CANADA HAS THE LARGEST IN THE WORLD
 MONTREAL, May 4.—That the two largest coal fields in the world have been discovered on Canadian soil is the belief of Captain Jones, a member of the Canadian exploration party aboard Captain Bremier's Arctic.
 Captain Jones, in the city today, said the fields are located in Baffin's Land, and the two are just 100 miles apart. In spite of their high altitude, he says that they will be workable all the year around. The coal is so easily secured that it can be dug from the surface with the shovel.
 In the far north country Captain Jones, prospecting alone, discovered twenty-five feet under the surface, an immense forest in a state of perfect preservation. The trees pointing due east and west, are laid as flat as a wheat field blown over by a cyclone. The timber is in perfect shape, even the cones on the trees tops are as fresh as the day they fell. At the present day there is not a tree growing for 1,000 miles around the buried forest.
