'THE OLD BARN DANCE'

SMILEY BURNETTE

LONE RANGER NO. 6 AND COMEDY

"Gene Autry" At Capitol

"The Old Barn Dance," starring Gene Autry, which opened yesterday at the Capitol Theatre, is a musical western.

The story centers around the activities of a group of singing cowboys, led by Autry, who earn their living by travelling from one rodeo to another, selling horses to neighboring farmers. They have built up a profitable business, but meet with severe competition when a tractor company, with a shady reputation begins selling modern tractors to the farmers, in place of the horses.

Gene accepts an opportunity to broadcast over a small radio station only to learn shortly that the tractor company which has ruined his business is the sponsor of his program. Gene takes his band and leaves town.

In the meantime, the tractor company begins overloading on many farmers who are unable to meet their first tractor payments. At the same time, the company continues the series of broadcasts, using transcription records which had been made from Autry's programs, faking them to appear as though Autry and his band were actually performing.

Believing that Autry is double-crossing them, by playing for a company that has tricked them, the farmers seek revenge. Gene and Frog learn of this and come back to destroy the records. In so doing, they smash the only evidence which is available that can show the illegal aims of the tractor company. This is a transcript on record which Johnny, Sally's young brother (Sammy McKim), has made of a discussion between company officials.

Howe Gene, Frog, Sally, and Johnny finally expose the company officials, making an exciting climax.

The showers of rain during the past week has greatly benefited the growth both of the oats and hay. A number of the farmers are planting an additional acreage of potatoes hoping for a big price in the autumn. It is being sincerely hoped they will not be disappointed.

The fishermen are completing their work as the lobster season again drawing to a close, the majority of the fishing gear is landed in a great many cases the fishermen met with disappointments as the catch was small as well as the price all through the season was lower than in former years.

Miss Pauline Coulson, R. N. spent a few days recently in Summerside where she was receiving treatment. Mrs. Cousins has returned to her home in Sea View and her many friends deeply regret to learn she is still laid aside and suffering, but all sincerely trust she may soon be improved and able to resume her professional duties again.

The Sunday School at Sea View in connection with the Anglican Church at Burlington was reorganized recently for another season with Mr. James R. Murphy acting as superintendent. A large number of scholars have been enrolled and are being added to. Mr. Murphy is a most capable leader and conducts a splendid Bible Class for adults each Sunday and the splendid attendance of the past summer testifies to the great interest shown by the members of this class. The classes are fortunate in having capable teachers and are looking forward to a splendid summer in this part of the church's activities.

PERSONALS

Trapped in the cab of his engine, the engineer of this Missouri Pacific passenger train was drowned at the throttle near Horine, Mo. Torrential rains falling throughout the U.S. middle west were blamed for washed-out tracks which caused the crash. Rescue workers climbed atop the engine to release the body of the imprisoned engineer. Rains have been flooding regions ravaged by droughts last year.

Sea View and Vicinity

The Sea View W. I. met at the home of Mrs. J. W. Murphy for their June meeting. There was a good attendance of members. President presided and the meeting opened with the Ode followed by the Creed in unison. Roll call was answered with an exchange of minutes and letters of correspondence. A business discussion followed, plans were made for District Convention which is to be held in Malpeque on July 7th. Mrs. James R. Murphy presided. Mrs. E. Campbell were chosen as delegates to attend the annual convention in Charlottetown. The different committees gave encouraging reports. The National Anthem brought the meeting to a close after which a bountiful lunch was served which the hostesses assisted by Mrs. William Brander.

The W. A. of St. Stephen's Church, Burlington, held their June meeting at the home of Mrs. Atwood Blakaney. Owing to the heavy rain the gathering was not as large as usual. In the absence of the president, Rev. Mr. Cream, rector of the church, presided and led the devotional period with a call to worship. Several of the members also contributed readings. Closing hymns and prayer brought this meeting to a close after which tea was served by the hostesses. Several of the members of the Kensington branch were present and greatly enjoyed the meeting.
