ISLAND HONORED.—Rev. C. G. MacKenzie of Grande Prairie, Alberta, whose appointment as principal of Columbia College, New Westminster, B. C., was reported several days ago in The Guardian, is a native of Prince Edward Island and received his education at the Prince of Wales College and at Dalhousie University, where he was graduated as a B. A. in 1915.

SICK RECOVERING.—It is pleasing to report that all those who were so seriously ill in New London are well on the way to recovery. Most of them are able to again take up their daily tasks and all is well, except in those homes where there is a vacant chair to remind the kindred and friends of "The touch of a vanished hand and the sound of a voice that is still." For death has claimed quite a heavy toll during the past winter. During the time that the epidemic of sickness was at its height, the girls at the telephone office, Miss Esie Dunning and her assistants, the Misses Erma and Mattie Constable, were kept quite busy, subscribers and others who used the telephone were much pleased with the service they gave, being courteous and prompt to answer calls at all hours of the day or night.

BAD FIRE—A disastrous fire occurred on St. Patrick's Road about three miles from Peakes Station on Wednesday, March 6, when the dwelling house of Charles Rodgers was destroyed by fire, with considerable loss of its contents. The origin of the fire is unknown as there was not any fire in the stove when they retired about ten o'clock and it was three o'clock when Mr. Rodgers, smelling smoke, got up to investigate and found the pantry afire, ceiling just falling in. Mrs. Rodgers rushed to the neighbors and quickly gave the alarm, but it was too late to save the house. Most of the movable things downstairs was saved, except in the pantry, fire having got so much headway when discovered, that nothing could be saved. Mr. Rodgers' loss is a heavy one, as his house was practically a new one, with no insurance.

WELL PROVED.—The will of the late Mr. George J. Rogers was probated yesterday by The Eastern Trust Company, Executor and Trustee. The charitable provisions include bequests of $500 each to the Charlottetown Hospital and the Prince Edward Island Hospital. A perpetual trust is created to produce $100 per annum to be divided between the Prince Edward Island Protestant Orphanage and St. Vincent's Orphanage equally, to be used for toys or clothing for the children. A provision is also included for a weekly day among the visitors to the city, ment for the remainder of his life, to Michael Pigeon, for many years a valued employee of the Rogers Hardware Company. All the remainder of the estate is left in trust for the benefit of the widow and children of the testator. The inventory indicates that the total value of the estate is approximately $330,000.

SUCCESSFUL BUSINESS MAN —In a recent copy of the "Hotel and Travel News" published in Boston, appears the following: Last year Mr. Grant H. MacGillivray opened the new cafeteria on the main floor of the Hotel Essex down town. It was soon demonstrated that this new departure was welcomed both by the Essex guests and also the business men in that section. A heavy daily patronage has convinced the operators of this modern unit that additional service should be arranged. Monday next workmen will commence the installation of an added cafeteria service on the second floor with separate entrance from Essex street, which room will seat over two hundred and fifty persons. The many private dining rooms on this floor will make it convenient for the serving of small and large banquets. Mr. MacGillivray is indeed progressive, which has brought him success in a large way, and which he surely well deserves. (Mr. MacGillivray is one of our most successful Islanders abroad, and a brother of Mr. Ronald J. MacGillivray of this city.)

LECTURE AT KILMUIR—A very interesting and instructive lecture was given in the Kilmuir Church on the evening of March 13 by the Rev. D. M. Sinclair of Valleyfield. In this lecture the Rev. Gentleman went very minutely into the history of Scotland more particularly that of the Highlands, their clans, their language, and the part played by them before and after the union with England. He showed by lantern slides, various views of beauty spots in this interesting country. The lecture and views kept the large audience present spellbound for nearly two hours. Mr. Allan A. McDonald, capably filled the position of chairman. Short addresses were given by Rev. Q. A. McDowell, Mr. S. M. Martin, J. N. McLeod and Malcolm McDonald. A most hearty vote of thanks was tendered to the Rev. Lecturer. Mr. Allan Cameron and Archie McDonald sang "The Bonnie Banks of Loch Lomond" to the entire satisfaction of all present. The meeting was brought to a close by the singing of the National Anthem. Mention might be made of the fact that this lecture and views was given at Grand View Hall and at Uigg on previous nights.—A Delighted Visitor.

THE PUBLIC FORUM THE TRAGIC DEATH AT MONTAGUE

Sir,—In last Saturday's Guardian there appeared a report of the death of Margaret Gillis, which was greatly exaggerated, giving the impression that Miss Gillis died in poverty. She was active as a young girl of fifty, and never known to be sick; but unfortunately, she died alone. Conditions showed that she died suddenly, and, when found, had been dead for only a few hours. The rate' work mentioned was so slight as to only give a little sensation to the report. She was not known to be in want—surrounded by charitable neighbors who were good to her; food at the door; coal on the kitchen floor (should have been in the cellar—but that was her way of housekeeping); money in the house, and more to her credit in the Bank; given a Christian burial. What more could be done?

The report referred to was uncalculated for, and was a reflection on charitable neighbors who are good to everybody. There is no one in this town going hungry or thirsty. I am, sir, etc., D. L. MCKINNON

TEACHERS' SALARIES

Sir,—Would you kindly spare me a brief space in your column in which I wish to express my opinion regarding the recent publication of a letter by a certain farmer of Kensington in which he referred to himself as becoming, in the not too distant future, a victim of pedagogic audacity.

I am sorry that this prosperous little Island of ours should have sprung up in its midst such a pessimistic outlooker. For such words to come from Mr. Duffy could be pardonable since, as it is quite evident from his recent criticism, he had not been blessed with the spirit of fairness and so characteristic of our good people, but coming from the lips of a member of the class we call "the back-bone of the country," seems to me, beyond forgiveness. I think this Mr. Farmer should have a better appreciation of the immense good done to our country through the agency of our teachers. If he cannot dispel the mist that obscures his proper vision I would ask him to come with me in spirit to the school room.

There we see the school teacher day after day gradually bringing those little ones out of the darkness of ignorance into the bright rays of intellectual sunshine. Patiently she works, for these small minds do not acquire knowledge quickly. This daily care and worry involves a great mental strain. Moreover, think of the responsibility that is entrusted to the teacher. The future of these children rests greatly with her, for young minds receive impressions more quickly and permanently.

Having now seen the inside of a school room and been given food for a just appreciation of our teachers' merits I would ask Mr. Farmer if he is yet so ignorant of our teachers' rights as to pronounce this increased salary a "proposed money grab."

He complains of the low price of potatoes. True it is that this product has reached a very insignificant figure, but it has not always been so and last year there was a fair price for potatoes. Let the price of "spuds" remain at 16c. per bushel, for four or five years and this same man will strongly voice his disapproval.

Yet the teachers for the last six or seven years have been working for a low salary, and it is only just that they should demand this raise. If the convictions of this resident of Kensington remain as before then let us wash our hands of him, for none are so blind as those who will not see.

I am, sir, etc., MEMBER OF STUDY GROUP, EASTERN KINGS (Patriot please copy)

Press Comment on Prohibition in P. E. Island

(From The Montreal Standard)

Senator Hughes complains that prohibition is not doing its work in that province. People still get tight in that little island, but it costs more than it did when the door was wide open and Jamaica rum, that probably never looked at a customs officer, was regarded as a cheap and wholesome beverage.

The morals of the sturdy Prince Edward Islanders have always been rectangular and prohibition was naturally added to the other virtues which the Islanders practise. It was, as you might say, one of the fruits of the spirit. When Prince Edward Island embraced prohibition it did not reckon with the bootlegger who, as Senator Hughes, alleges, has made prohibition of no avail—the bootlegger and the nine-dollar-a-gallon excise on alcohol levied by the Dominion Government. This nine-dollar tax is taken as a cost basis by the bootlegger who prices his wares accordingly. Even Jamaica rum, once as prevalent as dew, is now as precious as rubies and Prince Edward Island groans under the outrage.

We do not find it in our heart to censure Prince Edward Island for wanting prohibition and at the same time wanting a drink at a reasonable price—that is a falling of human nature—but we do feel moved to chide the Government at Ottawa for making prohibition so expensive. It is true that Ottawa has said all along that prohibition is a local affair and that the Dominion Government has nothing to do with it except the revenue it gets out of the various taxes on liquor, but now that Senator Hughes has called attention to the mortal blow levelled at the cause of total abstinence by that nine-dollar load on a gallon we are disposed to ask what they are going to do about it. The Prince Edward Islanders would much rather the Government got the money than the bootlegger but if the bootlegger shades his prices ever so little he just naturally gets the business. The conclusion seems to be that the Government should put the bootlegger out of business and confirm Prince Edward Island in the practice of total abstinence by doing something to make good liquor cheaper. It sounds like a paradox—probably is.

At all events, it would be a great comfort to the Prince Edward Island prohibitionists if they knew that their money was swelling the national revenue and not making the bootlegger rich. A drop in the bucket, it might be, but every little helps.
