GIRLS WHO THROW AWAY THEIR HONOR CAN NEVER REGAIN IT The Rules That Governed Morals a Century Ago Are Just As Effective And Rigidly Enforced Today

Dear Dorothy Dix - We are two high school girls 16 years of age. Our parents are well-to-do and we have our own cars and are pretty popular and have lots of fun, and until recently we have been careful.

But now our fathers and mothers do not care while they have been making a tour of Europe. We skipped school and went to Florida for a couple of weeks with some of these boys.
