

CHARLOTTETOWN AND QUEEN'S COUNTY

It pays to buy in this province. Rev T. F. Fullerton, city, is expected to return home from Ottawa to-night.

The many friends of Col. D. Stewart, city, who has been ill, will be pleased to know that he is somewhat improved.

Mrs. Wm. Halbolt and daughter Miss Lola of Morell were in the city Saturday, to accompany the former's sister, Mrs. David Reid, who has been in the P. E. I. Hospital, to her home in Victoria Cross.

The pulpit in St. James' Church, city, was occupied yesterday morning and evening by Rev. Mr. McKay of this city. On each occasion Mr. McKay delivered a strong address to the congregation in the evening speaking from John 8:8.

At the morning service in the First Methodist Church in this city yesterday eleven persons were admitted to membership of the church. The rites of baptism were conferred on a young girl, Rev. Mr. Thomas, the pastor, officiated at the service.

The visitation of the Angel of Death is ever attended with gloom and sadness but seldom is sorrow more penetrating than the passing away of a bride of seven months in the twenty-first year of her age. This was the case in the death of Winnie Sinclair, wife of J. Lester Douglas, Cumberland St., city, yesterday morning at eleven o'clock. The deceased had been ill a week and a half and at its first appearance had been removed to the P. E. I. Hospital for treatment. Her illness was serious but until yesterday her ultimate recovery was hoped for. The deceased was a native of Summerfield, P. E. I., and a daughter of the late Hon. Peter Sinclair. She was a young lady beloved by all and was happy in the possession of an extremely wide range of acquaintanceship throughout the Province. She was well known in this city, having attended business college here and graduated, adding to her other accomplishments a sound commercial education. She had led a truly blameless life and was a consistent member of the Springhill Presbyterian Church before removing to this city. A week ago yesterday she joined Zion Church here. She was out seven months married the day she became ill; the echo of the wedding bells had hardly ceased ere the funeral pall was introduced. She leaves to mourn a bereaved husband, her mother and four brothers and three sisters, besides numerous other relatives and friends. The brothers are John, in Springhill; Maurice and Peter, at home; Archie, Calgary. The sisters are Mrs. Lowther, Searlestown; and Mary and Amy at home. Her mother and sisters were at her bedside when her spirit was called away. The Guardian joins with the many who will extend to the bereaved husband and family sincere sympathy in the sever trial.

GOAT MAKES BED

HIGH UP IN TREE

FULTON, Mo., May 3—Bob Rogers, who owns a farm near Fulton, owns a goat that takes its nightly sleep in a tree, and seems to enjoy its unusual bed.

His goatship was ticketed to go to the "cleaners" at the National Stock Yards in East St. Louis several weeks ago, but when shipping time came it could not be found.

Shortly after a neighboring farmer had occasion to pass the tree and saw the goat curled up in a bough. The tree slants slightly and this enabled the goat to scale it. The branch on which the goat makes its nightly bed is curved in a peculiar fashion, making it possible for his goatship to lie down without danger of falling.

The decision of the jury, which was unanimous, was announced here last night, and pursuant to the terms of the contest, the opera will be produced by the Metropolitan Opera Company next season. The contest was inaugurated two and one-half years ago and was open to all Americans submitting operas in English. Hundreds were submitted. Parker and Hooker sent in their joint endeavor under the fictitious name of "Mona" also chosen as the title of the piece, and not until a sealed envelope was opened was their identity known to the jurors. Prof. Parker wrote the music and Mr. Hooker the libretto. The jurors were Walter Damrosch and Alfred Hertz of New York and George W. Chadwick and Charles Martin Loeffler of Boston. FIANCE TARDY; SHE WEDS HIS BROTHER

HAMBURG, Iowa, May 4—A little thing like the failure of a bridegroom to be on hand at the appointed time did not prevent the marriage today of Miss Hilda Baldwin, thought it delayed the ceremony a couple of hours and the wedding dinner grew cold.

Simon Sloan was the bridegroom in question—that is, at first. The wedding feast had been prepared. Miss Baldwin was awaiting the arrival of Sloan, and the clergyman was on hand, but no Sloan.

An hour passed. Harry Sloan, a brother, jumped into his automobile and drove to the home to see what had become of Simon. Arrived at the home, two miles away, Harry found a note written and signed by Simon, saying:—"I have changed my mind and don't think I will get married just yet. I have gone away and will not be back. Don't look for me. If Hilda can find some other person for a husband I hope she will. I release from the contract."

Sloan read and reread the note, drove to the County Clerk's got a license and hurried back to the bride's residence. A brief story of the disappearance of his brother and of the license preceded a proposal by Harry, who remarked that the company "is all here, and it would be a shame to disappoint the guests."

Miss Baldwin studied a moment, and as the smiles chased away the tears she said:—"Harry, I always did like you, and if you had been the one to ask me first, I would have chosen you instead of your brother. Now he has gone and the way is perfectly clear, and if you want me, you can take me."

An embrace and a flood of kisses preceded a hurried ceremony.

CZAR'S MOTHER NOW AT HELM OF RUSSIA

BERLIN, May 4.—In Russia M. Stolypin seems again firmly in control, but this is only apparently, for although he is still Prime Minister the power has left his hands, and he is no longer the real ruler. He is still the first servant of the Czar, but he is no longer Czar Nicholas' confidential adviser. It is an open secret that the Czar is again as wax in the hands of for years the confidential adviser of Alexander III.

If the Czar continues to take the advice of his mother and wife for these two women, once bitter enemies are now thoroughly reconciled, better days are surely ahead, as well for Russia as for the Romanoff dynasty.

No one, however, could have done more to destroy royal prestige in Russia than M. Stolypin, who, quite needlessly, exposed the Czar to sharp criticism, for the Czar's name was used first in order to move the Conservatives of the upper chambers to vote against their convictions. It was next used by M. Treppoff to let the Conservatives know that His Majesty has changed his standpoint and wished them to vote congruously with their views on the merit of the question.

The Czar's name was used publicly to announce that the monarch had again altered his attitude and to such an extent that the punished M. Treppoff and M. Durnovo the statesman who alone saved Russia from anarchy, most severely for having done their duty and endeavored to safeguard his empire and strengthened the hold of his dynasty on the country.

And even this was not all. His Majesty discerning the rights and wrongs of the matter for himself, and without the aid of official spectators, once more altered his view and sent a message of gracious affection and confidence to M. Durnovo!

USE SUNLIGHT SOAP THIS WAY Do not use boiling water with Sunlight Soap—lukewarm water is sufficient. Hot water weakens fabrics, removes paint and is liable to crack chinaware. For washing dishes, rinse well in hot water after washing—it will help to dry them quickly.

A SINGLE SOAP FOR BOTH LAUNDRY AND HOUSEHOLD—FROM MONDAY TO SATURDAY

MONDAY—that's wash day; then Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday, Friday and Saturday each demand soap for their own particular purposes—and even on Sunday the dishes have to be washed.

Sunlight Soap is the household soap—the soap for every need of every housewife.

Sunlight Soap has in it just that quality tone to dissolve the dirt and wash all kinds of clothes pure and clean so that either hard or soft lukewarm water can be used.

There is no free alkali or chemicals in Sunlight to injure fabrics, hands, woodwork or anything on which it may be used; there are no unsaponified fats to leave grease or musty odors. Nor is there a single trace of foreign—bleaching or cleansing—acids of any kind in it; Sunlight is free from "loading" or "filling" materials. We will pay $5,000 to anyone proving otherwise. That offer has been standing for years now—and no one has ever taken it up yet!

Sunlight Soap leaves clothes snow-white and clean-smelling without boiling or rubbing—leaves woodwork with all the pristine lustre that it had the day your house was built and with no blue, soapy scum over it—makes common glassware sparkle and glisten like cut-glass—washes every particle of grease from dishes and leaves them perfectly clean to dry without polishing until your arms are tired.

Use Sunlight Soap according to directions—try it just once—and convince yourself that it will do twice as much as other soaps.
