Their home was artistically decorated, while the piazza was adorned with colored pompons, and potted plants, and arranged with easy chairs and couch-hammock. Mrs. Alley received in a white embroidered gown with blue satin trimmings, wearing a Venetian necklace with

DO YOU SUFFER FROM BACKACHE ?

When your kidneys are weak and torpid they do not properly perform their functions; your back aches and you do not feel like doing much of anything. You are likely to be despondent and to borrow trouble, just as if you hadn't enough already. Don't be a victim any longer. The old reliable medicine, Hood's Sarsaparilla, gives strength and tone to the kidneys and builds up the whole system. Get it today.

pendant to match, and entertained the ladies in her pleasant way, while Mr. Alley entertained the gentlemen during the afternoon in a ball game, which all enjoyed to the utmost. The children of the Alma School received a cordial invitation, and marched in a body from the school. After enjoying croquet and other games they formed in ranks and marched around the large lawn, carrying pretty pompons in all the different colours, they then formed in two circles around the May pole each holding a coloured ribbon which was attached to the pole, and gave the Maypole march, keeping time to the singing of patriotic songs. At the close of the march three rousing cheers were given for their teacher, Miss Josie Gaudet, and all sang "For She's a Jolly Good Fellow," concluding with three cheers for the Alma school children. Refreshments, including ice cream and various kinds of cake and fruit nectar, were then served. The remainder of the afternoon was spent in social intercourse. As the evening approached the younger people came in large numbers, and the time passed only too quickly in games, piano music and vocal solos. During the evening Mrs. Alley was crowned in an evening dress of rich black satin with trimmings of silk fringe and rushing, wearing a Bohemian garnet necklace with pin to match. Mrs. Robert Hardy, of Montrose, who courteously assisted in entertaining, was very prettily attired in white satin with a shadow lace tunic caught up with rosettes. Although Mr. and Mrs. Alley requested no presents many were presented, including a nice purse of silver. A handsome gift from a Somerville friend was a Guest Book prettily decorated in silver and pansies by hand work, prefaced with the following poem, which will always be to Mr. and Mrs. Alley a pleasant reminder of their anniversary:

A SILVER WISH.

As silver thrice refined,
No dross allowed to stay,
So be my thought for you,
On this heart-happy day;
And as the sun hath shed
By day, on you, his light,
And silver moon and stars
Have glorified the night,
So, friends, may be the state
Of all your future weather;
Sun-glad, star-lighted while
You travel along together.

If You are Thinking About Purchasing a Piano--READ THIS

It is easy to make a mistake in selecting a piano. The majority of people do not know the essentials that mark a good instrument, therefore they may be easily misled into buying a cheap, inferior piano believing they are getting full value for their money. Below are some facts that should be known and carefully considered by intending piano purchasers.

Some Straight Facts Piano Purchasers Should Know.

Assertion is not proof of the quality of an instrument, any more than a man's claim to be honest is proof that he is an honest man.

A poorly made piano is not cheap at any price, any more than a poorly made boot.

If one part of a piano goes wrong it is all wrong so far as that instrument is concerned. If one string could not be kept up to the same pitch with the others what would the violin be worth?

Do you know the number of pounds of strain upon a piano string when it is up to Concert pitch?

An imitation often looks as good as the genuine article.

Such well-known makes of pianos Heintzman & Co., Sherlock-Manning, Karn-Morris, Mendelssohn etc. have been tested and tried and have built up for themselves a reputation of being genuine first-class instruments, and they have stood the test of time.

We buy our pianos for spot cash and get the best possible discounts and we are prepared to meet any honest competition in regard to either price or quality.

We have a few secondhand pianos which we are selling at very reasonable prices.

You will feel better satisfied if you see our stock and get our prices before you buy elsewhere.
