Newspaper Pays Bounty For Mountain Lion Pelts

DENVER, Colo., Jan. 23—More than 15,000 deer in Colorado have been saved as the result of a bounty on mountain lions offered by the Denver Post during the last five years.

The bounty system which grants the killer $25 for each adult lion and $10 for each lion cub, was inaugurated five years ago in the interest of game protection. Sportsmen estimate that each mountain lion kills and consumes on an average of 50 deer each year and the Denver newspaper's campaign has resulted in the playing of $5,380 in bounties since 1920. This figure represents 308 lions, adult and cub.

A total of $1,375 in bounties was paid in 1922—the largest amount paid in any of hte five years. In 1920 the sum of $1,265 was paid out; $1,070 in 1921; $785 in 1923 and $885 in 1924.

While the bounty system was intended primarily as game protection, it has resulted in a great saving to stockmen, who claim that the average grown lion commits depredations to cattle and horses each year to the amount of $500.

The bounty is paid upon submission to the newspaper management of the pelt of the animal and an accompanying statement that the animal was slain within the boundaries of the state.

The Post, bounty system, together with the work of the predatory game hunters of the United States biological survey is leading rapidly to the extermination of the greatest destroped of game and range cattle in the Rocky Mountain region.

THE MARKETS

(United Press)

MONTREAL, Que., Jan. 23.—There was a further demand from continental buyers today for Canadian spring wheat and a little business was done, but exporters generally stated that the trade with the United Kingdom was dull. New York exporters were also in the market for wheat and they bid 8 1-2 cents per bushel over the Winnipeg May option for No 1 Northern and 2 cents per bushel over No 4 wheat f.o.b. Portland for January shipment.

There was some demand from local buyers for Ontario malting barley and sales of car lots were made at $1.09 per bushel, extrack. A stronger feeling prevailed for Ontario oats and prices were advanced another 1 cent per bushel. Prices for Canadian western oats were unchanged.

Owing to the continued upward tendency in wheat prices, the market for spring wheat grades of flour was stronger and prices scored a further advance of 20 cents per barrel. The winter wheat flour trade was inactive. There was no change in the condition of millfeed. The demand for rolled oats was fair. A good business continues to be transacted in all grades of eggs and prices were unchanged. The undertone of the butter market continues easier but prices showed no further change. The tone of cheese is firm with No 1 fodder made goods quoted at 19 1-2 to 20 cents per pound and No 2 grade at 18 1-2 to 19 cents per pound. Crdp beans were quoted ac $2.90 per bushel.

OTTAWA, Ont., Jan. 23.—The easier feeling in the fresh egg market continues, due to increasing receipts but as yet prices show very little change. In parts of the West some United States fresh have arrived which are jobbing at $20.50 per case and retailing at 75 cents per dozen.

Toronto fresh specials 73, extras 65 to 70, storage extras 56 to 57, firsts 53, seconds at 47 to 48.

Montreal easier, fresh extras 63 to 64, storage extras 51.

Manitoba and Saskatchewan markets unchanged.

Alberta dealers are quoting delivered extras 65, firsts 60, seconds 50.

British Columbia local fresh firm. Dealers are paying delivered extras 53, firsts 51, extras jobbing 57, firsts 55, pullet extras 47.

His Stomach Removed, Man is Recovering

BALTIMORE, Md., Jan. 23.—Minus a stomach which was removed a week ago in an operation at the Johns Hopkins Hospital a man is taking food regularly and apparently is recovering.

It is the first instance of such an operation being performed successfully in Maryland, according to Dr. J. M. T. Finney, surgeon in charge of the case. The operation was found necessary because of a tumor.

In a discussion before the eBaltimore City Medical Society, Dr. Finney said that a pathological study of a dog's intestines some time after the stomach was removed showed that a section of the intestines had enlarged to serve as a stomach.

Dr. Finney asserted that only 32 such operations ever had been performed, and that of these one-half were successful, the patients developing normal appetites and living for many years.

Frisco's Chinatown is Network of Radio Aerials

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 23.—Chinatown holds the local record for the greatest number of aerials to the block. In one square there are 23 sets. The picturesque Oriental roofs are a maze of these wires.

The elder Chinese like the music best, as it is difficult for them to understand radio talks, but their children, all students at American schools, interpret them rapidly.

Gon San-mue, interpreter for the immigration service, recently wrote to one of the broadcasting stations: "Automobiles are so numerous in Chinatown on Sundays that I am afraid to let my children go out upon the streets, but since I have built my radio set they are content to stay at home."

LONG CREEK CHRISTMAS CONCERT

A most entertaining and profitable event was held in Long Creek on Dec. 23, 1924, when the young people of that vicinity held a Christmas concert in the hall. At 7.30 p.m. Mr. W. E. Stretch was appointed chairman and an excellent program was rendered to an orderly and appreciative audience. The following is a copy of the program:

Opening chorus, by the male choir; recitation, by Arthur Sherren, "Just for Christmas," dialogue, "The Wrong Browns"; recitation, by Flora McArthur, "A Dreadful Mistake," solo by Norman Stretch, "What'll I Do?" (encored); scarf drill, eight girls; dialogue, "Mr. Candle Has Lent the Family Umbrella"; reading, by Mrs. Norman McLean; solo, by Wilfred Stretch, "Why Did I Kiss That Girl?"

Intermission, sale of candy.

Reading, by Rose McDougal (encored); dialogue, "Uncle Joe's Will"; solo (in costume) by Norman Stretch (encored); recitation by Margaret McArthur (encored); dialogue, "That Rascal Pat"; duet, by Norman and Wilfred Stretch; dialogue "Mr. Candle Has Stayed Out Late", closing chorus, by the male choir.

The singing of the National Anthem brought the concert to a close.

The committee wish to thank the ladies of Long reek who kindly donated home-made candy, also Mrs. Hugh McKenzie who took charge of the musical part in such a highly, capable and pleasing manner, and Mr. A. M. McKenzie for the loan of his organ, and Mr. W. E. Stretch for his service as chairman.

FINANCIAL STATISTICS OF PROVINCIAL GOVERNMENTS IN CANADA, 1922

The second report on financial statistics of provincial governments in Canada has just been issued by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics. The same method of classifying and co-ordinating statistics is carried out for the year 1922 as was adopted in the first report, and the data are published under four main headings: Receipts, Expenditures Assets and Liabilities. For purposes of economy in printing costs summary tables, for each individual province, covering the years 1916-1921, are not separated in this report.

A brief analysis of the report shows that there is a steady growth in both receipts and expenditures. The total receipts of all provincial governments were $23,027,122 in 1906; $50,015,795 in 1916 $102,030,458 in 1921 and $116,156,699 in 1922. Worked out on a per capita basis of population the receipts were in 1906 $3.70, in 1916 $6.23, in 1921 $11.63, and in 1922 $12.96. A similar review of expenditures shows a total for all provinces of $21,169,868 or $3.43 per head of the population in 1906; $53,826,219 or $6.71 per head in 1916; $102,569,515 or $11.69 per head in 1921, while in 1922 the expenditures had risen to $112,874,954 being $12.60 per head of the population.

The net increase of receipts between 1921 and 1922 was over $14,000,000. The receipts from lands mines, game, fees, education and miscellaneous sources fell off between 1921 and 1922 to the extent of $1,857,000, but fines increased by $220,985; succession duties by utility corporations as well as other provincial taxation by $2,074,070 while licenses and permits showed an increase of $9,344,217. Under this latter heading, revenue from race track meetings increased by over $2,000,000; motor vehicles licenses by $1,423,000, while liquor control provided an increased revenue of $5,700,000, of which Quebec contributed an increase of $2,860,000, and British Columbia $1,100,000 in 1922, as compared with 1921.

The net increase of expenditure for all provinces for 1922 over 1921 was $10,305,439. The principal items on which public expenditures were increased, were, Civil Government by $451,138, education by $2,355,699, Mothers Allowances under Pensions by $1,567,319, while payments of interest on public debt increased by $6,678,529. There were slight decreases in expenditure on legislation, lands, mines, game and fisheries, administration of justice, while public buildings and works decreased by $1,606,629.

The assets and liabilities are analyzed under a classification which permits of comparability. The increase of expenditure on interest payments connected with public debt, which has been steadily rising in recent years, is due to the fact that bond and debenture liabilities have shown an annual increase for some years past. Offsetting the liability of all provinces there is, of course, a steady general development of the country, and principal provincial assets together with natural resources seem quite adequate to care for liabilities.

Amazing Case

identification he has glanced coldly at it and nodded assent when asked whether he admitted having murdered he youth to whom it belonged.

There were the most heartrending scenes when the mothers of murdered youths were called in to identify some articles of clothing belonging to their sons.

One such case was that of a little boy of fourteen, and all that belonged to him were a gaily-coloured handkerchief and a pair of braces.

"Did you kill this lad?" demanded the judge sternly.

"Yes—if his braces were found in my room I must have," was the reply of the murderer, followed by a poignant shriek of despair from the boy's mother in court.

Then in a flash he turned to the newspaper reporters present and in tones of irritation he said: "You always lie, but do not lie about this case."

Sold in Shop

One of his victims was identified as the doctor who had examined him when a youth and had directed that he be sent to the asylum. When replying to the judge in connection with this particular murder, Haarman remarked:

"You seem to think, Herr Presidenh, that it is an easy matter. It is not really a pleasure to kill people. You cannot imagine how excited one becomes sometimes."

The worst details of all were those supplied by people who answered an appeeal which was flashed on to the screen in all the cinemas throughout Germany. They came forward to tell how they had bought meat from Haarmann when he was running his butcher's shop, and how they had good reason to suspect that the flesh which was sold was the flesh which he had stripped from his victims.

It his since been proved that Haarmann himself has more than once made a meal from the bodies of his victims, and one of the most terrible descriptions provided by a witness who gave an account of how Haarmann entered the rooms of those whom he had lured into his shop and there, in the dead of night, either cut their throats or strangled them into insensibility, afterwards sinking his teeth into their throats and drinking their blood as they writhed in their death's agony.

Beside him in the dock was a young man named Grans, charged with being an accessory in these crimes, and he has admitted how, on numerous occasions, he laid for youths arriving at the station, and enticed them to the house of he butcher, where the latter murdered them.

In addition to being charged as an accessory. Grans was also indicted with inciting Haarmann to commit the crimes, so that they might jointly enjoy the receipts from the property stolen from the victims.

Even then the sensations of this remarkable case are not exhausted for it has since been discovered that the police have on many occasions during the last three years been in receipt of complaints concerning disappearances and that in some cases Haarmann has been actually indicated as the culprit.

It was not till sacks and sacks of human remains were dragged from the river Leine and a shudder of horror swept over the land that the police actually bestirred themselves.

Then it was that it became known that some members of the police had actually taken part in some of the drinking and vice orgies which took place and to which he lured his victims, and thus were parties to the debaunches which were always a forerunner to his diabolical crimes.

The central figure betrayed not the slightest dismay as he listened to the recital of his ghastly deeds. Now and again he became irritable at the long-drawn-out proceedings. "Behead me," he demands. "It is by far the best way. Let me join my dear mother in heaven before Christmas."

After his conviction Haarman asked that the following should be inscribed on his tombstone: "Here rests the mass murderer, Haarmann." He also expressed a desire to pass one merry evening in his cell, and that his last meal should consist of coffee, hard cheese, and cigars, after which he would curse his father and regard his execution as his wedding.

LOS ANGELES TAKES STOCK AND FINDS 1924 PROSPEROUS

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 23.—Sixty-two churches were built in Los Angeles during 1924 at a cost of $7,307,000, according to statistics just compiled by the Chamber of Commerce.

As compared with this production and increase along religious lines, the tables of figures also show that:

The motion picture industry here turned out pictures during the year that were valued in the aggregate at $170,000,000.

A total of 230,000,000 barrels of oil was produced in the Los Angeles basin for the 12 months;

Harbor exports totaled $68,300,000, doubling those f 1923;

Public improvements passed the $38,000,000 mark;

Office, club, loft, hotel and apartment building reached $56,000,000;

School bonds aggregating $34,640,000 were voted.

OLD TIME GRIZZLY REAPPEARS IN MOUNTAINS OF CALIFORNIA

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 23.—The California grizzly bear, supposed extinct, has appeared after a lapse of 40 years in the Sequoia National Forest, according to a reliable report.

At one time the California grizzly ranged the Sierra Nevada and Coast ranges in such large numbers that he was made the official emblem of the state and still graces the state flag. He is considerably larger than the Rocky Mountain grizzly, is of a grayish tinge and has a distinct hump on top of his shoulders. As a fighter he was feared by all other animals of the early California days. Yet he was not considered by man a dangerous animal, and he usually took to flight on man's approach. He was even less carnivorous than the smaller black or brown bear and lived largely on acorns, berries, roots and grasses.
