It declared they were purchased from Juan March, wealthy Spanish financier and said by some sources to be a backer of the insurrection.

Church was declared to have visited the island personally aboard one of the planes.

The Italian flag, it said, was hoisted alongside the red and gold of the Spanish insurgents' banner throughout the island.

TOLEDO, SPAIN, Sept. 20.—Government forces fired the ruined Alcazar with gasoline today in a futile effort to smoke out the Spanish fascists within. It became apparent the fires would have little effect on the ancient barracks, blasted by dynamite last week and shelled for more than eight weeks, with half its 1,700 men, women and children already believed dead.

Ordering renewal of artillery and machine gun fire against the fortress. General Jose Asensio asserted forces would capture the Alcazar without damaging the deep cellars which he believed the women and children were sheltered.

During the night the fascists made a desperate sortie near the Alcazar Asensio said. "They were driven back with heavy losses. We believe between 50 and 60 of the fast dwindling garrison were killed. Their fire today is much weaker than that of yesterday."

—JOLLY PARY—Mr. and Mrs. Fred Gamble and Miss Reta opened up their lovely home on Linkletter Road last Tuesday for another little jolly party. A delicious cornball was the chief item on the program, after which a contest was arranged to guess the number of kernels on a cob of corn. Mr. Albert Linkletter won first prize and the consolation prize went to Pollard Murray. A dance in Fairview hall rounded out the evening's fun and all returned home feeling that they had thoroughly enjoyed themselves.—S needed was a third character reference. The father, quietly philosophical, signed.

Flying Monarch

From 1924 until 1927 he trained in his short-term school and then went straight to Capt. F. F. Guest as a private pilot. Later he applied for the job of teaching Edward, then Prince of Wales, more aviation tricks. Fielden was made chief pilot and extra equerry to the Prince in 1933, and has also instructed the Duke of Kent and Duke of Gloucester. Last month Edward instituted the new office and put three assistants and a secretary under Fielden's orders.

Extremely modest, he prefers to be called "mister." He says its part of his job to keep in good health. So he drinks little alcohol, rations his cigarettes and has no special food fads. Just eats what is put before him. In 1928 he was awarded the Air Force Cross for distinguished peace time flying. He has never won a race, but in 1932 he was second in the King's Cup air race when he piloted the Prince of Wales' "Comper Swift." That same year he set a new cross-England record when he flew the Prince's machine from Liverpool to Skegness, a distance of 136 miles, in 49 minutes, or 2.7 miles per minute. This curly-haired unmarried pilot has only one admitted fear—publicity, and a fear that he may one day be described as "handsome, laughing-eyed," etc.

Resolutions of thanks were extended to the Tryon Society for the use of their Church and also for their kind hospitality; to the retiring president and secretary for their efficient work and faithful service during the past year; and to all those who had contributed in any way to the success of today's program. The thanks of the Union were extended to Dr. Croteau for his instructive address. The convention also resolved that each one, individually, and in our Society would endeavor this coming winter to establish and promote community study groups to explain what it means in our time and place. To live Christian lives and to cooperate wherever possible with the Y. P. Union.

The visiting Societies were the guests of the Tryon Society to a sumptuous supper.

An invitation was accepted to hold the next convention at Kensington.

service to Yarmouth to be resumed until Wednesday or Thursday. Between Liverpool and Yarmouth, they said, more than a dozen washouts had been reported on the roadbed.

HEAVY RAINS
Rain, and not wind, caused most damage in Nova Scotia and high-ways in some sections were impassable because of floods.

The Salmon River bridge near Yarmouth was washed away, and the only automobile that got to Shelburne from Lockeport, detoured around a strip of low-lying highway by driving along the railway right-of-way for a mile.

A $3,000,000 apple crop in the Annapolis Valley escaped the storm, but heavy rain caused thousands of dollars damage to grain crops.

The Lockeport reservoir burst from pressing waters and an eight-foot deep torrent rushed down to the sea, carrying away a large ice-house, a barn owned by Vernon MacKay and a section of the Halifax-Yarmouth highway along with trees, rocks and debris. Mrs. MacKay, returning to her home from the barn, was forced to run to escape the rushing water.

Meteorological instruments at Halifax Citadel recorded a rainfall of 3.79 inches during the 24 hours the storm lasted and a wind velocity of 44 miles per hour at three o'clock Saturday afternoon when the storm was at its height.

THREE INJURED
Three people were injured in an automobile-truck collision near Kentville when a down pour of rain caused poor visibility and a score of other accidents were reported in the province during the storm.

Shipping off the Nova Scotia coast was not seriously hampered by the storm sweeping up towards Newfoundland from the Caribbean. The steamship Baraco reported her steering apparatus damaged 200 miles east of Sable Island, but she said she was in no immediate danger. The German Zeppelin Hindenburg passed through the storm zone on a regular flight to Lakehurst, N.J.

Y. P. U. Hold Annual Meeting

The Western section of the Young Peoples Union of the United Church met in annual session on Friday evening in the United Church at Tryon.

Mr. Albert Linkletter, presided; there were two sessions, afternoon and evening.

Twentythree societies were represented by 175 delegates. At the evening meeting there were a great number of visitors.

The theme of the Convention was "To help one Another to be Christians".

Dr. Croteau of Charlottetown gave an inspiring and instructive address on the value of co-operation and Credit Union. Rev. Russell Woodside, Lot 16, addressed the evening meeting and took for his subject, "Christ's Challenge to Me."

At the afternoon meeting the reports of the societies were received and were all most encouraging. Discussions took place in connection with the work of the Union.

The election of officers is as follows:

Hon. Pres. Rev. Geo. Somers, Margate; President, Mr. Keir Duggan, Kensington; Secretary Treasurer, Elmer Inman, Tryon; Convenors for the Committees are, Christian Missions, Dorothy Auld, Freetown; Christian Citizenship, Robert Betton, Lot 16; Christian Culture, Anita Webb, Cavendish; Christian Fellowship, Athol Cotton, Kensington; Christian Leadership, Louis Cairns, Freetown; Publication, Wesley Crozier, Hamilton; Education, Rev. Mr. Paterson, Cavendish.

Miss Margaret Pillman installed the new officers.

Greetings were brought from the Presbyterian Church by Rev. Mr. White of Tyne Valley.

Resolutions of thanks were extended to the Tryon Society for the use of their Church and also for their kind hospitality; to the retiring president and secretary for their efficient work and faithful service during the past year; and to all those who had contributed in any way to the success of today's program. Emery-Campbell Wedding At Montrose

A very interesting wedding was solemnized at the home of Mr. and Mrs. David Campbell, Montrose when their daughter, Miss Florence Martha, was united in marriage to Mr. William Emery, son of Dr. and Mrs. George Emery of Worcester, Mass.

The ceremony took place on Tuesday evening September 15th, at 7 o'clock. Rev. M. D. MacLeod, of Elmsdale tied the nuptial knot, in the presence of immediate relatives and friends.

The living room was very tastefully decorated with pink and yellow snap-dragons and ferns and made a charming setting for the bridal party.

As the bride entered the room with her father, who gave her in marriage, Mrs. (Rev.) MacLeod played the wedding march.

The bride was very winsome in a lovely wedding dress of white lace made on princess lines with long sleeves, her veil of silk net fastened with a rhinestone tiara in eap effect which fell in soft folds over the train of her dress. Her bouquet was of mixed flowers and maiden hair fern.

Miss Ruth Campbell attended her sister and wore a gown of yellow organdy with small beret and accessories in matching shades. She carried a bouquet of sweet peas and baby's breath.

Mr. George Emery of Wellesley, Mass., supported his brother as groomsmen.

The bride's mother was gowned in black lace and carried a corsage bouquet of American beauty roses.

During the signing of the register Mrs. Allan Clark, aunt of the bride sang very sweetly "I love you truly".

After the ceremony a reception was held attended by friends and relatives.

The dining room was artistically decorated with yellow marigolds, golden glow, and ferns in lovely autumn colours.

The table, centered with the bride's cake, was lighted with yellow candles in silver candlesticks shedding a soft light over the assembled company.

Out of town guests were Mr. and Mrs. Carl Crockett and Mrs. Maude Crockett, Summerside; Mr. and Mrs. F. T. Good of Worcester, Mass. uncle and aunt of the bride; Miss Laura Hardy, Worcester, Mass., aunt of the bride, also from Worcester, and Mr. George Emery of Wellesley, Mass.

For travelling the bride wore a brown tweed suit with beaver trimmings hat and shoes to match. The young couple will spend their honeymoon motoring in Northern Quebec and the Gaspé Peninsula; on their return Mr. and Mrs. Emery will reside in Boylston, Mass. The Guardian joins their many friends in hearty congratulations.

Previous to her marriage Miss Campbell was the night superintendent at Hahnemann Hospital at Worcester and was tendered a pre-nuptial shower by the Superintendent and nursing staff.

The bride was also the guest of honour at several informal showers given by relatives and friends in Worcester.

Boy Scout Matters Are Discussed

Field Commissioner Edward J. Mitchell, who is on the Island in the interest of scouting addressed a gathering of the Scout Council, of Summerside on Friday evening to discuss Scout Problems.

Mr. J. J. Morris, Commissioner for Prince Edward Island, presided and in a few remarks introduced Mr. Mitchell.

Mr. Morris regretted that lack of Leaders was hindering the advancement of Scouting on the Island, in spite of the fact that considerable money had been spent on Camps for training young men for leaders. The boys are not at fault, they are very enthusiastic but there is no one to lead them.

Mr. Mitchell said that the Island is a wonderful country for Scouting and that splendid organization work had been done. The Island ranked first in trained leadership but that was no good unless it was applied to Scouting. He believed organized Church Groups are best. He believed that scouting was the best possible influence for world peace that has ever been known. The International Jamboree where 40,000 Scouts of all nations mingle together in camp life cannot fail to bring about a better feeling between nations, and as the boys of today are the citizens of tomorrow it must bring about happier relations between the peoples of the world.

The speaker was struck with the fact that although boys in Germany were no longer allowed to be Scouts, that Hitler could not quench the Scouting spirit in the boys who had belonged to the Brotherhood of Scouts and as the train bearing the boys going to the Jamboree in Hungary, the former German Scouts lined up along the route and lustily cheered the boys. That was a wonderful example of what scouting does for international friendliness.

Mr. Mitchell said there was a great need for Rovers, as they often solved the difficulty of Leaders.

Many present expressed their views on the local situation. Mr. E. J. Hallet, Assistant Commissioner for Prince County, said that the newly organized troupe at Borden was a splendid example of the influence scouting has over boys. The young boys of Borden had got quite out of control through lack of leadership in the right channels and every week there were reports of damage to property and such like; but now since Scout Master Ceretti had organized a Scout Troup, there is none of this vandalism and even the older boys want to be in the game. Bedouque and Alberton both have very good troops. He felt there was lots of material for scouting in Summerside if leaders could be found.

Rev. Father Murray also expressed the view that a number of groups could be organized if leaders could be found to take care of them.

On motion of Mr. A. R. Brennan a committee was formed to look into the situation and report to Mr. Mitchell at a later date.—S

A Ministerial Order by the Dominion Deputy Minister of Agriculture states that the issuing of permits for the importation into Canada of cattle, sheep, goats, other ruminants, and swine from the British Isles will now be considered. This order removes the necessity for the detention of these animals in English, Scottish, or Irish quarantine stations prior to embarkation for Canada. The restrictions in importation into Canada were occasioned some time ago by an outbreak in Great Britain of foot and mouth disease which was promptly dealt with. Sixty days have now elapsed since the removal of the ban in Britain.

Presentation And Address To Miss Gladys McCourt

Friends and neighbours gathered at the home of Miss Gladys McCourt, at Emerald recently to bid her farewell previous to her departure to enter Mt. St. Marys Charlottetown, to join the Sisterhood of St. Martha.

A jolly social time was held and during the evening an address was read by Miss Margaret MacQuaid to Miss McCourt followed by a presentation of a club bag. The gift was presented by Miss Gladys Croken on behalf of the assembled guests. Miss McCourt replied to the address in a few gracious words and thanked one and all for their beautiful gift, which would always remind her of her friends at home.

Following is the address:—
Miss Gladys McCourt:
Dear Gladys:—As time marches on in life we come sooner or later to the place where we decide which path we shall follow.

Although at a very early age you have arrived at this point and tonight we have assembled here to bid you farewell.

As a school chum your presence shall be greatly missed from our midst and we shall always be mindful of those happy days of youth you have always been obedient and kind and possessed of a quiet and attractive traits of character which stole their ways into our hearts. In choosing your vocation, you have picked out a very honorable one, a vocation in which you shall be free from the many trials and temptations of life and in which you shall be able to return greater thanks to our kind and Heavenly Father.

In conclusion may we ask you to accept this small gift as a token of our esteem for you and may we assure you that our prayers and good-wishes shall always be with you. May you be blessed with good health and God's Grace that you may accomplish your great enterprise.

Signed on behalf of your Friends and neighbours.
