THE PEOPLE'S HEALTH

The strong plea made by Dr. Anderson (Halton, Ont.) in the House of Commons on May 17th for provision in the estimates for a federal health institute of research is deserving of more than passing notice.

This year for the laboratory of hygiene we have an estimate of $190,000; for the control of venereal disease, $100,000; for quarantine, $240,000.

Ye, we have brilliant opportunities for scientific investigation in Canada. If we would only avail ourselves of them. The National Research Council has given 344 scholarships to 199 persons who have shown special adaptability for scientific research.

ORATOR AND STATESMAN

Lord Rosebery, former Prime Minister of Great Britain, whose death was reported in Tuesday's Guardian, was distinguished prominently as a staunch Imperialist and as an orator.

him speak, says the Toronto Globe, were enthralled, and received a new conception of the force, dignity and beauty of the English language as it fell from his lips.

How marvellous it all is! Bull, not by saints and angels, but the work of men's hands; cemented with men's honest blood and with a world of tears, welded by the best brains of centuries past; not without the taint and reproach incidental to all human work.

CIVILIZATION

The statement by President Hoover before a recent meeting of the Associated Press that "life and property (in the United States) are relatively more unsafe than in any other civilized country in the world," has elicited a good deal of comment in the American press.

The North German Lloyd liner Stuttgart docked last week at a Manhattan pier. Purser Emil Remer had a $8,400,000 gold bullion shipment to deliver. Gauntleted, cartridge-belted policemen swarmed up the gangplank.

EDITORIAL NOTES

Says the Brantford Expositor: "When Veniot arrives at that Postal conference in London he should be asked to give an address on how to fire Postmasters with enthusiasm."

Justice must be done. In Kitchener the Magistrate has fined the Mayor a dollar and costs for allowing his dog to run at large—and his Worship had to promise that it would not occur again.

Mrs. Herbert Hoover has set an encouraging example for the women of Washington, for, although she is the wealthiest woman who was ever mistress of the White House, she wore the same gown at a recent reception that she wore at her husband's inauguration.

Nothing has been heard of late with respect to the plans for the new car ferry, for which an appropriation of $3,500,000 has been placed in the Estimates. It is to be hoped that plans will be prepared and tenders called in sufficient time to enable the steamer to be ready by 1930.

Some form of Government control of radio to make it more distinctly Canadian or British, and relief from the present surfeit of broadcasting from the United States with its consequent propaganda and advertising, are being considered by the Royal Commission of Radio Broadcasting.

Notes By The Way

The ways of Uncle Sam are past finding out. There is something both comical and tragical about them. Just now he is professedly, and only that way, strong for Prohibition. It was not always so.

Presto, change! Seven Canadian Provinces are now in the wet column and the 48 States are in the dry column. The flow of "liquid fire and distilled abomination" is now in the opposite direction, the rum-runners across the Lakes being, as they were during the war, nine out of ten, U. S. citizens and Uncle Sam is calling out to Canada to stop it.

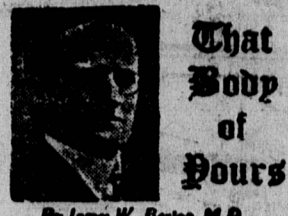

The South African treaty with Germany giving the latter an equal preference with Great Britain was referred to in a speech by Hon. J. H. Hofmeyer at a luncheon given in his honour in London some weeks ago.

Here again Banting's discovery of insulin has been able to give help. Dr. H. G. Zelter reports his experience with forced feeding and the use of insulin in the treatment of ten cases of tuberculosis of the lungs.

But please don't forget to view it in relation to what was feared five years ago, and remember that it is the worst thing from your point of view that has been done by a Government believed to be hostile and antagonistic to the tie with the British Empire.

Place names should be short, they have to be written so many times. The name of any one of a dozen famous countries in Europe can be spelled with six to eight letters. England, Ireland, Scotland, France, Spain, Italy, Germany, Russia, Turkey, Greece, Norway, Sweden, Poland are examples.

In a round-up of 100 traffic violators in Detroit recently an officer of the Record's Court found 42 per cent mentally or physically inferior. Of that 100 examined three were found to be seriously handicapped physically, seven were defective in hearing and fourteen in vision.

CURING NERVOUS CASES WITH INSULIN

Years ago Dr. Weir Mitchell was able to help a number of "nervous" cases by the use of rest and forced feeding.

The idea behind this treatment was that the body processes—digestion and so forth—should be stimulated to action, and the brain given a rest.

He was made to eat and rest as with Dr. Mitchell's treatment, but he was also forced to exercise. And so, according to his physical strength he put in the whole day eating, exercising, resting, and then doing it all over again.

The work gave him an appetite and he ate heartily. He ate so much that he felt sleepy after eating and was allowed to rest for an hour.

The food made good rich blood, and the exercise gave strength of body. The brain got the benefit of this frequent changing of pure blood, and came back into a state of health.

Here again Banting's discovery of insulin has been able to give help. Dr. H. G. Zelter reports his experience with forced feeding and the use of insulin in the treatment of ten cases of tuberculosis of the lungs.

It affects all the building up and tearing down processes of the body, by making it possible for the tissues to use up the starchy foods more completely.

Now this doesn't mean that folks that are well should take insulin to get foods used up more completely.

If you are well you should go about your daily round of life getting enough work or exercise to give you an appetite; enough food to keep your body well nourished, and enough sleep to enable you to feel fresh and alert in the morning.

The Poet's Corner

"I HAVE LOVED FLOWERS THAT FADE"

I have loved flowers that fade, Within whose magic tents Rich hues have marriage made; With sweet unmemorial scents; A honeymoon delight,— A joy of love at sight, That ages in an hour;— My song be like a flower!

I have loved airs, that die Before their charm is writ Along a liquid sky Trembling to welcome it. Notes, that with pulse of fire Proclaim the spirit's desire, Then die, and are nowhere; My song be like an air!

Die, song, die like a breath, And wither as a bloom; Fear not a flowery death, Dread not an airy tomb! Fly with delight, fly hence! 'Twas thine love's tender sense To feast, now on thy bier Beauty shall shed a tear.

feeble-minded. Little wonder that such drivers kill people on the streets and highways. There should be a strict examination into the qualifications, character, habits, mental and physical fitness of every person who is permitted to drive a motor car.

THE INTIMATE PAPERS OF COLONEL HOUSE

The Friend and Adviser of President Wilson—Recounts in His Diary The Great Events of The War in Which His Country Was Concerned.

CHAPTER 15

The advent of the Bolsheviks to power in Russia was destined in the end to bring difficulties upon Germany, since the contagion of social rebellion soon touched the German troops on the Western Front.

The French were the most vigorous in their demands for military intervention in Russia. They raised the problem at various times during the interlarded Conference at Paris, in late 1917.

Colonel House was then and always opposed to military intervention in Russia. He did not believe that a Japanese expedition or any other would serve to build up a new fighting front against Germany in the East.

A Japanese Expedition Colonel House to the President.

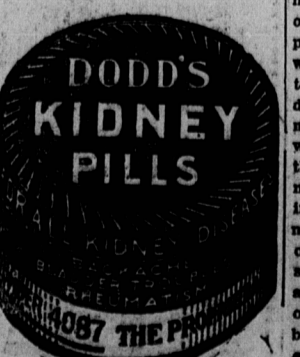

New York, February 2, 1918. Dear Governor: I have never changed my opinion that it would be a great political mistake to send the Japanese troops into Siberia.

would offset the harm. Leaving out the ill feeling which it would create in the Bolsheviki Government it would arouse the Slavs throughout Europe because of the race question if for nothing else. . . . Affectionately Yours E. M. HOUSE

The President was quite as strongly opposed to the suggested Japanese expedition as House. It is likely that he believed, on what the State Department regarded as solid evidence, that the Japanese themselves were the instigators of the plan for an invasion of Siberia.

Under continual pressure from the French and the British, President Wilson wrote a memorandum in which he withdrew his objections to the Allied note requesting Japanese intervention, although he did not go so far as to join with the Allies in making the request.

Colonel House to the President (Memorandum)

March 3, 1918. I think it is necessary under the circumstances for the note to go to the Japanese, but before it is sent, the Allied Ambassadors should be called together and it should be pointed out where this venture may lead.

(a) The lowering, or even loss of our moral position which will undoubtedly have the effect of dulling the enthusiasm of our people for the war, in exchange for a vague and nebulous military advantage.

(b) Suggest that at the same time this statement is delivered to the Japanese they should be requested to make a statement of their reasons for this action and policy in regard to Siberia.

KINGSTON BRIDGE

Sir:—The information asked for a short time ago with reference to $160,76 charged up to Kingston Bridge during the year 1928 is not yet forthcoming. The item appears in the Public Accounts on page 141 as follows:—Cement, $1.80, lumber, $158.96. Total $160.76.

Mr. McPhee took much credit to himself and his colleague for the number of bridges that they were instrumental in securing for this district on the floor of the House during past sittings of parliament.

In every industry there are certain key men it would take much time and money to replace—if they could be replaced. It is common sense to cover the value of their services by life insurance. May we quote?
