A RULE THAT DOESN'T WORK BOTH WAYS.

Is there not too much tendency to frame excuses for Canada, in the matter of not fulfilling her share of the terms of union with Prince Edward Island? Canada may plead that the task of maintaining constant steam communication with the mainland to and from the Island is more difficult than was expected or realized in 1873. Let us admit this. Let us add that it may seem a harsh thing to proceed to judgment and execution against either a contractor or a debtor who is willing but unable to pay, or to carry out his contract.

But where there is a contract embodying mutual obligations, and the party of the first part insists on the other party fulfilling every such obligation to the letter however hard it may be to do so, is it then open to the party so insisting, to claim immunity from its own obligations? And is not this precisely what has happened in the Island's relations with the Dominion?

Canada has from the first insisted that the obligations undertaken by the Island under the compact of 1873 shall be observed to the letter. We did not expect to pay federal taxes at the rate of ten or twelve dollars per head, or more than half that amount, but we must pay, all the same. We did not expect to be forced to contribute to the hundreds of millions expended for canals and railways on the mainland, but we are not let off on that account. We did not expect to help subsidize steel works at Sydney and the Soo to the tune of millions yearly, but we are required to do so by the terms of union and the laws made under authority of those terms and we submit.

We never anticipated when we agreed to representation by population that in the first thirty years our membership would be decreased one third while thirty or forty new members would be brought in from the west. We have no alternative, Canada has proceeded promptly to judgment and execution in this matter and at the first opportunity our representation was taken away, with more to follow after the next census. Thus in all the obligations undertaken by the Island toward Canada,—and they were very costly and onerous,—Canada has insisted ever and always on fulfillment to the letter, and has enforced it with the utmost rigor.

Surely the rule ought to work both ways, but it does not. The stronger power evades its own obligation while enforcing upon the weaker a complete fulfillment of counter obligations. Even Hon. Mr. Fielding, in many respects one of the fairest of those holding high office at Ottawa, has told us face to face here in Charlottetown that while he hopes the Tunnel may yet be built, it will never be built "on account of any old agreement entered into long ago." In the last analysis, what is this but repudiation? What is the long delay in providing adequate winter transport, but repudiation?

A rather pitiful condition of things is that some of our own citizens are so blinded by party as to be ready to frame excuses for the Government of Canada in this matter. After thirty odd years they plead for further delay, talk of lack of information, and the cost to Canada of constructing the Tunnel. The Island has been granted no delays, no thirty years to say whether she would fulfill her obligations or not. The taxpayer has sat at the receipt of custom all these years collecting from our merchants and shippers. If we owed anything to Canada, and even when we did not owe, it was kept back out of our subsidy. One third of our stipulated representation has been shut out of the Commons. Under such conditions, with obligations enforced at every turn against the weak and evaded by the strong, surely the Government at Ottawa might be left at least to frame its own excuses.

R. C. Cairns, of Kansas, son of William Cairns, Dunstaffnage, sends to a friend in this city a clipping from the Kansas City Star, a leading newspaper there, in which the prohibition of auto-cars in Prince Edward Island is discussed at some length. Thus the fame of this Island Province is being extended to the ends of the earth. New Zealand discusses our liquor prohibition and profits by it, while Kansas, now a prohibition state, takes notice of the popular aversion here to motor cars.

The new winter steamer is timed to be delivered on 11th May. This is too late to "cut any ice" for the Island this winter, but in good time to take the Ottawa notables on their pleasant summer excursions. And isn't that the main thing, after all?

The Railway Commission at its recent meeting in St. John was chiefly occupied with hearing complaints against express companies and level railway crossings. There is a plenty of both these troubles in this Province. The time has come when we must insist upon express competition and when the level crossing must go or be guarded in a special way. At least there should be a gate or a watchman at the point where the railway crosses one of the principal thoroughfares leading out of the City.

By some sort of a legal or constitutional fiction the brave iceboatsmen at the Capes, with oar, sail and straps are supposed to be keeping up "efficient and continuous communication by steam" with the mainland. They raise steam when they perspire in the frosty atmosphere. From the Ottawa point of view this is sufficient.

To the People of Prince Edward Island

Supposing you had an opportunity to invest a share of your savings in a business concern that had a record of making profits in a new and growing country, larger than any bank can earn, even the most prosperous, with experienced men at its head who are experts in their particular line of work, with all the prestige that comes from one hundred thousand dollars spent in advertising in every part of the United States and the British Isles, where your money was on the same level of earning power as the money invested by the members of the company, the every ambition of whose members is to make it a success. Don't you think you would be very foolish if you did not embrace this opportunity. This is exactly what we are offering you in the common stock of the Haslam Land & Investment Company. You will understand that there is no preferred stock or bonds in this company whatever. All the assets of the company are put in at a conservative valuation much below their present worth. Nothing is allowed for good will only what has been spent in advertising, the results of which will come as largely in the future as in the past.

Wealth does not accrue usually from the labor of a man's individual hands or brain, but from taking advantage of a situation and in the augmentation of values incident to a growing industry or country. The Haslam Land & Investment Company is as favorably situated as any in the the Canadian Northwest to take advantage of all the opportunities that arise in a country growing very fast.

The accompanying statements show the present financial condition of the Haslam Land & Investment Company and the profits earned in the past will show on what a solid foundation the proposed investment rests. The members of our company think they have only as yet laid the foundation of their business. The superstructure is yet to rear.

We have a little booklet on the press now which will be ready in a few days and which we will gladly mail to any one who sends us a post card or cuts out the accompanying slip and forwards it to the address given below.
