PRactical Engineering FOR WOMEN
LONDON, Sept. 29.—Women engineers as a body are determined that youth shall have the main chance. Every address given at the annual conference of the women's engineering society here was delivered by women engineers under the age of 25.

In former years the more mature members of the society had monopolized the platform. Miss E. J. Muntz described how she and her sister began their engineering careers by "gate crashing" into an aircraft company's factory, and "landed two jobs as fabric hands."

"I always objected," she said, "to the thought of controlling a machine without first knowing how it worked, and I learned all about the 'innards' of a motor-car long before I learned to drive. In the same way I decided to learn about aircraft before I flew them."

Miss K. M. Cook admitted that practical engineering was a black and oily business, and suggested that many of the right type of women were lost to the profession because they objected to the oil and grease.

Miss J. Cissold ended her paper with the confession that she will shortly exchange her career as an engineer for marriage. "I have been asked," she said, "to state the future possibilities of my job. I am bound to confess, however, that whatever these may be I am not going to take advantage of them, because I shall be leaving before long to get married. The only excuse I can offer you is that I am marrying an engineer."

Cataract Operation An Old Dodge

HALIFAX, Sept. 29.—(C. P.)—The racket is as old as the hills. That is what leading Halifax optometrists say tonight of the "cataract operation" performed on G. Enos Dares of Rhodes Corner, N. S. But the process of extracting an egg-skin cataract from the victim's eyes and a sizeable sum from the victim's pocket for the "operation" is an innovation to this province. "The practice is fairly common in the middle and western United States," H. W. Cameron, secretary of the Nova Scotia Board of Optometry, declared. "But it is the first time I have heard of an occurrence of the kind in Nova Scotia."

Informed that Royal Canadian Mounted Police were investigating, Mr. Cameron declared his organization would do everything possible to assist in the capture of the two men wanted for the reputedly fraudulent operation.

He asserted that Optometrists throughout the Province would undoubtedly be on the look-out for men operating without licenses. It is the practice to report these infringements to the Board.

No Solution To Strike Problem

STRAITFORD, Ont., Sept. 29.—(C. P.)—Failure tonight attended renewed efforts to settle strikes among chicken pluckers and furniture workers of this city which have rendered more than 800 persons idle, the majority of them for two weeks.

Heads of six furniture factories whose employees walked out a fortnight ago after demanding higher wages and improved working conditions offered to meet in part requests of the strikers. But the workers' representatives declined to accept their concessions. The Swift Canadian Company, after a long meeting with employees refused demands for higher wages and threatened to close their plant.

The Swift Company issued a brief statement at the end of the meeting which said: "We cannot agree at this meeting that any wage changes can be made. We will be glad to give full consideration to the matter when the plant assembly is set up. The only alternative is to close the plant."

The statement was issued by W. K. Clarke of Toronto, a company representative. The "plant assembly" to which he referred was a shop committee of employees and employers which would have been created had the strikers agreed to turn to work at the old wage scale, two cents each for plucking chickens, and not the three cents they are demanding.

Women Should Have Equality In The Air Says Amelia Earhart

NEW YORK, Sept. 29.—Amelia Earhart Putnam would like to see equality for women in the air as well as on the ground. So she said in the aviation booth at the 12th annual exposition of women's arts and industries which opened yesterday.

"We hope that women pilots will soon be regarded as pilots and not as 'women pilots,'" she said. "It isn't right nor scientific." Mrs. Putnam said, "to say that women can't fly as well as men. They have proven that they can, and should be accredited so."

"Not to mention adequate physical makeup and such, women are just as experienced in meeting the outside world now as men."

Airplane Grounded With Marriage Cheer

PRINCE ALBERT, Sept. 29.—(C. P.)—Autumnal storms which grounded an airplane east of here, there was to be a wedding, but the bridegroom, the wedding cake and champagne for the toast were aboard the delayed plane.

It was the wedding day of Miss Mabel Alice Westerman, Chapeau, Ont., nurse, and W. J. Pickering, of Prince Albert, north country radio operator. What to do?

Soon the resourcefulness of the northerners came to the rescue. The cook at the mission baked a cake. Mission children gathered flowers, trading post stores yielded canned meats for sandwiches, and a friend produced liquid appropriate to the occasion. The wedding was a success.

Combines Writing Novel While Learning To Cook

MANFIELD, Mo., Sept. 29.—(C. P.)—Miss Catherine Brody reports two accomplishments of a trip to the Ozarks—the writing of a novel and learning how to become a good cook.

She came with Mrs. Rose Wilder Lane to write, and not to cook, but as she tells it.

"It was a case of having to learn to cook if we continued to eat. Our housekeeper just vanished one day and if we ate I had to cook. So I got—decided by note. However, I'm getting so I can scornfully raise my nose at the cook book."

Strive To Settle Stratford Strike

NEW YORK MARKET STEADY

Negotiations Reopen To End 2 Weeks Strike.

By John L. Cooley
Associated Press Financial Writer.
NEW YORK, Sept. 28.—(A. P.)—Stocks felt better today, notwithstanding a heavy closing for wheat. Small prices for shares showed an assortment of 1 to 2 point net gains, although trading was very quiet throughout the session.

The market's action suggested it had become a bit oversold yesterday. There were no striking developments along the inflation front, President Roosevelt did not issue the "sound money" pronouncement which Wall Street had anticipated on Wednesday, so the issue remained undecided and traders were disposed to move cautiously.

Mining Company equities shared with alcohol the most prominent part in the price improvement. U. S. Smelting rose 4, and McIntyre, American Smelting, National Distillers, American Commercial Alcohol and Dome one to three or so. Alaska Juneau moved up more than a point on news of a 15-cent extra dividend. Celanese was strong. Homestake hopped up 29 points on a couple of late transactions.

Gets Extra Two Months

SHEDIAC, N. B., Sept. 28.—After 48 hours of freedom, Ben Pettipas, of Shediac, was arrested at Moncton today and brought back to this town, where he escaped two days ago as he was about to start serving a term of 30 days for having oysters in his possession before the season opened. Two months for resisting arrest was added to the original sentence.

Disturbance
One brief disturbance flared today at the end of a parade of more than 3,000 strikers and sympathizers when a report spread the Swift Company had imported strike-breakers to work in the plant. Police used persuasion to stop a rush of workers to the plant, while in the armories more than 100 soldiers and four tanks were held in case serious trouble should arise.

The rush resulted in admittance of a strikers' committee to interview W. K. Clarke, Toronto representative of the firm.

Soldiers of the Royal Canadian Regiment brought here yesterday from Toronto and London were hooded and jeered today as paraders passed the armoured. They watched the procession through the windows but did not appear on the street.

Youths at the head of the parade dragged an imitation howitzer on an automobile trailer. They wore on their heads saucupans and wash basins, imitative of the soldiers' steel helmets. Four truckloads of children were driven in the procession.

Agreement of Swift Company officials to meet strikers' committeemen was reached after demonstrators outside the plant had demanded noisily that imported workers be dismissed.

P.): One of the greatest and most unique tragedies in Sweden's military history was commemorated recently at Bustovla in the northern Swedish mountain district, where 215 years ago, some 2,405 soldiers lost their lives in a snowstorm. A monument was unveiled at the ceremony.
