

People Who Enjoy Being Sick.

Nine Persons Out of Ten Have Kidney Trouble—Warner's Safe Cure is the Only Positive Cure.

There are thousands of men and women going about the world today with kidney trouble, who are apt to die at any moment of Bright's disease, diabetes or blood poison. They evidently enjoy being sick and subject to sudden death, because they don't or won't even take the trouble to find out what's the matter with them.

Some of them don't suffer enough—they think it's "nothing much" and will wear off of itself. Kidney disease never cures itself. Others have doctored so much and are so completely discouraged that they have made up their minds there is no hope for them anyway; the doctor has told them they must die, and at last they believe him.

LOOK TO YOUR KIDNEYS.

If the morning urine becomes cloudy, containing a brick dust sediment, or if particles that about in it when it stands in a glass for 24 hours, it is absolutely certain evidence that your kidneys have been diseased for months. You need Warner's Safe Cure, and need it quickly. It will purify, loosen up and strengthen the kidneys, so that they will do their work properly, and then you will feel and look well all through the year.

TRIAL BOTTLE FREE.

To convince every sufferer from disease of the kidneys, liver, bladder and blood, that Warner's Safe Cure will cure them, a trial bottle will be sent absolutely free, post-paid to any address. Also free of charge a book and a medical booklet which tells all about these diseases, with a prescription for each, and contains many of the thousands of testimonials received daily from grateful patients who have been cured by Warner's Safe Cure. All you have to do is write Warner's Safe Cure Co., 44 Lombard Street, Toronto, Ont., and mention name of this paper. The genuineness of this offer is guaranteed by the publisher.

LOST IN LIFE VOYAGE

Days Continually Lost by Being Frittered Away in Silence...

The Value of Every Minute

Day Lost By Solar Reckoning in a Westerly Voyage

Around the World Furnishes Preacher With Illustration For Powerful Sermon From the Text

"Whatsoever Thy Hand Findeth to Do, Do It With Thy Might."

Entered according to Act of Parliament of Canada, in the year 1905, by William Bailey, of Toronto, at the Dept. of Agriculture Ottawa.

Los Angeles, Cal., Jan. 8.—The day lost by solar reckoning in a westerly voyage around the world furnishes the preacher in this sermon with an illustration by which, as he shows, days are continually being lost in the voyage of life; text, Ecclesiastes ix., 10, "Whatsoever thy hand findeth to do, do it with thy might."

There is a kind of loss of which I want to speak to you to-day. At the beginning of a new year it is impressed upon us with solemn import. Looking backward over the year that is gone, how sad is the thought of our lost days! Days there have been in which we might have done work for God which we have suffered to pass away in idleness. Days which can never be recalled which we have frittered away uselessly.

We all know the old adage that "time is money." We are all ready to grant that this axiom is true. "If a man has no regard for the time of other men," wrote Horace Greeley, "why should he have for their money? What is the difference between stealing a man's hour and stealing his $5? There are many men to whom each hour of the business day is worth more than $5. But, though time means money to most of us, it should mean more than that. It is a sacred trust committed to us, for the right use of which we shall have to give account. Little enough is the portion we can devote to our Master's service. If we waste it we defraud God.

We waste these days simply by wasting time and energy. You have no guideposts, as on the mountain side. The first thing you would do would be to get the ship off its course. It would take us perhaps days or weeks to regain our course, or perhaps we would never be able to do so. We might land in China, as a dishonest captain made the pilgrim sailors land on the gold hills of New England shores when they had set sail for the southern lands. No matter how good a man's purpose may be, if he knows not the laws of navigation he cannot guide his boat to the right harbor.

We must have intelligence to fit ourselves for the duties of life. How do most successful men get that necessary intelligence? I will tell you. It is by improving the few moments, the few stray moments of the day and the evening, which, as sacred fragments, crowd around them.

Young man, be careful about the few moments which you have been wasting each day. Guard those extra few moments for intelligent study. Look out for that wasted half hour during the midday meal. Look out for the time you have been spending to spend every morning and evening in the street car on your way to business looking idly around or trying to pass it away in reading the advertisements or the sporting columns in the daily newspapers. Look out for that half hour which you fool away in your room before you turn in for the night. A gigantic waste of intellectual growth can be done if only the few wasted moments of each day are gathered up for close application to books. One day Philip of Macedon, father of Alexander the Great, was talking to Dionysius, the son of Dionysius, the great general of Syracuse. He said to the son: "I do not believe your father could have ever won the odds and straggle attributed to him during his busy military life."

"My father," the son replied, "wrote those masterpieces during the time you and I have wasted at our tables in feasting." Young man, better improve your stray moments as did Dionysius the Great than fritter them away as most folks are doing, with their lips pressed against the chalice of pleasure. Better conserve whole days in life's journey to making yourself better and truer than to drop them into uselessness, as we lost our Thursday in the smooth waters of the Pacific in our journey around the world.

But, though many minutes, which in the aggregate amount to many days, are lost to the service of Christ on account of our own follies, how many are lost to Christ by reason of people who seem to have nothing to do themselves and who seem to be possessed with the idea that we have nothing to do? Alas, how many mornings there have been when we arose with clear minds and hearts anxious for study! These thoughts, like a great flock of flying doves, seemed ready to roost on our study desk. Then ideas came not as solitary scouts, but marshaled in great armies, ready to wheel in line to attack at our command. Then horror seemed to pals our fingers, the doorbell rang. I came a threatening nomad ready to incamp upon our premises for the next two hours. Though a "squatter," he came not empty handed. He had piled upon his back all the gossip and the "small talk" of the neighborhood. He had great carevens halted in your front yard, with all the scandals and the besotted reputations of the homes he had been lately peering. And he talks and he talks until he drives away all our ideas and all our desire for work and all our ambition, and he leaves in his wake a wrecked day.

How many errands of mercy and pressing duties in the home have been ruined in the busy housewife's life by prolonged visits of one of these "daughters of iniquity" called the "destroyers of time!" They criticize your husbands and your children. They find fault with the arrangements of your homes. They find fault with your dressmakers. They try to steal your cooks. They find fault with everything, yet they stay on. They are respectable thieves of your time; who must be landed in jail, but they are a bigger nuisance to you than if they stole the meat out of your ice chest or the bread and cake from your cupboards. Ah, these destroyers of time! How many precious moments, which in the aggregate have amounted to precious days of work, have been lost for us in the journey of life, with its vital opportunities, through their unwelcome visits! Well wrote Oliver Wendell Holmes in reference to such as these:

Shun such as lounge through afternoons and eves
And on the dial write, "Beware of thieves."
Felon of minutes, never taught to feel
The worth of treasures which thy fingers steal;
Pick thy left pocket of its silver dime,
But spare the right—it holds my golden time.

God says: "Work, work, work! Work for the night cometh when no man can work." That means we must fight against those who would waste our precious moments as well as against our own slothful natures, and of all warnings for busy men I think this one of the most important. Where there is one busy man who would voluntarily waste his time there are ten lazy fellows who are ready to waste it for him. Look out that these despised "nomads" may not ruin any more of your days of usefulness.

In heathen mythology there lived a god by the name of Baldur. His mother, Frigg, wanted to make him immortal. She demanded from the stones, the trees, from fire and water and all metals and reptiles and birds and poisons, an oath that they never would kill him. These all gave a willing oath. Then the gods, believing that Baldur was immortal, began to strike him with swords, spears, battleaxes and darts, but they harmed him not. At last one of the gods picked up a piece of mistletoe. He threw it at Baldur. The little twig pierced the skin and the heart, and Baldur dropped a corpse. Many of these visits of the "destroyers of time" may seem to be harmless. But are they? Like the despised mistletoe of heathen mythology, they may be fatal for whole days, whole months and years, that should have been used in service of the Master.

Would God we might one and all fight relentlessly against these "destroyers of time." You cannot afford to give away what is not your own. Your time belongs not to you, but to another. "Go with me to a concert this afternoon," said one salesman to another who was employed in a large warehouse. "I cannot go this afternoon," was the answer. "My time is not my own; it belongs to another." "To whom?" "To my employer." The following Sabbath afternoon the same salesman said to the clerk, "Come and go riding with me this afternoon." "I cannot," said the other. "My time is not my own; it belongs to another." "To whom?" "To God, who said, 'Remember the Sabbath day to keep it holy.'" Will you and I waste our precious moments hereafter? Shall we not always feel that in reality time does not belong to us? It belongs, in the higher, nobler and purer sense, to them whom we are sent to serve and to the great God, who will demand at the judgment an accounting for every moment we fritter away.

This thought flashed upon me as I sat upon the deck of the steamship Alameda, trying to figure out how I lost the day. If instead of following the setting sun I had been going toward the east I would not have lost a day, but gained an extra day; if instead of going from New York to San Francisco and New Zealand I had been traveling from London through the Suez Canal to Australia, instead of having lost a Thursday, I would have had two Thursdays in one week. It mattered nothing on our voyage which course we took, but in the voyage of life it matters a great deal. They who take the "star in the east" as their guide in the journey of life, who follow Christ, who are led by him, have no lost days. In this life they have infinite delights and in the end eternal life.

In which direction are you sailing? Are you going away from the haven of peace? Are you and I traveling away from God? Are we following the "setting sun," where we have our "lost days," or are we leading toward the "star of the east," where we shall have our "found days"? Are we sailing from God at a point where we shall crash upon the rocks of sin, or are we sailing toward the harbor of peace, where we shall meet all our dear ones with Christ?

But perhaps, after all, the caption of my sermon is a misleading one. There is truly no "lost day" in a man's life. Every day is yet to be a "found day." All days will be "found days" at the judgment seat of Christ, where they shall testify for eternal salvation or our eternal condemnation. May all our days be days which shall be blessed by consecration to the service of the Master, and may this day be the best of all "found days," for it is here and now deciding our destiny! Oh, for the golden sunrise of that millennial dawn, where sin and evil days have forever passed away!

What Fruit-a-tives are

"Fruit-a-tives" are fruit juices in tablet form. They are the laxative, tonic and curative principles of fruit—combined into pleasant tasting pellets. They contain all the virtues of fruit—but by the secret process of making them, their action on the human system is many times intensified.

What "Fruit-a-tives" are for "Fruit-a-tives" are the natural and logical cure for all Stomach, Liver and Kidney troubles. Their action is that of fresh fruit, only very much sturdier and more effective. Then too, they are free of fruit acids, sugar and woody fibre which often prevent fresh fruit being beneficial.

Try "Fruit-a-tives" and see how quickly they cure you of Constipation, Biliousness, Sour Stomach, Biliary Headache, Loss of Appetite and Kidney troubles.
