Gentlemen—In reply to your inquiry as to how I liked the Marine Engineers' Course as given by your Schools, I may say that the more I study it the more I appreciate it. I consider it most efficient aid to all engineers in examinations whether before the British Board of Trade or the Canadian and United States Examiners. I consider that the knowledge gained from the drawing lessons alone is worth the price of the course.

Yours truly

MAIN STREET AT PORT ARTHUR.

This view of the chief mercantile thoroughfare at Fort Arthur, now shut in on all sides by the Japanese shops, the one long block in which are situated the foreign banking-houses, where the big commercial interests that were attempting to get a share of the Manchurian trade made settlements with the local importers. Warehouses form an important feature in this settlement, as the vast majority of imported commodities were stored in order of the Russian government until the duties were paid. It was this feature of the Russian occupation which caused such vigorous protest to be made at St. Petersburg by the Foreign Offices of England, Germany and the United States. This photograph was made before Admiral Togo had shelled Port Arthur, and it is certain that the street must wear a less comfortable appearance by this time.

A Big Corn Factory.

Birmingham, England, has a mint which in addition to turning out millions of English coins does more in the way of supplying foreign Governments with coin than any other money-making establishment in the world.

A few days ago it shipped the first instalment of a huge Egyptian order for 10,000,000 piasters. The consignment weighed five tons, was conveyed in sixty cases and valued at $15,000,000. For well over a century Birmingham has taken the lead in this literal kind of money-making. As far back as 1797 one firm coined under contract for the British Government 4,000 tons of copper coin, valued at about $4,000,000. Among the countries and Governments which have gone to Birmingham for their money are India, Tunis, Canada, Turkey, China, Hong Kong, Haiti, Sarawak, Tuscany, Venezuela and Chile.

In some instances, notably that of China, the coins were not made in Birmingham. As a matter of fact, no Chinese coin has, so far as is known, ever been made outside of the Celestial Empire. The pride and reverence of the Chinese have to be humored, so the firm sent out a complete plant with men to operate it, and the coins were struck in China. No fewer than eight separate plants have been sent out to China in this way.

For the new kingdom of Italy the same thing was done in 1862. 1,600 tons of "blanks" being shipped to furnish the raw material. Again, in Madagascar, when the re-establishment of the Empire under Napoleon II. rendered necessary a new copper coinage, 750 tons of metal were in this way turned into money on French soil.

Legal Ties That Bind the Empire.

The principal legal ties between England and the colonies, says The Law Magazine and Review, may be summarized thus: The Governors are appointed by the Crown, and diplomatic intercourse, as regards foreign countries, is carried on by the Imperial Government, the Judicial Committee of the Privy Council, and the Supreme Court of Appeal. The power of making treaties resides in the Crown, and unless the Imperial Government act the authorities of the colonial Government will do so. The will of the Imperial Parliament is supreme in all things. In spite, however, of this sovereign supremacy in letter, in practice it does not interfere in local affairs. The legislative liberty thus conferred on the colonies may at first sight seem incompatible with the sovereignty of the Imperial Parliament, but the absolute recognition of that supremacy is sufficient guarantee of its maintenance, whilst the power retained of reviewing colonial enactments prevents the legal impossibility of conflict between Imperial and colonial laws.

Ornesome British Enterprise.

Photography (London) says: The agent of a cinematograph company, it is reported, has come to an arrangement with the Governor of Canton by which all executions are to be saved up, as it were, for one month. The exact number of dollars required to insult the Foo-hah of Canton sufficiently to lead him to make such an arrangement is not stated, but the living picture man hopes thus to secure a charming and delightful film for the benefit of his patrons in London.

C. P. R. STOCK ISSUE.

MONTREAL, Aug. 28.—The shareholders of the Canadian Pacific Railway will be asked the coming annual meeting on October 5 to consent to the issue of $23,000,000 of new common stock.

Mrs. Elizabeth H. Thompson, of Lillydale, N.Y., Grand Worthy Wise Templar, and Member of W.C.T.U., tells how she recovered by the use of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—I am one of the many of your grateful friends who have been cured through the use of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and who can to-day thank you for the fine health I enjoy. When I was thirty-five years old, I suffered severe backache and frequent bearing-down pains; in fact, I had womb trouble. I was very anxious to get well, and reading of the cures your compound had made, I decided to try it. I took only six bottles, but it built me up and cured me entirely of my troubles."

"My family and relatives were naturally as gratified as I was. My niece had heart trouble and nervous prostration, and was considered incurable. She took your Vegetable Compound and it cured her in a short time, and she became well and strong, and her home to her great joy and her husband's delight was blessed with a baby. I know of a number of others who have been cured of different kinds of female trouble, and am satisfied that your Compound is the best medicine for sick women."—MRS. ELIZABETH H. THOMPSON, Box 105, Lillydale, N.Y.—$3.00 per bottle if original of above letter proving genuineness cannot be produced.
