IN MEMORIAM

MRS. EDWIN C. JOHNSTONE

Very rarely indeed has Queens County witnessed so large and so impressive a funeral service as that which was held on Sunday afternoon, July 23rd, for Mrs. Edwin C. Johnstone in the Clyde River Presbyterian Church. Almost every home in the surrounding districts was represented in the vast and sympathetic throng. In the minds of many gathered there was the remembrance of the beautiful marriage service that had been celebrated in the same church only five years before when Isabel Elizabeth Murchison had become the wife of Edwin Cecil Johnstone of Charlottetown. Mrs. Johnstone was the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Alexander J. Murchison of Clyde River, P. E. I. She was born on August 31, 1903 and after receiving her public school education at Clyde River she successfully completed the first and second year course in Prince of Wales College. She taught school for two years in the Province and for a year continued her education at the Ladies' College, Halifax, N. S. In every community in which she made her home, even for a brief period, she left an ever widening circle of friends.

After her marriage on July 6, 1928, to Edwin C. Johnstone, Mrs. Johnstone made her home with her husband in Charlottetown and two years later there was born to them a daughter, Jane Bonnell. In the midst of this unalloyed happiness of their home life there was no warning for another year and a half of the sad blow that was so soon to fall. About eighteen months before her death Mrs. Johnstone developed the malady, which after an extended period of weakness and distress, proved fatal. Throughout a long illness Mrs. Johnstone displayed a spirit of almost unbelievable heroism. Always her thought was for her loved ones and never for herself. No matter how weak she may have been not once did she forget to express grateful thanks to the nurses and doctors who ministered so faithfully to her needs, and to those who so unselfishly gave of their blood in transfusions that her life might be prolonged.

The funeral service in the Clyde River Church was a memorable one, only a small proportion of the people being able to gain admittance to the building. Rev. R. H. Stavert, minister of the church, presided and was assisted at the home and church by Reverends C. N. Brown, Charlottetown and W. J. MacLeod. A message replete with tender Christian sympathy and hope was spoken by Rev. J. Sidney Bonnell of Winnipeg, Man., an intimate friend of the deceased and her husband.

The passing of this young life will be mourned not only by the immediate family and relatives, but by a host of people whose lives are richer for having known so fine and true a friend.

Besides her parents, husband and little daughter, there are left to mourn her passing the following brothers and sisters: Norma, Mrs. W. W. Brown, Charlottetown; Dr. Randolph at Hunter River, P. E. I.; Dr. Alex. of New York; and Dalvay and William at home.

The floral tributes were many and beautiful.

The pall bearers were: Watson Livingstone, John Heartz, Sterling MacLean, W. W. Brown, Clarence Murchison and Brent Howatt.

Divorce In The Tropics

(Canadian Press)

PORT OF SPAIN, Trinidad, Aug. 26—Permitted only after fierce political battle between Protestants and Roman Catholics for more than 10 years, divorce is making inroads into even the tropics.

The first divorce ever granted in the history of the colony was issued by the Chief Justice today in a decree nisi to Mrs. Emma Huggins, formerly Miss Perreira, descendant of an old Curacao family, from her husband, George Huggins, youngest son of the President of the Associated West Indies Chambers of Commerce.

The divorce law was proclaimed in Trinidad last January.

A Galt man upon entering a saddler's asked for a single spur.

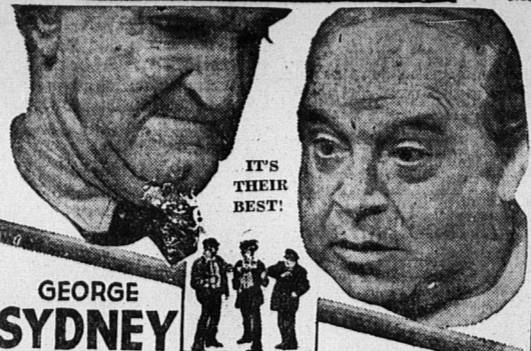

"What's the use of one spur?" asked the man.

"Well," replied Sandy, "if I can get one side of the horse to go the other side will hae to come wi' it."

CUTTING AND THRESHING WELL UNDERWAY

(Special to The Guardian)

WINNIPEG, Man., Aug. 26—Over the whole of the grain growing areas of Western Canada cutting and threshing are progressing rapidly except where heavy rains have temporarily delayed operations. Some southern areas report cutting completed and threshing varying from 50 percent to 75 percent completed. The output of wheat, oats and barley shows great variation not only between districts but between farms in the same district. As the season progresses, and as threshing proceeds northwards outdoors will be heavier and show more consistency, according to the last weekly crop report of the Department of Agriculture Canadian National Railways.

In Southern and Central Manitoba, cutting is almost completed and threshing, until the heavy rains of the last few days was proceeding rapidly. In the Dauphin Swan River territory, weather, the beginning of the week, was warm but heavy rain on the 23rd stopped operations for the balance of the week. Wheat cutting is almost completed and binding of coarse grains is underway. Yields vary but it is generally considered that the output will be higher than an average year.

Early general rain fell over southern Saskatchewan and was welcomed by many of the drought districts. Precipitation came too late to be of any material benefit except to revive burnt-up pastures and lay the dust for fall plowing. Rains have also been spotty over the whole of Central and Northern Saskatchewan and have delayed all harvest operations. All sub-divisions on the Prince Albert division which showed so much promise early in the season have faded badly and only a fair to average crop is expected from this wide area in the park belt.

Along the Drumheller, Oyen, Stettler, Three Hills, Red Deer sub-divisions, in Alberta, weather has been warm with some good rains which will improve feed and pasture conditions. Heavy hail visited parts of the three hills and Stettler subdivisions and caused considerable damage. Cutting is well advanced and threshing is expected to begin in a day or so. Wheat is grading well but outdoors show no uniformity. North Central Alberta reports weather warm and dry and the Camrose-Vegreville sub-divisions expect yields of from 16 to 25 bushels to the acre. In the Peace River country, harvesting has started and, since commencement, weather has been fine and warm with only a few showers in some districts. All crops are in good condition and no damage is reported from hail or drought or insects.

The liquidation of cattle from drought areas in southern parts of Saskatchewan and Manitoba has depressed prices. All classes except good quality, grass fed, butcher cattle, showing considerable kill, are lower than a week ago. The output for these thin cattle is limited and many of them are going to the packers as canners. Lowered receipts of hogs has strengthened the price and this strength should continue for some little time.

Mistress—"Mary, what a kitchen. Every pot, pan, and dish is soiled; the table looks like the day after a cyclone. What have you been doing?"

Mary—"Well, ma'am, blessed if it be my fault. The young ladies has been showing me how they bile a pertater at their cooking school."

OFFERINGS LIGHT

Offerings in the pit were comparatively light. Hedging operations were small and this, coupled with export purchases and some buying by local houses, aided the market in maintaining its gain. Reports of a wheat agreement being reached at London with a quota established for exporting countries had little effect as traders were lacking in details.

Liverpool, reflecting frost in northern wheat areas of Canada and continued dry weather in the Argentine was sharply higher. Quotations near the close were 1½ to 1¼ above the previous finish.

The Hall Potato Digger never bruises the potatoes; it is easily handled by two horses; its upkeep is the smallest of any digger on the market; it is strongly built and is guaranteed against the heaviest service; when buying it you purchase at the same time the greater part of a hiller and cultivator as the same frame is used on all these implements. In a dry season, such as we have, with the prospects of a good price for potatoes, the absence of bruises will pay for the digger in one season.

WHEAT PRICES GAIN IN "PEG" EXCHANGE

(Canadian Press)

WINNIPEG, Aug. 25—Encouraged by higher Liverpool quotations and a broadened export demand for Canadian wheat, futures prices turned upward on the Grain Exchange today and closed with gains of more than a cent over the previous finish.

Closing quotations showed gains of 1¼ to 1½ cents in wheat futures. Values were a little off from top levels where offerings increased, but the market was strong at the close, reflecting export business estimated at 1,000,000 bushels.

October option closed at 71½, Dec. at 73½ and May at 78½ cents.

Pit trade was fairly active in the early dealings but tended to slacken as the session wore on. Higher Liverpool quotations gave values a boost at the opening and the market was quite firm for the balance of the day.

Offerings Light

Offerings in the pit were comparatively light. Hedging operations were small and this, coupled with export purchases and some buying by local houses, aided the market in maintaining its gain. Liverpool, reflecting frost in northern wheat areas of Canada and continued dry weather in the Argentine was sharply higher. Quotations near the close were 1½ to 1¼ above the previous finish.

Under improved demand, cash grains spreads were fractionally improved. Coarse grains were higher in sympathy with wheat.

A DREAM OF DUNK RIVER

In fancy I stand 'neath a willow spreading willow,
My feet in the soft damp moss they are sunk,
And I am enjoying a day of real fishing
Along the banks of the old River Dunk.

The people in this land they often go fishing,
They come home wet and tired with spirits that's sunk,
There is only one place for a real Isaac Walton
And that's on the banks of the old River Dunk.

How often in boyhood after I had been fishing,
I'd look with delight on a generous hunk
Of a bright speckled beauty all ready for eating
That I caught in the waters of the old River Dunk.

The streams of New Brunswick are muddy and yellow,
As a place to go fishing I think they are punk,
Not like the clear crystal water that's teaming
With the good fat trout like the old River Dunk.

You do not stand waiting when there you go fishing,
For before your hook to the bottom has sunk
You have a fight on with a real speckled beauty
That swam in the waters of the old River Dunk.

How often I've felt since I came to New Brunswick,
When dull and disheartened, in the blues I am sunk,
That I'd like to take a trip to the Island
And have a day's fishing along the old River Dunk.

That's where I've spent full many glad hours,
When of Mother's pies with a good generous hunk,
And get some nice girl to go for an outing,
And have a day's fishing along the old Dunk.

Its banks they are cool and always well shaded,
By the tree limbs that oft in its current are sunk,
As they shade off the sun while you lie in enjoyment
And fish with delight in the old River Dunk.

So now if you're planning to have a vacation,
For the sport of a day's good fishing you feel,
Just take the Boat and cross to the Island

And go to Dunk River and fill the old creel.

How well I remember in the month of November
To dodge the Bailiff took cunning and spunk,
When we went a-poaching with torch in the night time
To fish when forbidden on the banks of the Dunk.

We counted no wrong the thing we were doing,
We counted a Bailiff a Government skunk,
And many a salmon I've taken in secret
While I wandered at night on the banks of the Dunk.
—Jos. Frizzell, Port Egin, N. B. May 31, 33.

A little circle of suburban friend were discussing philanthropy,
"Only yesterday," spoke up Mr. Jones, with great feeling, "I refused a woman a small sum of money and in consequence I passed a sleepless night. The tone of her reproachful voice never left me for a minute."

"You have indeed a kind heart," put in Mrs. Smith, "who was the woman?"
"My wife," said Jones.
