HIT BY CAR SATURDAY
A young boy, while walking east on Grafton Street, received a rather bad scare Saturday afternoon. In crossing the street, he was struck by a car which was proceeding along the portion of the street opposite the War Memorial. The driver of the car struck the boy on the head, pitching him headlong to the pavement. The driver of the car was unable to stop the car due to the slippery street. Luckily, however, it was barely moving when it hit the young boy as he was crossing the street. The youngster picked himself up hurriedly and brushed the snow off his clothing. He was uninjured and driver got out and inquired about the boy's condition. Both the driver and the boy received a bad scare. The driver also expressed his sympathy for the boy and offered to take him home. The boy's father, who lives on Grafton Street, was notified of the accident and the car was towed away.

The funeral will be held in Halifax Wednesday.

TRINITY UNITED CHURCH

Rev. Donald C. Boothroyd presided at both morning and evening services at Trinity yesterday. Jesus Answers of God was the subject of Mr. Boothroyd's morning address. In his sermon the minister said that although God does not always answer with fire as when he answered Elijah's prayer would be well His answers to prayer are adequate answers. When we pray unworthy prayers as the disciples prayed that their enemies might be destroyed, God does not listen to us, but when our prayers are earnest, unselfish and noble, God answers them adequately and completely.

The choir, under the direction of Mr. Roy Kenda, gave an excellent rendition of the anthem, "The Sun Shall Be No More Thy Light"—Woodward.

The next of the minister's evening sermon was "Behold, The Man," his text being Luke 9:31. Jesus was brought forth wearing the crown of thorns and the purple robe. The world has been beholding Jesus ever since. Never before or since was there one so merciful, so loving, so faithful, who would be with him, to hold him up to others. It is true that this is often harassing, for people invariably compare the preacher with the one preached, but it is only by holding up the light to others that we ourselves can gain the full benefit of a disciple of the Master. Let us heed the words of the apostle Paul and let us "behold the man."

The evening anthem was "Light of the Lonely Pilgrim's Heart"—Meale.

17 Survivors

His ship battered and helpless, he was about to abandon her. But it took the British vessel more than nine hours to cover the short span of the night in the teeth of the storm. When she arrived at the port of refuge Tuesday, there was no trace of either man or ship—just floats. The freighter's men searched the area for hours, and early on Wednesday morning flares from the lifeboat were spotted.

Crewmen of the ships went down into the bobbing lifeboat and helped the survivors to safety. The bodies of the two who perished were taken on the freighter, too, and brought here. The sea was still so rough, though, that the lifeboat had to be abandoned.

None of the survivors was in bad shape, but five were suffering from exposure. They were taken to hospital in a general ward, and doctors said their condition was good.

The lifeboat was commanded by second engineer Herbert Thibodeau of Chatham, N. B., senior engineer Arthur Allan Carleton, Quebec, and chief mate John W. White. He said that after the cruise was abandoned, the boat drifted about the Lisieux, in the hope some of the others would jump from the sinking craft.

Apparently those remaining aboard expected Lyons would be able to manoeuvre the other lifeboat back to the ship. But the Vancouver steamer was unable to handle the heavy boat single-handed.

"Do not ask us this time to slacken the blockade and so drag out the war and swell the sum of human suffering," he urged. The only aim of the blockade, he said, is to shorten the war and hasten victory.

"Bombs and blockade support each other. If we are to have our peace aims later, we must have good bomb aims now. Our air force shoots to the full the offensive liberty. We are not only defending liberty, we are bombing tyranny."

Mr. A. C. Pettigrew, Superintendent of the Halifax City Health Board and Mrs. Holland, wife of Mr. L. H. Holland who is a member of the permanent Militia at Kingston, Ontario.

Mr. Dalton said:—"Our men will fly them, splendid young men from this island and from the United States, from Zealanders, South Africans, Poles and Czechs. Today there are too many targets, too few good bombs. As soon as we have enough bombs to bomb their war machine to pieces."

"We here in Britain are bombed every day and every night, but we shall never give in. We are mentally and morally prepared to face every experience except defeat."

Britain is grateful for the friendly co-operation which the Roosevelt administration and United States businessmen have given, he said.

at once what they would be dealing with. Mr. King replied that he could give no details, lending weight to belief that important tax and tariff changes might be made.

A great quantity of Canada's financial resources is used in purchasing foreign exchange to pay for imports from the United States—fruits, vegetables, motor cars and other commodities. This reduces the foreign exchange available for buying urgent war requirements.

The present session that much of these imports is made up of luxuries which Canadians could sacrifice for the war effort, which could be replaced by Canadian or Empire substitutes.

Debate on the Throne Speech enters its fourth week with the House of Commons. The debate will be taken within a few days.

Kennedy quits As Ambassador To Britain

WASHINGTON, Dec. 1.—(AP)—Joseph P. Kennedy, United States Ambassador to Great Britain, said today that he had tendered his resignation to President Roosevelt on November 6, and would not return to London.

The ambassador issued the following statement after a conference at the White House:—"On November 6, I tendered to the President my resignation as his ambassador to the court of St. James's."

Today the President was good enough to express regret over my decision, but to say that, not yet being prepared to appoint my successor, he wishes me to retain my resignation as ambassador until he does. But I shall not return to London in that capacity.

My plans, after a short holiday, to devote my efforts to what seems to me the greatest cause in the world today, and means, if successful, the preservation of the American form of democracy. That cause is to help the President keep the United States out of war."

Greek success Against Italy British chance

NEW MARKET, Eng., Dec. 1.—(CP)—Greek success against Italy opens for Britain "a vista of opportunity which, if we can turn it to full account, may be decisive influence on the whole future course of the struggle." L. S. Amery, Secretary of State for India, said here today.

He suggested that Italy's attack on Greece might have been a "double-cross" on Germany, Italy's Axis partner, and added:—"If we can enable Greece to hold her own until we have disposed of the Italians in Egypt we shall have secured for our armies a foothold from which we might threaten the flank of any German attack on Turkey."

Amery asked "why did Mussolini attack Greece and what made him choose the moment for an adventure which obviously was ill-prepared as it was?"

"Can it be that things are not so harmonious in the gangster garden as we have been told? Is the lesser gangster impatient at the way he has been kept waiting for his share of loot at the expense of France and the growing walls of the Valley of Trouble, but a good God is already beginning to turn the Valley of Achor into a door of hope for us?"

He said that the British people are happy return of our dear ones in all the pride of their victory, and a peace that will have dreamed about for centuries. We are hoping for things still more glorious and blessed than that. We are hoping for a world made new, a world freed from the shackles that have hitherto held it back from the best things. We are hoping that the lessons taught by our chastisement will not be forgotten. We are hoping that, having passed through these awful purgatorial fires, we shall come forth renewed, cleansed, purified, and free from those sins and faults that have been spoiling us, the materialistic spirit which has been dominating us for too much, our indifference towards religion, and our forgetfulness of God.

We are hoping that a clearer vision will be made for the appealing, everlasting Gospel, to which our hearts, we are hoping that, maybe even in our own time, the Lord Jesus Christ will ascend the world's throne, and that God's will shall be done on earth as it is in heaven.

Helpless Ship Is taken in Tow by tug

AN EAST COAST CANADIAN PORT, Dec. 1.—(CP)—After drifting almost a week with her propeller and rudder useless, a Norwegian freighter was taken in tow today by a Canadian tug and was heading tonight for an east coast Canadian port.

The vessel—her name and exact location kept secret through wartime regulations—was last Monday she was in need of help. Since then, she rode through a fierce gale that sank two other ships off the eastern seaboard.

The gale prevented the salvage tug from reaching her earlier. Messages from the disabled vessel today indicated all was well aboard her.

Iron Guards Threaten revolt In Rumania

BUCHAREST, Dec. 1.—(AP)—Iron guardsmen gathered in the mountain town of Alba Julia to commemorate the 22nd anniversary of Rumania's acquisition of Transylvania, pledged themselves today to "fight under the green banner of the Iron Guard" for reunion of Transylvania.

"Hungary regained about half of Transylvania—the northern part in an axis-declared accord with Rumania last Aug. 3; at Vienna. The province had been taken from Hungary in the last war settlement which the Austro-Hungarian empire was broken in."

Dictator Ion Antonescu, who has been confronted with a revolt by Iron Guard extremists taking assassination revenge on many officials of the former regime of abdication King Carol, was present at the ceremonies.

He wore the green shirt—distinctive dress of the Guardsists—and he declared that he had the right to give orders to the Iron Guard on the grounds that he, too, had been "persecuted" by the Iron Guard's foes.

Antonescu urged members of the Guard to "concentrate your attention on the laws of the country" to maintain peace order and to "work in harmony with all Rumanians" for internal peace.

"I went to Rome and Berlin for the Transylvanians," Antonescu said. "I pointed out to the Führer and our staff at this time, I found understanding."

"Rumania is no longer alone. I am a soldier and a politician. But this day will come when you will know what I did in Rome and Berlin. We must work and make sacrifices to regain our rights."

Rumania's recent signing of the axis military alliance will be celebrated tomorrow with a military parade in which an entire mobilized division of the German army is to participate.

Antonescu as well as young King Michael are expected to take part. "Reports reaching the Hungarian Rumanian border Friday when the struggle between Antonescu and Iron Guard terrorist-assassins was at its height said that 18-year-old Michael had left Bucharest."

British Cruiser Halts Ship, takes Germans off

RIO DE JANEIRO, Dec. 1.—(AP)—A British auxiliary cruiser was reported tonight to have halted the Brazilian coastal passenger ship Itape 12 miles off Brazil early today and removed 22 passengers, said to be Germans.

The captain of the ship, Itape, reported to the British captain, claiming the vessel was within the so-called American neutrality zone and was making a coastal voyage.

The passengers removed with their baggage were understood to have embarked at Porto Alegre, Santos and Rio De Janeiro for Bahia. Itape is a 1,000-ton auxiliary cruiser.

The 4,970-ton ship left Rio De Janeiro yesterday and was reported halted at Cape Soathome. It was understood to have arrived in Victoria today.

Japs raid Chungking

CHUNGKING, China, Dec. 1.—(AP)—The Japanese today followed up their pact of collaboration with the puppet Nanking government and bombed Chungking, the Chungking area in more than a month.

Japanese planes unloaded about 10 bombs on a single objective down the river, but from this capital, Chungking itself was not touched.

The Japanese signed their pact Saturday with Wang Ching-wei, head of the Nanking government. The central government of General Chiang Kai-Shek has offered a reward of 100,000 Chinese dollars ($6,000) for anyone "bringing the architect to book."

Foreign Minister Wang Ching-Hui threatened cessation of normal relations with any foreign power recognizing the Wang regime.

"The conclusion by Japan with the puppet Nanking organization of what purports to be a treaty is a culmination of a series of aggressive acts on the part of Japan and is designed to overthrow law and order in China and to divide the whole Pacific," the statement said.

LONDON, Dec. 1.—(CP)—German warplanes, carrying out the systematic, concentrated attacks they have employed since their devastation of Coventry, began an assault on a south coast town tonight after giving Southampton, famous Trans-Atlantic shipping port, a heavy overnight bombardment.

The raiders also fanned out over England at nightfall. During the day they fought British Spitfires over the English Channel and the southeast coast. One locality was machine gunned.

Eight German aircraft were destroyed in the day's fighting while five British planes were missing. The British pilots are safe, however, the air ministry announced
