Curling In Montague

Keen interest still prevails in the Eastern Metropolis in the curling, and excellent ice is available almost daily. The finals were recently played for the R. K. Clements Cup—a trophy donated for competition in the afternoon. The rink skipped by C. E. Hynes proved victorious in the contest, although the cup must now be defended against any of the original rinks, should they challenge. The semi-finals in the contest for the shield donated by Mr. G. B. Clarkson, were played on Thursday March 20th, when the rink skipped by Mr. C. K. Wightman defeated Mr. R. J. Mabon's rink. The finals will be played by the rinks skipped by Mr. Wightman and Mr. R. W. Stewart. Keen interest abounds, and each rink has its boosters.

The opening game in a contest for four bags of Regal Flour, donated by Mr. W. W. Lord, the genial representative of the St. Lawrence Flour Mills, in P. E. Island, was also played on Thursday. The rink skipped by Mr. G. B. Clarkson, defeated that skipped by Mr. R. W. Stewart. Altogether, the season 1929-30 has

Ice Racing At Oyster Bed

The Oyster Bed driving club held their third race of the season on the Bay Ice Tuesday March 18th. The weather was perfect, and close finishes on a good sheet of ice was witnessed by a fair and enthusiastic attendance. The match race between Major S. and Velvet Bud which was to have taken place was called off owing to the non appearance of Velvet Bud. Major S. was on hand and looked like a good winner in the free for allers. There were two classes (Vix) 240 and green race the 240 had 4 entries and was a close race all the way through as five heats had to be raced to decide the winners. The green race had 3 entries and was also a good race as close finishes were witnessed in every heat. The Summary is as follows (240):—
Darkey F. Kneebone 31411
Joe Wrigley G. Hughes 13122
Don R. H. Oudmore 22233
Commodore Boy. A. Phillips . . . 44344.

Lewis F. Tanton Law Society's Demand
Sir,—On the surface the demand of the Law Society to amend the Prohibition Act by giving a right of appeal seems reasonable. The strong objection has been that to give monied interests the power to hold up enforcement by factious litigation would be fatal to efficient enforcement. This plea loses some of its force under present methods, where prosecution of the monied leaders is avoided, and attention paid primarily to the straggling hand to mouth operator. If all trial magistrates and judges were sensed with a deep conviction of equity the law would be better as it is. But in those cases where a fine, and the dollars accruing therefrom, are the motive considerations, there should be a direct avenue of redress. There is of course the civil action for damages for malicious prosecution, but this does not make adequate remedy when the condemned spends three months to a year in jail. Even heavy cash damages which a jury might award would in some cases be made an inadequate compensation for unlawful imprisonment.

How Mr. Lea Dealt With Sanatorium

then had no claim as there was no sanatorium left to put into its original condition. But the moment the Saunders Government, with Mr. Lea again in the saddle, attempted to remedy the grievous wrong they had committed, and determined to re-erect the Sanatorium on a different site, then we had a moral claim on the Government to fulfill their part of the contract, and it was this the Guardian insisted upon, and which the Saunders Government ultimately consented to press. But so far the only action it has taken has been to add it to a mysterious pamphlet addressed to nobody, a few copies of which were circulated in King's County, and of which neither Mr. Lea nor his deputy knew anything when pressed in the Legislature the other day for its production.

AUDIENCE ACCLAIMS "THE GREAT GABBO" AS REMARKABLE SCREEN DRAMA
Last night's audience vociferously acclaimed "The Great Gabbo," a talking picture at the Prince Edward Theatre, as James Cruze's greatest achievement.

The story is convincingly told and builds to a smashing climax. It is a human document, from beginning to end, and affords Erich von Stroheim and Betty Compton opportunities to display their histrionic ability to the best advantage of any picture they have ever been starred in.

"The Manhattan Revue," which is one of the big features of this elaborate spectacle, is the most glamorous ever attempted.

The story is unusual. It deals with "The Great Gabbo," a ventriloquist, "Otto," his mechanical dummy, and Mary, his assistant.

When the picture opens we find this trio in a small town theatre dressing room, getting ready for their act. Gabbo believes he is the greatest artist that ever appeared before an audience. He has a more human side, however, which he expresses through the dummy, "Otto."

To elaborate on this excellent picture story with its strong dramatic interest, gorgeous settings, in color wonderful singing, all just like a big Broadway show, would take too much space. Our advice is see this picture without fail.

Briar Mac Trots Sensational 1-4

ushed To Probably A World's Record By Captain Jackson On Harbor Ice Yesterday.

Only a few of the faithful braved the stiff March breeze and attended the races on the ice staged by the Victoria Driving Club yesterday afternoon. The ice was fast and glassy and a strong rear wind assisted the horses considerably. Some sensational time was made in the Class A Trot, many of the horsemen claiming that the three heats constituted a world's record for quarters trotted on ice and that the middle heat stepped in 28 1-5 seconds, is a world's record for a quarter mile trotted on ice. Faster time has been made by pacers in Maine but it is doubtful if trotters have ever excelled the 28 1-5 seconds of Briar Mac yesterday. The excellent conditions and the strong wind together with the good condition of the horses and the strong competition of Captain Jackson, made the above feats possible. There were just two races with five horses and the afternoon's sport was quickly completed.

The first race called was the Class A Trot and Pace with Hush, Dapper Don and Laocopia Belle as starters. The first heat they got away on the second score, Dapper Don and Hush keeping almost together right throughout the heat, Hush winning by a neck, Laocopia Belle third. Second Heat. This was a great race between Hush and Dapper Don until about fifty yards from the wire when both broke, Hush recovering first won the heat. Third Heat. Hush had the mastery all the way finishing a length in front of Dapper Don who trotted admirably. Real good time was made in this heat, 30 2-5 seconds, a wonderful performance for a four year old green pacer with only about a month's work. Hush is a product of Upton Farm where he was bred by Lt.-Colonel J. S. Jenkins, D. S. O., being by Longset out of the thoroughbred mare Silence. He has the earmarks of an extremely fast horse.

CLASS A TROT. This brought together the two old rivals Captain Jackson and Briar Mac. The first heat they trotted like a team until the last ten yards when Briar pushed his head out winning by inches. Second heat. They took a good long score for this heat with the intention of hanging up a record that would excite envy and admiration. They got away flying, urged by their drivers they strained themselves to the utmost. Briar won by half a length

Unions Lose To Moncton 3 to 2

(Canadian Press)
MONCTON, N. B., Mar. 24.—The Moncton C. C. J. A. Intermediate champions of New Brunswick won the first of a two game series for the Maritime crown here tonight by defeating the Victoria Unions, Prince Edward Island champions and conquerors of the Truro Primrose, Nova Scotia title holders, 3 to 2.

The "flying-Frenchmen" of the C. C. J. A. will take a one goal lead into the final game of the series slated for the Union's home rink on Wednesday night.

Record Attendance
The largest crowd ever to watch an intermediate hockey game in Moncton was on hand tonight and saw the home team outplayed by a wide margin through the first and third periods, but rise to dominate the play in the middle frame and score three goals. The visitors secured one of their counters in the opening period and one in the closing minutes of the last, when the Unions threw five men to the attack in a last desperate effort to hew down the lead the opposition had established.

Unions Open Scoring
Logan opened the scoring for the Unions one minute before the close of the first period, on an individual attempt, while Rattray evened the score in the second on a long shot that soared above McLeod's range of vision. Melanson put the tricolors in the lead from a mixup and McDonald scored the third goal for his team at eleven minutes on a wing shot. J. McLeod scored the second goal for the Unions two minutes before the end of the game by slipping the disc through the defence, recovering and batting it into the cage as Cummins rushed out to save.

"The Girl In The Pullman"

Laughs, chuckles, grins, smiles, thrills—these are the main ingredients of Marie Prevost's new star comedy, "The Girl in the Pullman," which had its premier showing at the Capitol Theatre yesterday. Harrison Ford, Kathryn McGuire, Franklin Pangborn and Harry Myers are featured in one of the most brilliant farce comedies of the season.

Laughs Galore in Picture
From the opening scene of "The Girl in the Pullman," laughs abound. The fun begins when Dr. Burton, a nerve specialist, played by Mr. Ford, practices his art on a ticklish patient whose nerves are all shot to pieces. Then the spectator is carried to a hotel lobby where seventy pairs of feminine legs are on display. It is safe to say that these silk-encased pedal extremities will create a sensation at every showing, but purely from the standpoint of physical art. There isn't a single shot in this scene to which the slightest exception may be taken by the most fastidious mind.

Challenges Statements Of Government Leader

Senior Conservative Member For Charlottetown Deals Pungently With Subject Matters In Speech From The Throne And Reviews Inaction And Incompetence Of Saunders Administration.

Speaking on the Draft Address in the Legislature Thursday afternoon, March 18, Dr. W. J. P. MacMillan, senior Conservative member for Charlottetown said he supposed the hon. members on the other side would be very much disappointed if he did not speak on this occasion. He congratulated the mover and seconder of the Resolution before the House. The seconder (Mr. Darby) made one curious statement, namely, that the Public Works Department, for the first time in its history, is on a systematic and business-like basis. That was rather strong language; rather sweeping in its condemnation of the honourable men who have occupied that responsible position in times past. Dr. MacMillan had often heard the present Premier get up on the floor of the House and say that there never was a finer business man occupying that position than Mr. Crosby. The seconder of the resolution must therefore have made a mistake, unless there has been a revolution in that department since the present Minister came into power. The officials are the same as under preceding administrations; the work is the same. The only difference is that more borrowed money has been expended. Probably that is the idea that the hon. member from Third Prince had in mind,—that the more borrowed money you expend the better the system.

The seconder of the Resolution also remarked that it would not be many years before all our roads will be equal to those in our sister provinces. "I hope my hon. friend will live to see that time, if that can happen with the handicap that we are under in this Province in the matter of road making and maintenance, then I will believe the days of miracles are not past."

Mr. Darby had also referred to the building of ferry boats by this Government. Dr. MacMillan understood that one boat had been built, and one was in the process of building.

Gasoline Tax

With regard to the fisheries of the Province, what a wonderful thing this Government has done! It has remitted the gasoline tax to the fishermen; the seconder of the Resolution when he mentioned this, might have added that the remittance of this money has been the custom ever since the gasoline tax was placed on the statute books.

"He said, too, with a good deal of truth, that Prohibition is being 'more or less' enforced; and I think, after listening to the Premier this afternoon, we will all say it is 'less.' But, of course, there can be no criticisms coming to the Government for the enforcement of the Prohibition Act! Oh no. This Government is above criticism, because anything that it does is "in the interests of true temperance," and so it is all right. According to my hon. friend from Rustico, the great Pharisaical apostle of prohibition, this Government represents the best thinking people of the Province; and they certainly could not do wrong. Nothing wrong could happen under such a righteous administration—not even what we heard the Premier detail for the last hour about conditions as relationship of father and son. The medical profession has lost heavily in the last two years in this city; some of the splendid old men have been called; but there was none greater, none better, than Dr. Steven R. Jenkins. (Applause.)

Tributes Paid

Dr. MacMillan said he would refer at greater length to Prohibition a little later on. He then proceeded: I wish to refer, along with previous speakers, to some who have passed away during the legislative recess. The name of Senator Prowse has been mentioned. I do not know that he was ever a member of this House, but he was a member of the Senate of Canada, and I know that he tried on many occasions to help Prince Edward Island.

The name of the late Hon. F. J. Nash has also been referred to; and I think we are all agreed that whenever that name is mentioned it will be mentioned with great respect and love, because Mr. Nash was a splendid man in every particular. My leader has expressed in most satisfactory language his special qualities of mind and heart that endeared him to all who knew him. He was a great Liberal; perhaps it would be better to say that he was a Liberal of the old school; at any rate, during his long life he certainly labored both with his pen and his splendid eloquence to promote the cause of Liberalism in this Province. In this Legislature his voice was heard, and he contested many an election in the interests of his party. He was one of the stalwarts, and probably, like many others in public life, he was one of those who, in the end, was operation of many Islanders in Boston, that this beautiful monument became an established fact. There was one striking characteristic of the late Mr. MacDonald; I never heard him say a bad word about anyone. His invariable remark in speaking of an acquaintance was: "He was a very fine fellow." He would neither say a bad word about any one, nor listen to it.

Her Painful Backache Quickly Relieved

Prince Edward Island Lady Tells of Dadd's Kidney Pills

Miss M. Campbell suffered for years and found relief in Dadd's Kidney Pills
French Village, P. E. I., March 25.—(Special)—"I was troubled for years with backache," writes Miss M. Campbell, a well known resident of this place. "I had tried several remedies but they did not help me. A friend told me to try Dadd's Kidney Pills 'Three boxes completely relieved me.' It is statements like this that have built up and maintained the reputation Dadd's Kidney Pills hold today as the old Canadian kidney remedy. Ninety per cent. of the ills from which women suffer come from weak or diseased kidneys. They are the organs that strain all the impurities out of the blood. If they fail to do their work, the impurities remain in the blood and are deposited all over the body. Dadd's Kidney Pills act directly on the kidneys, healing and strengthening them. Strong healthy kidneys are absolutely necessary if the blood is to be pure and the body healthy.
