Girls Body Still Unidentified

(A. P. By Guardian's Special Wire)

BOSTON, July 19.—The body of Hazel May Ammons who met her death Monday when allegedly thrown from the third story of a Boston hotel by her blind companion, Forrest R. Wells, lay unclaimed at a Boston mortuary today.

Police said they had received no answer to telegrams sent the girl's father, Charles Ammons of Wheeling, W.Va.

Police said a brother of Wells, living at Columbus, O., left that city July 4 en route to Boston by motor and they expressed belief the brother still was unaware that Forrest is being held charged with murdering of the girl.

New Product By Pure Milk Co.

The Pure Milk Co. which has long been an asset and convenience to citizens of Charlottetown has added another product, "Chocolate Drink." The new product will be carried by all their teams and may be purchased at any of the leading stores.

"Chocolate drink" has proved very popular in the larger cities and the Pure Milk Co. have received many requests from their customers for this new beverage. The drink is very nutritious with a delicious flavour and is a great favourite with young and old. To be enjoyed to the full it should be served ice cold, but the flavour is not impaired by heating and it may be served as a healthful bed time drink.

A feature of the Garden City Chocolate Drink is that the chocolate remains in suspension. There is no chance of the chocolate separating and sinking to the bottom. Before the product was put on the market a bottle of Chocolate Drink was left in the Mechanical Refrigerator of the Pure Milk Co. for a week and not a sign of sediment appeared.

The same extreme care is taken in preparing Chocolate Drink as in other Pure Milk Products. All milk is tested before being accepted. It passes first through a clarifier then to the glass lined pasteurizer and through the cooler to the bottling machine without once coming in contact with anything but the perfectly kept machinery.

The home of Pure Milk has recently been renovated and the exterior of the building painted yellow and green, presenting a very pleasant appearance with its window boxes of blue flowers.

Fine Recital Of Folk Songs & Folk Music

Of unusual interest recently was the recital of folk-songs and folk-dances given by the pupils of Miss Rena Wood of Marshfield. These pupils were selected from boys and girls belonging to Charlottetown, Marshfield, and the Mt. Herbert Orphanage. This was the first performance of its kind ever given in Prince Edward Island and Miss Wood, who has studied folk dancing and singing in Boston, is much to be congratulated on the excellent results of her teaching. The ages of the various pupils range from those of 4 and 5 upwards, but all contributed most excellently to the programme. The grounds of the Orphanage, where the recital was held made an ideal situation for the occasion, being prettily decorated under the supervision of Miss Beer, matron of the Orphanage. The children wore suitable costumes and made a coloured picture, with the varied greens of the lawns and the fields of the surrounding countryside. Excellent music was provided by a small string ensemble under the leadership of Harry Gomez, well known local violinist, consisting of an introductory overture as well as incidental accompaniments to the dancing. Mrs. Gomez accompanied the singing and Miss Berna Huestis assisted Miss Wood in supervising the many children taking part. The dances chosen from those of England, Denmark, Sweden, and other countries were skilfully executed, bringing out the particular characteristics of the different nations. The folk songs also showed the splendid training of Miss Wood and were sung in a spirited manner which was a delight to hear. This opening recital shows splendid promise for anything further Miss Wood may do and she is to be wished every success in her work here in the future.
