WILL DOUBLE PRICE OF RUM AND GIN.

LONDON, May 2.—The general opinion of liquor wholesalers is that the new tax will not affect the retail price of beer, but will compel all brewers to brew below the specified specific gravity of forty-three, at which the surtax begins. This gravity is equivalent to containing seven per cent. of alcohol. Most London beers now range from 43 to 58.

The new whisky tax, which amounts to five shillings ($1.25) a bottle, will result in a virtual doubling of the retail price. Most wines will increase about two shillings a bottle at retail while liquors will rise four shillings. The price of bottled rum and gin will be doubled.

LONG ISLAND IS CONSERVING ITS OYSTERS

PATCHOGUE, L. I., May 3.—Because of the poor quality of the oysters and the low prices being received in the city markets, the town trustees at a special meeting yesterday afternoon decided to close the time limit for removing the bivalves, from June 1 to May 10. This was at the request of twenty-eight of the baymen who sent a petition to the trustees last week. The South Bay committee reported in favor of closing and the board passed a resolution to this effect.

The investigation of the committee showed that because of the unprofitableness of the public oystering business not more than 20 per cent. of the usual supply had been taken from the town lands. These extend from Bayport to Carman's River. The committee stated that instead of the usual price of 55 or 60 cents a bushel, the baymen were having a hard time to sell culled oysters for 25. The investigating committee included Charles Odell, William Murdoch and Harry B. Paine.

Another new feature is being innovated by the South Bay committee. The bivalves are being hauled up in the places where they are extremely thick and transplanted to the barren spots. This method of scattering the bivalves and giving them a chance to fatten was tried about five years ago with very good results. Since Monday there have been fifteen boats engaged in this, with a crew totalling thirty-five men. These have transplanted about 4,000 bushels. They expect to transplant 14,000 bushels.

ROOSEVELT EXPLAINS HIS CONSULTATIONS.

SYRACUSE, N. Y., May 1.—Theo. Roosevelt, defendant in William Barnes $50,000 libel suit, endeavored to explain on this, his seventh day, upon the witness stand, the answers he made to questions asked to him upon cross-examination by Counsel for Wm. Barnes.

Speaking of the "Easy Boss" the former President of the United States said that he conferred with him on matters, legislative, administrative, and political, because he considered Senator Platt's wide experience was valuable and because he realized that the organizations were controlled by the legislature and that the Senator controlled the organization.

"When there was no doubt in my mind I conferred with the Senator as head of the organization, while at the same time, and primarily, doing what the interest of the state demanded, I found that when there was apt to be an issue between me and the State Senate it was advisable to go where the power lay. I consulted Mr. Platt on all important matters that came up."

LETTERS FROM FRANCE

Mr. William Crosby of 136 Fitzroy Street, of this city has received the following letter from his son William, now at the front:

First Canadian Div'l. Cycle Corp,
British Expedt. Force,
France.

Dear Father:—

I suppose that you will be surprised to hear from me, getting no word from me for so long. Well, I have written to other people across the sea, but have received no answer from them, sometimes the mails never reach us. I often intended to write but you do not know how busy we are looking after the Germans. We have not much time for other things. There are a lot of things I would like to say and tell you, but we have got to be very careful what we write in our letters, but expect by this time you know how the Germans are getting it. I have seen sights I shall never forget as long as I live, which may not be long, but I hope to come out alive. We are fighting for our very existence and some have got to pay the price for it, and I am not afraid of it if it comes, I will do my duty. I know you miss me, but no more than I do you all at home. Well, Dad the Germans are fiends; they are worse than the blackest savages which is not saying more than the truth. Poor Belgium is an awful wreck, also a lot of France, but the Germans are getting theirs now. We have got to take off our hats to Belgium for what she has done. They are a brave people, but there is no soldier in the world, I do not think could do what the British soldier has done, they simply smashed up the Germans when they were from 3 to 10 against them, If I am spared to go home, I will have a lot to tell you, which will be interesting, to say the least. I am by myself as far as Prince Edward Island is concerned. I left the 12th Battalion, three months ago, and I am now in the Cyclists, lots of "close shaves," but also lots of sport. I am not very well at present, and having a rest. I hope it will be over soon, but will stick till it is. The Germans spare nothing or nobody. Their motto is: "Murder, Pillage and Plunder." Just a short time back I was in a house in a certain town, we cannot give any names and I saw a well where a woman and her children were put down alive, the Germans only laugh at that, and that is only one of the many things they have done, but the laugh is going on the other side of their fiendish faces now. My first experience under fire was exciting. We have lots of shell burst around us, but pay no attention to them now. I was carrying a despatch to a certain town in France, got off my cycle, went about forty yards to deliver it, just got there when a shell dropped about 12 yards the other side of my machine and knocked the hind wheel off, and broke one of the pedals. I was in the trenches one night when one of my chums had his brains blown out, some spattered over my shoulder, the same night another fellow got shot through the stomach and died five hours after. It is a common thing to see dead everywhere.

Well, Dad, I hope you will write soon, how are all the folks, remember me to them all, and send me some of our home papers as I would like very much to have some.

Must close for now, write soon,
Your loving son,
BILL.

The following letter has been received by Mrs. Crosby:—

France.

Dear Mother:—

Just a few lines to let you know that I am alive, and have not been quite well lately, but am doing nicely now. I hope this war will be over soon. I received your ever welcome letter and hope that you will write soon again. Well, I will have a lot to tell you if I am spared to get home again. We have lost some in the Canadian Contingent. Poor Belgium is nearly all in ruins. The Germans have spared nothing in their mad desire for victory which will never be. It is a wonder that something does not happen to stop this awful war. I often wonder what will be the end of it all, the terrible big guns used on both sides, the awful destruction I have seen. Victory will be ours in the long run, but who is to pay the awful loss, who will heal the wounds of the broken hearted mothers and wives, who will take care of the thousands of orphaned children, it is terrible, how can the people be indifferent to the war as I have read that lots of them are, something must be done to stop this war. Those who are not here cannot understand, but the Germans can never break our line, not if they tried for 50 years. Listen Mother, if it had not been for General French's "contemptible little army," Germany would have been all over Europe and —— theirs for Canada. I believe, only they would have the British Navy to reckon with, the finest in the world, but that little army of 165,000 men stopped the German legion of more than 600,000 men and held them until reinforcements came. It was simply wonderful, they had a hard time, poor fellows, but they accomplished their object, but we are moving them every day. It is no use for them to stand and argue the question they know they have to go so they are going. I think every able-bodied man should enlist to help, it would end it all the sooner, but it has got to be done, the sooner the better, it is hard to see the poor fellows out here doing their part without a grumble, only who are able to come, never mind against those who stay at home we will finish them off anyway, it is a great experience to me. The weather is getting fine now, I expect it will be as hot in the summer as it was cold in the winter.

Well, mother I must close for now hoping to hear from you soon. I am
Your loving son,
BILL.

The following letters have been received by Mr and Mrs Samuel Wood, of Southport, from their son, Brenton, who is on active service at the front:

France, April 10th, 1915.

My dear Mother and Father,—Your letter received the other day and I was more than glad to hear from you and to know that you are all well, as it found me enjoying the same blessing. We are in a house just now. It is about three hundred years old, and it is a dandy old one. There is everything you wish, beds to sleep in, a table to eat your meals from, chairs, etc. We will be here for some time or at least I hope so, but we cannot tell what will turn up. We may move in two hours' notice. One can never tell what is next. Well, this is certainly a war. It will be brains that will end the war. There will be some of the greatest deeds of history happen before it is over, but I am afraid it will be a long long time. Well, the trenches are a great life when you get in, but the danger is, getting in and out, but after you are in you are quite safe. When a body of men go in or go out, the enemy shoots a light in the air and that shows up everybody and then they turn the machine gun on you, but as soon as you see the light you drop right down where you are, sometimes in mud up to your knees, but that is nothing, it is better to do that than get hit and sometimes your body does get hit, and when you get into the trenches there are what they call loop holes. I will show you on the back what the trenches are like. That young fellow that got shot was standing right next to me when he got hit right through the head. He never knew what hit him, poor fellow, but I suppose it had to be. Well, it is very miserable in some of the trenches, about two or three feet of mud, water, and shell and bullets flying all around you. It makes a queer feeling come over a fellow, by times, but you soon get used to it. The Canadians are doing fine everywhere. Well, I will just tell you what we get to eat. Well, breakfast, we get for one issue two nice pieces of bacon, bread and butter, all you can eat. Then we mostly buy some eggs from —— and they do all right in the morning with your ham. For dinner we get either steak and onions, or roast beef and potatoes. For supper we get bread and butter, jam and cheese. Then there is always some little thing you can buy which will help to keep a person in shape. In fact, I never felt better in my life. I never was to the doctor yet and I guess you can tell by that how the war is taking me. We got dug-outs to sleep in when we were off duty. You get two hours off and two hours on in some places. In other places we have a little more time off, but we don't care for that if we could only get a hold of the man that is causing all the trouble. There are certainly some people who are suffering from him. There are people around where we are staying who lost all that they ever had. The Germans would put them in the houses and then set fire to the houses and let them get out if they could. Sometimes they would torture the women in all sorts of ways. They are certainly very cruel people. In fact they should be be classed with people at all, but with wild beasts, but our day will come. Even so, I don't think we could act as they are doing, they won't do it "above board," as the saying is, but they do it in a mean and cowardly way, like a dog, as you may put it so, for nothing is too bad for them. Just think all the damage they have done, a person could never imagine it until they see it and then you can hardly believe it. Churches seem to be their worst enemy. They seem to destroy every one they come across and these are things that should not be touched in war at all.

Message of Hope For all Women

MISS MARY SABOURI TELLS HOW SHE FOUND HEALTH.

Suffered for Three Years and Could Find no Lasting Relief Till She Used Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Thurso, Que., May 3rd. (Special).—Tired, run-down women can read a message of hope in the statement of Miss Mary Sabourin, an estimable lady living here. In a statement to the public Miss Sabourin says:

"I was a sufferer for three years I was always tired and nervous. My sleep was broken and unfreshing. I was troubled with headaches and pains in my back. I had heart flutterings to add to my anxiety.

"I was treated by a doctor and a specialist but nothing seemed to do me any lasting good until I started to use Dodd's Kidney Pills and I took just three boxes of them."

Nine-tenths of women's troubles come from sick Kidneys. Sick Kidenys fail in their duty of straining the impurities out of the blood. That means that poison and disease is carried to all parts of the body. The remedy is to cure the Kidneys with Dodd's Kidney Pills. If you haven't used them ask your neighbor about them. Nearly every family in Canada is using or has used Dodd's Kidney Pills.

IN MEMORIAM

MR. JAMES McGUIGAN.

The death occurred in the Charlottetown Hospital, of pneumonia, on May the 1st., of James M. McGuigan. He leaves a sorrowing widow, three sons, Fredrick, and Emmett of Hope River, and Bertrum, of California, to mourn their loss.

ANNIE DORIS McPHERSON.

At Eldon on Sunday evening, April 25, 1915, Annie Doris dearly beloved child of Malcolm G. and Minnie McPherson aged four months.

This lovely bud so young and fair
Called hence by early doom
Just came to show how sweet a flower
In Paradise could bloom
E'er sin could harm, or sorrow fade
Death came with friendly care
The opening bud to Heaven conveyed
And bade it blossom there.

SENSATIONAL END OF NEW YORK TRIAL.

NEW YORK, May 1—Philip T. White, the $6,000 a year manager of the Masury Paint Company, in Brooklyn, on trial as the leader of a band of highwaymen who held up his employer's bank messengers and robbed them of $3,000 nearly a year ago, rose from his chair in the court room today, stretched both arms toward Supreme Court Justice Asbinall, on the bench, and exclaimed: "Stop, I am guilty. I am guilty. I want to confess my guilt before God and the world."

A court-room scene seldom equalled in the annals of New York jurisprudence ensued, White, trembling with emotion, turned from the bench and faced the jury. He continued his impassioned avowal, freely confessing the details of the crime, but asked no clemency and made no statement as to the motive which empelled him. When he sat down, beside his long time friend, James F. Clinnin, auditor of the Hackett & Wilhems Company, in Brooklyn, who also was on trial on the same charge arose, "I wish to plead guilty, too," he said, and sat down.

The trial which has been in progress for several days, was at once halted. The jury was dismissed and the court accepted the two pleas of guilty. Sentence was postponed for a week.

White lived in a handsome home at Elizabeth, N. J. When he was first arrested, after months of investigation by detectives, his employers astounded, refused to believe him guilty and assisted him to obtain bail.
