Taschereau Denies Charge In Court

(C. P. By Guardian's Special Wire) SHERBROOKE, Que., Dec. 19.—Premier Taschereau made a special trip to Sherbrooke today to deny in court he had changed provisions of an order-in-council after it had been approved by members of the Quebec cabinet.

Taking the witness stand at the hearing of a suit by employees to recover disputed wages from the Diva Shoe Company, the Premier said Edouard Fortin, company counsel, "erred" when he told the court Mr. Taschereau had changed wording of the order after it had been passed.

Fortin declared yesterday the Premier had changed the order the day after it had been passed last Aug. 22 to provide for a minimum wage of 32 cents per hour for rural shoe workers instead of the 34 cents which Fortin said had been approved by counsel.

This, the Premier wished to deny "in the most emphatic manner." Denial of the charge was made also by Gerard Tremblay, Deputy Minister of Labor, who said it would have been "impossible" for the Premier to have changed the order the day after it was passed as claimed by Fortin. The order,

"Ma" Parsons "Victim" Of Circumstances

(C. P. By Guardian's Special Wire) HALIFAX, Dec. 19.—Christmas prospects looked bleak to widow Frances Parsons today for the first time in her 18 years as a purveyor of Hamburger sandwiches and family provider.

Her two waterfront lunch stands were closed; her ramshackle bungalow near them held just enough coal for a night; she had no money. And she had orders to get off the Harbor Commission's property by the end of the year.

In 18 years, the Commission had decided "Ma" Parsons—as the stevedores knew her—was a trespasser. She was two months behind in her rent for the stands and home, so the court convicted her of trespass and told her to get out.

"I don't know what to do," Ma said when she heard the edict. "I haven't any money, and I have no place to move to. I guess I'll just have to stay."

She was more puzzled than angry at the Commission's attitude. "Why should they take away my place?" she asked. "I've been here 18 years. If they think I don't belong here, then why did they collect rent from me all these years?"

Baby Boy Returned To His Mother

(C. P. By Guardian's Special Wire) DIGBY, N. S., Dec. 19.—The baby boy found sleeping peacefully in Elisha K. Budd's manger, vividly recalling the story of Christmas to Digby, was returned to his mother today, Royal Canadian Mounted Police officers announced tonight, adding the mother's name would remain a secret.

A note pinned to a bundle of clothing placed next to the two-weeks old infant was accompanied by $2 and Mrs. Budd was asked to care for "my baby" for two weeks.

"If I do not return in that time I will send you more," the note said. "Take good care of my baby." The mother said today she had no thought the child would be turned over to the officials when she left it in the Budd barn. She told the police she felt sure also that her boy would not suffer any ill effects from exposure.

The Children's Aid Society has agreed to allow the baby to return to his mother.

MARY ANN GORGES
Mrs. Mary Ann Gorges, 75, widow of Edward Gorges of 175 Gilsom street, Surry, N.H., died Sunday. The funeral was held from her

Christmas Community Chest Fund

A meeting of the committees of the Christmas Community Chest Fund was held Wednesday night in the Town Hall, Summerside. There are a large number of families still to provide for and it is the request of the committees in charge that all donations of food, clothing and money be in not later than Monday night. It is also the wish that all second-hand clothing and toys be sterilized or cleaned in some way before they are handed in. The Hammer Committee are asking for donations of any of the following: Meat, vegetables, sugar, tea, butter, bread, preserves or pickles, pudding or cake, apples, candy or nuts. This club is co-operating with the Santa Pals in seeing that every child and needy person receives food and such clothing as they are most in need of.

Mr. L. W. Hancock presided and reports of the different sub-committees were heard.—S.

Flintzorn (the barber): "Just trim the ends, I s'pose? I remember you said your bride liked to toy with your crisp curls." Bonecraper (the bridegroom): "That was before we were married. Clip it close to the scalp so she can't get a grip on it."

AUSTRALIA'S RECOVERY
(Canadian Press)
VICTORIA, Australia, Dec. 19.—Railway revenue for the last financial year in Victoria state amounted to $44,903,385—an increase for the year of $1,107,690. Passenger traffic showed the greatest comeback.

Reminds Canada Of Obligation To The League

(C. P. By Guardian's Special Wire) TORONTO, Dec. 19.—Hon. G. Howard Ferguson, former Canadian High Commissioner to London, reminded the Dominion today that the name of the country was written large at the bottom of the Covenant of the League of Nations.

plugging co-operation with other nations towards restraint of armed conflict. Terming the League Covenant a "promissory note"—an undertaking of collective security—the Conservative former Premier of Ontario deprecated criticism in certain quarters of Great Britain's efforts to get a peaceful settlement of the Italian-Ethiopian conflict.

"As long as it is possible to carry out League obligations, Great Britain intends to do so," Mr. Ferguson said. He warned: "The League of Nations provides for collective action; if that becomes impossible, dissolution of the League is imminent."

"Great Britain has a definite task and we who live so far away from the centre of developments should withhold criticism of a nation trying to extricate the world from the gravest situation since 1914."
