spectacle of the Liberal party seeking election on the policies of this government."

Liberal leader Mackenzie King, for his criticism of the government's handling of the Japanese trade dispute, was charged with having struck a blow for his own country when his own country was at issue with another country. It had been learned by the government that the recent march upon Ottawa by relief camp strikers and their sympathizers had been part of a plan to hold the Prime Minister hostage while a Soviet government was established in Canada. "Do you want a government led by men of that type?" he asked. His own worldly goods were acquired by hard work, Mr. Bennett told a questioner. And if you would work your mouth you and your other parts more you would be better off," he added.

An address scheduled for Saturday afternoon was cancelled because of the strenuous nature of the day. Mr. Bennett proceeded direct from Vancouver to Victoria on his arrival there yesterday morning. He rested in Victoria today and returned to Vancouver this evening for an address tomorrow night.

After paying tribute to the British Columbia members on the platform with him, Mr. Bennett went on to mention the loyalty and freedom enjoyed by Canadians. The gallery group questioned the speaker on the subject of liberty.

"I did not desire to enter at this time into a discussion with communists," Mr. Bennett said, "but I will deal with them right now. Moscow pays its agents and says to them, 'Well, but Canadians will never tolerate any interference from the outside.'"

Referring to the recent protests from the United States to the Soviet Union against propaganda activities of the Third International, Mr. Bennett described the United States as one of the most significant and ably-worded ever to pass from one friendly government to another. That incident, he said, was indicative of the dead set that has been made against this continent in the past weeks by the communists of Moscow. These sit their emissaries in the gallery.

"Section 98 stands," Mr. Bennett declared, "and those who violate it must bear the consequences." He said this section of the Criminal Code, enacted to prevent illegal assembly, was as necessary as ever was. "No law-abiding citizen need fear it," he added.

Mr. Bennett turned then to trade matters and the policies of his opponents. Where the Liberals had feared to "provoke" other countries in seeking markets, the Conservatives had countered tariff for tariff, preference for preference, resulting in a 100 per cent increase in Empire trade and a 26 percent increase in Canada's trade with foreign countries.

Mr. King's parliamentary promise that he would lower tariffs 50 percent would, if carried out, close up 60 percent of Canada's industries, Mr. Bennett declared. "Now the Prime Minister declares, 'Now we are going to lower the tariffs a reasonable degree. He is always endeavoring by some method to shirk making a specific statement.'"

Mr. Bennett closed with a declaration that his opponents had offered approval in the main of the government's policies. Otherwise the opposition arguments were chiefly "inaccurate" and "only one objective, the peace and well-being of Canadian people. 'We are proud of our record, and we ask your support knowing that by giving it you will secure a period of stability. We ask decent, honest, fair-minded Canadians to support us so that we may complete the work we have undertaken.'"

ITALY REJECTS

De Madariaga, chairman of the League's committee of five, that the League peace plan was insufficient.

Admittedly nettled by Premier Mussolini's offhand treatment, the League of Nations' Italo-Ethiopian committee waited tonight on the Italian Government's official reply to its peace plan.

The League view, explained officially, was that the press communiqué issued yesterday at Rome constitutes a virtual rejection of the League's plan and if the communiqué contains any "hidden meaning" the League would like to have it Duce explained.

The caustic tone of the communiqué issued by the council's committee last night was said to indicate that body is determined to get a direct and official reply.

Cabinet Supports Laval

PARIS, Sept. 22—The French Cabinet reports of yesterday's Rambouillet meeting stated tonight, is supporting Premier Laval in his decision to join Great Britain in applying financial and economic sanctions if developments in the Italo-Ethiopian dispute warrant.

A possibility that Premier Mussolini is negotiating for a settlement after military occupation of part of Ethiopia was seen in some unofficial French quarters. Premier Laval was understood to be willing to go to a "second Stresa" conference if all other efforts at negotiation fail. Many officials indicated they had little hope of satisfying Mussolini.

France still is trying to save her friendships with both Italy and Great Britain by settling the African dispute before it reaches a crisis in the League, because of fears that the French might be left with the problem of Adolf Hitler and Memel on their hands through the French mutual assistance pact with Soviet Russia.

The Cabinet decided upon a huge increase in armaments. Meeting at Rambouillet, summer home of Premier Albert Lebrun, it announced a big boost in 1936 defence appropriations. Most of the 6,500,000,000 francs (about $430,000,000) extraordinary budget will be for national defence.

the solid foundations of Scripture and Christian tradition. This doctrine, though denied by many since the time of Arius in the fourth century till the present day, till is so logical and reasonable and so consonant with human nature and so consoling to the human heart, that the barrier which a cruel prejudice placed between the souls of those departed and their loving ones here on earth is being gradually broken down, and we hear on all sides that spontaneous outburst of a heart broken by the death of a dear one, "May God have mercy on his soul!"

He concluded by urging the people to respond to the exhortation in his text and to so live their lives that they will leave fond memories in the hearts of all who remain after them.

BRITAIN HOLDS

The newspaper also suggested that Ethiopians salute the Italian flag at Adwa and that the League proposals might be still made more workable and acceptable by Rome by a change in executive conditions.

It further stated, "Italy is offered economic inducements without political guarantees. That is what she must have if peace is the object. That and nothing else."

"We shall fight to the last against the supreme crime of another avoidable general war as would be brought about by any attempt at sanctions in the perpetuated names of Geneva and the Covenant."

St. Pats Nova Scotia Junior Ball Champions

(C. P. By Guardian's Special Wire) AMHERST, N. S., Sept. 22—Able to stave off a great last-inning rally by Sydney Whitney Pier, Amherst St. Pats became junior baseball champions of Nova Scotia yesterday, defeating the Cape Bretoners 9-8 in the deciding game of their two-of-three series.

The visitors came to bat in the ninth with the score 9-4 against them. They scored four runs and had more waiting to come when the third man was put out. The series went to four games, the second ending a draw.

Bill Terry Announces Retirement

(A.P. By Guardian's Special Wire) NEW YORK, Sept. 22—Bill Terry manager of the New York Giants, today announced his retirement as an active player at the end of the current season.

If he can find a capable replacement, Terry intends to become a bench manager next season, devoting all his time to piloting the baseball club.

Terry, one of the oldest first basemen in the National League in point of service, said he would continue to play to the end of the 1935 season and would remain on the active playing list until he found a substitute able to fill his shoes. He would not, however, consider himself as a "regular" player in 1936. At the same time the Giant manager spiked rumors that Carl Hubbell, star southpaw, would be traded before next season.

"I have no intention of trading Hubbell as I believe that he will have a best year next year that he has had in 1935, which I consider was a very good one."

CAR ENGINES FOR AIRCRAFT U.S. Aeronautical School Conducts Successful Tests.

(A.P. By Guardian's Special Wire) WASHINGTON, Sept. 22—The family-type aeroplane approached a step nearer realization today with a report to the United States Bureau of Air Commerce of Satisfactory Tests of an automobile engine for aircraft.

Because of its lower cost, the Bureau has been interested in adapting automobile engines to the small, medium-sized planes with which it is now experimenting. In order to get exact data on the practicability of the project, an aeronautics school was asked to have exhaustive tests.

An ordinary six cylinder engine developing 88 horsepower at 3,800 revolutions per minute was mounted on a block just as it arrived from the factory. It was hooked to an aeroplane propeller with six fabric belts and run for 300 hours in the open under varying weather conditions and at various speeds. According to the report of this test, the engine functioned perfectly except for one minor break in a timing gear.

The primary advantage of the automobile engine was termed its economy in upkeep and operation. The most important disadvantage is the heavy weight per horsepower generated, about five to five and a half pounds compared with about two pounds per horsepower for the air-cooled aviation engine.

Salvage Attempt Successful

(A. P. By Guardian's Special Wire) PORTLAND, Me., Sept. 21—A successful attempt to raise the Eastern Steamship Line freighter Sagamore, on the rocks off Proufs Neck since Jan. 14, 1934, was made today by a New England salvage corporation crew.

Today's effort was a test to float the vessel without disturbing the air pressure in her fore and aft sections. The actual attempt to bring the ship to Portland will be made next week.

The Sagamore was beached at Proufs Neck after striking Corwin's Rock in a northeast storm.

Act Would Curb "Gold Diggers"

(A. P. By Guardian's Special Wire) DETROIT, Sept. 22—Cash consolation for broken hearts became a thing of the past in Michigan today.

Actions for breach of promise to marry, criminal conversation, seduction and, with minor exceptions, alienation of affections, all were put under the ban as the Palmer-Schmeider Act became law.

The measure was hotly debated before its adoption 90 days ago, with advocates hailing it as an act to drive gold diggers out of business and opponents contending it would deprive women of needed protection from unscrupulous loafers.

However, a legislature "which evidently agreed with Mrs. Robertson West Nicholson of Indiana—that in 999 cases out of 1,000 women who claim to have broken hearts actually have itching palms"—not only prohibited such suits but provided heavy penalties for violations of the new law.

One who files or threatens to file suits of this type hereafter in Michigan is liable to a maximum penalty of five years imprisonment and $5,000 fine. Exception is provided for cases now pending and for those brought within the next 90 days if the cause is declared to have occurred prior to today.

U.S. Government Intervenes To Avert Strike

(By Joseph L. Miller, Associated Press Staff Writer) WASHINGTON, Sept. 22—Intervention of the United States Government prompted a last-hour effort today to produce a soft-coal wage and hour agreement, which would avert a strike set for midnight.

At the request of Edward F. McGrady, assistant secretary of labor, Appalachian producers and the United Mine Workers resumed negotiations which had crumpled Friday in an apparently hopeless deadlock.

Hinging on the outcome was whether or not the United's members, estimated by union officials at more than 400,000, would refuse to enter the mines tomorrow and thereby threaten paralysis to the bituminous industry.

The break in the deadlock came at a meeting of the Appalachian joint wage conference, assembled to hear its negotiating committee report that no agreement had been reached.

killed in a crash 375 miles short of their Kaunas goal two years ago. It was sponsored by the Chicago-Lithuanian newspaper Naujienas and the American-Lithuanian Trans-Atlantic Flight Association.

His plane was damaged so badly, Waitkus said, that it must be moved to Dublin for repairs. "I am anxious to take off again for Lithuania," he said.

"The radio direction calls from Athlone (an Irish station) saved my life. I believe if it had not been for the signals I could not have found my way as I did not know any times where I was. There were fogs and storms over a wide area."

Lady Heath, the British aviatrix, flew to Ballinrobe to take Waitkus to Dublin but damaged her plane in landing. Another plane was sent from Dublin to pick them up.

Slave Question Raised At The League

(A.P. By Guardian's Special Wire) GENEVA, Sept. 22—Buying, selling and inheriting of women slaves in Africa came before League of Nations committee yesterday as the Assembly's judicial commission recommended an inquiry into worldwide appeals for sex equality in all fields.

The slavery complaint was not the chief of those brought by women's organizations, but it brought the commission close to a phase of the Italo-Ethiopian dispute. Premier Mussolini has complained that existence of slavery in Ethiopia was a bar to that country's claims to an equal footing with Italy in world opinion.

The chief complaint of worldwide women's organizations was that women were being thrown out of work on the theory that jobs belong to the male members of families.

The slavery reports submitted to the women's consultative committee charged that the native woman in some parts of British territories in Africa is "so completely property she is not only purchased and bartered but inherited."

The unmarried girl whose father dies is assessed as gods shared by the male heir," one report said.
