Associated Study Clubs Hear Addresses

The success of Rev. Dr. Tompkins, one of the leading proponents of the adult education movement, in elevating existing conditions at Canso, N.S., and Dover, N.S., which were "deplorable," was a shining example to the whole world. Mr. J. A. McLeod of Reserve Mines, N.S., declared last night at a meeting of the Associated Study Clubs of Holy Redeemer Parish when he spoke on the adult education movement in Nova Scotia.

Other speakers on the program included Dr. J. T. Crofton, Mr. E. J. Morrissey, Mr. James Leighton, and Mr. J. A. McLeod of Reserve Mines, N.S. Rev. Fr. Fleming and Rev. Fr. O'Sullivan spoke briefly at the conclusion of the meeting.

Week's Review Of Activities At Y. M. C. A.

A meeting of the joint committee representing ministers of the city, the Student Christian Movement and the Y. M. C. A., was held at the Association Building on Monday to finalize the general programme outlines in connection with the Young Peoples' Sunday evening Song Services up to date of Jan. 1st next. These outlines cover "The Policy and Programme of the S. C. M.," "Science and Religion," "International Goodwill" and a Christmas Service. The programme on two evenings will take the form of panel discussions. One discussion will be on Science and Religion and one on the subject matter of addresses on International Goodwill.

Miss Margaret Kenney of the Canadian Student Christian Movement and faculty representatives and the S. C. M. Executive of Prince of Wales College had supper together at the Y. M. C. A. on Wednesday evening following Miss Kenney's arrival in the city for conferences with students and S. C. M. leaders on Thursday.

On Friday evening the Y. M. C. A. Comers Group held a Halloween Social at the Association Building from 6.30 to 7.30 p. m. About thirty members of the group were present for games and other programme attractions which characterized Halloween. At 8.00 p. m. the same evening forty members of the Junior Section held a similar party. Suitable room decorations gave color to these events and added to the interest of the boys.

Any movement for the social betterment of a people must consider the economic aspect, the speaker said. "For if a man is the victim of combines, trusts and money lenders, poverty with its accompanying vices and misery is bound to result. Even the exertions of religious leaders for the practice of virtue will be fruitless unless man has some control of his economic destiny; for a spirit of devotion does not flourish on an empty stomach. Economic Independence Necessary

PUBLIC FORUM

Sir,—Were our elected representatives carelessly asleep at the wheel of state, when a contemptible act was passed to penalize the helpless and unfortunate? It is well seen that neither common sense nor the dictates of sympathy and humanity are attributes of our powers that be. Even the laws that erstwhile prevailed regarding the person and properties of mentally afflicted persons are now invaded to cause wrongful treatment of those who for a time are not able to manage their affairs. How many may recover, only to find their homes gone and their valuables scattered? Is that not enough to send them back again to confinement? Yes, and this may be done against the advice of the expert in charge of their cases, who may have faith in their recovery. Owing the politicians power through an official to administer patients property, is a monstrous piece of legislation and should not be tolerated by a sympathetic people!

I am, Sir, etc.,
FAIR PLAY.

Children's Mission Rally Held At St. Dunstan's Basilica

A very striking feature of the celebration of the Feast of Christ the King at St. Dunstan's Basilica yesterday was the Children's Mission Rally held in the afternoon.

At two o'clock the pupils of the senior and intermediate grades of Queen Square School, Notre Dame Academy and St. Joseph's Convent, all members of the Student's Mission Crusade, entered the basilica procession singing the Crusade hymn. They were led by two boys one dressed in the habit of a Franciscan monk and representing the Hermit, the other attired in the livery of a Crusader of old. Following these was a group of forty-eight children, boys and girls, carrying the flags of twenty-four different nations.

As the procession wound slowly around the aisles of the spacious edifice, it formed a singularly beautiful and impressive picture. Several groups of children dressed to represent the children of the different missionary countries, carrying pennants, banners and playing beautifully illustrating the work of the church in her vast mission fields, gave a colorful appearance to the scene. With these various groups were pupils dressed to represent members of religious orders working at the various missions.

As the children marched they continued the singing of many beautiful and appropriate hymns, Reverend Louis Dougan directing the singing from the sanctuary.

It was most fitting that such a gathering should be addressed by a member of a great order, the Reverend Father Lyons, S. J., of Boston, who conducted the Novena at the Basilica in preparation for the Feast of Christ the King. After congratulating the Crusaders on their splendid missionary spirit they also dispensed the children with a message to the aid of those who are fighting the battles of Christ on the foreign mission fields by their prayers and by writing to them friendly letters, that they may know that they are not toiling alone but rather in company with those at home, united to them by a common desire to see Christ's kingdom extend all over the world.

His Excellency the Bishop also spoke a few words of encouragement to the children commending them to the duty of helping the missions by their prayers and sacrifices.

During Exposition of the Blessed Sacrament which followed, all present united with the Bishop as he read the Act of Consecration to the Lord's Supper, singing with fervor their whole hearts in response to Christ their King and Lord.

Benediction of the Blessed Sacrament was given by Reverend Fr. McMahon, after which the procession reformed and the beautiful music passed down the centre aisle and left the Basilica.

RELIGIOUS SERVICES

CENTRAL CHRISTIAN CHURCH

After the usual scriptural manner the Lord's Supper was celebrated on the first day of the week as is the custom of our brotherhood with elders R. H. McNeill and W. H. Stevenson presiding. Many strangers and friends enjoyed our fellowship.

The morning sermon was on "Bondage or Liberty" when the minister made a number of pointed remarks. The Jews chose to misunderstand the Messiah and would not believe the words of the text "The truth shall make you free." Instead of having a right will guided by faith and illuminated by a true conscience they were bound by a legalistic priestly system.

Jesus liberated man by a three-fold truth. The truth of God's fatherhood, man's fallen but glorious possibility and then the idea of immortality. Jesus did not seek to liberate by legislation or even abolition but by the truth of his word and person.

The evening sermon was on "National and Personal Opportunity." The text used was Luke 19: 41-42. The Jews had a day of light given them but spurned it. Christ was rejected by the nation. Every influence that bids us come to Christ is of God. God pleads with us by his words, the minister, teacher and writers but above all by his spirit.

The rejection of this light brought the night of darkness and so it is to every one who trifles with Gods gospel and his Christ.

A baptismal service followed the usual gospel sermon in which two of our young people followed their Lord and believers' baptism which is immersion and the only true baptism taught in the New Testament.

The special music at the morning service was a hymn rendered sweetly and touchingly by our young girls entitled "Come And Rest". The special number was very favorably received and well spoken of. Miss Nan MacKay rendered a solo at the evening service.

ST. JAMES CHURCH

Preaching from the text St. Matthew 27: 39, "And they that passed by reviled him, wagging their heads," Rev. Dr. Moorhead Legate yesterday morning at St. James Presbyterian Church declared that many people today, as in the day of Christ's crucifixion, voiced disappointment that Jesus Christ failed to reveal greater temporal power while on earth. They turned against Him, doubted Him and made Him an object of scorn, falling to see that Christ's aim was the spiritual and not the material. He shunned earthly glory not because of Himself, but so that He might provide eternal life for all who chose to follow His teachings. His last hours were not only of great physical suffering, but also of mental stress. The people failed to see the greater meaning of His sacrifice. They would have preferred a show of pomp, power

ST. DUNSTAN'S BASILICA

The Feast of Christ the King was celebrated in Saint Dunstan's Basilica yesterday morning when a large number received Holy Communion at the different Masses. The 7 o'clock Mass was celebrated by the Rev. Dr. McMahon while the 9 o'clock Mass was celebrated by the Rev. Fr. O'Sullivan. The Rev. Dr. McMahon gave the address on the subject of the feast of Christ the King. The Rev. Fr. O'Sullivan acted as deacon and the Rev. George McCormack as sub-deacon. The Rev. Fr. O'Sullivan delivered the sermon at this Mass. The Children's Mission rally was held in the afternoon.

THE BAPTIST CHURCH

The morning sermon at the Baptist Church, preached by the Rev. Harvey L. Denton, B.D., was "Magnanimous Living," based on Psalm 7:4. "Yea, I have beloved him that without cause is mine enemy." This is an aside, or parenthesis, inserted in a psalm in which the writer calls upon God for aid against his foes, and in his brief message is an example of that "something more that makes for the magnanimous life." It has been said that there are three classes lives, those who fail to measure up to their obligations, those who do meet the standard, perhaps no less certainly no more and finally those who measure up to obligations—and more!
