Spain Confronts Serious Problem In Morocco

MADRID, Spain, Nov. 4.—There is a fear that Spain's difficulties in Morocco may again become acute, and a new campaign become necessary. The new trouble has arisen through the sudden disappearance, with 8000 men, of Raisul, the former brigand, with whom the Government had had a working arrangement for some time past. Although the new situation is not wholly unexpected, the circumstances attending it are of quite an extraordinary character.

For a long time, Raisul appeared to have the whip hand of Spain, and no progress could be made while he was an active antagonist. Then an arrangement was made, which was severely criticized in Madrid, but the old brigand has never appeared secure.

Grand Vizier a Brigand.

The Spanish Government, a few weeks ago, conceived the idea of appointing him to the office of Grand Vizier of Tetuan, by which they would obtain control over his actions, but Raisul declared in advance that he would not accept the office. He has been continually on his guard and has never entered any walled town, while he has established himself as a sort of independent dictator in the Spanish zone, collects revenues and keeps them and generally acts as the supreme authority, to the deep humiliation of the Spanish administration.

There can be little doubt about the origin of Raisul's present attitude. He has been in close communication with the German consul at Tetuan for some time past, and has received large sums of money, with the object, as it is stated, of fomenting an agitation in the French zone, instead of doing that, however, Raisul formed the intention of declaring himself independent in the Spanish zone, and using as seemed best with that object.

Central Powers Active.

The mountainous tribes, it is stated, have introduced his name into their prayers as the Caliph of Islam. They have lately much increased their supplies of arms and munitions. There are rumors everywhere that the Central Powers are in active sympathy with this new disturbance in Morocco and have indicated as much to their consuls, because of Spain's increasing inclinations toward the Allies.

A German submarine not long since visited Larache, a port in the Spanish zone, and had long communications with the local authorities.

German Drugs Now Made in U.S.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 4.—The vast store of German scientific information in this country was opened today to American manufacturers in regulations issued by the Federal Trade Commission, under which enemy-owned patent and copyrights will be licensed for manufacture by citizens of the United States.

When the regulations had been made public, the Commission met a group of medical men to consider licensing the manufacture of certain drugs, principally salvarsan, used in virulent blood diseases, and non-toxic substitutes for local anaesthetics, of which the supply in this country has run dangerously low since the war interrupted commerce.

Approximately 20,000 patented and copyrighted articles are said to be affected by the Commission's order. These include dyestuff formulas of vital importance to American industries and mechanical devices of wide use, though the humanitarian effect of the order attracts the widest attention.

AMERICAN TRANSPORT TORPEDOED.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 4.—The transport Finland was recently torpedoed while returning to the United States, but was able to return to a foreign port under her own steam.

The Navy Department received a report of the attack and Sec. Daniels authorized its publication. The navy report does not say whether there was any loss of life or injury on the Finland.

The Finland is one of the largest steamships flying the American flag. Before going into the army transport service she plied between New York and European ports in the International Mercantile Marine Company's service, under the Red Star and other lines. She normally carries a crew of 257 men. Her home port is New York.

America Rushing Aid to Italian Armies

WITH THE AMERICAN ARMY IN FRANCE, Nov. 4.—(By the Associated Press.)—The first battalions of Americans in the trenches have been relieved by others. Relief, which is considered one of the critical periods, when the enemy by shelling the approaches to the positions may inflict heavy damage, was accomplished successfully. Apparently the enemy was not aware of what was going on.

TIRED, DIRTY AND WET

With the men in billets, it is now permitted to mention for the first time that the casualties were negligible. In fact, more men are suffering with "trench feet" than with wounds.

From a military standpoint the experience gained by the Americans is considered of a very high value in the training contingents who are yet to arrive on French soil. It was a tired, dirty, wet, mud-caked body of men that returned to billets. The men had only two clear days while in the trenches. They were covered with mud from their hats to their shoes. Before anything else, they required a bath, first with gasoline and then with water.

Today the sun was shining brightly and the returned soldiers spent most of the time sunning themselves and their belongings. Some of the fields in this section of France are covered with blankets, parts of uniforms and equipment. Clouds of dust arose in these places when later the owners started to brush. Tonight the returned battalions are clean and ready to go back again.

Citizens of the State of New York in the American army will cast their ballots next Saturday in the State elections. Those of the command who are not able to vote Saturday will go on Tuesday, when the polls will be especially opened for them. The troops now at the front will not be allowed to vote, as time off for this purpose cannot be granted.

A supply of official ballots has been received at headquarters.

PRESS COMMENT ON SIR ERIC GEDDES' SPEECH

LONDON, Nov. 4.—The maiden effort of Sir Eric Geddes, the First Lord of the Admiralty, in the House of Commons yesterday, is not received wholly favorably by the newspapers in their editorial comment. He is praised for his frank and business-like statement.

Appreciation is expressed particularly of the new distribution of the affairs of the Admiralty leading towards decentralization and also introduction of younger men.

The bulk of comment accepts and endorses Sir Eric's explanation that the British fleet did not try to enter the Baltic and also his statement on the convoy incident. Criticism is directed chiefly against conduct of the submarine and ship construction.

George Lambert, former civil Lord of the Admiralty, declared the navy was not being used to the best advantage, and he knew distinguished strategists agreed with him.

Mr. R. P. Houston figured that the Allies and neutrals have lost 8,000,000 tons during the war. Mr. Richard Holt refused to accept the First Lord's figures, and said that the admiralty's policy of concealment was sapping the country's confidence in the government.

BRITISH NAVY DISPLACEMENT HAS INCREASED 71 P. C.

LONDON, Nov. 2.—In defending the British navy in the House of Commons tonight, Sir Eric Geddes, First Lord of the Admiralty, reviewed its accomplishments in this war, declaring that, unlike the enemy forces, its role was an offensive one.

"During a recent month," he continued, "the mileage steamed by our battleships, cruisers, and destroyers alone amounted to one million ship miles in home waters. In addition to this, the naval auxiliary forces patrolled more than six million miles in the same period and territory. The displacement of the navy is 71 per cent. greater than in 1914, when it was 2,400,000 tons. At the outbreak of the war we had eighteen minesweepers and auxiliary patrols, today there are 3,366. The personnel of the fleet before the war was 146,000, today it is 390,000."

The Hun— is watching Canada

He has met our men and respects them.
 He has faced our munitions and fears them.
 Our food shipments are blasting his hopes of starving the Allies into submission.
 Now, perched like a vulture on a mound of destruction, he watches to see if Canada's purse will fail.
 He knows little of the faith that inspires our determination.

SEVERE FLOODS IN QUEBEC Owing to excessive rains during the past two days the St. Francis river rose over ten feet today. The river roads are completely covered in many sections leading to the city and traffic has been suspended.	MAN IS KILLED BY WIRE AT WINDSOR. WINDSOR, N. S., Oct. 31.—A fatal accident occurred at the works of the Colonial Fertilizer Co., Windsor, Monday evening, in which Ernest Smith of this town lost his life. Mr. Smith was engaged at work on the tram line which runs between the mill and the wharf, the apparatus being used to transfer the cargo of vessels to the mill. No person witnessed the accident, but it is thought the unfortunate man came into contact with the cable which controls the operating of the car.	NO NEED TO PRINT THEM. A catalogue of farming implements sent out by the manufacturer finally found its way to a remote rural village, where it was evidently welcomed with interest. The firm received a carefully written, if somewhat clumsily expressed letter, asking further particulars.	HEART ON WRONG SIDE. One peculiar case was dealt with last week in Calgary, by the local military medical Board. A man's heart was found to be on the right side of his body, and practically all of his other organs were similarly transposed. Outside of that he was a perfect specimen of manhood. The medical officers were in a quandry for a time but later decided to take no chances so placed him in Class E.
