McAleer Hurls Team To 5-0 Victory In Final Game Of League

With Lefty McAleer hurling one hit ball and only pitching to 17 batters in the five inning struggle Freddie McCabe's Anchors last night wound up the City League schedule with their fourteenth victory of the season as they pounded out a 5-0 victory mainly on the strength of a four run upswing in the last half of the second after scoring on opening inning tally.

That in brief was the scoring summary of the game. Millionaires got a man on in the second when Connors hit safely for his team's lead and McAleer got the next man for the third out. Again in the fourth a batter was safe on an error but again McAleer bore down to fan the next two hitters and put down the threat to his shut-out.

Stanley leading off for the Anchors in the first inning had three errors committed upon him as he raced around the sacks with the opening run of the game.

Three hits, a sacrifice, two walked batters and a fielder's choice gave the league leaders four runs in the second for a 3-0 lead and that completed the scoring. Fat Connors on the mound for the losers retired the next six men in order in what had developed into a listless encounter.

High Handicap Golfers To Meet Here Next Week

A 36-hole medal play tournament for high handicap players will be played over the Belvedere Golf Course on Monday and Tuesday of next week and officials connected with the event are confident of having a big representation of visiting shotsmiths when the opening drive goes whistling down No. 1 fairway next Monday morning.

The event, the first of its kind to be held in the Maritimes, will provide the lesser known lights of the game, to not only get another chance this season at tournament play but also to have real chances of winning top honors.

Competition among the participants is bound to be keen. The very fact of them being given high handicaps shows plainly they are about equal in ability and don't think for a moment that some mighty fine golf won't be witnessed. In tournaments against ranking players these same high-handicapped performers have made it mighty interesting at different stages and when competing with players of equal ability and the pressure eased off greatly they should come through with smart performances.

Interest has been increasing as the date of the tournament nears and already several entries from Maritime points have been received.

Play For Island Golf Title Starts Saturday

The provincial golf championship tournament will be played over the Belvedere Golf Course starting Saturday afternoon, Sept. 11th and winding up on Wednesday afternoon, it was learned here last night.

Prizes will be given for each division.

William "Bud" Beer of the Belvedere Club is the defending titlist.

Swimmers Find Ship Cheaper Travel Method

By Bill Macklin
LONDON, Sept. 7 (AP)—It costs 32 shillings ($6.40) to cross the English Channel by steamer and $500 ($2,000) to swim, but plenty of daring folks still are going the expensive way.

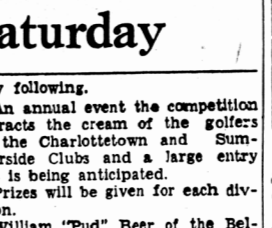

Over the 10-week swimming season opened early last month two men have already crossed the 20 miles of briny deep. More are poised to try it when the stormy winds can be caught napping long enough to provide the best conditions.

Cruel, squally, changeable though it is, the Channel has fascinated swimmers since the days of Capt. Webb of England demonstrated that man could conquer it 73 years ago. It has lured men and women of stout heart and limb from all over the world.

Yet the best records agree that only 24 persons have ever succeeded in swimming the Channel. Two Englishmen, Edward Temens and Tom Blower, did it twice—once in each direction—making a total of 26 successful trips in all.

Blower, 34-year-old, 250-pound husky from Nottingham, set a record this year for the England-to-France swim of 15 hours, 31 minutes. He also introduced a new twist—the round-trip swim. Risings winds, however, forced him to abandon his ambitions of returning immediately to the white cliffs of Dover.

The other successful challenger of 1948, Abd El Raham, a sergeant in the Egyptian army, also tried something new. With three other alumni from the Nile, Hassan tried a "team swim." The other fell out shortly after the start. Favorite route of Channel swimmers is from Cap Gris Nez, France, to Dover, England. There the famous moat between Europe and Britain narrows to the bottleneck over which Hitler's artillery lobbed shells a few years ago.

Major League Ball Clubs Took It Easy Tuesday

(By The Canadian Press)
Major league ball clubs took it easy yesterday (Tuesday) after the heavy Labor Day week-end schedule. No games were played in the American and only three in the National, a day double-header between New York and Philadelphia and a night singleton at Philadelphia.

At Philadelphia, the Giants swept both games, 6-1 and 8-6. Sid Gordon sparked the visitors to a 6-1 triumph in the opener, hitting two doubles and driving in three runs. In the nightcap, which went 11 innings, Gordon belted his 30th homer with one on to give the Giants the edge.

Philadelphia led 5-2 until the eighth when the Giants tied it up. The Phils scored in their half of the eighth but New York managed a singleton in the top of the ninth and held Philadelphia rudderless until the ninth.

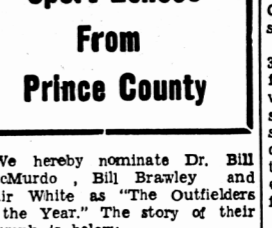

New York had 16 hits to 13 for the Phils.

In one night game, Pittsburgh Pirates moved up into second place in the National League by a fraction of a percentage point. Carried by the ancient pitching arm of Fritz Ostermuller, the Bucs defeated St. Louis Cardinals 6-2.

Stan Musial lined into a triple play in the first inning—the second three-ply killing the Bucs have made this year.

Don Lang headed in the ninth fly to the infield. He was allowed to remain on first, but this, of course, was contrary to the "Infield Fly." It protects the runners on first and second base. If it wasn't in the books a smart infielder would have the runners at his mercy. If they remained on their bases he could contrive to drop the ball and then get a double force at second and first.

If the runners started for the bases ahead, he could catch the ball and get a double or triple play by throwing to the bases behind the runner. So the rule book says the better is out, and the runners do not have to run.

Sport Echoes From Prince County

There is talk of the Prince County softball teams getting together and playing for a cup during the month of September.

Rumor has it that the O'Leary team are willing to put up for competition a trophy they won for softball some years ago. A series of this kind should create a lot of interest, but the matter would have to be decided soon as softball weather is getting to be a scarce commodity. Besides O'Leary, there would be Curran & Briggs, R.C.A.F., St. Paul's Athletic Club of Summerside, and perhaps Kensington, Alberton and Borden might be able to field teams for such a series.

Dyed-in-the-wool baseball fans and baseball players please skip this echo. It is meant for the softball players only. In the game between O'Leary and Curran & Briggs, in the eighth inning, the construction crew had G. Cameron on first and Finn on second, and with one out, (Wedge had fled to left field.) J. MacPadden lifted a fly to Clement, the O'Leary shortstop. The runners apparently afraid of being forced headed lickety-split for second and third bases. If Clement had caught the pop they would both have been unable to get back to their bases and would probably have been out. The shortstop could have made a double play and retired the side. Fortunately for the runners Clement dropped the ball. The point is this: The runners did not have to vacate their bases because MacPadden was out the second he hit the fly to the infield. He was allowed to remain on first, but this, of course, was contrary to the "Infield Fly." It protects the runners on first and second base. If it wasn't in the books a smart infielder would have the runners at his mercy. If they remained on their bases he could contrive to drop the ball and then get a double force at second and first.

If the runners started for the bases ahead, he could catch the ball and get a double or triple play by throwing to the bases behind the runner. So the rule book says the better is out, and the runners do not have to run.

Vics Knot Series With Red Sox

The Vics hit right back at the Red Sox last evening in the second game of the juvenile softball series played on the Knights of Columbus diamond, taking the second game 13 to 10 to even the series at a game each.

The boys were not as steady as in the first encounter, however, some nice plays were in evidence. They lined up as follows:
Vics—Weatherlie, Murnaghan, MacNeil, Finnigan, Gillis, Joseph, Tulle, LeClair, Drew.
Red Sox—Gallant, Connors, Birt, Prunty, Carr, Hoyt, Crabbe, Ward, Bevins.

Next game Thursday evening at 5:30 sharp.

Local Lady Golfers Hold Competitions

Lady members of the Charlottetown Golf Club held a series of competitions arranged by the Match Committee under the chairmanship of Mrs. James Haslam at the Belvedere links yesterday afternoon.

Some 30 members participated in the driving, approaching and putting competitions and nine holes of medal play.

Miss Norah Longworth had low net of 38 in the nine holes, and low gross was carded by Mrs. W.E. Cotton who had a 50.

The driving competition was won by Mrs. Emma Holman who also captured the approaching and putting competition in a playoff after being in a tie for first place with Miss Dorothy Stewart.

Tea was served during the afternoon. President of the Ladies Branch of the Charlottetown Golf Club is Mrs. T.W.L. Prowse.

Members Kinsmen.

Talk of the track and field meet on Monday was still going the round yesterday with every one having a word of praise for the efforts and performances staged by the participants. This column passed out deserving bouquets to officials and others yesterday but overlooked several people who played prominent parts in having the field in the condition it was.

City Clerk Jimmy Fullerton and some City workmen spent many hours in getting the track ready for the onslaught of officials. Rolling and grading of the oval together with the laying of the running lanes was carried out by the men in question and the machines, and words of praise are due them for the efforts and interest they displayed in helping to make the event such a success it was.

Paul Dean came back to St. Louis Cardinals 10 years ago today in an attempt to prove his once-disabled right arm had regained its power. Dean, recalled from Dallas of the Texas League, failed to make good and was shipped back to minor leagues with an outright release from the Cards.

Kinsmen And Recce Teams Play Deciding Game Of Series This Afternoon

Tied with two victories apiece and a draw in the first five games Recce Juniors and Kinsmen Juniors tangle this afternoon at Memorial Field diamond in the deciding encounter to determine the City Junior Baseball championship.

The game will get underway at 3:30 sharp and from that time on witnesses one of the tensest diamond struggles of the season. Both squads, capable of playing high class ball have been off form in the last couple of games but with everything at stake today the form that carried them into the finals is expected to be in evidence all the way. If that is the case it's going to be one whale of a struggle for the nine innings or more it may go.

Winners of today's game meet Summerside Kinsmen for the Island title.

Goodwill Race Program Starts Today With Afternoon & Night Cards

The Goodwill racing program gets off to a flying start today with a double bill, afternoon and night programs being scheduled, and with the trotters and pacers that will be performing right at the peak of their game it appears as if racing fans are in for thrills at a dime a dozen before the last heat has been run off tonight.

Four classes comprise the afternoon card featured by the Free-For-All Trot with six entries and before Marjorie Hanover, Kelly's Nightmarer, Lucinda, Nell Kalmuck, Baron and Les McKillop get through battling each other fans should have received their money's worth.

Classified 2:19-2:21 Pace, a Three-Year-Old Futurity, another eagerly looked forward to and the First Division of the Classified 2:25 Pace comprise the balance of the good card.

Three classes will take the word in the night program. Second Division of the 2:22-2:25 Classified Pace, the Classified 2:24 Trot and the 1st Division of the 2:26-2:28 Classified Pace will round what is an exceptional racing program and the usual upsides and thrilling finishes can be expected from the well classified fields.

HALIFAX, Sept. 7.—(CP)— Two Cape Breton natives, Eugene Campbell of Sydney and Eimer MacGillivray of Reservoir, have been invited to attend the Lake Placid, N. Y., training camp of the National Hockey League New York Rangers. They will leave this weekend to take part in Rangers workouts. Both were star forwards with Halifax St. Mary's Juniors for three years.
