THE INDIAN SUMMER GIRL

An Indian Summer girl is one
Whose mood is mild and mellow;
She's frolicsome and fond of fun
And flirts with many a fellow.
This Indian Summer lass, alas,
Like life, is all too fleeting;
For from our view she has to pass
Just as we give her greeting.

"I know your wife balled you out last night."
"No, sir, you're wrong this time. She's got a bad cold and can't speak above a whisper."

The 7 DIALS MYSTERY

By Agatha Christie

THE RUSSIAN AGAIN

.."You really are rather a darling,
"You really are rather a darling, Bill. I was afraid you might be too meek, but I see there's going to be no danger of that. In another half hour you'd be ordering me about. Oh dear we're getting silly again. Now, look here, Bill, we've got to get out of here."

"I tell you that'll be quite all right. I shall—"

He broke off, obedient to a pressure from Bundle's hand. She was leaning forward listening intently Yes, she had not been mistaken. A step was crossing the outer room. The key was thrust into the lock and turned. Bundle held her breath. Was it Jimmy coming to rescue them—or was it some one else?

The door opened and the black-bearded Mr. Mosgorovsky stood on the threshold.

Immediately Bill took a step forward standing in front of Bundle.

" "Look here," he said "I want a word with you privately."

The Russian did not reply for a minute or two. He stood stroking his long, silky, black beard and smiling quitely to himself.

"So," he said at last, "it is like that Very well. The lady will be pleased to come with me."

"It's all right, Bundle said Bill. "Leave it to me. You go with this chap. Nobody's going to hurt you. I know what I'm doing."

Bundle rose obediently. That note of authoriety in Bill's voice was new to her. He seemed absolutely sure of himself and confident of being able to deal with the situation. Bundle wondered vaguely what it was that Bill had—or thought he had—up his sleeve.

She passed out of the room in front of the Russian. He followed her, closing the door behind him and locking it.

"This way, please," he said.

He indicated the staircase and she mounted obediently to the floor above. Here she was directed to pass into a small frowsy room, which she took to be Alfred's bedroom.

Mosgorovsky said: "You will wait here quitely, please. There must be no noise."

Then he went out, closing the door behind him and cocking her in.

Bundle sat down on a chair. Her head was aching bady still and she felt incapable of sustained thought. Bill seemed to have the situation well in hand. Sooner or later, she supposed some one would come and let her out.

AN EMERGENCY MEETING

The minutes passed. Bundle's watch had stopped but she judged that over an hour had passed since the Russian had brought her here. What was happening? What, indeed, had happened?

At last she heard footsteps on the stairs. It was Mosgorovsky once more. He spoke very formally to her.

"Lady Eileen Brent, you are wanted at an emergency meeting of the me."

He led the way down the stairs and Bundle followed him. He opened the door of the secret chamber and Bundle passed in, catching her breath in surprise as she did so.

She was seeking for the second time what she had only had a glimpse of the first time through her peephole. The masked figures were sitting round the table. As she stood there, taken aback by the suddenness of it Mosgorovsky slipped into his place adjusting his clock mask as he did so.

But this time the chair at the head of the table was occupied. No. 7 was in his place.

Bundle's heart beat violently. She was standing at the foot of the table directly facing him and she stared and stared at the mocking piece of hanging stuff with the cloak dial on it, that hid his features.

He sat quite immovable and Bundle got an odd sensation of Power radiating from him. inactivity was not the inactivity of weakness— and she wished violently almost hysterically, that he would speak—that he would make some sign, some gesture—not just sit there like a gigantic spider in the middle of its prey.

She shivered and as she did so Mosgorovsky rose. His voice, smooth silky persuasive seemed curiously far away.

"Lady Eilleen, you have been present unasked at the secret councils of this society. It is therefore necessary that you should indentify yourself with our aims and ambitions. The place 2 o'clock, you have notice, is vacant. It s that place that is offered to you."

Bundle gasped. The thing was like a fantastic nightmare. Was it possible that she, Bundle Brent was being asked to join a murderous secret society? Had the same proposition been made to Bill, and had he refused indignantly?

"I can't do that," she said bluntly

"Do not answer precipitately."

She fancied that Mosgorovsky, beneath his clock mask was smiling significantly into his beard.

"You what it is you are refusing."

"I can make a pretty good guess," said Bundle.

"Can you?"

It was the voice of 7o'clock. It awoke some vague chord of memory in Bundle's brain. Surely she knew that voice?

Very slowly No. 7 raised a hand to his head and fumbled with the fastening of the mask.

The mask fell.

Bundle found herself looking into the expressionless, wooden face of Superintendent Battle.

Bundle held her breath. At last—she was going to know..

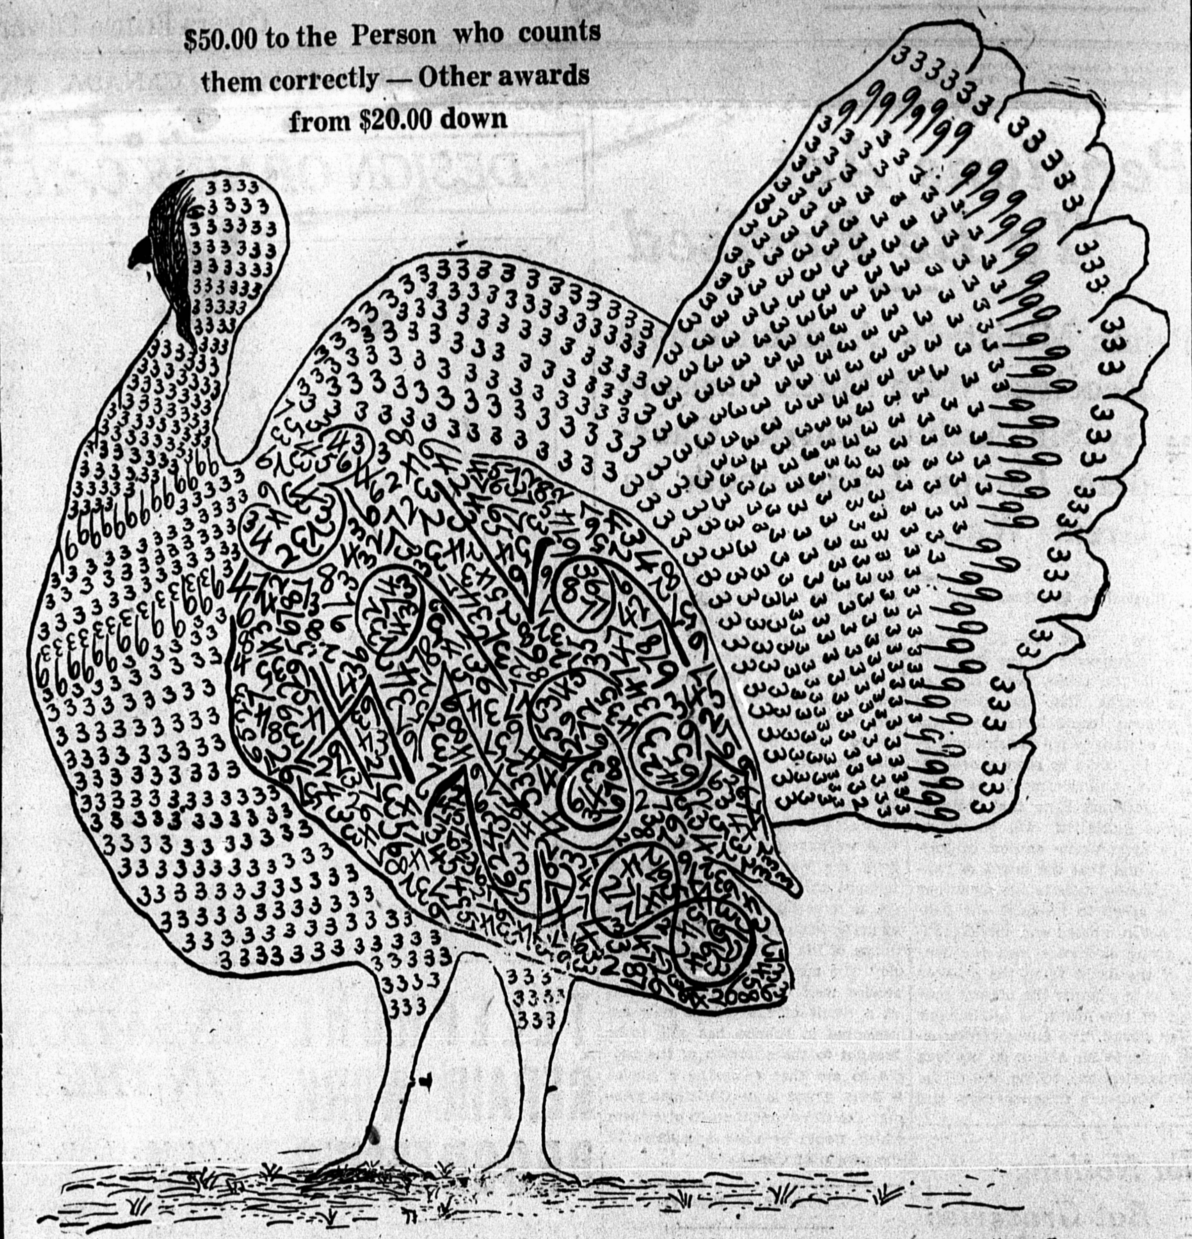
What About the Feathers On the Turkey?

$50.00 to the Person who counts them correctly — Other awards from $20.00 down



The feathers on the Turkey are made up of figures 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 7 and 8. The problem is to take these feathers off the Turkey and add the figures. The total of the added figures will be taken as the number of feathers on the bird.

PRIZES:—For the correct, or nearest correct, solution prizes in order as follows will be paid in cash.

1st Prize	$50.00	5th Prize	$4.00
2nd Prize	20.00	6th Prize	3.00
3rd Prize	10.00	7th Prize	2.00
4th Prize	5.00	8th Prize	1.00

IT COSTS NOTHING

There is absolutely no responsibility, obligation or cost of any kind to try for a prize. The solving of the problem will provide a few hours most interesting work.

The competition closes. Saturday, January 25, at 9 at midnight. All solutions to be considered, must reach the address below before that hour.

In case of a tie the prize will go to the one who had sent a new subscription with his solution in accordance with condition No. 3.

If those who tie have both, or all [illegible] subscriptions then the prize will go to the one whose subscription on which he or she became eligible, is paid the farthest in advance into the year 1930. If both or all are paid in advance to December 31, 1930, then the money will be divided among such proportionately according to the number of winners.

Conditions

1 Every one in any family who [illegible] subscription of this paper paid in advance, is invited to try the solution and compete.

2 Anyone not eligible in accordance with No. 1 condition, may compete by becoming a subscriber or sending in the subscription of some member of the family with $4.00 for country or $5.00 for the city for the first year in advance.

3. Every competitor may, if he or she so desires, send in a new paid in advance for one year subscription with the solution. This is not obligatory; but the winner of each prize who does send a new subscriber will be awarded double the amount his or her prize calls for. Thus if the winner of the first prize had sent a new subscriber, he will be awarded $100.00 cash instead of $50.00, and accordingly with all the prizes. No one can so secure double money unless the new subscription is actually forwarded with his solution.

4. Each competitor, by sending in his solution, agrees that the decision of the judges shall be indisputable and final.

5 All solutions must be sent in on the [illegible] clipped from this paper.

Cut this out on the border lines, fill in and mail early. Mark on outside of envelope "Turkey Feathers Competition."

PROVINCE OF PRINCE EDWARD ISLAND PROVINCIAL TREASURER'S DEPARTMENT

Arrears of Land Taxes

In view of the unfavorable prices for farm products during the fall of 1928, forbearance was shown by this Department in respect to collection of Land Taxes in default.

Due to favourable crops and values of all farm products during the present season no reason exists for any further extension of time.

Notice is therefore given that payment of Land Taxes in arrears will be required not later than the 31st day of December, next. Taxes overdue and unpaid at that date will positively be collected under the provisions of Section 47 of "The Land Assessment Act, 1924" which requires that the names of those in default be published in two newspapers, together with particulars as to the land owned and taxes unpaid. The Act requires that following publication executions will be issued against the property.

Ratepayers who further neglect to heed this final notice must accept the responsibility of the added costs of collection.

C. J. STEWART,
Supervisor of Taxation.
