Lindell To Try Hurling

By Joe Ketcher
ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., April 6—(AP)—New York Yankees will attempt an experiment tomorrow with the reconversion of outfielder Johnny Lindell into a pitcher.

The 32-year-old Lindell has been named by manager Casey Stengel to pitch in an intra-squad game here. His future as a hurler undoubtedly will depend upon his showing.

He started as a hurler in 1936 and won 17 games in his first season. Six years later he advanced to the Yankees on the strength of a brilliant 23-4 season with Newark.

In his first season with the Yankees, the giant from Duarte, Calif., encountered arm trouble and was forced to abandon a promising mound future. Always a powerful batter, John took advantage of the manpower shortage during the war and developed into one of the best wartime outfielders in the American League.

With the return from service of Joe DiMaggio, Charley Keller and Tommy Henrich, Lindell slipped into the background.

Looking as fit as a fiddle after a great season of hockey, first with Saint Paul Saints and for the latter part of the season with New York Rangers National Hockey League club "Bucko" Trainer arrived home last night.

"Bucko" will remain here before rejoining the training camp of the Rangers next week and according to New York sources has a splendid chance of catching a regular berth with the Men of Manhattan.

He played a total of 17 games with the New York club and although his scoring was limited nevertheless he was coming along in fine style at the close of the season and beginning to fit in neatly with the play of the New Yorkers.

An injured knee which has been more or less a jinx to the popular hockeyist again cropped up towards the close of the schedule and kept him out of the lineup the last three games but since then the injury has been responding well to treatment and it is hoped that with the long rest it will be in A-1 condition when next season rolls around.

Rangers have many promising youngsters on their club, Bucko stated and when asked directly what he thought of his own chances replied, "It will be plenty tough." However those who know Trainer can figure that he himself will be hard to dislodge from a berth.

Bucko had high words of praise for the treatment accorded him by the Rangers' officials and teammates. They were all helpful, he said, and passed along many timely tips to him.

Bucko was also quick to pass along much credit to Smith, coach of the Saint Paul Saints, the team he started the season with. He (Smith) was responsible for the improvement in my play, he said and his coaching gave him his chance of performing under the "big top."

Doug (Windsor Daily Star) Vaughn says: "It is no secret that the management of the Detroit Club, as well as many of the Detroit players, were worried about Lumley before the start of the playoffs. Lumley was a mighty-worried young man himself. He knew he wasn't going well and it bothered him all the more when people kept telling him about it."

"One difference between the way Lumley looked at himself and other people looked at him, was that the Red Wings goalie knew it wasn't a case of the jitters. He knew that if he could just get back in stride he would be all right. He was like a baseball player who had lost his sense of timing at the plate."

"Fortunately, for the Red Wings Lumley snapped out of his slump at just the right time. If Duran has been at his brilliant best in this series, and he was, Lumley has been equally so with the result that we've been treated to magnificent puck blocking all the way."

At an enthusiastic baseball meeting held at the P. W. C. auditorium last night, attended by officials and persons interested in the promoting of better baseball in the City, formed a new body known as the Charlottetown Baseball Association.

His Honor Lieutenant Governor J. A. Bernard was elected Honorary President, while Councillor W. H. Beaton was elected as its President. Other officers elected were: Vice-president — Mr. Hawley Crockett; secretary — Mr. James McCallum; executive committee — Messrs. E. V. MacNeil, Fred Whelan, Fred McCabe, Charles Ryan and George Francis.

The purpose of the new association is to act as a governing body to supervise all baseball in the City of Charlottetown and to work in full co-operation with all the various clubs and leagues to promote better baseball here as well as to act as an official body to decide playing dates, settle disputes, arrange schedules, etc.

Many other baseball matters for the forthcoming season were brought up and discussed, including the entry of a Central Senior "B" team to represent the City in an organized league with such centres as Amherst, Sackville, Springhill, etc., which was voted on unanimously. The team will be under the sponsorship of the Charlottetown Abegweit Club.

Plans were also laid for the development of Midget, Juvenile, Junior and Intermediate leagues, and it was felt by all present that every effort should be made to give as many youngsters in the City as possible a chance to play ball in organized leagues.

The first executive meeting of the newly organized association to select its various committees, etc., will be held next Wednesday.

First Period Drive Gives Marlboros Edge In Series

TORONTO, April 6—(CP)—A three-goal outburst by Johnny McLellan, lanky left-winger, tonight paced Toronto Marlboros to a 4-2 victory over Sydney Millionaires, leaving the Maple Leaf farmhands needing only a tie to enter the Eastern Canada senior hockey finals.

The Millionaires, who won the title of comeback kids for their 5-4 victory in overtime Monday night, nearly did it again. The Marlboros need only a tie in the next game, here Friday night, to do it.

A Sydney victory, however, would force the best-of-five series into a sixth game, set for Toronto Monday night.

Maple Leafs Aiming For Third Straight Cup Win

ST. CATHARINES, Ont., April 6—(CP)—Toronto Maple Leafs have to shake off a season-long jinx if they hope to win their third straight Stanley Cup over Detroit Red Wings.

The high-powered Wings, who steam-rolled to the National Hockey League championship by knocking off Montreal Canadiens in the cup semi-final, were too much for the Leafs all season. They won seven games to Toronto's three with the other two tied. And they outscored the Leafs 35-22.

But the Leafs have some jinxes on their side too. Since Clarence (Hap) Day took over as coach in the 1940-41 season they haven't lost a Stanley Cup playoff to the Wings. They beat the Detroiters in the final in 1942, 1945 and 1948 and in the semi-final in 1946.

The Leafs leave for Detroit tomorrow for the opening game of the best-of-seven final Friday night.

and also was charged with supervision of loading operations at other points. The name T. A. Butler, familiarly known as "Andy" will long be inseparably connected with the Potato Growers' Association and many farmers will cherish the memory of this character whose kindly interest in the farmers and their problems was always evidenced.

Since early January this year we have been further handicapped as Mr. F. D. Webster, another stalwart of the Association staff, a faithful member for over 20 years, has been forced to take a rest under doctor's instructions.

We had another problem that of being moved to new quarters due to fire in the Twel Building. Fortunately we were able, through courtesy of Canada Packers, to obtain temporary accommodations in their building and our work was continued with no great loss. In spite of these adversities we have continued to serve you, and just last week we had one of the busiest weeks on record.

Production Problems

This year, in contrast to 1947, presented a different picture to the seller of Island potatoes. We were faced with an unprecedented production in Canada of 92 million bushels. At the same time United States had the second greatest crop in history—440 million bushels, and to add to the problems South American markets were restricted due to currency problems. Realizing this situation in early September, your Association was represented at a conference called in Ottawa, September 20th, to consider the disposition of this year's crop and also to take steps to maintain market in the United States which country threatened to place an embargo on Seed potatoes from Canada. As a result of this conference the market in the United States was kept open. At the same time a plan for the support of potato prices in Canada was prepared. Later, on October 20th, this plan was submitted to the Dominion Cabinet.

Due to the high level of prices in United States because of their high support level this Province was able to market large quantities of Seed. At the same time heavy shipments took place from other parts of Canada with the result that the full quota was filled on December 6th, and just prior to this date the Canadian Government worked out an arrangement with the United States for a continued supply of seed potatoes to that country beyond this date. The details of this plan are well known to all but it is desired to impress on all that this arrangement was the result of intensive conferences and effort on the part of the Department of Trade and Commerce officials at Ottawa and the Department of Agriculture officials from other parts of Canada with the result that the full quota was filled on December 6th, and just prior to this date the Canadian Government worked out an arrangement with the United States for a continued supply of seed potatoes to that country beyond this date.
