Well-known Railway Employee Honored

An event of interest to railway men and shippers by rail took place in the Assembly Hall in the station building yesterday afternoon. The fellow members of the Freight Department and others gathered to honor one of their members, Mr. J. Frank Lafferty, who has recently retired under the provisions of the Railway Pension.

Mr. E. M. Campbell was chairman and invited Mr. Lafferty to occupy a seat of honor, and called upon Mr. Geo. S. Ryan to present an address which was accompanied by a purse of money presented by Mr. F. W. Gallant on behalf of self and fellows. Mr. Lafferty was taken completely by surprise and was deeply affected, but expressed his grateful appreciation of the kindness and consideration shown him at this time. He would always cherish the years spent in C.N.R. employ and the many friends he has made. Superintendent C. T. Montgomery, District Passenger and Freight Agent L. A. MacDonald, Chief Train Despatcher J. E. R. MacEwen, N. A. Nicholson, Car Service Officer, all made fitting reference to the service rendered by Mr. Lafferty, and wished for Mrs. Lafferty and him long years of happiness and contentment to bless his retirement years in this joyous province.

Late Blight Causing Concern in Some Areas

Growers of Green Mountain potato seed are having approximately 40 per cent of their acreage of this variety turned down, Mr. S. G. Peppin, senior inspector in charge of seed certification, said yesterday.

The cause of the rejection is principally the prevalence of mosaic. There is also considerable leaf-roll.

Mr. Peppin said the mosaic is much more common this season in Green Mountain fields than it has been for several years. Other varieties of potatoes are in a more favorable condition.

Late blight, coupled with the second brood of flea beetles, is causing concern in some areas though conditions will not become serious should the weather be fine for the next two or three weeks.

WM Deliberate On World Problems

AMSTERDAM, Aug. 25 - (AP) - The World Council of Churches today began secret deliberations over such controversial questions as Communism, Pacifism and Palestine.

One authoritative American churchman said that on the basis of informal talks among delegates it appeared that world political problems could be rated in that order of importance at this first assembly of the World Council.

Fireworks over Russian policy and spread of Communism only sputtered during the day. The controversy was brought into the open Tuesday in speeches by John Foster Dulles of the United States and Prof. Joseph Hromadka of Communist-ruled Czechoslovakia.

Dulles told newspaper men that nothing developed on East-West differences in the closed session except a recognition that they exist.

Dulles, a Presbyterian layman and foreign affairs advisor to Governor Thomas E. Dewey of New York, the United States Republican Party presidential nominee, addressed a section meeting today on "The Church and International Disorder."

He spoke early so that he could fly home to the United States later in the day. Lewis Douglas, United States Ambassador to Britain, flew here from London to discuss the European situation with Dulles.

Immigrants Arriving In Large Numbers

(By The Canadian Press) TORONTO, Aug. 25 - A new system of "ordained elders" to augment a shortage of ministers will be proposed for acceptance by the general council of the United Church of Canada in Vancouver next month.

A special committee, headed by Prof. H. A. Kent of Queen's University, Kingston, Ont., devised the idea to "make a more mobile ministry and to better serve remote places." The elders would not need the full education required for acceptance into the ministry but would be defined as ministers so that they could belong to Presbyteries and conferences. They would not be allowed to accept calls but would be placed by the church's settlement committee.

Since elders would be allowed to officiate at marriage ceremonies, if licensed by the province, and would be commissioned to administer the sacraments.

Ontario has absorbed 103,000 of the 215,000 who have come since the war, while Quebec has taken 31,000. The Maritimes has taken in 18,000.

Despite the renewed influx, it is still a long way behind 1914 when 400,000 persons took up residence.

A large part of the arrivals in the first six months of 1948 are made up of displaced persons from war-ravaged European countries and include mostly laboring and domestic workers. These total 10,000 for the period and more than 30,000 in all since the Labor Department started importing them.

Jersey Cattle Winners

Late in the fall of 1940 Edison Mutch of North River, P. E. I., purchased a bull calf from the Wendybrook Farm of Mrs. May MacKie, Sweetsburg, Quebec. This bull was named Wendybrook Hector-102929. Hector was used in the Mutch herd for several years and then sold to the Stanley Jersey Club in York County, New Brunswick, where he was Grand Champion in the New Brunswick show in 1947.

Wendybrook Hector again breaks into the news as he won Superior Sire honours in the Jersey breed, as recently announced by the Canadian Jersey Cattle Club.

Wendybrook Hector now has 15 tested daughters (the average 844 lb. of milk, 453 lbs. of fat, 5.33 per cent) and 11 classified daughters average 82,956.

The sire of Wendybrook Hector is one of the greatest sires that the Jersey breed has ever produced. Brampton Royal Basil-101100 - a Superior Sire in his own right and sire of Wendybrook Star, Grand Champion female at the Royal Winter Fair in 1946 and at Ormstown Fair in 1948.

Brampton Royal Basil also won the get-of-sire at the 1946 Royal Winter Fair and was 2nd and 3rd for get-of-sire at the 1947 Royal at Toronto.

The dam of Wendybrook Hector is the Chestnut Sultana, classed Very Good and she has 3 R.O.P. records, winning a silver medal as a two-year-old with 10,322 lbs. of milk, 510 lbs. of fat, 4.94 per cent in 365 days. She is a daughter of the outstanding sire, Gladys Forward Star, bred by W. Elmo Ashton, Foster, Quebec.

Search Party Find Missing Group

TROIS PISTOLES, Que. Aug. 25 - (CP) - Five persons, sought since yesterday when they disappeared in a St. Lawrence River storm while boating near this South Shore town, were found safe and sound today on an island a few hundred feet off shore.

A sudden wind whipped up heavy waves on the river after a group had set out in a motor-equipped skiff for the Razades Islands, about 1 1/2 miles from Trois Pistoles.

When they failed to return by midnight a search was organized and a plane was ready to take off today to assist.

The party was made up of Jean Damours, a brother Maurice Damours and a young son, Elsie Bloudeau and Miss Andre Morissette.

They said when the storm caught them they fled to the nearest shelter and spent the night in comfort in a shack.

N. B. Farmers Face Heavy Losses

(By The Canadian Press) FREDERICTON, Aug. 25 - Farmers in the Marguerville area bordering the St. John River face heavy losses because of markets insufficient to absorb unusually abundant crops, they may have to plow them under.

C. O. Brooks, manager of the Sunbury Vegetable Co-operative, reported today that its 70 members had extremely heavy crops of tomatoes, cabbages and cucumbers.

"Fredericton and Sydney, N. B., are our chief markets but are unable to absorb our huge yields this season," he said. "At the present time we can ship 1,000 dozen of cucumbers per day."

The area also has had an excellent crop of small fruits and other seasonal yields well above average.

"POACHERS"

(Continued From Page 1) beneath the surface, the result is a large number of crabs, a few hundred feet below the surface are plainly visible to the inspector in the plane. Another message is dropped and within a few minutes the fishery boat is on the spot. The crate is hoisted aboard the boat, the cover is untied, and the lobsters are dumped in the water.

Quick Market

The official explained that the nearness of the legally-operated lobster factories on the South Shore, where the season opened on Aug. 10 to the North Shore area, where most of the illegal fishing is being carried on, offered the "poacher" a quick market for his catch. It was a simple matter, he said, to place several crates of illegally-caught lobsters into a car and deliver them to a legally-operated factory within an hour.

Even the "poacher" who may devote to his own catches is going to find such a practice much more difficult and dangerous than in former years, the official said. Other seasons, the most natural place for him to set up his portable canning plant was in the woods. But now with keen-eyed inspectors flying over all woods where illegal fishing is known to be carried on, the "poacher" is going to find it humbly impossible to cover up all suspicious signs. No matter how cleverly he camouflages his temporary canning plant, he has to walk to it and the photographs taken from the air show a suspected area. The "poacher" has only recently made by walking in a given direction but once or twice.

Lying in her hospital bed, still in a serious condition from multiple injuries suffered in the fall to a concrete courtyard at the Consulate, Mrs. Kasenkina managed to smile wanly at times as she recounted her story through an interpreter.

Among other things, she said: Soviet Ambassador Alexander Panyushkin and Consul-General Jacob M. Lomakin "told me what to say" during an interview at the Consulate. Mrs. Kasenkina managed to smile wanly at times as she recounted her story through an interpreter.

The two Russian officials promised her she would "become a heroine" as a result of the interview.

WILL RETAIN

(Continued From Page 1) From Mr. King's announcement, it appeared the shift in government heads could not take place until early November. Mr. King would not be back home before November, and it was expected, too, he would stay on some little time after his return.

While Mr. King made it clear today that responsibility for the date of his exit rests with his successor, it was still considered likely that a date favored by the retiring prime minister would be chosen. There was speculation that it might be Dec. 17 - his 74th birthday - or Dec. 26, the 27th anniversary of his accession to the prime ministry.

Meanwhile, the arrangement did not entirely knock out the possibility of a fall session of parliament.

Mr. King noted in his announcement that Mr. St. Laurent, as acting prime minister in his absence, would be in charge of government policy and preparation for the sessional program.

Thus, the new prime minister would be able to go before a fall session well-grounded in the opinions of his cabinet.

However, informed Ottawa opinion is that the legislators will not be called together before January. For one thing, a number of key parliamentarians are attending the Empire Parliamentary Association conference until close to Dec. 1.

In his announcement today, Mr. King placed emphasis on the fact he was staying in power at Mr. St. Laurent's invitation. He had made clear to the new leader and the rest of the cabinet, he said, that he would be governed by their wishes.

"Mr. St. Laurent," he said, "feels that he should have a little more time to make the necessary preparations before assuming the duties of the head of a new administration."

Decision Accepted OTTAWA, Aug. 25 - (CP) - A Government spokesman commenting on a report that the question of Newfoundland's future may be carried to the British Parliament, pointed out today that Britain has formally accepted the island's decision to become a Canadian province.

He expressed the opinion that the United Kingdom Government committed itself in a statement issued the same day that Prime Minister Mackenzie King announced Canada would welcome Newfoundland into confederation.

Both statements were made following the recent referendum in which a majority of Newfoundlanders voted for confederation.

MEMORIAL HOME

(Continued From Page 1) His Honour inspected a guard of honor made up of personnel from the R.C.A.F. and also the Westville pipe band which was present for the occasion.

The Lieut. Governor expressed his great pleasure at the opportunity of hearing the music of this band as well as the civilian band from Miscouche.

Mr. P. C. Martin capably filled the position of chairman and the Home had been officially declared opened he called upon M. J. Watson MacNaught, K.C., M.P., who expressed his great pleasure in the privilege and the honor of being present and congratulated all who were responsible for the erection of such a splendid Memorial Home. Mr. MacNaught, in referring to the great sacrifice made in the First World War said that it was a tragic and appalling, thought to consider that the seeds of suspicion which had before made these sacrifices necessary were again being planted, that today the same old spirit was abroad creating dissension in the world.

He expressed the hope that the United Nations would prove stronger than the League of Nations was and that peace would be ours. He said that today's memorials are taking a better form for today they are in the nature of useful memorial homes such as the one which they are erecting stone monuments.

A Notable Event Hon. W. J. P. MacMillan, O.B.E. referred to the occasion as a notable event and congratulated the veterans on the completion of this splendid edifice. He said he was in agreement with Mr. MacNaught that the building of a Memorial Home to honor the fallen comrades was greatly to be preferred than the practice of erecting stone monuments. He said that in no part of the Empire was devotion to the motherland greater than in Canada and that in no part of Canada was enthusiasm so high according to popular as in Prince Edward Island. Dr. MacMillan gave the benediction to the work done by the various women's societies during the war and especially the Red Cross Society which worked so hard year in and year out for the comfort of the men in battle.

Major J. A. McDonald, president of the Provincial Command also expressed his pleasure at being present and extended sincere congratulations to the members of the Branch of the Canadian Legion on the wonderful home they had acquired. His remarks were followed by those of Captain Basil Kelly who reminded the members that this home was one more link in a strong chain of branches stretching across Canada. Their strength is growing he said and...
