An Adventure In Years
 By CAROLYN BEECHER

Chapter XI.
 "We might play cut-throat," Paul Delong proposed. He was very fond of a riddle, although he played only a fair game. "What do you say?"
 "Good suggestion," said Sonja.
 "Those two young things can watch us or go take a walk in the moonlight."
 "If you will take the walk," Dora said, looking at Ned. "I hate watching people do anything—especially play cards. They always get cross before they finish."
 "Ned quickly approved, and they went out. It seemed to Sonja that with them all light had gone.
 But she knew Beverly's eyes were upon her, so she called all her willpower into play to help her. In spite of herself her thoughts wandered. What were they doing?
 What saying? She wished it were morning so she could ask Ned what he thought of Dora. Would he be honest and tell her?
 It was over an hour later that she heard their voices on the porch laughing gay voices, the voices of inconsequent youth. She wanted to call to them. But she dared not.
 What was it she felt? Love for Ned, or simply jealousy of that blond-haired girl out there on the porch. She tried to listen, to hear what they were saying—to detect by the tone they used the feeling that their walk in the moonlight had awakened in them for each other. But in vain. All she heard was the ripple of their young vol-ces, an occasional burst of laughter. It was maddening!
 What sort of a spell had this boy cast over her? Oh, why had she married Beverly? Why had she been afraid of poverty? Life was so unfair, had always been unfair to her. The very unfairest thing of all had been to let her care —she used the word instead of love for Ned, if—Her thought were halted by their laughing entrance into the room.
 Their faces were flushed, Dora's hair wind-blown. How young she was, and just how lovely!
 They stopped playing and Sonja

AUCTION SALE

I am instructed by James E. Mc Kenna, South Melville to sell by auction on his premises on Monday April 25th, at one o'clock sharp.
 The following stock, crop and implements.

1 mare general purpose, 7 yrs.

old, 1 mare Clydesdale, 3 yrs. old,

1 mare, Clydesdale, 2 yrs. old, 1 yearling from Harry F, 3 farrow cows, 2 heifers, 2 yrs. old, 1 heifer 1 1/2 yrs. old, 3 steers, 2 yrs. old, 3 calves year old, 4 sheep with lambs at side, 1 pure bred ram, 2 pigs and 50 hens.

IMPLEMENTS: 1 Massey Harris binder, No. 4, 5 ft. cut, 1 hay mower, Frost & Wood, 1 hay rake, Frost & Wood, 1 broad cast seeder, asked Dora a few questions, studying the girl at the same time.

 "Yes, she had been away at school —had finished now and was going to keep house for her father. She loved to feel she was of use to him.
 He had been lonely since her mother died. Oh, no! She was never lonely! There was so much to do —riding, music, her young friends, and then dancing, parties. There wasn't time to be lonely!
 They took their leave soon after. Beverly and Ned walked part way home with them. She had hoped Ned would stay with her, but to Beverly's "Come along, Ned!" he had quickly responded, simply saying:
 "It's too bad to leave you alone.
 We'll not be long." Even that was a little comfort. Beverly never thought or cared if she were alone.
 She crossed the room to a mirror. Life had not yet worn the face that gazed back at her, a tiny frown puckering the brow. There were no lines, no signs of that middie age which was such a horrible nightmare to her. She smiled, and as she did she thought:
 "I have a few years—why not make the most of them?" Then because of what "the most of them" implied, she covered her face with her hands and breathed a prayer for help.
 When they returned Beverly said:
 "You made a hit with Delong, Sonia. He was particularly pleased that you were so nice to his girl. She's a little beauty—Isn't she, Ned?"
 "She was nice to me." The answer was like Ned. He never seemed to notice girls—not as girls. The few he had met since Sonia knew him had been younger than he, long-haired growing young things, as much boy as girl in their thoughts and manners.
 That careless answer brought back all Sonia's happiness. Surely she need have no fear of Dora Delong taking Ned from her. She now thought of him as belonging to her. At one time as a son, then and more frequently, as something nearer—yet nothing of wrong in the relation.
 "She was a romantic little fool!" she told herself over and over as she prepared for bed, while Ned and Beverly smoked just one pipe before retiring. "I wish I had no conscience! That I dared take what the gods have sent me!" When Beverly came up Sonia saw him look at her curiously.
 "That girl—the girl of Delong's—she would make a good wife for Ned," he remarked hesitating before retiring. "I wish I had no conscience! That I dared take
 what the gods have sent me!"
 "Since when have you turned match-maker?" Sonia calmly queried.

Film makes teeth dingy

That viscous film you feel is the teeth's chief enemy. Most tooth troubles are now traced to it.
 It clings to teeth, gets between the teeth and stays there, as much boy as girl in their thoughts and manners. So very few people have escaped discoloration and decay.

Two ways to fight it

Dental science has now found two effective ways to fight film. They are combined in a new-day tooth paste—Pepsodent—made to meet modern requirements.

The scientific film combatant, approved by modern authorities and now advised by leading dentists everywhere—to bring five desired effects. All druggists supply the large tubes.

For the way that brings prettier teeth

Do as millions have done—make this ten-day test.
 See how film removal beautifies the teeth. Learn how it makes safer teeth. Brush your teeth in the modern way and watch all the good effects.

Each use of Pepsodent brings five effects which dentists now desire. It attacks the film. It keeps the teeth so highly polished that film cannot easily adhere.

It increases the salivary flow, which is Nature's great tooth-protecting agent. It multiplies the starch digestant in the saliva. That to digest the starch deposits which otherwise may form acid. It multiplies the alkalinity of the saliva, to neutralize the acids which cause tooth decay.

Thus Pepsodent is bringing to millions whiter, cleaner, safer teeth. Leading dentists everywhere are now urging its adoption.

Results are delightful

Send the coupon for a 10-Day Tube. Note how clean the teeth feel after using. Mark the absence of the viscous film. See how teeth whiten as the film-coats disappear.

All the effects are delightful. All are now considered essential. See and feel them for awhile.
 Read the reasons for them in the book we send.
 Then decide for you and yours between the old ways and the new. Cut out the coupon now.
