WEDDING ANNIVERSARY

A very happy event took place in Hazelbrook on Jan. 15th, when Mr. and Mrs. John E. Monaghan, celebrated their twenty years of happy married life.

At 8.30 supper was served to about fifty invited guests, the tea tables were well laden with everything good to eat and were presided over by Mrs. John Cronin City, who was assisted in serving by Miss Wood, Mrs. Pipey and Miss Myers. The dining room was very tastefully decorated in pink and white, with twenty streamers from the centre.

The bride wore a very handsome dress of wine color Crepe de Chine with silk velvet and brilliants. The bride and groom were attended by Mr. and Mrs. William Coody. Mrs. Coody's dress was of a delicate shade of pink silk vanatien cloth. Both couples looking quite youthful. After supper was over Mr. Ernest Ing's, called the company to order and read a nice worded address to Mr. and Mrs. Monaghan, presenting them with a very beautiful ninety seven piece dinner set and half dozen stainless knives from the neighbors of Hazelbrook Cross Roads and Alexandria. Mrs. F. Driscoll and Mrs. S. Farquharson, making the presentation. They also received a number of very beautiful gifts from other friends and neighbors, which go to show the high esteem in which Mr. and Mrs. Monaghan are held in the community.

Some hours were very pleasantly spent in games and dancing, music, been furnished on the violin and organ by Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Ing's.

Mr. and Mrs. Monaghan, although taken by surprise, thanked their friends for their kindness. The happy evening was brought to a close singing for they are jolly good fellows, and God Save The King.

Following is the address:—

Dear Mr. and Mrs. Monaghan:—

We your friends and neighbors assemble here tonight to extend to you our heartiest congratulations on this your twentieth anniversary of a happy married life. We beg of you to accept these gifts not for their value, orthopedic surgeon or a podiatrist. An exercise often given for this trouble consists of rising on the toes and then slowly lowering the heels, giving the weight to the outer border of the feet. Walking pigeon-toed for a few minutes a day also helps. Picking up marbles with the toes is another good exercise.

(2) I do not think that the shape of your nose can be materially changed except by a surgical operation.

(3) Do not reduce at your age. You may, however, guard against accumulating more fat by taking more exercise and avoiding candy and other very sweet foods and pastries.

VODKA DRINKERS COLLAPSE IN STREET

(By British United Press)

HARBIN, North Manchuria, Jan. 29.—With the advent of the cold weather, the ambulance cars of Harbin are having a busy time, each day being frequently called out to the assistance of intoxicated persons discovered, unconscious on the streets. The reason for this is, that the Russian beggars and homeless children, in order to alleviate their sufferings from the frost, invest all the alms received into vodka, and as that sold to them is usually of the lowest crude variety, these poor people soon find themselves laying unconscious in the streets. Lucky if they are discovered in time, for otherwise they may lose a limb or two from frost-bite, an occurrence which is not so seldom in Harbin.

For the first time in the history of the world, women have every privilege in the world; but they must not forget the old privilege—to help make the world better.

but for the good will that accompanies them, as we feel you people have always been ready and willing helpers both in sickness and pleasure and so we could not let this opportunity pass without in some small way expressing our deep good will and respect towards you both. In closing we wish you many more years of happy wed-life in our midst.

First Chinese Exhibition

EDMONTON, Alta., Jan. 30.—(By the Canadian Press.)—From the "Journal's" Correspondent in China comes an interesting account of the first exhibition of Chinese-made products recently held in Nanking. Products of various kinds were thrown in, much as they are at a rummage sale. In one booth, magnificent specimens of bronze and porcelain were mixed up with tooth brushes and patent medicines. A human skeleton dangled at one end of this booth and a display of Chinese dictionaries, bliscuits and canned fruit completed the display at the other.

For thousands of years China has been a producer of silk. Japan borrowed the silk industry from China long before the Christian era. At the exhibition, the most magnificent display of Chinese silk that was ever got together was shown. And the young men in charge of it explained in fair English that China was not going to send her raw silk out of the country, but that she intended to manufacture all of it in the country.

At another booth, young women handed out to the people sacks, each containing half a pound or so of wheat flour. In the manufacture of this flour a small portion of Canadian wheat had been used. The hard Canadian wheat holds first place throughout the world and can not be equalled even in China. The new generation in China is beginning to eat white bread.

There was a display of women's gowns which aroused wide interest. There was a day when the Chinese woman who did not wear long trousers was not a lady. Her man, on the other hand, wore a long gown with wide sleeves. Today the husband still wears the ancient Chinese gown, but madame has shed the trousers. She has parted with them to adopt a style of dress resembling somewhat that worn by western women.

At the large hotels throughout China, well-to-do Chinese like to attend the tea dansants and other social affairs. It might be said that the modern Chinese flapper dances most gracefully, and is often strikingly attractive.

Mention of the Chinese flapper explains why, at the native products exhibition, so much space was given to cosmetics, face paints and articles usually associated with a beauty shop. There were dozens of specimens of Florida water, Eau de Cologne, face creams, skin foods, lipsticks, rouge and perfumes. They were shown under labels familiar to readers of advertisements in Canadian and American publications.

This array of material so desired by the fair sex was made in China, bottled, potted and bound in China under dazzling modern brands.

WINNIPEG, Man., Jan. 29.—(By the Canadian Press.)—Thirty thousand delegates will be in Winnipeg during the week of August tenth for the convention of the Dramatic Order Knights of Khorassan, the largest meeting ever to be held here. Officials have expressed the belief that the gathering will mean an expenditure of $2,000,000. Eighteen special trains have been chartered to bring delegates to the city and there will be many travelling by motor car.

Monthly Meeting P. E. Island Min. Assn.

The Monthly Meeting of the Prince Edward Island Ministerial Association was held in the Baptist Church of this city on Tuesday, Jan. 29. The attendance was excellent.

Morning session was called at 11.15. Rev. R. C. Eaton, President, in the chair. A brief devotional period was observed in singing, scripture reading and prayer by Rev. Bruce Muir.

Minutes of past meeting were read by Secretary, Rev. G. A. Grant, of Winsloe. After several matters of business received attention, Rev. R. C. Eaton read a paper entitled "The Way to End War." The main contribution of the paper was that "A Warless World is possible." Other barbarities and evils had been done away. This colossal curse of Humanity could be abolished. In order to bring this about four things were suggested.

1. We must face facts concerning war. Knowing the truth about its causes, aims, etc.
11. We must rid ourselves of race-prejudice and national bigotries.
111. We must work especially through the youth of our land in instilling peace ideals.
- IV. We must positively affirm our adherence to the great truths of our Christian religion and take them seriously.

The men were guests of the church for dinner. Mrs. J. D. Jenkins and Mrs. R. C. Eaton were in charge of arrangements and served a delightful meal.

At the table, special reference was made to the early departure of Rev. R. C. Eaton to the West. On behalf of the Ministers of town, Rev. H. D. Raymond made a presentation of gold. Many voiced sincere regret at Mr. Eaton going and extended hearty wishes for him in his new field of effort.

The paper of the afternoon was given by Dr. E. H. Ramsay, dealing with, "Educational Needs of Prince Edward Island."

Dr. Ramsay has been requested to prepare this paper for publication and the public will have the advantage of pursuing it in complete form. It was a most scorching presentation of our needs.

Meeting adjourned at 3 p. m.

Belled Hawk Starving

EDMONTON, Alta., Jan. 29.—(By the Canadian Press.) The plight of a belled chicken hawk in the wilds near Tomahawk, Alta., north of here, is exciting interest in the region. It is believed the large bird is slowly starving to death.

The hawk, around whose neck some unknown person placed a bell, part of its neck has been chafed bare. As it plunges upon its would-be prey the tinkling bell sounds its warning and the game breaks for cover.

ARAB RUNNER VERY LONELY

PARIS, Jan. 29.—El Ouaffi, the little French Arab winner of the Olympic marathon who is engaged in a professional running tour in America writes that he is lonelier in America than in the Moroccan Desert. The reason is that so few Americans speak his language.

Concerning his opponent in his professional races he wrote, "Ray is a good runner for 25 kilometers (a little over 15 miles) but I can beat him from 40 kilometers up. I should like to run him 100 kilometers (more than 60 miles)."

ONTARIO FARMERS WANT CHEAPER HYDRO

TORONTO, Ont., Jan. 29.—With the Conservative Government of Hon. G. Howard Ferguson presenting a programme of important legislation and the Liberal Opposition laying plans for a vigorous offensive the 1929 session of the Ontario Legislature promises to be one of the most interesting in recent years. The House opens Jan. 30.

The Government has now completed its survey of the province, instituted following last session to obtain data regarding indigent aged people, and is now prepared to introduce an old age pensions scheme. The result of the survey has not yet been announced but will probably be presented to the House. The survey was to determine whether the old age pensions scheme of the Dominion, which requires co-operation of the province, was suitable to Ontario.

At the last session of the Legislature the Government declined to consider amendments to the Liquor Control Act on the ground the measure should be given a thorough trial. It has now been in force more than a year and a half, and if the Government has noted any deficiencies it is probable legislation will be introduced to correct them.

While W. E. N. Sinclair, Liberal leader, has not placed his plans before the public, the fact that he has had a number of conferences with his followers in the House leads political observers to predict the next few weeks will see a good deal of activity in the Liberal camp. The Government's hydro administration is expected to be one centre of Opposition attack. A statement issued after a recent Liberal caucus said: "The agricultural interests of Ontario were discussed at considerable length in view of the apparent distaste of the Government towards this major industry of the province. The needs of agricultural Ontario were fully discussed in relation to Hydro extension." The Government has also been criticised for exporting power to the United States and in regard to the invasion of Ontario districts by private power companies. It is expected these matters will be debated on the floor of the House.

Financial matters are also expected to provide some sharp discussion. The provincial treasurer, Hon. Dr. J. D. Monteith, in his pre-session statement announced the province would have a surplus for the current year. It will be contended by the Opposition that but for the profits of the Liquor Control Board there would be no surplus.

Rumors that Premier Ferguson and another member of the cabinet were thinking of retiring have failed to materialize and it is unlikely there will be any radical change in the Government for some time. Two new ministers have been appointed since the close of the last session. Hon. Frederick T. Smye, of West Hamilton, and Hon. Edward A. Duntlop, member-elect for North Renfrew, will occupy cabinet seats as ministers without portfolio.

BEAUTY QUESTIONS ANSWERED

Coiffure for Large Girls

DEAR MISS LEEDS—(1) I have a rather large face, am 5 feet 9 inches tall, 19 years old and weighs 150 pounds. What coiffure would be becoming? (2) How does one get rid of blackheads on the face? (3) I have red hair that becomes oily three or four days after my shampoo. How can I correct this and what sort of rinse should I use? (4) Would I look nice with my lashes and eyebrows darkened? (5) What colors can I wear? I have green eyes.

ANSWERS—(1) You are twelve pounds above the average weight for your age and height. If, however, you are of a naturally heavy build with large bones and solid muscles, you are not really overweight. A girl of your size should avoid bobbed hair. If your forehead is not too high, brush your hair straight back and put in some flat waves. Have your side hair cover your ears. Tie your hair back rather low and turn it up in a flat bun, pinning it firmly. A French twist would also be suitable.

(2) They must be washed out with plenty of warm water and soap. If they are stubborn, steam them gently by holding them over a Turkish face cloth wrung out in hot water. Press out the blackheads with a comedo extractor or use your fingers covered with a clean handkerchief. Apply an astringent after removing the blackheads.

(3) Wash your hair once a week with an olive oil shampoo soap. Rinse and lather five or six times before the final rinse. You may use a henna rinse after the shampoo. When your hair begins to get oily between shampoos, give it a dry shampoo with equal parts of powdered orris root and bran, with enough cinnamon added to color the powder. Stir this through your hair and the brush it out very thoroughly.

(4) If your lashes and eyebrows are too light in color, darken them with a brown eyebrow pencil.

(5) If your skin is fair you may wear pastel pinks and dull orchid. Your best colors are golden browns, warm tans, copper red, henna and soft medium greens. You may also wear dark green, deep cream, greenish yellow and black.
