STOMACH TROUBLES ARE DUE TO ACIDITY

—Among the outward passengers by the Car Ferry on Wednesday was Dr. Alex. McNeill, who goes to New York on a business trip.—H.

So-called stomach troubles, such as indigestion, gas, sourness, stomach ache and inability to retain food are in probably nine cases out of ten, simply evidence that excessive secretion of acid is taking place in the stomach, causing the formation of gas and acid indigestion.

Gas distends the stomach and causes that full, oppressive, burning feeling sometimes known as heartburn, while the acid irritates and inflames the delicate lining of the stomach. The trouble lies entirely in the excess development or secretion of acid.

To stop or prevent this souring of the food contents of the stomach and to neutralize the acid, and make it bland and harmless, a teaspoonful of bisaturated magnesia, a good and effective corrector of acid stomach, should be taken in a quarter of a glass of hot or cold water after eating or whenever gas, sourness or acidity is felt. This sweetens the stomach and neutralizes the acidity in a few moments and is a perfect harmless and inexpensive remedy to use.

An antacid, such as bisaturated magnesia which can be obtained from any druggist in either powder or tablet form enables the stomach to do its work properly without the aid of artificial digestants. Magnesia comes in several forms, so be certain to ask for and take only Bisaturated Magnesia, which is especially prepared for the above purpose.

Catarrhal Deafness and Head Noises

TELLS SAFE AND SIMPLE WAY TO TREAT AND RELIEVE AT HOME

If you have catarrh, catarrhal deafness or head noises caused by catarrh, or if phlegm drops in your throat and has caused catarrh of the stomach or bowels you will be glad to know that these distressing symptoms may be entirely overcome in many instances by the following treatment which you can easily prepare in your home at little cost. Secure from your druggist 1 ounce of Peppermint (Double Strength.) Take this home and add to it 1/4 pint of hot water and a little granulated sugar; stir until dissolved. Take one tablespoonful four times a day. An improvement is noted after the first day's treatment. Breathing should become easy, while the distressing head noises, headaches, dullness, cloudy thinking, etc., should gradually disappear under the tonic action of the treatment. Loss of smell, defective hearing and mucus dropping in the back of the throat are other symptoms which suggest the presence of catarrh and which may often be overcome by this efficacious treatment. It is said that nearly nine per cent of all ear troubles are caused by catarrh and there must, therefore, be many people whose hearing may be restored by this simple, harmless, home treatment.

Soldier's Remembered

A most delightful affair occurred on the evening of July 17th when a large number of friends and neighbors gathered together in the beautiful grove of Daniel McDonald, Garfield to welcome home two of their brave boys, namely Pte. Harry Murray and Pte. James Whittle. Pte. Murray has been in the service since 1915 and has been through all the big battles up to September 1919 when he was badly gassed. Addresses of welcome were read, and gifts were presented by Mr. Thomas McKenzie and Master Willie D. McDonald. After the presentation fitting replies were made by Ptes. Murray and Whittle, after which the returned men and friends sat down to a dainty repast. The remainder of the evening was very pleasantly spent in music and dancing. The enjoyable function was brought to a close by bouncing the heroes and singing the National Anthem.

SOLDIERS RETURNING TO PRIMAL INDUSTRY

(Toronto Globe, October 1st, 1919.)

At a great price war has called a halt to a ruinous system, and an aftermath of war—today as at all times in history—is the return of men to the primal industry of agriculture. Fortunately for Canada—and just how great good fortune it is very few realize—the settlement of soldiers upon this land is more pronounced and more successful in this country than in any other of the belligerent nations. Canada has actually placed on farms more returned soldiers than have all the remaining Allies together, including the United States. In Ontario alone, over 500 veterans have been located since last November, and practically all of them on farms in oldest and best settled agricultural portions of the province. Many of these are city-bred men, educated and trained for professions or trades, who desire to give their young families the inestimable advantages of country life, and who are enabled to begin farming by reason of the financial aid supplied through the Soldier Settlement Board.

The Board has done and is doing good work, and its underscoring of a good deal of the carping criticism directed at it from various quarters. It has made mistakes, and probably will be human enough to make others, but more than any other department that has to do with the re-establishment of returned men it is doing real service and justifying its formation.

Some time ago it had placed on farms in Canada well over 12,000 men, should only fifty per cent of these "make good" as farmers and become permanent producers of food the country will have cause to be grateful for the work being carried on under the direction of Mr. W. J. Black, late President of Manitoba Agricultural College.

A man may not stand much of a show in this world, but if he is a theatre-goer he has to stand a good many poor shows.

WAS AUTHOR OF "SWANEE RIVER" SONG

Stephen Collins Foster, who wrote "Way Down Upon the Swanee River," was a Northerner, born in Pittsburgh July 4, 1826, and never saw the Florida river. He was a popular song writer who appealed to the heart of his public. Among his works were "Old Kentucky Home," "Massa's in de Cold Cold Ground," "Old Black Joe," and other Southern songs. He had a natural aptitude for music, and at first wrote his songs without knowing how fame as a song writer. When he wrote the pianoforte and voice culture. He was living in New York when he won fame as a song writer. When he wrote "Way Down Upon the Swanee River" he was given $500 for its sole use by Christy's Minstrels.

A legend states that the writer suddenly turned to a map of the south, while writing his song, to find a river that would suit the mechanical needs of rhyme writing, and just happened to choose the one dear to hearts of the South. The peculiar Negro flavor of many of his songs was acquired by attending Negro camp meetings.

Foster chose to be a popular song writer, although his critics, pointing to his four-voiced serenade, "Come Where My Love Lies Dreaming," say he was capable of better things. When his popularity declined he became depressed and gave way to irregular habits. He died in New York, Jan. 13, 1864, a penniless wanderer.
