Alberton Council Requests Railway Schedule Revision

At a meeting of the Alberton Town Council, a resolution was passed requesting railway authorities to give their serious consideration towards a revision of existing schedules with a view of affording the western section of the province some improvement over existing conditions.

It was claimed existing train schedules to and from the Western section of the province did not allow close connections with incoming and outgoing traffic to and from Upper Canadian, United States and Maritime points.

Copies of the resolution, signed by Mayor E. R. Burke and Town Clerk C. R. Frotty, were ordered sent to E. W. Mackinnon, Superintendent of the Prince Edward Island division of the Canadian National Railway, W. U. Appleton, Vice President and General Manager of the Atlantic Region and A. E. MacLean, Federal member for Prince.

PEMBROKE, Ont., April 18.—When his left leg was crushed by a freight train yesterday, Wilfred Lamure, 17-year-old Indian of Mackay Station lay beside the tracks for two hours crying for help which did not come.

The boy's left leg was amputated below the knee when he was brought to hospital here. Attendants said today his condition was good.

Thousands Idle In U. S. Strikes

(By I. Norman Smith, Canadian Press Staff Writer)

LONDON, April 18.—(CP)—The British Resonance Council of Great Britain has issued a report that "grave doubts" whether the majority of tonsil operations are any more than a routine prophylactic ritual for no particular reason and with no particular result.

Thirty public boarding schools were used to secure the data, 22,168 boys and 7,600 girls providing information. The study took five years, and the committee found that at the beginning of their inquiry about half the children had their tonsils removed, and that this proportion increased through the years of observation by more than six per cent.

The committee found it "obviously important" to determine whether and how the removal of tonsils was necessary. Doctors admit they have only a hazy idea as to the purpose of the two almond-shaped glands on either side of the throat, where it comes to the mouth.

The committee felt, to remove them without cause; "through realizing the value of the operation is carefully selected cases. It said, "we have grave doubts as to whether the majority are the result of true discrimination."

The incidence of coughs, colds and sore throats among boys and girls with or without tonsils did not differ. In a group of 384 boys whose tonsils were removed during school life, the sickness experience was such removal. It "about the same as that of the population as a whole."

"This shows," the report states, "that in selected cases the operation is of value, but it is far from justifying a ritual now practiced on more than 50 per cent of the children admitted to the schools of this class." (The schools were boarding schools of the upper-middle class.)

Mystery Cloaks Disappearance Of Late Steel Magnate's Nephew

NEW YORK, April 18.—(AP)—Mystery cloaking the disappearance of Andrew Carnegie Whitefield, nephew aviator of the late multimillionaire steelmaster, became more opaque tonight as the most hopeful clue yet turned up proved apparently fruitless.

Information had pointed strongly to the possibility that Whitefield might have sailed with Frank Steinman, another aviator, for Europe aboard the Red Star liner Westernland for Southampton last Saturday as an unlisted passenger.

This supposition, twice partly supported, led his brother, John N. Whitefield, to exclaim thankfully: "This is the first ray of hope I have seen!" If true, it would have meant that the young American pilot had survived a projected short airplane hop on London Island last Friday on which it originally had been assumed he met disaster.

But, late today in response to urgent inquiries from shore, Captain Henry Claussen wirelessly from the Westernland: "Steinman last saw Whitefield three weeks ago. No knowledge aboard."

The search was extended to the open sea because of these two developments: Charles Philbrick, cashier of a hotel at Roosevelt Field, Long Island, reported a man he believed was Whitefield, accompanied by Steinman, sought Saturday to cash a $100 cheque, and that Steinman had mentioned then his projected departure on the Westernland.

John N. Whitefield, the Red Star official who embarked the Westernland, said a man matching the general description of Whitefield had come aboard with Steinman.
