"The general excellence as revealed by the flavor score is indeed a matter of satisfaction and reflects close care and supervision" the British Minister of Food stated recently, in commenting on the quality of Canadian dried eggs exported to Britain.

Nearly 10 million pounds of Canadian egg powder have been shipped to Britain from Canada by the Special Products Board during the first eight months of 1943.

Stock Markets At A Glance

WINNIPEG, Jan. 14—(CP)—Improved buying recovered rye losses today on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange after a flood of selling earlier had dropped prices as much as two cents under the previous close.

NEW YORK, Jan. 14—(AP)—Investment demand and a little inflationary nibbling turned the Stock Market tide today and leaders recovered fractions to a point or so with isolated favorites up better than 3.

TORONTO, Jan. 14 — (CP) — Toronto Stock Market today handdled the second highest turnover in nearly four years. The golds were the leaders in the action. The mining groups had small index gains, and the western oils lost .14

MONTREAL, Jan. 14 — (CP) — Higher levels were reached by most newsprints in trading today on the Stock Exchange and Curb Market. Golds were also ahead and utilities down. Individual industries made a better showing.

LONDON, Jan. 14—(CP) — The Stock Market closed today with a steadier tone than had been apparent during the recent so called pre-invasion markets.

British funds were firm. Brazilian bonds rallied sharply, but Argentines were depressed.

CHICAGO, Jan. 14 — (AP) — Wheat prices advanced after an early sell-off today, buying on the part of local traders being the major factor in the upturn. There were reports of further floor acceptances by government agencies and shipping sales of cash wheat out of this market were substantial.

Halsey Would Dictate Peace Terms At Tokyo

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11—(AP)—Nothing less than the capture of Tokyo and a peace dictated there will satisfy Admiral William F. Halsey, Jr.

The commander of the South Pacific fleet made that clear today with a press conference plea: "And don't let them stop us until we get it. I'll tell you there is only one definite place that has got to be taken, and that's Tokyo."

The 61-year-old Admiral warned against peace movements again in reply to inquiries about the apparent reluctance of the Japanese fleet to meet American forces in a showdown naval battle.

One reason, he said, might be that "they think they can wear us down by attrition tactics and we'll get tired and make a peace suitable to them—which, God knows, I hope no one will permit."

There is plenty of strength to carry the battle on to the enemy's homeland, Halsey said, and movement of a fleet to Japan is no more the problem than movement of a fleet anywhere else.

THE EDUCATIONAL HORIZON

—A SATURDAY FEATURE—

PRESENTING NEWS AND VIEWS OF INTEREST TO TEACHERS AND ALL OTHERS SEEKING IMPROVEMENT IN EDUCATION

STARTING RIGHT

"It takes a hundred years to grow an oak tree, and only a few weeks to grow a squash. But who would want to be a squash?" A lesson in steady, patient growth continuing through the years, and producing at length a manhood or womanhood which can withstand the heat and cold and the winds of adversity; giving shelter to weaker things, enriching the world with strong and enduring deeds, and making the world more beautiful while it lives. How to strike deep, strong roots so that we may be as the oak. "There is always room at the top". It is simply a statement of the bare fact that there are in the world a vast number of people who can do an easy job badly, a smaller but still numerous group who can do an easy job well, a small number who can do a hard job well, and a very small number who can do a hard job excellently. How should a child at school prepare himself for the upper groups? By practising doing hard jobs well until he can do them excellently. "We build the ladder by which we rise." No matter how rich we may be born, no matter how fine a farm or how big a business Dad may have waiting for us to manage, we shall have to climb to success and happiness in life. Perhaps the commonest mistakes that young people make in starting life are: first, thinking that they can rise on the ladder Dad has built, and secondly, thinking they can ride without a ladder at all. The boy sees his father living cheerfully from day to day, apparently never rushed, spending a good deal of time on things that seem easy and even idle; and the boy thinks to himself "Dad's job is a snap." He forgets that in the years gone by Dad was building his ladder, a ladder made of industrious habits training in using his head, training in doing a job so well that it would not have to be done again That is why Dad's job seems so easy. But if the boy thinks he can take over Dad's job without building his own ladder, he is woefully mistaken. He will soon find himself tired and discouraged, his head perplexed with problems, and himself surrounded with badly-done jobs that have to be patched up or done over again. If you want to rise to prosperity and happiness in the world you must build the ladder by which to rise, and your school training is your chance. We as teachers must remember we are training children not merely to fit nicely and politely into the school system and to do you credit by their examination marks; we are training them for useful and competent living in the world. The teaching of history and the rest are going to enrich the pupil's life years from now, if we keep thinking of his life's needs while we teach.

ASSINIBOINE PARK (Winnipeg)

Assiniboine Park, which is situated on the banks of the Assiniboine River about 5 miles from the City Hall has an area of 290 acres. Although the original site was selected for its natural beauty — a great deal has been done to further improve its appearance by the planting of trees and shrubs, the construction of flower gardens and driveways, erection of a conservatory and bandstand, and construction of cricket pitches, lawns tennis courts and grounds for all forms of athletics. The zoo contains a collection of native, wild and other animals, including buffalo — the animal emblem of the Province of Manitoba This property was acquired in 1904 and formally opened to the public in 1909. A fine pavilion, in the centre of the park, is equipped with the most modern facilities for refreshment service for any number of people.

PACIFIC

Japanese forces aiming to recapture Finschafen thrust south from Sattelberg. The Allied air forces, coming to the aid of the Australians, who were battling the Japs from Sattelberg devlivered the heaviest load of bombs yet dropped in one day in the South Pacific. The area occupied by the Japanese was virtually levelled. The Japanese push to escape from Sttelberg was thrown back with heavy losses to the enemy. The allies retook Kaiika. In four attacks in the Rabaul area allied fliers destroyed more than 300 Japanese planes. Tiere latest successes boosted to beyond 700, the enemy's two week losses in the south and southwest Pacific. Japanese shipping also suffered severe blows. At the end of Oct. in a steady island to island advance in the Solomons to invest Rabaul. United States forces landed on two islands about 20 miles from Bougainville. There was some opposition but not enough to prevent complete occupation of the islands. Allied paratroops landed on Choiseul When they had practically surrounded Bougainville, Japan's last base in the Solomons, Allied troops invaded the island. Landing forces under Admiral Halsey occupied Augusta Bay on the west coast. On Nov. 3rd, Rabaul was pounded again. Three destroyers were sunk, as well as eight merchant ships On Nov. 9th., American airmen and ground troops engaged in a battle with Japanese who put ashore from 21 barges north of the marine beachhead at Bougainville. The allies carried out a heavy raid on Surabaya, former Dutch naval base in the Netherlands East Indies. On Nov. 20th. Australian troops in New Guinea attacked Sattelberg, the last Japanese base below Madang, with tanks. Allied fliers continued to bomb enemy positions on Bougainville. For six days far-ranging bombers of the U.S. Army's Seventh Air Force, reached across the open sea to attack Betio, Tarawa and Makin Islands, in the Gilbert group; Jaluit and Mili atolls in the Marshalls; and Nauru Island, 500 miles west of the Gilberts, noted for its phosphate deposits.

CHINA

Chinese and Japanese forces continued to fight along the Salween River in Yunnan Province. The enemy forced a crossing of the river at one time, but Chinese had turned back the invader.

Around Nov. 1st., Japanese armies started a drive in Hunnan Province, but so far the drive has met little success. According to Chungking, the enemy was checked and thrown back everywhere, but fierce fighting continued in that area. This was the first Japanese movement in that area since last May, when a similar attempt met with heavy defeat. Complete agreement on the prosecution of the continental campaign in the Far East was reached after a five-day conference between Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek and British-American military leaders in Chungking. Reports have reached Chungking saying that heavy Japanese troop movements were under way near Manchuria with the southwest Pacific as their probable destination.

What is meant by "Dry Farming"? It is a system of cultivation of lands with scanty rainfall, otherwise too dry for agriculture. The land is deeply ploughed and the surface soil is kept loose, and thus forms a blanket or mulch which prevents the moisture from the damp earth underneath rising by capillary attraction and being evaporated. The sub-soil is made compact to increase its water-holding capacity. Seeds are sown deep. This system of farming is practised in dry regions where irrigation is not practicable, in Europe, India, W.U.S.A., W. Canada, Australia and Africa.

EXERCISE IN HISTORY

Place a star before the group of words that best complete the sentence, and a cross before any that help to explain the matter:

1. For thirteen years after the Treaty of Versailles the British retained possession of a number of forts in the United States. They did this ( ) (a) Because they intended later on to reconquer the Thirteen Colonies; ( ) (b) Because they hoped this would induce the Americans to be more just to the Loyalists who remained in that country; ( ) (c) Because they wished to stir the Indians to rebel against the Americans; ( ) (d) Because they were still hostile to the Americans and wished to injure them.

2. The cause of the War of 1812 was:
( ) (a) Napoleon's blockade of the British Isles by the Berlin Decree; ( ) (b) Britain's blockade of France by the Orders-in-Council; ( ) (c) The determination of a section of Americans to humiliate Britain; ( ) (d) Britain's insistence on the "right of search".

3. The section of the American people that strongly opposed the war was found in:
( ) (a) The southern states; ( ) (b) The New England states; ( ) (c) The west; ( ) (d) The inland states.

4. The American failure in the attack on Canada was mainly due to:
( ) (a) The fact that the inhabitants of Canada were bitterly antogonistic to American control; ( ) (b) The fact that Canada was a vast wilderness almost unprovided with roads; ( ) (c) Disunion among the Americans themselves; ( ) (d) The superior fighting ability of the Canadians

5. The Canadian hero in the struggle of 1812 was. ( ) (a) Procter; ( ) (b) Brock; ( ) (c) Tecumseh; ( ) (d) Sneaffe

6. In the campaign of 1813 the Americans achieved their greatest success; ( ) (a) In the fighting around Detroit; ( ) (b) In the Niagara campaign; ( ) (c) In the naval struggle on the lakes; ( ) (d) In the fighting near Montreal.

7. The treaty that closed the war was signed in: ( ) (a) Canada; (b) Belgium; ( ) (c) England; ( ) (d) United States.

8. The chief result achieved by the War of 1812 was: ( ) (a) That Britain abandoned the "right of search"; ( ) (b) That Canada became more united into one nation; ( ) (c) That none of the questions that led to it were settled; ( ) (d) That it delayed the growth of responsible government.

HYGIENE

The brain is the most important part of the human system, and if we would have it perform its functions well we must carefully attend to the following rules:

1. Have pure thoughts, and ennobling ideals.
2. Have regular systematic work.
3. Have regular change of occupation. Younger children should change at shorter intervals.
4. Have a sound mind in a sound body.
5. Avoid long hours, over-work, and worry.
6. Avoid late hours. Have enough sleep. Children require more sleep than adults. Girls require more sleep than boys. Brain workers more than manual laborers.
7. Choose those subjects which are best adapted to brain development and take the work up in logical order. Information is not everything.
8. Lack of mental exercise causes the brain to become weak and worthless.
9. Do not habitually use narcotics to deaden pain. Seek the cause and apply the remedy.
10. Avoid all alcoholic beverages and tobacco.
11. Have plenty of good sunlight, and reflect the light in pleasant looks and pleasant words

LITERATURE (Turner's "Slave Ship")

1. explain: "The noblest sea that Turner has ever painted." Ans.: In the painting the sea is the most important object The ship is only a secondary part of the whole seascape is referred to as 'the noblest sea."

2. Ruskin gives his highest praise to the truth of Turner's picture. From his description, do you gather that this truth is found in faithful copying, or in giving the right impression, in revealing the effect that the scene produced in Turner's mind. Ans.: In revealing the effect that the scene produced in Turner's mind truthfully, and giving a perfect reproduction as far as colour and accuracy of drawing is concerned. Read the last paragraph very carefully. Note that although Ruskin praises the accuracy of the drawing and color as a necessary adjunct to an immortal drawing he stresses the fact it is "a daring conception — ideal in the highest sense of the word" "it is wrought out with the concentrated knowledge of a life." the whole picture dedicated to the most sublime of subjects and impressions.

3. What does Ruskin seem to think a painter should convey to us?
Ans.: The purest truth which in this case is something far more than the average person would see if they looked at the ship at sea. Note what Turner has shown in his picture: 'Purple and blue —down to — incarnadines the multitudinous sea."
