LONGING FOR WORK

An Oxford Man's Appeal to a Town Council

The following letter from Mr. H. E. Lee, Guildford, was read at a meeting of the Guildford Town Council: "As a resident in Guildford I am writing to offer my services to the town in whatever capacity they may be of use. I came to Guildford three years ago, and hoped I should in time find employment of some kind here, but have found very little after much search. I am a teacher by profession, with a university education (Oxford), 47 years of age. I want remunerative work, but have a greater wish to be of some use in the town, and am quite willing to work for nothing if I can help in such ways as checking the abuse of public advertisements, suggesting improvements in roads, etc., traffic, especially motor traffic. I should like, of course, to be given some definite work. I am not a fanatic, and, being quite unconnected with trade or business, I have no axe to grind." On the suggestion of the Mayor the letter was referred to a committee for consideration.

MRS. ROBERT BALFOUR

Social London showered congratulations upon Mrs. Balfour on her good fortune in having Queen Mary as godmother for her youngest child. Baby Balfour is the great-granddaughter of the late Duke of Cambridge, and therefore, a cousin of Her Majesty.

Jap's Ideal Husband

Here are the seventeen virtues of an ideal husband, placed according to the order of their importance in the eyes of fair Japan: He must not be a miser; not be too much taken up with his own toilet; be manly in appearance; not be a woman's man; express himself clearly, avoiding anything like a hint; be prompt in decision, and clever in extricating himself from an awkward position; have an ideal which may be left to his own choice; leave the management of the household to his wife; never put his face inside the kitchen; never criticize his wife's hats or dresses; never make other people the recipients of his confidences; not end by becoming an object of disgust to his wife; not interfere in feminine matters at all; cultivate the virtue of compassion; not drink heavily; not be fat; not be too jealous.

Buffalos In Captivity

Within the three National parks in which the Domision Government maintains the buffalo in a state of semi-captivity there are 1,287 buffalo. The number of males is approximately the same as the number of females, a large number of the former being aged. The total number of calves successfully raised during last year was 221. An estimate of the number of wood bison in Mackenzie River territory and of those loaned by the Dominion Government to city parks, etc., makes the total number of pure bred bison in Canada about 1,600.

The Kaiser's Youth

A ruler of Kaiser Wilhelm's energy and vigor has the faculty of never appearing to grow older. At the respectable age of fifty-five he still wears his years lightly and serves as an example of the advantages to be gained by leading a busy life. With good care a constitution that was none too sound has been strengthened and made equal to bearing throughout a long reign the burden of daily round of duties that would have exhausted the ordinary man.

New Freight Steamers

Seagoing freight steamers of a new type and with light enough draft to permit them to ascend the River Seine to Paris are being built in France for trade with ports on the west coast of Europe.

Forty-two States have fixed a maximum number of hours as a working week for children.
