As intendant the fact that hockey is played in Charlottetown in a manner infinitely superior to the way the game is conducted in other parts of Canada is following from the Ottawa Journal is timely. It refers to a game played in Ottawa recently: A sensational incident occurred when Vair struck Ross and laid him out. Players assisted Ross to his feet, and as soon as he was up he made a rush at Vair and knocked him down and started to pummel him good and plenty. Then the other players joined in row and the police and officials had a lively time separating them. Then to further enliven the proceedings a scrap started in the stands, and the police officers observed a couple of noisy chaps outside of the rink. It was some fifteen minutes before play was resumed, but Ross was unable to play and Vair was dropped.

A very pleasant surprise came to the Methodist parsonage, Cornwall, recently when a large number of the members of the Cornwall Congregation assembled and at the conclusion of the Mission Study Class conducted by the Women's Missionary Society, presented Mrs. Rev. W. Harrison, the President, with a very appreciative address, which was read by Mrs. John Mayhew. The address referred in fitting terms to the interest which the President has always manifested in the various departments of the work which the Society seeks to promote and to the liberal support accorded her from time to time. The address was accompanied by one dozen sterling silver teaspoons and sugar spoons in morocco case. In a few well chosen words Mrs. Harrison thanked the ladies for the handsome gift and also for the many kind words which had found expression. Mr. Harrison was not by any means forgotten by his many friends, as the overflowing boxes and barrels and shelves in larder cellar and barn abundantly testified. Refreshments were served and a very enjoyable evening was spent.
