MOTOR CYCLE AND ELECTRIC CAR CRASH

LEOMINSTER, Mass., June 26—Mrs. J. W. Andrews was killed and her husband so badly injured that his name is on the dangerous list at the hospital, as the result of a collision between a tandem motor cycle on which they were riding and an electric car tonight. The motorman of the car, Arthur Gauthier, is under arrest charged with criminal negligence. Mr. and Mrs. Andrews had been out for a spin on the machine and were returning to their home on Church Street. As they approached Merrian Avenue, on which the street car line to Pithsburg runs, their view was shut off by a high ledge and without seeing the car they ran their machine directly into its path. The motorman shut off his power and reversed as soon as he saw that a collision was imminent, but could not stop the car in time, and the couple were struck with considerable force. Both were dragged a distance of nearly 50 feet. The woman died at the hospital two hours later. Andrews' injuries consist of a slight fracture of the skull, concussion of the head and numerous severe bruises about the body. He has a slight chance of recovery. Mrs. Andrews was about 50 years of age and was very prominent socially.

VICTORIAS WIN

The old rivals, Vics and Abbies, met last night for the first time this season on the baseball diamond and the wearers of the blue and white won a decisive victory. The Vics, although they had on a number of new men, had the game clinched good and hard after the second inning. Garrick in the box pitched a fine game, giving only one pass throughout. Milford behind the bat, Garret at first and Bradley on the third bag also gave good accounts of themselves. The Abbies were in poor shape, the pitchers being hit often and hard, thus accounting for the large score run up on them. Mr. Duest of the Teddy Bears umpired to the satisfaction of all.

AN INVESTIGATION HELD IN QUEEN HOTEL FIRE

The Civic Fire Board Last Night Conducted an Investigation By Which Some Interesting Facts Were Brought to Light—Some Developments May Be Expected.

The Fire Board of this city, consisting of Councilors R. M. Johnson, T. Campbell and I. Lane, the former the chairman, met last night and conducted an investigation into the recent Queen Hotel fire and at the same time brought out several matters of great importance with the fire. His Worship Mayor Rogers, Stipendiary J. A. Macdonald, Councilor Riley, City Clerk Clark and others were in attendance. A number of witnesses were examined, who were interrogated by Mr. Cameron and the members of the fire board, and the testimony given was in relation to the recent discovery on two occasions of half burned oil saturated waste and excelsior in M. P. Hogan's wood-working factory, the cutting of the moulding on the doors of the main entrance to the Queen Hotel, the premises of George A. B. McDonald's Drugstore and the breaking in G. E. Auld's premises on Queen Street, besides the Queen Hotel fire.

The first witness examined was Peter J. Doyle, steward of the Club. He testified that one night in December last the moulding in the front door of the club was cut about five or six inches in two places. The moulding was damaged considerably and required repairs. Before this happened a party had applied to the managing committee for a position as watchman. He did not know whether he had been engaged or not. Speaking to this party after the occurrence the man referred generally to the affair. This was all in connection with this case. Previous to this, between January and May, he had a night watchman engaged with the name of M. P. Hogan. This was shortly before the first occurrence referred to happened. It appeared to him as if the waste had been set afire and then stamped out before being thrown inside. He did not see his former watchman since the fire.

Rufus Hogan's evidence was of the same nature as M. P. Hogan's. He had not seen his former employee since the two discoveries mentioned. The witness Furbush, Mr. Hogan's fireman, told of finding the waste and the excelsior, and said he had given the articles to Chief Ronaghan. George E. Auld said that his premises on Queen Street had been broken into and entered by some rascal who evidently wished to have it known that the place had been entered with an object to theft. Nothing was taken as far as he knew on either occasion. Once an entrance being effected by prying up a bar fastening the back door and the other hatch on the street. Things were tossed about. He had a watchman employed for a time but after learning of Mr. McDonald's drugstore door being cut he dismissed him warning him not to tamper with his door. This was before his store was entered.

Harry Ottaway, corroborated the evidence respecting his conversation with the night watchman. He said he had not seen him since the fire. He left the hotel that night at 10.15 and everything was all right then. M. P. Hogan testified that a window on the north side of his factory was broken and that a piece of waste partially consumed by fire, had been found by his fireman on a planer near the window. He told of a half burned excelsior which was found on the floor in the engine room by the fireman on another occasion. Previous to this, between January and May, he had a night watchman engaged with the name of M. P. Hogan. This was shortly before the first occurrence referred to happened. It appeared to him as if the waste had been set afire and then stamped out before being thrown inside. He did not see his former watchman since the fire.

Francis E. Kiggins told of the night watchman's movements on the night of the Queen Hotel fire. He had seen him shortly before the alarm rang at the drugstore corner. He referred to the drugstore door incident and told of seeing the watchman after the fire at the stables. Robert Rattray told the board what he knew of the Hotel fire and burned paper. The fire board, after hearing the evidence decided that it be handed over to the Stipendiary Magistrate, to take whatever steps in the case he deemed necessary under the existing circumstances.

COLEMAN STARTS TO PAY FOR HIS FUN

GREENFIELD, Mass., June 25—Showing but little emotion, although his cheeks were wet with the tears of his father, George W. Coleman, the self-confessed embezzler of the National City Bank of Cambridge, where he was a book-keeper, turned from the kisses of his weeping father and brother, to jailer Richardson on arrival about 4 o'clock today at the Franklin county jail, and began to serve the fifteen years sentence as a federal prisoner. While his measurements were being taken in the guard-room, his father and brother, both weeping and apparently heart broken, climbed back into the auto where Mr. Stratton, of South Boston, owner of the machine and a friend of the Coleman family awaited them. Considerable changing and re-arranging is done in the workshop and there is a large farm under cultivation. A strawberry patch is just in fruit. He may be set to picking berries. A blacksmith shop is under way. He may be set to work there. The completed measurements taken of the young embezzler shows him to be five feet eight and one-half inches tall, weighing one hundred and ninety-seven pounds. He has light blue eyes and light complexion. The finger print record will be taken tomorrow.

TERCENTENARY OF MICMAC INDIANS

RESTIGOUCHE, N. B., June 26—Roman Catholic churches and other distinguished visitors from points in New Brunswick, Nova Scotia, Quebec and Prince Edward Island assembled here today to take part in the celebration of the 300th anniversary of the first conversion of a Micmac Indian to Christianity. It was three hundred years ago today that the aged chief Membertou of the Micmac tribe was received to the church. Although French parties of exploration had visited the country in 1603, it was not until 1610 that a priest accompanied one of the spiritual welfare of the savages. This pioneer was Rev. Jesse-Eusebe, who accompanied the explorer Patricourt. It was through his zealous labors that the old Micmac Chief Membertou, then over a hundred years old, became a sincere convert to the Christian faith. He was baptized on St. John's Day, June 24, 1610, and to show his great devotion also to the French nation he permitted himself to be called Henri, after Henry of Navarre. Then his whole tribe became baptized Catholics, and to this day are steadfast in their faith.

THE KINGDOM SAILED SATURDAY.

HALIFAX, June 25—The yacht Kingdom of the Holy Ghost and United States, sailed at night fall Saturday for parts unknown. She proceeded westward, however, Frank W. Sanford and his craft are either going to some New England port or the destination is the Bay of Fundy. It may be that the Kingdom is going to Matland at the head of Fundy. Besides the Mackenzie property there, which the ghosters have obtained, is another less extensive, which was given to them in the same way. It is probable that Captain Martsen, of Matland, will be able to raise the $500 for the property the ghosters are selling. The Herald learns that the cash obtained from the Mackenzie at Matland, was nearer $10,000 than the $5,000 previously mentioned.

THE AVIATION MEET

MONTREAL, June 27.—The first day of Montreal's aviation week was to some extent spoiled by the fact that the machines had not been quite tuned up. However the crowd of five thousand and got the worth of their money in witnessing three fine flights yesterday by Count Delessers, and by Walter Brookens and Ralph Johnson, two of Wright Bros' quartette of aviators.

Brookens was the first man to fly at Montreal. His flight was a complete success, consisting of a journey three times around the course, the announcement being made that he had covered three and a half miles in five minutes. Count De Lesseps followed in a Beriot machine. The count labored under the disadvantages of using a machine that had never before been used for the first time that morning. The machine he had used in his previous flights not having yet arrived. Nevertheless he had made a fine flight, somewhat similar to that of Brookens, a feature being the graceful manner in which he alighted in front of the grandstand. Ralph Johnson was the third on the list. The engine refused to make a start, while he was working on it, De Lesseps made a second flight of about the same duration as the first, the grace and ease of handling being even more accentuated. At the close he was congratulated by Roy Knabenshue, the Wright manager. The count is a thorough Frenchman of the highest class and when Mr Knabenshue's remarks were translated to him he replied gracefully. "But we must not forget that Mr Wright was the first real aviator." Later the Wright contingent made up the ground they had lost when after flight, Brookens brought out his machine and again went up two thousand feet, making a great descent by gliding in down in two descents of over five hundred feet each. Not to be outdone the Frenchman came out once more and made a flight lasting ten minutes. On Monday the real work of the meeting will begin.
