Saints Capture Opening Game Of Island League

P.W.C. Team Suffer 11 To 3 Defeat From Much-heavier Opponents.

The red and white clad football warriors of Saint Dunstan's started the defense of their 1933 rugby title in an auspicious manner yesterday afternoon when they downed a fighting band from Prince of Wales in the first game of the Island Rugby League.

Outweighed almost to a man, the losers put up a stiff struggle and at times forced their foes back on the defensive as their desperate attacks punched holes in their opponents' armour. But only once did the winners yield. Ken Birwistle racing across their line after a loose ball for his team's only try, midway through the second half.

At times, but reaching a near battle stage at others, the game gave the spectators plenty of thrills. Both backfields displayed smart combination with the red and white team passing more accurately, the losers musing up several fine scoring chances with wild heaves of the piskin.

Ready, shifty flying-quarter of the Saints, was a source of trouble to the City team all afternoon with his darting, weaving sallies, but he had able assistance from Gillis, Trites and the Trainer boys, hard tackling being a feature.

For the losers, every man gave everything with probably Leighton, Fitzgerald, Welner and Birwistle being the pick.

Referee Hudson Morrissey handled the game in a capable manner, being particularly strict on handling the ball in the scrum. No less than eleven penalty kicks were meted out, Prince of Wales being awarded six of them.

Prince of Wales kicked off and for the first ten minutes of the game play was all in Saint Dunstan's territory. The P. W. C. backs and forwards were coming in fast to smother the plays. Welner nearly broke through, as he intercepted a pass, but the red and white backfield was tackling clean and hard.

Play waned around the centre strip with P. W. C. advancing on a penalty kick, but a moment later the Saints were awarded one and as the kick soared over centre head it marked the first time that the winners had invaded blue and red territory.

Ready nearly wormed his way through on two occasions as the winners pressed dangerously close to the P. W. C. line. A long field goal, Irlam missed a low kick and the ball rolled into touch on the one-yard line. From the resulting line-out Kelly, husky forward plunged across, Gillis this time splitting the uprights with a dandy kick.

For the balance of the half, P. W. C. rushed matters but the Saints' stubborn defense was too good.

After play see-sawing back and forth for a while, Matheson kicked into Saint Dunstan's territory. The ball bounded over the line with Birwistle following fast, beating the pack to it for his team's only try. The attempt to convert from a difficult angle, failed.

Saints put on extra pressure and Kelly plunged his way for 25 yards before being stopped. It looked like another try but Gil Gaudet's kick took his team out of the danger zone.

The final try of the game came with startling suddenness. From 35 yards out, C. Trainor accepted a pass and then wended his long-legged way to the line through a maze of Prince of Wales players. It was a sweet effort and the player drew a big hand. Gillis failed to add the extra points, the kick being slightly off. Trainor nearly duplicated his feat several minutes later only to have a P. W. C. back nail him ten yards out.

Nothing daunted, the losers fought their way back to within 15 yards of the touch-line but again a penalty kick took the tension off the red and white team, the game ending with the players milling around centre field.

The lineup:
S. D. U. — Fullback, McDonald; three-quarters, Doyle (Capt.), Trainor, Arsenault, Walsh; Halves, Ready, Gillis, Trites; Forwards, Robin, Hennessey, McCormack, Kelly, Landrihan, Shea, C. Trainor, Hughes.
P. W. C. — Fullback, Irlam; three-quarters, Leighton, Leighton, McFadden, DeBlais; Halves, Fitzgerald, G. Gaudet, A. Gaudet.
Forwards — Shea, Goff, Welner, Smith, McLeellan, Jordan, Birwistle (Capt.), Matheson, McLeod.

Six Day Bicycle Endurance Test

(C. P. By Guardian's Special Wire)
TORONTO, Oct. 22.—A band of durable bike riders started a six-day journey round Maple Leaf Gardens' huge pipe saucer at 12.30 this morning. There were three men in each of the nine teams that started the long grind.

By adding a man to each team, promoter Willie Spenser hopes to speed up the endurance test. Peer of the six-day bike artists, Torchy Peden of Victoria, B.C., teamed up with Syd Cozens of London, England, and Polly Parrott, Irish-born victrola collector, to make the British Empire squad.

Charlie Winter of New York; Al Crossley of New Bedford, Mass., and Frank Bartell of Newark, N.J., made up the United States team. Other teams which started the test are: Jules Audy of Montreal; Henri LePage, Montreal, and Ernest De Bultere, of France.

Piet Van Kemper, Ernest Muller and Joseph Clignet of Holland; Victor Bagnio, Leighton Baggio and Ceco Maleseda, Italy.

Gustav Killan, Heinz Vopel, and Werner Kiethe, Germany.

Saevere Van Slambrouck, Marcel Boogmans and Rene Boogmans, Belgium.

Freddie Zach, Switzerland; Zengon S. Laurent, Montreal, and Tony Beckman, of New Jersey.

Reggie Fielding, Toronto; Freddie Otevaire, Detroit; and Jimmy Walhour, Jr., New York.

Baer Thinks Garden Using Him Wrong

HOLLYWOOD, Calif., Oct. 22.—Max Baer was in a fighting mood today because he thinks Madison Square Garden is on the wrong track in its quest for suitable heavy-weight opponent for the title bout in New York next June.

The world's champion heavy-weight came here with his manager, Archie Hoffman, to work out the details of his motion picture but instead talked only of boxing.

"I don't like the way the Garden is going about getting a suitable opponent for me in June," said Baer. "And furthermore, if Jimmy Johnston doesn't have a suitable opponent for me in June, well, then I'll fight for someone else who gets one, either in New York, Philadelphia or any place else with Jack Dempsey as promoter."

Baer said Steve Hamas already had defeated Max Schmeling and Art Lasky in the Garden's elimination bouts. "And now they're talking about matching the two losers and having me meet the winner of a bout between them."

"Now, I ask you, what would the public think of that?"

"I don't care who I fight. All I want is the fellow that the public thinks has a chance to beat me. It looks to me as though Hamas has eliminated everybody but old satchel feet Carnera, and I don't care which one of these two guys I fight."

"So far as the rest of the heavy-weights are concerned, my kid brother, Buddy, can lick them."

"Why doesn't the Garden go ahead and put Hamas up against Carnera? Didn't he beat both Schmeling and Lasky?" asked Hoffman.

"The Garden must pick an opponent suitable to us, for that June date. If it doesn't have one by that time we can't do business with it. That's all."

Seek Funds For Broadcast

(C. P. By Guardian's Special Wire)
MILBURN, N. B., Oct. 22.—Efforts to finance the broadcasting of the Charlottetown home games of the Big Four Hockey League, were being undertaken by two Island sportsmen in Amherst today. About $1,800 is needed to cover expenses. They believe the Abbey's games in Halifax and Saint John could also be included in the program they are promoting.

WEST KENT RUGGERS BLANK S' SIDE HIGH

Local School Team Hands Western Fifteen 10-0 Setback.

Before a crowd of rabid fans this afternoon the Summerside High School rugby team went down to a 10-0 defeat before a fighting West Kent fifteen.

West Kent tucked the game away in the first ten minutes, before the local rugger team could get their bearings by scoring two unconverted tries and a neat field goal. After that the S. H. S. boys struck their stride and the struggle swayed back and forth up the field for the rest of the first half.

West Kent again pushed the attack in the second half but were stubbornly contested every step of the way. Finally the tide of battle seemed to turn, and the locals slowly forced the heavier team back. West Kent tumbled behind the line and Tommy Jackson garnered the ball but the referee ruled that one of the W. K. S. players had three fingers on the ball thus saving the touchdown.

To most of the fans it seemed as if the ball was downed cleanly. The teams will meet again in two weeks time at Charlottetown and a bang up game is promised as S. H. S. will be out to avenge the whitewashing.

Referee Louis Campbell, Charlottetown, line judge, Repide Bowness, Summerside.

Changes In Officials And Players Mark Opening Of Season—Noted Amateurs To Go Pro This Year.

(By Elmer Dulmage, Canadian Press Staff Writer)
TORONTO, Oct. 22.—(By The Canadian Press)—The National Hockey League takes to ice in a couple of weeks with two new managers, two other managerial shifts and President Frank Calder once again in supreme command. Here are some points of interest in the campaign opening Nov. 9:

Frank Patrick, whom far-westerners have always regarded as a more astute politician and strategic tactician than brother Lester, is managing Boston Bruins from the bench. He lasted only one season as N. H. L. managing director. Art Ross has moved up to the Boston front office, and strategic tactician, to work out the details of his motion picture but instead talked only of boxing.

"I don't like the way the Garden is going about getting a suitable opponent for me in June," said Baer. "And furthermore, if Jimmy Johnston doesn't have a suitable opponent for me in June, well, then I'll fight for someone else who gets one, either in New York, Philadelphia or any place else with Jack Dempsey as promoter."

Baer said Steve Hamas already had defeated Max Schmeling and Art Lasky in the Garden's elimination bouts. "And now they're talking about matching the two losers and having me meet the winner of a bout between them."

"Now, I ask you, what would the public think of that?"

Cowley Signs With St. Louis N. H. L. Club

(C. P. By Guardian's Special Wire)
OTTAWA, Oct. 22.—Bill Cowley, brilliant young Ottawa amateur who led the Maritimes League in scoring last winter with the Halifax Wolves over the season came to cover terms with the St. Louis Blues professional hockey team today.

Eddie Gerard announced tonight.

Closing the deal following a week of negotiations, Cowley will make his debut tomorrow night's workout of the St. Louis team.

A "one-man submarine" and a new type of diving suit have been developed in Scotland to enable undersea workers to gather marine products and sunken vessels off the Irish coast and in Grecian waters.

Again A Holdout

N.H.L. To Start With Many Moves In Team Rosters

Amateur players in Toronto is likely to pass out of the major league. He is Harold (Blacky) Cotton.

The Ottawa franchise and stock-on-hand included one of the most promising forward lines in hockey—Max Kaminsky, Jerry Shannon and Frankie Finnigan. Kaminsky and Shannon were freshmen with the Senators last year, both moving straight into the N. H. L. from Niagara Falls seniors.

Amateur players are getting free trials with N. H. L. teams but the hard-to-hurl-down contracts, with bonus of a few years ago are missing. Boston Bruins wanted Don Hodges, Toronto amateur, but when Hodges suggested a three-year contract at $2,000 a year was his best offer the Bruins retreated. They just wanted to see him in practice.

At Detroit, Jack Adams regards the veteran John Ross Roach as his best bet to fill Will Oude's shoes. Oude, property of Canadiens was a sensation in the N. H. L. and Stanley Cup playoffs last spring. Now he is back with Canadiens and Adams has an empty goal.

Many hockey authorities believe the penalty shot fired by Morenz will be faster than one fired by Charlie Conacher, because Howie acts faster and ordinarily shoots only a little less hard.

Four of the most noted amateurs in the country have landed with Montreal teams. Maroons signed Sammy McManus and Aubrey Webster of Moncton Hawks, Allan Cup champions, and Canadiens get Nels Crutchfield and Jack McGill, stars of the McGill-University team.

International Referee Berth For Jackson?

FORT ERIE, Ont., Oct. 22.—Buffalo Bisons will nominate Stan Jackson of Fort Erie for a place on the refereeing staff of the International Hockey League for the coming season. Manager Mickey Roach said today.

A former professional hockey player, Jackson at one time coached the Charlottetown, P. E. I. Abbies and last season refereed for a time in the Maritimes.

The Buffalo club will make the nomination at the meeting of the league in Cleveland tomorrow. George A. Vasey, secretary of the Buffalo club, will accompany Roach to the meeting.

While the Saints are the favorites, the Nomads are leaving nothing unturned to revamp their backfield in an effort to be in the running. Several new players are expected to report at practice this evening, under floodlights, at the Holy Redeemer tennis courts, which has been placed at their disposal.

The officers and executive of the City Hockey League last year are to be commended on the manner in which they carried on their activities, and are ready to enter another season with a clean sheet. President Affleck's appointment was a popular one and he may again be looked to head a "bang-up" league.

A meeting of those interested in forming a Montague-Summerside-Charlottetown intermediate loop will be held shortly.

AGREEMENT NEARS END
MONTREAL, Oct. 22.—Existing agreement between the steamship companies and the longshoremen of the port of Saint John, N. B., will terminate on October 31, and negotiations between the two parties will commence this week, with a view to arriving at a satisfactory agreement for the forthcoming winter season.

fourth in the derby, arrived at Singapore at 2:34 a. m., G. M. T. today while Malcolm MacGregor and Henry Walker, New Zealanders, reached Allahabad at 2:31 a. m. They were far behind the leaders.

Leaders Exhausted

Scott and Black made one false start from Charleville and returned, but finally got away again. Hasty adjustments made preparatory to the first take-off apparently were not adequate.

The British record-breakers were happy but exhausted and voiceless at Charleville. In whispers they explained they had shouted to each other through the long night to banish sleep.

Parmentier and Moll, prior to leaving Darwin, said they were enjoying their trip thoroughly. In addition to the pilots, there were a cargo, 2,000 letters and three passengers aboard. The passengers were Thea Rasche, German aviatrix, Peter Gilleson of the Hague and R. G. Dominie of Brazil.

At Singapore Jones and Walker, said they hoped to reach Darwin in daylight. It was 9:34 a. m. local time when they arrived at Singapore.

Two Flyers Killed

Death took its first toll in the long race Monday when Flying-Officer H. D. Gilman and J. Y. Baines, co-pilot, were burned to death as their aeroplane crashed in flames over the Appennines near Rome, Italy.

Five other entries who had taken off from Mildenhall aerodrome near London at dawn Saturday had dropped out, most of them on account of engine trouble.

Capt. Neville Stack and S. L. Turner, British flyers, and one of the teams abandoning the contest, nevertheless were continuing towards Australia in their own words as "amateurs." Bad weather and engine trouble near the start caused them to drop out at Marseille, France. They took off from Rome early today.

The last stages of the great derby, from Singapore to Melbourne, proved the toughest of all for Scott and Black. They overcame weariness, an engine which gave out at times and intermittent storms to make a driving finish.

Flying over the Timor Sea, approaching Darwin, for a time it appeared as if their amazing exploit would not be accomplished. They limped into Darwin with only one of the motors functioning.

Between Darwin and Charleville, the second last leg of the flight, they fought against the continued handicap of a balky motor, only five out of six cylinders functioning. Mechanics worked feverishly to adjust the motors there and the flyers took off after a stop of two hours and 20 minutes.

Their unofficial elapsed time, just under three days, was far ahead of all previous flights from London to Melbourne. At Darwin they had shattered the record for the England-Australia flight by four days and 15 hours.

Empire Team At Head Of Pack

(C. P. By Guardian's Special Wire)
TORONTO, Oct. 22.—An hour and a half of steady jamming sent the British Empire three-man team into the lead in the six-day bike race at 10.30 o'clock tonight. Torchy Peden, doughty peddler from Victoria, B. C., and his partners Syd Cozens of London, England, and Polly Parrott of Victoria had 418 miles, seven laps for 148 points to keep ahead of the pack.

They took the lead from the Canada-United States trio, Reggie Fielding of Toronto, Freddy Otevaire of Detroit and Jimmy Walhour, Jr., of New York who swung along in second place with 418 miles, six laps for 203 points. The team of Italians, Gilbert-Baggio and Maleteva were taken from the race by officials as they were 23 laps behind.

On their arrival at the lost compulsory stop before reaching the end of the air trail at Melbourne they had covered the 10,500 miles from Mildenhall Aerodrome, outside London, in approximately 64 hours. Their approximate average speed was 167 miles an hour.

Their first fast flying from London to Darwin in two days, four hours and 35 minutes was unprecedented. They shattered the old England-Australia record by more than four days.

The old record, set by Charles T. Ulin and a crew from Australia last year, was six days 19 hours and 33 minutes. The British pair smashed every aviation record on the route to Australia after overtaking the Mollisons.

Scott and Black passed Jim and Amy Mollison on the long hop between Baghdad and Allahabad. After that they were ahead all the way.

Position of Other Planes

Beyond Baghdad in the handicap division of the 11,300 mile race were a number of planes. J. D. Hewett and C. E. Kay, New Zealand entry, took off from Baghdad at 7:32 a. m. Monday. Lieut. M. Hansen, flying for Denmark, left Baghdad at 9:44 a. m. Another British pair, Squadron-Leader D. E. Stodart and K. G. Stodart, were right behind, heading eastward at 10:00 a. m. C. J. Melrose, Australian flyer, departed in the wake of the others at 12:05 p. m.

BRUINS SEEK GORDON SAVAGE

(C. P. By Guardian's Special Wire)
QUEBEC, Oct. 22.—Manager Art Ross, of the Boston Bruins, conferred with Leo Dandurand, director of Montreal Canadiens, here tonight on the possibilities of a trade involving Gordon Savage, acquired by the Flying Frenchmen from Calgary and a former star with Syracuse in the International League. It was not announced whether any agreement had been arrived at.

The Bruins sped through a hard workout for an hour and a half today under the guiding hand of their new coach, Frank Patrick. They are fast rounding into condition with the heavy work. Tomorrow they will take to the ice in the morning and in the afternoon.

First exhibition game of the season will take place here Saturday night when the major leaguers clash with their farm team, the Boston Cubs of the Canadian-American League, and Anglo-Pulp, local amateur team which won the provincial intermediate title last year. The Bruins will play 30 minutes against each squad with proceeds being donated to charity.

CITY LEAGUE MEETING LAST NIGHT

Mr. Art Affleck Re-elected President of City Hockey League For Ensuing Year.

At a meeting in the Board Rooms of the City Hall last evening of representatives of teams proposing to enter the City Hockey League Mr. Arthur Affleck was re-elected President. Other officers include Mr. William Warren Secretary and Mr. William (Dr.) Imlis treasurer.

Plans for the coming season were discussed and other problems aired. Mr. Affleck referred to the successful schedule concluded last season, and laid particular emphasis that the year had been closed with the association "out of the red". A proposal to limit the number of teams competing in the loop to eight was heard but was referred to the incoming executive.

Six teams namely, Pirates, Surperiors, Stewarts, Navy, Holman's and Holy Name have already intimated their intention of entering the new loop; while the case of Highfield Granites, who have made a request to be included will be considered at a later meeting.

In the course of his remarks the chairman thanked Mr. Louis Stewart, and Mr. Fred Pickard, of the Bike Shop for services rendered during the past season; and on behalf of the League executive extended a similar vote to the Chief Angus McEachern of the Fire Department who aided so greatly in making the homecoming of the Junior Abegweits such a success. Messrs. McEachern, Affleck and Stewart were appointed on the executive, which will also include a member from each team, to aid the functioning of the loop.
