged For 50 Yards—Car partly Demolished, But Occupants Escape With Slight Injuries

(Special To The Guardian)
The escape of three men from accidental death at Summerside on Saturday morning is considered nothing short of miraculous. Hundreds have viewed since "the accident" the Chevrolet car this year. Seeing the present condition of the car it is hard to imagine how the occupants escaped with their lives, or at least serious injury.

On Saturday morning about 11 o'clock Mr. Dan McNeill, Summerside who was accompanied by Messrs George Andrews and Ray Andrews, St. Eleanor, were driving east along Water St. to a funeral. On account of the heavy rain coming on they decided not to go the full route so they accordingly turned off at Water St. and turned up the Street to cross the Railroad on the west side of Bishop's Foundry (which crossing is probably 300 yards east of the main crossing on Water St. where a watchman is on duty) There is a grade to the crossing and on account of the rain the car was twisted out of shape and when it finally went to the steamer off Cape LeHave Thursday afternoon with the loss of five lives from the schooner. The case is likely to be heard next week in the Admiralty Court here. The Cape D'or with way down immediately after the collision carrying to their death four members of the crew and Captain Wilkie's wife, subsequently came to the surface and was picked up by the steamer Arlex, which was reported to be towing the wreck to Halifax.

U. S. Fish Ban Urged At Canadian Ports

PRINCE RUPERT, B. C., May 3.—A public meeting of citizens here today passed a resolution urging the government to place an embargo on United States fish at Canadian ports, except in the case of captain of fishing boats, or owners maintaining residence in Canada, or in the event of a fishing boat being in distress. It was the opinion of the meeting that any United States boat wanting to land its catch here should be charged the port fee of two cents a pound.

U.M.W. LEADERS BANQUET WILL MARCH UNDER THE RED FLAG

Many of Strikers Assembled at the Action of Their Chiefs and fear President Lewis Will Cancel Relief.

OTTAWA, May 3.—From present indications the banquet to be held at Chateau Laurier on Wednesday evening next by the Liberal-Conservative Association at which the Right Hon. Arthur Meighen and Hon. G. SYDNEY, May 3.—Hundreds of strikers and strike sympathizers were literally dumbfounded Friday to see their principal District officers marching through the streets of Glace Bay under the red streamers of Communism, which marked the observance of May Day in Canada's largest town. The principal strike leaders who thus openly avowed their sympathy with red teachings and principles, were John W. McLeod, the District President and Alex. Mackay, Secretary-Treasurer. John A. Macdonald, prominent in the counsels of the turbulent Phalen local, and many other minor local chiefs also graced the parade in which the banners of no fewer than five of the U. M. W. locals were prominently displayed.

Services in The Methodist Church

A service of more than ordinary interest was held in the Methodist Church yesterday morning, when fifteen new members were received into the Church on Profession of Faith. The choir, under the direction of Professor W. E. Fletcher, A. B. C. M., A. T. C. L., rendered the anthem "O Taste and See How Good the Lord is." The Minister, Rev. W. M. Ryan, B. A., preached and took for his subject "The Christian Church." The two-fold conception of the Church given in the New Testament as to it being both the Building of which Christ is the foundation, and the Body of which He is the Head, was the theme of the discourse which was brilliantly delivered. The preacher showed that while the former conception is a scriptural one and for purposes of illustration most suggestive, yet in reality there is a close and vital relationship between Jesus Christ and every disciple of His, such as does not exist merely between a building and its foundation. The True Church of Jesus is a living organism and as such must adjust herself to changing conditions, to the changing needs and experiences of men.

LAST CHAPTER 'MY FAREWELL' IS INTERESTING

Written by Hindenburg in 1919 Predicted that German Imperial House Would Again Emerge as in Days of Yore

(Canadian Press)
TORONTO, May 3.—In September, 1919, Field Marshal Paul von Hindenburg, now President of the German Republic, wrote the story of his life. In the last chapter, "My Farewell," he says:

"Comrades of the German Army, once the proud and mighty German Army! How can you talk of despondency? Think of the men who gave us a new Fatherland more than a hundred years ago. Their religion was their faith in themselves and in the sacredness of their cause. They built up a new Fatherland, not on the foundation of doctrines strange to them, but on the individual within the framework of the whole body politic, and on his sense of responsibility to the state. Germany will tread that path once more as soon as she is permitted to do so.

"Germany, the goal and starting point of so much that is inexhaustible in human civilization and culture, will count as nothing only so long as she ceases to believe in her great historical mission. My faith is unshakable that the best among us, with their deep, strong thoughts, will succeed in fusing the relics of ancient times and on them set the stamp of eternal qualities which will bring salvation to our Fatherland.

"Such is the firm conviction with which I have left the blood-battle field of this War of Nations. I have witnessed the heroic struggle of my Fatherland, and I shall never believe that it was its death struggle.

"I have often been asked the question on what I based my hopes of our ultimate victory even in the darkest hours of the war. I could only point to my faith in the justice of our cause and my confidence in our Fatherland and the Army. "For the time being a flood of wild political passion and sounding speeches has overwhelmed the ancient structure of our state, and apparently destroyed all our sacred traditions. Yet this flood will subside again. Then from the tempestuous seas of our national life will once more emerge that rock—the German Imperial House—to which the hopes of our Fatherland was confidently set, nearly half a century ago, by our own efforts.

"When our national ideals and our national conscience have resumed their sway among us, we shall see how moral values have been struggling to birth in our present grievous trials and the Great War on which no nation is entitled to look back with more pride than the German people, so long as it remained true to itself. Then, and then only, will the blood of all those who fell believing in the greatness of Germany have been poured out not in vain.

"In that hope I lay down my pen and firmly build on you—Young Germany!"

None Just as Good as "ROBIN HOOD"
